The sanction of a meeting of ratepayers under the Municipal Corporation (Borough Funds) Act, post, is not required by an urban authority promoting a Provisional Order under this Act.

Secs. 7—11 this Act; but so that any such Provisional Order shall not contain any provision for empowering the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ or any other person to acquire lands otherwise than by agreement, or to acquire any lands, even by agreement, except to an extent therein limited ⁽²⁾.

Costs of Order.

The costs of and connected with the preparation and making of each Provisional Order shall be paid by the undertakers, and the Board of Trade ⁽³⁾ may require the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ to give security for such costs before they proceed with the Provisional Order ⁽⁴⁾.

Publication of Provisional Order as in schedule.

8. When a Provisional Order has been made as aforesaid and delivered to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, the undertakers shall forthwith deposit and publish the same by advertisement according to the regulations contained in Part Four of the Schedule (B.) to this Act.

Confirmation of Provisional Order by Act of Parliament.

9. On proof to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade ⁽³⁾ of the completion of such publication as aforesaid, the Board of Trade ⁽³⁾ shall, as soon as they conveniently can after the expiration of seven days from the completion of such publication in relation to any Provisional Order which shall have been published as aforesaid, not later than the twenty-fifth of April in any year procure a Bill to be introduced into either House of Parliament for an Act to confirm the Provisional Order, which shall be set out at length in the schedule to the Bill; but until confirmation by Act of Parliament a Provisional Order under this Act shall not have any operation.

If while any such Bill is pending in either House of Parliament a petition is presented against any Provisional Order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to the order petitioned against, may be referred to a select committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of a Bill for a special Act.

The Act of Parliament confirming any Provisional Order under this Act shall be deemed a Public General Act.

Incorporation of general Acts in Provisional Order.

10. The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts shall be incorporated with every Provisional Order under this Act, save where the same are expressly varied or excepted by any such Provisional Order, and except as to the following provisions, namely,—

(1.) With respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement.

(2.) With respect to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking.

Where a Provisional Order authorises a gas undertaking the provisions of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847 ⁽⁵⁾, shall be incorporated with such Provisional Order, save where the same are thereby expressly varied or excepted.

Where a Provisional Order authorises a water undertaking the provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, and of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863, shall be incorporated with such Provisional Order, save where the same are thereby expressly varied or excepted.

For the purposes of such incorporation a Provisional Order under this Act shall be deemed the special Act.

Cesser of powers at expiration of prescribed time.

11. If any undertakers ⁽⁶⁾ empowered by any Provisional Order under this Act to make works do not, within three years from the date of such Provisional Order, or within any shorter period prescribed therein, complete the works; or,

If within one year from the date of the Provisional Order, or within such shorter time as is prescribed in the Provisional Order, the works are not substantially commenced; or,

(1) See note (1), ante, p. 464.

(2) As to the power to amend, &c., the Provisional Order by a further Provisional Order, see section 12 of the Amending Act, 1873, post, p. 473.

(3) See note (2) ante, p. 464.

(4) It seems that the costs of the solicitors of the promoters are to be taxed on the Chancery and not on the Parliamentary scale: In re Morley, L. R. 20 Eq. 17, 32 L. T. N. S. 524, 23 W. R. 532. See section 11 of the Amending Act, 36 & 37 Vict. c. 89, post.

(5) Ante, p. 439. See also the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, section 3, ante, p. 450.

(6) Includes an urban authority. See note (1), ante, p. 464.

If the works are commenced, but whilst the powers to carry them on exist Secs. 11-15.
are suspended without a reason sufficient in the opinion of the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ to warrant such suspension ;

the powers given by the Provisional Order to the undertakers for executing such works, or otherwise in relation thereto, shall cease to be exercised, except as to so much of the same as is then completed, unless the time be prolonged by the special direction of the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾.

A statement in writing by the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ to the effect that such works have not been completed, or that the works have not been substantially commenced, or that they have been suspended without sufficient reason, shall be conclusive evidence for the purpose of this section of such non-completion, non-commencement, or suspension.

12. The undertakers empowered by any Provisional Order under this Act may demand and take, in respect of gas or water supplied by them under the authority of such Provisional Order, rents and rates respectively not exceeding the sums specified in such Provisional Order, subject and according to the regulations therein specified. Gas rents and water rates in schedule.

13. Nothing in any Provisional Order, or Act confirming the same, shall exempt the undertaking, or the company, corporation, or person to whom it belongs, from the provisions of any general Act of Parliament relating to gasworks or waterworks passed after the passing of this Act, or from any revision or alteration under the authority of Parliament of the maximum rents and rates allowed to be taken under the Provisional Order. Company not exempt from provisions of general Act.

14. For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty at any time after the passing of this Act, by Order in Council, to substitute for the Board of Trade any other department of Her Majesty's Government, and from and after such time as may be specified for the purpose in any such order, or if no time be specified therein from and after the date of such order, all matters to be done in pursuance of this Act by or in connection with the Board of Trade shall be done by or in connection with such substituted department ⁽²⁾. Queen in Council may substitute any department for Board of Trade for the purposes of this Act.

15. This Act shall not apply to any place within the metropolis, as the same is defined in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 ⁽³⁾. Act not to apply to metropolis.

GAS AND WATER WORKS FACILITIES ACT, 1870, AMENDMENT ACT, 1873. ⁽¹⁾

An Act to extend and amend the provisions of the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870. [5th August, 1873.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows: Secs. 1—5.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, Amendment Act, 1873." Short title.

2. In this Act the several words and expressions to which by "The Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870" ⁽²⁾, meanings are assigned, have the same respective meanings as in the said Act: Interpretation.

The expression "special Act" shall mean and include any Local and Personal Act conferring powers upon any local authority, corporation, commissioners, company, companies, or persons, for the construction and maintenance, or the maintenance and continuance of gasworks, and the manufacture and supply of gas in any district, and any Act amending the same, and shall include any Provisional Order made and confirmed under the authority of the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, so far as such Act or Provisional Order is in force:

The expression "undertakers" in relation to a special Act shall mean the local authority, corporation, commissioners, company, companies, or persons acting in execution of such special Act ⁽³⁾:

The expression "prescribed" shall mean prescribed by the special Act.

3. This Act shall apply where the amendment of any special Act in force in any district is required by the undertakers ⁽³⁾, or, subject as is in this Act herein-after provided, by the local authority of such district in relation to all or any of the matters following: Cases to which Act applies.

(1.) The illuminating power of the gas to be supplied;

(2.) The maximum price of the gas to be supplied;

(3.) The pressure at which the gas is to be supplied;

and such matters or any one or more of them, as the case may be, shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be included in the term "amendment of a special Act."

4. Subject to the provisions of this Act, Provisional Orders making an amendment of a special Act, may be obtained on the application of the undertakers ⁽³⁾, or of the local authority of any district in which the same is in force, made previous to the fifteenth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four. Undertakers may obtain Provisional Orders from Board of Trade.

5. The undertakers ⁽³⁾ or local authority intending to make an application for a Provisional Order in pursuance of this Act shall proceed as follows:—

(1.) During the thirty days immediately preceding their application they shall publish notice of their intention to make such application by advertise- Notices and deposit of documents as in schedule.

Secs. 5—8.

Provisional Orders made to be taken as valid.

ment, according to the regulations contained in Part One of the schedule to this Act :

- (2.) On or before the fifth day after the last publication of such advertisement they shall deposit the documents described in Part Two of the said schedule, according to the regulations therein contained.

6. The Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ shall consider the application, and inquire as to the propriety of proceeding upon such application, and they shall consider any objection thereto that may be lodged with them on or before such day as they from time to time appoint, and shall determine whether or not the application may be proceeded with.

7. Where, with a view to prevent undue loss to any undertakers ⁽²⁾ arising from unusual increase in the cost of production of gas, or to the prevention of undue accumulation of profits by undertakers, it appears to the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ expedient and proper that the application should be granted, with or without addition or modification, or subject or not to any restriction or condition, and it has been proved to their satisfaction that all the requirements of this Act have been in all respects complied with, the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ may settle and make a Provisional Order accordingly ; provided that the operation of such Provisional Order shall be limited to such period (not exceeding two years) as the Board shall therein prescribe : Provided also, that where any addition shall be made by any such Provisional Order to the maximum price of gas prescribed by the special Act, provision shall be made by such Provisional Order that the undertakers being a person, company, or companies carrying on business under the special Act for his or their own pecuniary benefit, shall not divide more than at the rate of five per cent. per annum on their ordinary capital for any half year in which they shall have charged more than the maximum price prescribed by the special Act, or if such undertakers shall not have paid a dividend of five per cent. on such capital for each of the two financial years next preceding the application, more than such sum as shall have been the average amount of the dividend in such two years, and before allowing any such addition the Board of Trade shall ascertain the amount of dividend paid on such capital during the said two years the contracts, if any, for coal still in force, the present and former prices received by them for coke and residual products, the amount of gas unaccounted for and lost during each of the said two years, and their charges for gas during the same period.

8. Every Provisional Order made by the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ under the authority of this Act shall be signed by a secretary or assistant secretary of the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾, and shall take effect from a day subsequent to the date of the signing of the same to be named therein, (in this Act referred to as the commencement of such Provisional Order,) and every such Order purporting to be so signed shall be conclusive evidence of every fact and circumstance necessary to authorise the making thereof, and shall be deemed and taken to all intents and purposes whatsoever to have been made in pursuance of and in conformity with the provisions of this Act ; and so long as such Provisional Order shall continue in force it shall be of the same force and effect as an Act of Parliament.

Provided always, that where an application under this Act has been made by any undertakers ⁽²⁾ for the grant of a Provisional Order for the amendment of a special Act, it shall be lawful for the local authority of the district in which such special Act is in force, at any time before the fifteenth February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, to apply to the Board of Trade for the grant of a Provisional Order for the amendment of such special Act with respect to the illuminating power or the maximum price of the gas to be supplied by the undertakers, or with respect to the pressure at which such gas is to be supplied.

Provided also, that at any time during the continuance of any Provisional Order granted to any undertakers ⁽²⁾, it shall be lawful for the local authority of the district in which the same is in force to apply to the Board of Trade to revoke or amend such Provisional Order, and the Board of Trade may revoke or amend the same accordingly. Secs. 8—12.

9. When a Provisional Order has been made as aforesaid, and delivered to the persons who applied for the same, they shall, before the day named for the commencement of such Provisional Order, deposit and publish the same by advertisement according to the regulations contained in Part Three of the schedule to this Act. Publication of Provisional Orders in schedule.

10. The Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ shall, as soon as they conveniently can after the making of any Provisional Order under the authority of this Act, procure a Bill to be introduced into either House of Parliament for an Act to confirm the Provisional Order, which shall be set out at length in the schedule to such Bill. Confirmation of Provisional Order by Act of Parliament.

If, while any such Bill is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against any Provisional Order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to the order petitioned against, may be referred to a select committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of a Bill for a Local and Personal Act.

In case either House of Parliament shall refuse to confirm any Provisional Order under this Act, notice of such refusal shall forthwith be given by the Board of Trade to the persons who applied for the same, and to the local authority of any district to which such Provisional Order relates, and the Board of Trade shall cause a copy of such notice to be published as an advertisement once in the local newspaper in which the original advertisement of the intended application was published, or in such other newspaper circulating in such district as the Board of Trade may think proper.

Every such notice shall be signed by a secretary or assistant secretary of the Board of Trade, and from and after the expiration of a day to be named therein the Provisional Order to which it relates shall cease to have any operation: Provided always, that such notice shall not effect any act, matter, or thing done or suffered, or any liability incurred under such Provisional Order, nor the effect and validity of such Provisional Order previous to the day named in such notice.

The production of a copy of such notice purporting to be signed in manner by this section prescribed shall be evidence of the facts stated therein.

The Act of Parliament confirming any Provisional Order under this Act shall be deemed a Public General Act.

11. The costs of and connected with the preparation and making of a Provisional Order, and all proceedings in relation thereto, shall be paid by the persons applying for the same, and the Board of Trade may require them to give security for such costs before they proceed with the Provisional Order. Costs of Order.

Such costs incurred by undertakers ⁽²⁾, being a company, companies, or person carrying on business under the special Act for their or his own pecuniary benefit, shall, if the same be not obtained, be paid out of the sum applicable to dividend, and if the same be obtained, shall be charged to ordinary expenses of management; and such costs incurred by any other undertakers ⁽²⁾ may be paid by them out of any funds which may from time to time be in their hands, and which may be applicable to the purposes of the special Act; and such costs incurred by any local authority may be paid by them out of the borough rate or district rate leviable by them for the purposes for which they are constituted by any general or special Acts ⁽³⁾.

12. Where under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, or this Act, the Board of Trade have made any Provisional Order, they may from time to time revoke, amend, extend, or vary such Provisional Order by a further Provisional Order. Every application for such further Provisional Order shall be made in like manner and subject to the like conditions as the application for the former Provisional Order. Every such further Provisional Order shall be made and confirmed in like manner in every respect as the former Provisional Order. Power of Board of Trade to revoke, amend, extend, or vary Provisional Order.

13. Where, in relation to any application for a Provisional Order under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, or under this Act, it is in the opinion of the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ expedient that an inquiry should be held, they may order and direct such inquiry to be held at such time and place as they may think proper, subject to the provisions following:

1. The inquiry shall be held in public before an officer or officers to be appointed in that behalf by the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾, hereinafter called the Commissioner or Commissioners;
2. Ten days notice at the least shall be given by the Commissioner or Commissioners of the time and place at which the inquiry is to be commenced;
3. The inquiry shall be commenced at the time and place so appointed and the Commissioner or Commissioners may adjourn the inquiry from time to time as may be necessary to such time and place as he or they may think fit;
4. The Commissioner or Commissioners by summons shall, on the application of any party interested in the inquiry, require the attendance before him or them, at a place and time to be mentioned in the summons, of any person to be examined as a witness before him or them, and every person summoned shall attend the Commissioner or Commissioners, and answer all questions touching the matter to be inquired into, and any person who wilfully disobeys any such summons or refuses to answer any question put to him by the Commissioner or one of the Commissioners for the purposes of the said inquiry shall, on summary conviction before two justices, or in Scotland before any sheriff or sheriff substitute, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided always, that no person shall be required to attend in obedience to any such summons unless the reasonable charges of his attendance shall have been paid or tendered to him, and no person shall be required in any case in obedience to any such summons to travel more than ten miles from his place of abode;
5. The Commissioner or Commissioners shall make a report to the Board of Trade in writing, and shall deliver copies of the report upon request to all or any of the parties to the inquiry ⁽²⁾.
14. The Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾ may from time to time make, and when made, may rescind, annul, or add to, rules with respect to the following matters ⁽³⁾:
The proceedings to be had before the Board under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, or this Act; and

As to any other matter or thing in respect of which it may be expedient to make rules for the purpose of carrying the said Act or this Act into execution.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to be within the powers conferred by the said Act or this Act, and shall be of the same force as if enacted in the said Act or this Act, and shall be judicially noticed.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made, if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not then sitting, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament.

15. This Act shall not apply to any place within the metropolis, as the same is defined in The Metropolis Management Act, 1855.

CONSPIRACY, AND PROTECTION OF PROPERTY ACT, 1875.

38 & 39 VICT. c. 86.

An Act for amending the Law relating to Conspiracy, and to the Protection of Property, and for other purposes. [13th August, 1875.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Conspiracy, and Protection of Property Act, 1875. Secs. 1—4.

2. This Act shall come into operation on the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five. Commencement of Act.

Conspiracy, and Protection of Property.

3. An agreement or combination by two or more persons to do or procure to be done any act in contemplation or furtherance of a trade dispute between employers and workmen shall not be indictable as a conspiracy if such act committed by one person would not be punishable as a crime ⁽¹⁾. Amendment of law as to conspiracy in trade disputes.

Nothing in this section shall exempt from punishment any persons guilty of a conspiracy for which a punishment is awarded by any Act of Parliament.

Nothing in this section shall affect the law relating to riot, unlawful assembly, breach of the peace, or sedition, or any offence against the State or the Sovereign.

A crime for the purposes of this section means an offence punishable on indictment, or an offence which is punishable on summary conviction, and for the commission of which the offender is liable under the statute making the offence punishable to be imprisoned either absolutely or at the discretion of the court as an alternative for some other punishment.

Where a person is convicted of any such agreement or combination as aforesaid to do or procure to be done an act which is punishable only on summary conviction, and is sentenced to imprisonment, the imprisonment shall not exceed three months, or such longer time, if any, as may have been prescribed by the statute for the punishment of the said act when committed by one person.

4. Where a person employed by a municipal authority or by any company or contractor upon whom is imposed by Act of Parliament the duty, or who have otherwise assumed the duty of supplying any city, borough, town, or place, or any part thereof, with gas or water, wilfully and maliciously breaks a contract of service with that authority or company or contractor, knowing or having Breach of
persons employed in
or water ⁽²⁾.

⁽²⁾ In Cutler v. Turner, L. R. 9 Q. B. 502, 43 L. J. M. C. 124, 30 L. T. N. S. 706, 22 W. R. 840, it was held that the order of a magistrate made under the Masters and Servants Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 141), awarding compensation for and imposing imprisonment in respect of a breach of contract, did not annul the contract, and proceedings might be taken under the Act in respect of subsequent breaches.

Secs. 4—7. reasonable cause to believe that the probable consequences of his so doing, either alone or in combination with others, will be to deprive the inhabitants of that city, borough, town, place, or part, wholly or to a great extent of their supply of gas or water, he shall on conviction thereof by a court of summary jurisdiction, or on indictment as hereinafter mentioned, be liable either to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour.

Every such municipal authority, company, or contractor as is mentioned in this section shall cause to be posted up, at the gasworks or waterworks, as the case may be, belonging to such authority or company or contractor, a printed copy of this section in some conspicuous place, where the same may be conveniently read by the persons employed, and as often as such copy becomes defaced, obliterated, or destroyed, shall cause it to be renewed with all reasonable despatch.

If any municipal authority or company or contractor make default in complying with the provisions of this section in relation to such notice as aforesaid, they or he shall incur on summary conviction a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which such default continues, and every person who unlawfully injures, defaces, or covers up any notice so posted up as aforesaid in pursuance of this Act, shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Breach of contract involving injury to persons or property.

5. Where any person wilfully and maliciously breaks a contract of service or of hiring, knowing, or having reasonable cause to believe that the probable consequences of his so doing, either alone or in combination with others, will be to endanger human life, or cause serious bodily injury, or to expose valuable property, whether real or personal, to destruction or serious injury, he shall on conviction thereof by a court of summary jurisdiction, or on indictment as hereinafter mentioned, be liable either to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour (1).

Miscellaneous.

Penalty for neglect by master to provide food, clothing, &c., for servant or apprentice.

6. Where a master, being legally liable to provide for his servant or apprentice necessary food, clothing, medical aid, or lodging, wilfully and without lawful excuse refuses or neglects to provide the same, whereby the health of the servant or apprentice is or is likely to be seriously or permanently injured, he shall on summary conviction be liable either to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour.

Penalty for intimidation or annoyance by violence or otherwise.

7. Every person who, with a view to compel any other person to abstain from doing or to do any act which such other person has a legal right to do or abstain from doing, wrongfully and without legal authority,—

1. Uses violence to or intimidates (2) such other person or his wife or children, or injures his property; or,
2. Persistently follows such other person about from place to place; or,
3. Hides any tools, clothes, or other property owned or used by such other person, or deprives him of or hinders him in the use thereof; or,
4. Watches or besets the house or other place where such other person resides, or works, or carries on business, or happens to be, or the approach to such house or place; or,
5. Follows such other person with two or more other persons in a disorderly manner in or through any street or road, shall, on conviction thereof by a court of summary jurisdiction, or on indictment as hereinafter mentioned, be liable either to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour. Secs. 7—12.

Attending at or near the house or place where a person resides, or works, or carries on business, or happens to be, or the approach to such house or place, in order merely to obtain or communicate information, shall not be deemed a watching or besetting within the meaning of this section.

8. Where in any Act relating to employers or workmen a pecuniary penalty is imposed in respect of any offence under such Act, and no power is given to reduce such penalty, the justices or court having jurisdiction in respect of such offence may, if they think it just so to do, impose by way of penalty in respect of such offence any sum not less than one-fourth of the penalty imposed by such Act (1). Reduction of penalties.

Legal Proceedings.

9. Where a person is accused before a court of summary jurisdiction of any offence made punishable by this Act, and for which a penalty amounting to twenty pounds, or imprisonment, is imposed, the accused may, on appearing before the court of summary jurisdiction, declare that he objects to being tried for such offence by a court of summary jurisdiction, and thereupon the court of summary jurisdiction may deal with the case in all respects as if the accused were charged with an indictable offence and not an offence punishable on summary conviction, and the offence may be prosecuted on indictment accordingly (2). Power for offender under this Act to be tried on indictment and not by court of summary jurisdiction.

10. Every offence under this Act which is made punishable on conviction by a court of summary jurisdiction or on summary conviction, and every penalty under this Act recoverable on summary conviction, may be prosecuted and recovered in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Act. Proceedings before court of summary jurisdiction.

11. Provided, that upon the hearing and determining of any indictment or information under sections four, five, and six of this Act, the respective parties to the contract of service, their husbands or wives, shall be deemed and considered as competent witnesses. Regulations as to evidence.

12. In England or Ireland, if any party feels aggrieved by any conviction made by a court of summary jurisdiction on determining any information under this Act, the party so aggrieved may appeal therefrom, subject to the conditions and regulations following: Appeal to quarter sessions.

- (1.) The appeal shall be made to some court of general or quarter sessions for the county or place in which the cause of appeal has arisen, holden not less than fifteen days and not more than four months after the decision of the court from which the appeal is made:
- (2.) The appellant shall, within seven days after the cause of appeal has arisen, give notice to the other party and to the court of summary jurisdiction of his intention to appeal, and of the ground thereof:
- (3.) The appellant shall immediately after such notice enter into a recognisance before a justice of the peace, with or without sureties, conditioned personally to try such appeal, and to abide the judgment of the court thereon, and to pay such costs as may be awarded by the court:
- (4.) Where the appellant is in custody the justice may, if he think fit, on the appellant entering into such recognisance as aforesaid, release him from custody:
- (5.) The Court of Appeal may adjourn the appeal, and upon the hearing thereof they may confirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the court of summary jurisdiction, or remit the matter to the court of summary jurisdiction with the opinion of the Court of Appeal thereon, or make such other order in the matter as the court thinks just, and if the matter be remitted to the court of summary jurisdiction the said last-mentioned court shall thereupon re-hear and decide the information in accordance with the opinion of the said Court of Appeal. The Court of Appeal may also

"The Summary Jurisdiction Act."

"Court of summary jurisdiction."

13. In this Act—

The expression "the Summary Jurisdiction Act" means the Act of the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter forty-three, intituled "An Act to facilitate the performance of the duties of justices of the peace out of sessions within England and Wales with respect to summary convictions and orders," inclusive of any Acts amending the same; (2) and

The expression "court of summary jurisdiction" means—

- (1.) As respects the city of London, the Lord Mayor, or any alderman of the said city sitting at the Mansion House or Guildhall justice room; and
- (2.) As respects any police court division in the metropolitan police district, any metropolitan police magistrate sitting at the police court for that division; and
- (3.) As respects any city, town, liberty, borough, place, or district for which a stipendiary magistrate is for the time being acting, such stipendiary magistrate sitting at a police court or other place appointed in that behalf; and
- (4.) Elsewhere, any justice or justices of the peace to whom jurisdiction is given by the Summary Jurisdiction Act: Provided that, as respects any case within the cognizance of such justice or justices as last aforesaid, an information under this Act shall be heard and determined by two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions sitting at some place appointed for holding petty sessions.

Nothing in this section contained shall restrict the jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor or any alderman of the city of London, or of any metropolitan police or stipendiary magistrate, in respect of any act or jurisdiction which may now be done or exercised by him out of court.

Definitions of "municipal authority" and "public company."

14. The expression "municipal authority" in this Act means any of the following authorities, that is to say, the Metropolitan Board of Works, the Common Council of the city of London, the Commissioners of Sewers of the city of London, the town council of any borough for the time being subject to the Act of the session of the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, intituled "An Act to provide for the regulation of municipal corporations in England and Wales," and any Act amending the same, any commissioners, trustees, or other persons invested by any local Act of Parliament with powers of improving, cleansing, lighting, or paving any town, and any local board.

Any municipal authority or company or contractor who has obtained authority by or in pursuance of any general or local Act of Parliament to supply the streets of any city, borough, town, or place, or of any part thereof, with gas, or which is required by or in pursuance of any general or local Act of Parliament to supply water on demand to the inhabitants of any city, borough, town, or place, or any part thereof, shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be a municipal authority or company or contractor upon whom is imposed by Act of Parliament the duty of supplying such city, borough, town, or place, or part thereof, with gas or water.

"Maliciously" in this Act construed as in Malicious Injuries to Property Act.

15. The word "maliciously" used in reference to any offence under this Act shall be construed in the same manner as it is required by the fifty-eighth section of the Act relating to malicious injuries to property, that is to say, the Act of the session of the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth years of the reign of Her present

LIMITED OWNERS RESERVOIRS AND WATER SUPPLY FURTHER FACILITIES ACT, 1877.

40 & 41 VICT. c. 31.

An Act to give further facilities to Landowners of limited interests in England and Wales and Ireland to charge their estates with the expenses of constructing Reservoirs for the storage of Water, and other similar purposes.

Secs. 1—5.

Whereas landowners of limited interests in England and Wales, with the approval of the Inclosure Commissioners, and in Ireland of the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, are enabled to charge their estates with sums expended by them in constructing reservoirs and other works for the supply of water, if it can be shown to the satisfaction of the said Commissioners that such works will effect a permanent yearly increase in the value of such estates for agricultural purposes exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon, and are also enabled to charge their estates with sums subscribed for the construction of railways and navigable canals, if it can be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that such railways and canals will effect a permanent yearly increase in the value of such estates for any purpose exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon :

And whereas in many places it would greatly conduce to the affording of a plentiful supply of pure water to the inhabitants of villages and towns and to the industrial requirements of the locality, if facilities were given to landowners of limited interests to charge their estates, subject to the approval of the Commissioners, with sums expended by them in constructing reservoirs and other works for the supply of water, of a character permanently to increase the value of such estates for other than agricultural purposes, or to be otherwise permanently productive of profit to the owners of the estates, and if such landowners were also enabled to charge their estates with sums subscribed by them for the construction of waterworks on the same terms and conditions as those on which they are now enabled to charge their estates with subscriptions for the construction of railways and canals :

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Limited Owners Reservoirs and Water Supply Further Facilities Act, 1877.

Extent of Act.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland.

Act incorporated with 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

3. This Act shall be incorporated with the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and the two Acts shall be read together as one Act.

Certain provisions of 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, incorporated. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

4. The provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863, with respect to the security of the reservoirs constructed by the undertakers are incorporated with this Act; and in that Act, as incorporated with this Act, the expression "the special Act" shall mean and include the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and this Act; and the expression "the undertakers" shall mean any person who constructs or erects any reservoir or dam under the authority of either of the last-mentioned Acts.

What to be deemed improvements within 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

5. The construction or erection of reservoirs or other works of a permanent character for the supply of water to persons residing or engaged in labour on the lands on which such works are situate, or on any other lands settled to the same uses, or for the more convenient or profitable user of such lands, or for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority or water company, or to any manufacturer or other person, or for any one or more of such purposes, shall be deemed to be an improvement of land within the meaning of the ninth section of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners, if it can be shown to their satisfaction that such reservoirs or works for the supply of water will for any purpose effect a permanent yearly increase in the value of the lands on which they are situate, or any other lands settled to the same uses, or will be permanently productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of such lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon; and the construction of any such works shall be deemed to include the purchase by the landowner of any water right or other easement which might otherwise interfere with or prevent the construction of the same or any such supply of water as aforesaid.

Secs. 5-9.

In calculating whether the improvement is likely to effect a permanent increase of the yearly value of the land, or be productive of a yearly revenue to the landowner exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to take into account the value of any contract, the terms of which have been agreed upon between the landowner and any sanitary or other local authority, or water company, or manufacturer or other persons, for the purpose of supplying such authority, company, person, or persons with water, as well as the effect on such value or revenue of any sum expended by the landowner in the construction of the works over and above the sum proposed to be charged upon the land.

When the improvement will afford a supply of water to persons residing or engaged in labour on the lands on which the proposed works will be situate, or on any other lands settled to the same uses, the Commissioners may, if they think fit, sanction the improvement, although it may not be shown that the same will effect a direct yearly increase in the value of the lands, or be productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of the lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon.

6. Any landowner charging or proposing to charge his estate with the cost of the construction of reservoirs or other works for the supply of water under this Act may enter into any agreement for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority, water company, manufacturer, or other person, for any term not exceeding the number of years during which the cost of the improvement, or any part of it, is made a charge upon the estate: Provided that every such agreement be approved by the Commissioners, and that no premium or benefit in the nature of a premium be reserved thereby by the landowner.

Supply of water to local authority, &c.

7. Any company now authorised to contract with landowners in England or Wales, or in Ireland, for the execution of any works for the improvement of land, or to make advances for the purpose of executing or assisting in the execution of such works, may, with the approval of the Commissioners, contract with any such landowner for the execution of any reservoirs or works of water supply, the cost of which may by this Act be charged upon the estates of such landowner, and may, with the like approval, make advances for the purpose of executing or assisting in the execution of such reservoirs or works; and for this purpose the execution of any such reservoirs or works shall be deemed to be an improvement of land within the meaning of any Act of Parliament or Articles of Association relating to any such company.

Power to contract for execution of reservoirs, &c.

8. Any landowner desiring to charge his estates with subscriptions for the construction of waterworks by a water company may charge his estates with such moneys on the same terms and conditions as he may under the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, charge his estates with moneys subscribed for the construction of railways or navigable canals; and for this purpose the provisions contained in sections seventy-eight to eighty-nine, both inclusive, of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to such subscriptions, as if the same had been subscribed for the construction of a railway or navigable canal.

Subscriptions to water-works.

9. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorise any landowner, or any water company, local authority, person, or persons authorised by any landowner, to injuriously affect any reservoir, canal, river, stream, or navigation, or the feeders

Protection of rights.

Secs. 9, 10. thereof, or the supply, quality, or fall of water contained in any reservoir, canal, river, stream, or navigation, or in the feeders thereof, or any other water rights or easements in cases where any body of persons or person would, if this Act had not passed, have been entitled by law to prevent or be relieved against the injuriously affecting such reservoir, canal, river, stream, navigation, feeders, or such supply, quality, or fall of water, or other water rights or easements, unless the landowner, water company, local authority, person, or persons first obtain the consent in writing of the body of persons or person so entitled as aforesaid.

Definitions. 10. In this Act the following words and expressions shall have the following meanings; that is to say:

“The Commissioners” means the Inclosure Commissioners of England and Wales, or the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, as the case may require;

“The Improvement of Land Act, 1864,” means the 27th and 28th Vict., c. 114;

“Works for the supply of water” includes wells, pumps, reservoirs, cisterns, ponds, tanks, aqueducts, cuts, sluices, mains, pipes, culverts, machinery, and things for supplying or used in supplying water;

“Water company” means any person or body of persons, corporate or unincorporate, supplying or who may hereafter supply water for his or their own profit;

“Local authority” means any authority having jurisdiction for any public local purpose.

The several words and expressions to which by the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, meanings are assigned, shall in this Act have the same respective meanings as in that Act.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING ACT, 1882.

45 & 46 VICT. c. 56.

An Act to facilitate and regulate the supply of Electricity for Lighting and other purposes in Great Britain and Ireland. [18th August, 1882.]

Secs. 1—3.

Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Electric Lighting Act, 1882.

Application of Act.

2. The provisions of this Act shall apply to every local authority ⁽¹⁾, company ⁽²⁾, or person who may by this Act or any license ⁽³⁾ or Provisional Order ⁽⁴⁾ granted under this Act, or by any special Act to be hereafter passed ⁽⁵⁾, be authorised to supply electricity ⁽⁶⁾ within any area (in this Act referred to as "the undertakers") and to every undertaking so authorised, except so far as may be expressly provided by any such special Act; and every such license, Provisional Order, and special Act, is in this Act included in the expression "license order or special Act."

Granting of licenses authorising the supply of electricity.

3. The Board of Trade may from time to time license any local authority as defined by this Act ⁽⁷⁾, or any company or person, to supply electricity under this Act for any public or private purposes ⁽⁸⁾ within any area, subject to the following provisions :

- (1.) The consent of every local authority having jurisdiction within the area or any part of the area within which a supply is licensed to be furnished shall be required to the application for a license, which consent such local authority is hereby authorised to give, with such conditions (if any) as, subject to the approval of the Board of Trade, the local authority may prescribe :
- (2.) A license shall be for any period not exceeding seven years, but may, at or after the expiration of such license, be renewed from time to time for a like period with such consent as above mentioned upon such terms and conditions as the Board of Trade may determine ⁽⁹⁾ :
- (3.) "Public purposes" shall mean lighting any street or any place belonging to or subject to the control of the local authority, or any church or registered place of public worship, or any hall or building belonging to or subject to the control of any public authority, or any public theatre, but shall not include any other purpose to which electricity may be applied :

⁽⁵⁾ See footnote to Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, section 3, ante, p. 450. Prior to the passing of the General Act there had been special Acts passed for the lighting by electricity, amongst other places, of Blackpool, Liverpool, Over Darwen, Hull, Lancaster, Oldham, and Irvine Burgh.

- (4.) "Private purposes" shall include any purposes whatever to which electricity may for the time being be applicable, not being public purposes, except the transmission of any telegram: Secs. 3, 4.
- (5.) Every local authority, company, or person applying for a license⁽¹⁾ shall publish notice of their application by public advertisement in such manner and including such particulars as the Board of Trade may from time to time direct or approve; and such license shall not be granted by the Board of Trade until after the expiration of a period of three months from the date of the first publication of such advertisement, nor until opportunity has been given to all parties interested to make representations or objections to the Board of Trade with reference to the application:
- (6.) No application for a license shall be made by any local authority⁽²⁾ except in pursuance of a resolution to be passed at a special meeting of the local authority, and such special meeting shall only be held after one month's previous notice of the same and of the purpose thereof has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given:
- (7.) A license may, subject to the provisions of this Act, be granted to a local authority authorising them to supply electricity within any area although the same or some part thereof may not be included within their own district:
- (8.) The license may make such regulations as to the limits within which and the conditions under which a supply of electricity is to be compulsory or permissive, and for enforcing the performance by the licensees of their duties in relation to such supply, and for the revocation of the license where the licensees fail to perform such duties, and generally may contain such regulations and conditions as the Board of Trade may think expedient:
- (9.) Where in any area or part of an area in which any undertakers are authorised to supply electricity under any license the undertakers are not themselves the local authority, the license may contain any provisions and restrictions for enabling the local authority within whose jurisdiction such area or part of an area may be to exercise any of the powers of the undertakers under this Act with respect to the breaking up of any street⁽³⁾ repairable by such local authority within such area or part of an area, and the alteration of the position of any pipes or wires being under such street, and not being the pipes or wires of the undertakers⁽⁴⁾, on behalf and at the expense of the undertakers, and for limiting the powers and liabilities of the undertakers in relation thereto, which the Board of Trade may think expedient.

4. The Board of Trade may, from time to time, by Provisional Order authorise any local authority, company, or person to supply electricity for any public or private purposes within any area, without requiring such consents as are required to the granting a license under this Act, and for such period, whether limited or unlimited, as the Board of Trade may think proper, but in all other respects

Secs. 4—6. subject to the like provisions as in the last section contained with respect to licenses, and subject also to the following provisions ⁽¹⁾ :—

- (1.) No Provisional Order shall authorise the supply of electricity by any undertakers within the district of any local authority (not being themselves the undertakers), unless notice that such Provisional Order has been or is intended to be applied for has been given to such local authority by the applicants in such manner as the Board of Trade may direct or approve ⁽²⁾ on or before the first day of July in the year in which such application is made ; provided that in the case of any application made during the present year such notice shall be deemed to have been given in due time if the same is given within one month after the passing of this Act :
- (2.) The Board of Trade may submit to Parliament for confirmation any Provisional Order granted by it in pursuance of this Act ⁽³⁾, but any such order shall be of no force unless and until it is confirmed by Act of Parliament :
- (3.) If, while the Bill confirming any such order is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against any order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to such order, may be referred to a Select Committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of private Bill :
- (4.) Any Act confirming any Provisional Order granted in pursuance of this Act may, on the application of the undertakers thereby authorised to supply electricity, be repealed, altered, or amended by any subsequent Provisional Order granted by the Board of Trade and confirmed by Parliament.

Making of rules as to application, &c., under Act.

5. The Board of Trade may from time to time make, and when made may rescind, alter, or repeal rules in relation to the applications for licenses or Provisional Orders ⁽⁴⁾, and to the payments to be made in respect thereof, and to the publication of notices and advertisements, and the manner in which and the time within which representations or objections with reference to any application are to be made, and to the holding of local inquiries ⁽²⁾ in such cases as they may think it advisable, and to any other matters arising under this Act.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to be within the powers conferred by this Act, and shall be of the same force as if enacted in this Act, and shall be judicially noticed.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not then sitting, within three weeks after the beginning of the next session of Parliament.

Regulations to be inserted in licenses, &c.

6. The undertakers shall be subject to such regulations and conditions ⁽¹⁾ as may be inserted in any licence, order, or special Act affecting their undertaking with regard to the following matters :

- (a.) The limits within which and the conditions under which a supply of electricity is to be compulsory or permissive ;
- (b.) The securing a regular and efficient supply of electricity ;
- (c.) The securing the safety of the public from personal injury, or from fire or otherwise ;

⁽³⁾ Although the Provisional Orders are to be introduced by the Board of Trade, yet, in the event of opposition, there can be no doubt that in accordance with the usual practice which prevails with respect to disputed Provisional Orders, they will have to be supported in Committee by and at the expense of the private promoters who have applied for the Orders.

- (d.) The limitation of the prices to be charged in respect of the supply of Secs. 6—8.
electricity;
- (e.) The authorising inspection and inquiry from time to time by the Board of Trade and the local authority;
- (f.) The enforcement of the due performance of the duties of the undertakers in relation to the supply of electricity by the imposition of penalties or otherwise, and the revocation of the license, order, or special Act where the undertakers have, in the opinion of the Board of Trade, practically failed to carry the powers granted to them into effect within a reasonable time, or discontinued the exercise of such powers; and
- (g.) Generally with regard to any other matters in connection with the undertakings.

Provided always, that the Board of Trade may, from time to time, make such regulations as they may think expedient for securing the safety of the public from personal injury or from fire or otherwise ⁽¹⁾, and may from time to time amend or repeal any regulations which may be contained in any such license, order, or special Act in relation thereto; and any regulations so made or amended by the Board of Trade shall, from and after the date thereof, have the like effect in every respect as though they had been originally inserted in the license, order, or special Act authorising the undertaking, and every regulation so repealed shall, from and after the date thereof, be repealed accordingly, but such repeal shall not affect any liability or penalty incurred in respect thereof prior to the date of such repeal or any proceeding or remedy which might have been had in relation thereto.

Any local authority within any part of whose district electricity is authorised to be supplied under any license, order, or special Act may, in addition to any regulations which may be made under the preceding provisions of this section for securing the safety of the public, from time to time make, rescind, alter, or repeal bye-laws ⁽²⁾ for further securing such safety; and there may be annexed to any breach of such bye-laws such penalties to be recovered in a summary manner as they may think necessary; Provided always, that no such bye-laws shall have any force or effect unless and until they have been confirmed by the Board of Trade and published in such manner as the Board of Trade may direct.

7. Any expenses incurred by a local authority under this Act, and not otherwise provided for, including any expenses incurred in connection with the obtaining by them, or any opposition to the obtaining by any other local authority, company, or person, of any license, order, or special Act under this Act, may be defrayed out of the local rate as defined in the schedule to this Act, and the local authority may from time to time cause such rates to be levied as may be necessary for the purpose of defraying such expenses; provided that where such local authority is a rural sanitary authority such expenses shall be deemed to be special expenses within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽³⁾.

Expenses of local authority.

8. A local authority authorised to supply electricity by any license, order, or special Act, may from time to time borrow money on such security, with such consent and subject to such provisions and restrictions with respect to borrowing and the repayment of loans, as are in the schedule to this Act in that behalf mentioned, and the money so borrowed shall be deemed to be borrowed under the enactments, subject to the provisions and restrictions of which it is borrowed, and the accounts of all receipts and expenditure by the local authority in pursuance of this Act, or any license, order, or special Act, shall be subject to such audit as is in the said schedule in that behalf mentioned: Provided always, that any moneys borrowed under this section by the local authority of any district to which the Local Loans Act, 1875 ⁽⁴⁾, extends, may, if it is thought fit, be borrowed in

Secs. 8—11. manner provided in that Act; and in the construction of the said Act for the purposes of this Act the expression “prescribed” means prescribed by any conditions imposed by the authority whose consent is required to borrowing under this section.

Where any local authority is authorised by any Act to raise any money which they may be empowered to borrow for certain purposes by the issue of corporation or other stock, any money which a local authority may be authorised to borrow under this section may, if it is thought fit, be raised by them by the issue of such stock as aforesaid.

This section shall not apply to the mayor, commonalty, and citizens of the city of London or to the Metropolitan Board of Works, except in so far as the Metropolitan Board of Works may be concerned in the borrowing of any money by any vestry or district board ⁽¹⁾.

Accounts.

9. The undertakers shall on or before the twenty-fifth day of March in every year fill up an annual statement of accounts of the undertaking made up to the thirty-first day of December then next preceding; and such statement shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars and shall be published in such manner as may from time to time be prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade.

The undertakers shall keep copies of such annual statement at their office, and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one shilling a copy ⁽²⁾.

In case the undertakers make default in complying with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such default continues.

General powers of undertakers under license or Provisional Order.

10. The undertakers may, subject to and in accordance with the provisions and restrictions of this Act, and of any rules made by the Board of Trade in pursuance of this Act ⁽³⁾, and of any license, order, or special Act authorising or affecting their undertaking, and for the purpose of supplying electricity, acquire such lands ⁽⁴⁾ by agreement ⁽⁵⁾, construct such works, acquire such licenses for the use of any patented or protected processes, inventions, machinery, apparatus, methods, materials, or other things, enter into such contracts, and generally do all such acts and things as may be necessary and incidental to such supply.

Power for local authority to contract in certain cases and restrictions on assignments of powers, &c., of undertakers.

11. Any local authority who have obtained a license, order, or special Act for the supply of electricity, may contract with any company ⁽⁶⁾ or person ⁽⁷⁾ for the execution and maintenance of any works needed for the purposes of such supply, or for the supply of electricity within any area mentioned in such license, order, or special Act, or in any part of such area; but no local authority, company, or person shall by any contract or assignment transfer to any other company or person, or divest themselves of any legal powers given to them, or any legal liabilities imposed on them by this Act ⁽⁷⁾, or by any license, order, or special Act, without the consent of the Board of Trade.

⁽⁶⁾ Gas and water companies, incorporated by a special Act, cannot contract except in the manner and subject to the conditions mentioned in such special Act or the general Act which controls the special Act: Homersham v. Wolverhampton Waterworks Co., 6 Exch. 137, 20 L. J. Ex. 193, 6 Rail. Cas. 790.

⁽⁷⁾ The extent to which local authorities will be held irresponsible at common law for the acts of their contractor is thus stated in Addison on Torts, 3rd ed., p. 197. “If any excavations or constructions of any kind are authorised to be made over or across a public thoroughfare, by private individuals or a public company, or by commissioners, and the

12. The provisions of the following Acts shall be incorporated with this Act; Sec. 12.
that is to say:

- (1.) The Lands Clauses Acts ⁽¹⁾, except the enactments with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, and except the enactments with respect to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking; and Incorporation of certain provisions of Clauses Consolidation Acts.
10 & 11 Vict. c. 15.
- (2.) The provisions of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to breaking up streets for the purpose of laying pipes ⁽²⁾, and with respect to waste or misuse of the gas or injury to the pipes and other works ⁽³⁾, except so much thereof as relates to the use of any burner other than such as has been provided or approved of by the undertakers; and
- (3.) Sections thirty-eight to forty-two inclusive, and sections forty-five and forty-six, of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871 ⁽⁴⁾. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41.

For the purposes of this Act, in the construction of all the enactments incorporated by this section "the special Act" means this Act inclusive of any license, order, or special Act; and the "promoters" or "undertakers," and "the undertaking," as the case may be, mean the undertakers and the undertaking respectively under this Act.

In the construction of the said Lands Clauses Act, "land" includes easements in or relating to lands.

In the construction of the said Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, the said Acts shall be construed as if "gas" meant "electricity," and as if "pipe" meant "electric line," and "works" meant "works" as defined by this Act, and as if "the limits of the special Acts" meant the area within which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity under any license, order, or special Act.

All offences, forfeitures, penalties, and damages under the said incorporated provisions of the said Acts or any of them may be prosecuted and may be recovered in manner by the said Acts respectively enacted in relation thereto, provided that sums recoverable under the provisions of section forty of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, shall not be recovered as penalties, but may be recovered summarily as civil debts.

works are lawful in themselves, and can be done without injury to individuals and without creating any nuisance, and the persons directing the works to be executed employ a contractor to do the work, who selects the workmen and has the entire conduct and management of the work, the persons so employing the contractor and authorising the execution of the works are not themselves responsible for nuisances or injuries arising from the incompetence of the contractor or for the negligent execution of the works by him, his servants, or agents, or for damage from things done by the contractor or his workmen, which were never authorised or ordered to be done by the company or commissioners." Secs. 13-16.

Restriction on breaking up of private streets, railways, and tramways.

13. Nothing in this Act or in any Act incorporated therewith shall authorise or empower the undertakers to break up any street which is not repairable by such local authority, or any railway or tramway, without the consent of the authority, company, or person by whom such street, railway, or tramway is repairable, unless in pursuance of special powers in that behalf inserted in the license, order, or special Act, or with the written consent of the Board of Trade, and the Board of Trade shall not in any case insert any such special powers in any license or Provisional Order, or give any such consent until notice has been given to such authority, company, or person, by advertisement or otherwise, as the Board of Trade may direct, and an opportunity has been given to such authority, company, or person to state any objections they may have thereto (1).

Restrictions as to above-ground works.

14. Notwithstanding anything in this Act or in any Act incorporated therewith, the undertakers shall not be authorised to place any electric line above ground, along, over, or across any street, without the express consent of the local authority, and the local authority may require the undertakers to forthwith remove any electric line placed by them contrary to the provisions of this section, or may themselves remove the same, and recover the expenses of such removal from the undertakers in a summary manner; and where any electric line has been placed above ground by the undertakers in any position, a court of summary jurisdiction, upon complaint made, if they are of opinion that such electric line is or is likely to become dangerous to the public safety, may, notwithstanding any such consent as aforesaid, make an order (2) directing and authorising the removal of such electric line by such person and upon such terms as they may think fit.

Power to undertakers to alter position of pipes and wires.

15. Subject to the provisions of this Act and of the license, order, or special Act authorising them to supply electricity, and to any bye-laws made under this Act (3), the undertakers may alter the position of any pipes or wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under this Act, on previously making or securing such compensation to the owners of such pipes or wires, and on complying with such conditions as to the mode of making such alterations as may before the commencement of such alterations be agreed upon between the undertakers and owners, or in case of difference as may be determined in manner prescribed by the license or Provisional Order authorising the undertakers to supply electricity, or where no such manner is prescribed as may be determined by arbitration (4), and any local or other public authority, company, or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such local or other public authority, company, or person in relation to such street or place, subject to the like provisions, conditions, and restrictions as are in this section contained with reference to the alteration of the position of any pipes or wires by the undertakers.

Clause for protection of canals.

16. If at any time after the undertakers have placed any works under, in, upon, over, along or across any canal, any person having power to construct docks, basins or other works upon any land adjoining to or near such canal, constructs any dock, basin or work on such land, but is prevented by the works of the undertakers from forming a communication for the convenient passage of vessels with or without masts between such dock, basin or other work, and such canal; or if the business of such dock, basin or other work is interfered with by reason or in consequence of any such works of the undertakers, then the undertakers at the request of such person, and on having reasonable facilities afforded them by him for placing works round such dock, basin or other work, under, in, upon, over, along or across land belonging to or under his control, shall remove and place their work accordingly. If any dispute arises between the undertakers and such person as to the facilities to be afforded to the undertakers, or as to the direction in which the works are to be placed, it shall be determined by arbitration ⁽¹⁾. Secs. 16-23.

17. In the exercise of the powers in relation to the execution of works given them under this Act, or any license, order, or special Act, the undertakers shall cause as little detriment and inconvenience and do as little damage as may be, and shall make full compensation ⁽²⁾ to all bodies and persons interested for all damage sustained by them by reason or in consequence of the exercise of such powers, the amount and application of such compensation in case of difference to be determined by arbitration ⁽¹⁾. Compensation for damage.

18. The undertakers shall not be entitled to prescribe any special form of lamp or burner to be used by any company or person, or in any way to control or interfere with the manner in which electricity supplied by them under this Act, and any license, order, or special Act is used: Provided always that no local authority, company, or person shall be at liberty to use any form of lamp or burner or to use the electricity supplied to them for any purposes, or to deal with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the supply of electricity supplied to any other local authority, company, or person by the undertakers, and if any dispute or difference arises between the undertakers and any local authority, company, or person entitled to be supplied with electricity under this Act, or any license, order, or special Act, as to the matters aforesaid, such dispute or difference shall be determined by arbitration ⁽¹⁾. Undertakers not to prescribe special form of lamp or burner.

19. Where a supply of electricity is provided in any part of an area for private purposes ⁽³⁾, then, except in so far as is otherwise provided by the terms of the license, order, or special Act authorising such supply, every company or person within that part of the area shall, on application, be entitled to a supply on the same terms on which any other company or person in such part of the area is entitled under similar circumstances to a corresponding supply. Obligation on undertakers to supply electricity.

20. The undertakers shall not, in making any agreements for a supply of electricity, show any undue preference to any local authority, company, or person, but, save as aforesaid, they may make such charges for the supply of electricity, as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the limits of price imposed by or in pursuance of the license, order, or special Act authorising them to supply electricity. Charges for electricity.

21. If any local authority, company, or person neglect to pay any charge for electricity or any other sum due from them to the undertakers in respect of the supply of electricity to such local authority, company, or person, the undertakers may cut off such supply, and for that purpose may cut or disconnect any electric line or other work through which electricity may be supplied, and may, until such charge or other sum, together with any expenses incurred by the undertakers in cutting off such supply of electricity as aforesaid, are fully paid, but no longer, discontinue the supply of electricity to such local authority, company, or person. Recovery of charges, &c.

22. Any person who unlawfully and maliciously cuts or injures any electric line or work with intent to cut off any supply of electricity shall be guilty of felony, and be liable to be kept in penal servitude for any term not exceeding five years, or to be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any term not exceeding two years; but nothing in this section shall exempt a person from any proceeding for any offence which is punishable under any other provision of this Act, or under any other Act, or at common law, so that no person be punished twice for the same offence. Injuring works with intent to cut off supply of electricity.

23. Any person who maliciously or fraudulently abstracts, causes to be wasted or diverted, consumes, or uses any electricity shall be guilty of simple larceny, and punishable accordingly ⁽⁴⁾. Stealing electricity.

Secs. 24-26.

Power to enter lands or premises for ascertaining quantities of electricity consumed, or to remove fittings, &c.

Electric lines, &c., not to be subject to distress in certain cases.

Provision for protection of the Postmaster-General.

41 & 42 Vict. c. 76.

24. Any officers appointed by the undertakers may at all reasonable times enter any premises to which electricity is or has been supplied by the undertakers, in order to inspect the electric lines, meters, accumulators, fittings, works, and apparatus for the supply of electricity belonging to the undertakers, and for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of electricity consumed or supplied, or where a supply of electricity is no longer required, or where the undertakers are authorised to take away and cut off the supply of electricity from any premises, for the purpose of removing any electric lines, accumulators, fittings, works, or apparatus belonging to the undertakers, repairing all damage caused by such entry, inspection, or removal ⁽¹⁾.

25. Where any electric lines ⁽²⁾, meters, accumulators, fittings, works, or apparatus belonging to the undertakers are placed in or upon any premises not being in the possession of the undertakers for the purpose of supplying electricity under this Act, or any license, order, or special Act, such electric lines, meters, accumulators, fittings, works, or apparatus shall not be subject to distress or to the landlord's remedy for rent of the premises where the same may be, nor to be taken in execution under any process of a court of law or equity, or any proceedings in bankruptcy against the person in whose possession the same may be ⁽³⁾.

26. No alteration in any telegraph line of the Postmaster-General shall be made by the undertakers except subject to the provisions of the Telegraph Act, 1878 ⁽⁴⁾.

The undertakers shall not in the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, or by any license, order, or special Act, lay down any electric line or do any other work for the supply of electricity whereby any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General is or may be injuriously affected, and before any such electric line is laid down or work is done within ten yards of any part of a telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General (other than repairs or the laying of connections with mains where the direction of the electric lines so laid down crosses the line of the Postmaster-General at right angles at the point of shortest distance and continues the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point) the undertakers or their agents, not more than twenty-eight nor less than seven clear days before commencing such work, shall give written notice to the Postmaster-General specifying the course and nature of the work, including the gauge of any electric lines, and the undertakers and their agents shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may from time to time be made by the Postmaster-General for the purpose of preventing any telegraphs of the Postmaster-General from being injuriously affected by the said work.

Any difference which arises between the Postmaster-General and the undertakers or their agents, with respect to any requirements so made, shall be determined by arbitration ⁽⁵⁾.

In the event of any contravention of, or wilful non-compliance with, this section by the undertakers or their agents, the undertakers shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds for every day during which such contravention or non-compliance continues, or, if the telegraphic communication is wilfully interrupted, not exceeding fifty pounds for every day on which such interruption continues.

Provided that nothing in this section shall subject the undertakers or their agents to a fine under this section, if they satisfy the Court having cognizance of the case that the immediate execution of the work was required to avoid an accident, or otherwise was a work of emergency, and that they forthwith served the postmaster or sub-postmaster of the postal telegraph office nearest to the place where the work was done a notice of the execution thereof, stating the reason for executing the same without previous notice. Secs. 26-28.

For the purposes of this section a telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, in any manner affected by such work, or by any use made of such work.

For the purposes of this section, and subject as therein provided, sections two, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, and twelve of the Telegraph Act, 1878 ⁽¹⁾, shall be deemed to be incorporated with this Act, as if the undertakers were undertakers within the meaning of those sections, without prejudice nevertheless to any operation which the other sections of the said Act would have had if this section had not been enacted.

27. Where any undertakers are authorised by a Provisional Order or special Act to supply electricity within any area, any local authority within whose jurisdiction such area or any part thereof is situated may, within six months after the expiration of a period of twenty-one years, or such shorter period as is specified in that behalf in the application for the Provisional Order or in the special Act, from the date of the passing of the Act confirming such Provisional Order, or of such special Act, and within six months after the expiration of every subsequent period of seven years, or such shorter period as is specified in that behalf in the application for the Provisional Order or in the special Act, by notice in writing require such undertakers to sell, and thereupon such undertakers shall sell to them their undertaking, or so much of the same as is within such jurisdiction, upon terms of paying the then value of all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant of such undertakers suitable to and used by them for the purposes of their undertaking within such jurisdiction, such value to be in case of difference determined by arbitration ⁽²⁾. Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market value at the time of the purchase, due regard being had to the nature and then condition of such buildings, works, materials, and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and the suitability of the same to the purposes of the undertaking ⁽³⁾, and, where a part only of the undertaking is purchased, to any loss occasioned by severance; but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or of goodwill or of any profits which may or might have been or be made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations. The Board of Trade may determine any other questions which may arise in relation to such purchase, and may fix the date from which such purchase is to take effect, and from and after the date so fixed, or such other date as may be agreed upon between the parties, all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant so purchased as aforesaid shall vest in the local authority which has made the purchase, freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of such undertakers or attaching to the undertaking, and the powers of such undertakers in relation to the supply of electricity under this Act or such Provisional Order or special Act as aforesaid within such area or part thereof as aforesaid shall absolutely cease and determine, and shall vest in the local authority aforesaid. Purchase of undertaking by local authority.

28. Where any matter is by this Act, or any license, order, or special Act, directed to be determined by arbitration ⁽⁴⁾, such matter shall, except as otherwise expressly provided, be determined by an engineer or other fit person to be nominated as arbitrator by the Board of Trade on the application of either party, and the expenses of the arbitration shall be borne and paid as the arbitrator directs. Arbitration.

Secs. 28-32. Any license or Provisional Order granted under this Act shall be deemed to be a special Act within the meaning of the Board of Trade Arbitrations, &c., Act, 1874 ⁽¹⁾.

Power for Board of Trade to relieve gas undertakers from obligation to supply gas in certain cases.

29. Where a supply of electricity is authorised in any area by any license, order, or special Act, and a supply of gas by any gas undertakers is also authorised within such area or any part thereof by any Provisional Order or special Act under the provisions of which such gas undertakers are under any general or limited obligation to supply gas upon demand ⁽²⁾, the Board of Trade may, upon the application of such gas undertakers, inquire into the circumstances of the case, and if they are satisfied that any specified part of such area is sufficiently supplied with electric light, and that the supply of gas in such specified part has ceased to be remunerative to the gas undertakers, and that it is just that such gas undertakers should be relieved from the obligation to supply gas upon demand as aforesaid, the Board of Trade may in their discretion make an order relieving the gas undertakers from such obligation, within such specified part of such area, either wholly or in part, and upon such terms and conditions as they may think proper; and from and after the date of such order such gas undertakers shall be so relieved accordingly. All expenses of the Board of Trade in connection with any such inquiry or order shall be borne and paid by the gas undertakers, upon whose application the inquiry or order was made.

Annual report by Board of Trade.

30. Not later than the first day of July in each year the Board of Trade shall lay before both Houses of Parliament a report respecting the applications to and proceedings of the Board of Trade under this Act during the year then last past.

Definition of local authority, &c.

31. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the expressions "local authority" and "local rate" mean, as respects each district set forth in the first column of the schedule to this Act annexed, the authority and rate mentioned opposite to that district in the second and third columns of that schedule; and such schedule, and the notes appended thereto, shall be of the same validity as if enacted in the body of the Act.

Interpretation.

32. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "electricity" means electricity, electric current, or any like agency :

The expression "electric line" means a wire or wires, conductor, or other means used for the purpose of conveying, transmitting, or distributing electricity with any casing, coating, covering, tube, pipe, or insulator enclosing, surrounding, or supporting the same, or any part thereof, or any apparatus connected therewith, for the purpose of conveying, transmitting, or distributing electricity or electric currents :

The expression "works" means and includes electric lines, also any buildings, machinery, engines, works, matters, or things of whatever description required to supply electricity and to carry into effect the object of the undertakers under this Act :

The expression "company" means any body of persons corporate or unincorporate :

The expression "Lands Clauses Acts" means the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, 1845, 1860, and 1869 :

The expression "street" ⁽³⁾ includes any square, court, or alley, highway, lane, road, thoroughfare, or public passage, or place, within the area in which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity by this Act or any license, order, or special Act :

The expression "telegram" has the same meaning as in the Telegraph Act, 1869 ⁽⁴⁾.

(1) See Board of Trade Arbitration Act, 1874, post, p. 505.

(2) See sections 11 and 24 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871 (ante, pp. 451, 454), as to the obligations of gas undertakers to supply gas on demand.

(3) See note ⁽³⁾ to p. 487.

(4) See Telegraph Act, 1869, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 76, section 3, post.

A telephonic message has been held to be a telegram within the meaning of the Telegraph Acts, 1863 and 1869: Att.-Gen. v. The Edison Telephone Company of London (Limited) L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 244, 50 L. J. Q. B. 145, 43 L. T. N. S. 697, 29 W. R. 428.

33. Nothing in this Act shall limit or interfere with the rights of any owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under or adjacent to any road along or across which any electric line shall be laid to work such mines and minerals ⁽¹⁾.

Secs. 33-37.

For the protection of mines.

34. Nothing in this Act shall exempt the undertakers or their undertaking from the provisions of any general Act relating to the supply of electricity which may be passed in this or any future session of Parliament.

Provision as to general Acts.

35. Nothing in this Act, or in any license, order, or special Act, shall affect the exclusive privileges conferred upon the Postmaster-General by the Telegraph Act, 1869, or authorise or enable any local authority, company, or person to transmit any telegram ⁽²⁾ or to perform any of the incidental services of receiving, collecting, or delivering telegrams, or give to any local authority, company, or person, any power, authority, or facility of any kind whatever, in connection with the transmission of telegrams, or the performance of any of the incidental services of receiving, collecting, or delivering telegrams.

Saving for privileges of Postmaster-General.

RULES

MADE BY THE BOARD OF TRADE WITH RESPECT TO APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSES AND PROVISIONAL ORDERS, &c.

Rule I.—No application for a license or for the renewal of a license can be entertained unless proof of the consent of the local authority to such application is given to the Board of Trade.

Rule II.—When applications for Provisional Orders authorising the supply of electricity within the district of any local authority are received by the Board of Trade from such local authority, and also from any other authority, company, or person, the Board of Trade will give a preference to the application of the local authority of the district in every case where, in the opinion of the Board of Trade, no special circumstances exist which render such a preference inexpedient.

Application and Deposit.

Rule III.—Every application for a license or Provisional Order must be made by memorial signed by, or on behalf of the applicants, headed with a short title descriptive of the proposed undertaking (corresponding with that at the head of the advertisement hereinafter mentioned) addressed to the Board of Trade, and praying for a license or Provisional Order. With the memorial must be deposited six copies of the license or order, as proposed by the applicants, with the schedule or schedules (if any) referred to therein.

Rule IV.—The deposited copies of the proposed license or order must be in print. They must be printed on one side only of the page of paper, so as to leave the back of the page blank, and each schedule annexed must begin a new page.

The names and addresses of the parliamentary agents or solicitors for the license or order must be printed on the outside of the draft.

There must be a notice at the end of the draft, stating that objections are to be made by letter addressed to the Board of Trade, marked on the outside of the cover enclosing it "Electric Lighting Act," and that this letter is to be sent to the Board of Trade within two months from the date of the newspaper containing the first advertisement of the application.

The draft must contain amongst other things—

1. Address and description of the applicants.
2. A description of the proposed area of supply.
3. A statement of the purposes for which a supply is to be given, viz., any or all of the public or private purposes specified in section three of the Act.
4. A general description of the proposed works.
5. Provisions concerning the breaking up of streets not repairable by a local authority and concerning interference with railways and tramways, where powers are sought to be obtained by the license or order for those purposes.
6. Conditions of supply, including price, nature and amount of supply, obligation to supply, &c.
7. Period for which concession is sought.
8. Provisions for securing the safety of the consumer and of the public from injury by shock, fire, or otherwise.
9. Provisions for enforcing the performance by the undertakers of their duties in relation to the supply of electricity and for the revocation of the license or order where the undertakers fail to perform such duties.

The applicants are also to deposit a sufficient number of such printed drafts at offices in London and within the proposed area of supply to be specified in the advertisement, such copies to be there furnished to all persons applying for them, at a price of not more than one shilling each.

Rule V.—There must also be deposited with the memorial,—

A published map of the district on a scale of not less than one inch to a mile, or if there is no published map, then the best map procurable showing the boundaries of the proposed area of supply, and the streets and other places in, over, or along which it is proposed to place any electric lines or other works.

A copy of the said map is also to be deposited for public inspection—

In England or Ireland, in the office of the clerk of the peace for every county, riding, or division, and of the local authority of every district.

In Scotland in the office of the principal sheriff clerk, for every county, district, or division, and of the local authority of every district in which the proposed area of supply or any part thereof is situate.

Rule VI.—There must also be deposited with the memorial,—

1. A list of the local authorities in whose districts the area of supply is situate.

2. A list of the streets not repairable by a local authority and of the railways and tramways (if any) which the applicants propose to take powers to break up.

3. A list of the canals and navigable rivers (if any) which the undertakers will be empowered under the license or order to cross.

4. A statement of the capital proposed to be expended and employed in connection with the undertaking, and the mode in which such capital is to be provided.

5. If the applicants are a company incorporated under the provisions of the Companies' Act, a copy of the memorandum and articles of association.

6. A fee of £50 by cheque payable to an "Assistant Secretary of the Board of Trade" to cover ordinary expenses. If in consequence of inquiries or otherwise additional expense is incurred, the amount will be charged to the applicants and must be paid by them in addition to the ordinary fee.

7. Where the undertakers under any license, order, or special Act desire the consent of the Board of Trade to enable them to break up any street not repairable by a local authority or any railway or tramway which they are not empowered to break up under such license, order, or special Act, the memorial must specially request such consent and must describe accurately the street, railway, or tramway which they propose to acquire power to break up.

Rule VII.—Where the approval or consent of any local authority is required to any application for a license or order, such approval or consent must be given by a resolution passed at a special meeting of the local authority held after one month's previous notice of the same, and of the purpose thereof, has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given, and the fact that such a resolution was duly passed must be proved by furnishing a certificate signed by the secretary or clerk to such local authority embodying copies of the notice and of the resolution, and certifying that the notice was duly given and the resolution duly passed.

Rule VIII.—In any case where a local authority, company, or person is required by the Act to give notice to the local authority of the district, "in such manner as the Board of Trade may direct or approve," such notice shall be given in writing, and shall be served, either by leaving the same at the offices of the said local authority on or before the appointed day or by forwarding the same by post in a registered letter so that the same would in ordinary course of post be delivered on or before the appointed day.

Procedure.

Rule IX.—Applicants for a license or Provisional Order must proceed as follows, subject in the case of a license to the application having been previously entertained by the Board of Trade, vide Rule I.:—

They shall publish notice by advertisement of their application, or in the case of a Provisional Order, of their intended application, and every such advertisement shall contain the following particulars:

1. The objects of the application.

2. Address and description of applicants.

3. A general description of the nature of the proposed works.

4. A description of the proposed area of supply.

5. The names of the streets and other places in, over, or along which it is proposed to place any electric lines or other works.

6. A list of the streets not repairable by a local authority and of the railways and tramways (if any) which the applicants propose to take powers by the license or order to break up.

7. A list of the canals and navigable rivers which the undertakers will be empowered under the license or order to cross.

8. An office in London, and another office within the proposed area of supply, at which printed copies of the draft license or order when applied for, and of the license or order when made, can be obtained at a price of not more than one shilling each.

The advertisement is to be headed with a short title, descriptive of the undertaking (corresponding with that at the head of the memorial), and it must state that every local or other public authority, company, or person desirous of making any representation to the Board of Trade, or of bringing before them any objection respecting the application, may do so by letter addressed to the Board of Trade, marked on the outside of the cover enclosing it, "Electric Lighting Act," within two months from the date of the newspaper containing the first advertisement.

The advertisement is to be inserted, once at least in each of two successive weeks in one and the same newspaper, published and circulating in the proposed area of supply, or in such other newspaper as the Board of Trade may direct; and once at least in the London, Edinburgh, or Dublin Gazette, accordingly, as the proposed area of supply is situate in England, Scotland, or Ireland.

Rule X.—In all cases of applications for a license, renewal of license, or Provisional Order, to which objection is made by any person locally interested, the Board of Trade will, if either the applicants or the objectors so desire, hold a local inquiry of which due notice will be given.

Rule XI.—If any local or other public authority, company, or person, desires to have any clauses or other amendments inserted in the license or order, they must deliver the same to the parliamentary agents or solicitors for the order, and also to the Board of Trade on or before the time limited for bringing objections.

Rule XII.—When a license or Provisional Order is ready, and before the same is delivered, the applicants must deposit at the office of the Board of Trade a description of the lands (if any) which they propose to purchase for the purposes of the license or Provisional Order, and must produce to the Board of Trade the contracts for the purchase of all such lands.

Rule XIII.—When a license or Provisional Order has been made by the Board of Trade and delivered to the applicants, they shall forthwith deposit printed copies for public inspection in the offices specified in Rule V., and shall supply copies to all persons applying for the same, and shall further publish the same as the Board of Trade may direct.

Special Provisions as to Provisional Orders.

Rule XIV.—In the case of Provisional Orders the following additional regulations must be observed.

1. The advertisements must be inserted in October or November.

2. A copy of the advertisement and map must be deposited on or before the 30th November in the offices specified in Rule V., and at the Board of Trade.

The Memorial must be lodged on or before 21st December.

4. The parliamentary agents or solicitors for the order must be prepared to prove compliance with the provisions of the Act and these rules by the 25th January and all such proofs must be completed on or before the 25th February. Six days' notice will be given of the day and hour at which such agents or solicitors are to attend for the purpose at the Board of Trade, and printed forms of proof will accompany the notice. These forms should be filled up and brought with the requisite documents to the Board of Trade at the time fixed for receiving proof.

October 1882.

T. H. FARRER,
Secretary.

NOTE.—These Rules are with the following exceptions the same as those issued in August last.

Rule V. The words "the lands which the applicants propose to take for the purposes of the license or order" have been omitted.

Rule IX. The wording of the first few lines of this Rule have been altered in order to make its meaning more clear.

BOARD OF TRADE

ARBITRATIONS, INQUIRIES, &c.

37 & 38 VICT. c. 40.

An Act to amend the powers of the Board of Trade with respect to inquiries, arbitrations, appointments, and other matters under special Acts, and to amend the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, so far as regards the reference of differences to the Railway Commissioners in lieu of arbitrators.

[30th July, 1874.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows : Secs. 1—3.

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be cited as the Board of Trade Arbitrations, &c. Act, 1874. Short title.

PART I.

Board of Trade Inquiries, &c.

2. Where, under the provisions of any special Act, passed either before or after the passing of this Act, the Board of Trade are required or authorised to sanction, approve, confirm, or determine any appointment, matter, or thing, or to make any order or to do any other act or thing for the purposes of such special Act, the Board of Trade may make such inquiry as they may think necessary for the purpose of enabling them to comply with such requisition or exercise such authority. Power of Board of Trade as to inquiry.

Where an inquiry is held by the Board of Trade for the purposes of this section, or in pursuance of any general or special Act passed either before or after the passing of this Act, directing or authorising them to hold any inquiry, the Board of Trade may hold such inquiry by any person or persons duly authorised in that behalf by an order of the Board of Trade, and such inquiry if so held shall be deemed to be duly held.

3. Where application is made in pursuance of any special Act passed either before or after the passing of this Act, to the Board of Trade to be arbitrators, or to appoint any arbitrator, referee, engineer, or other person, or to hold any inquiry, or to sanction, approve, confirm, or determine, any appointment, matter, or thing, or to make any order, or to do any other act or thing for the purposes of such special Act, all expenses incurred by the Board of Trade in relation to such application and the proceedings consequent thereon, shall, to such amount as the Board of Trade may certify by their order to be due, be defrayed by the parties to such application, and (subject to any provision contained in the said special Act) shall be defrayed by such of the parties as the Board of Trade may by order direct, or if so directed by an order of the Board of Trade shall be paid as costs of the arbitration or reference. Expenses connected with arbitration, sanction, &c.

The Board of Trade may, if they think fit, on or at any time after the making Secs. 3—8. of the application, by order require the parties to the application, or any of them, to pay to the Board of Trade such sum as the Board of Trade think requisite for or on account of those expenses, or to give security to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade for the payment of those expenses on demand, and if such payment or security is not made or given may refuse to act in pursuance of the application.

All expenses directed by an order of the Board of Trade or an award in pursuance of this section to be paid may be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction as a debt, and if payable to the Board of Trade, as a debt to the Crown, and an order of the Board of Trade shall be conclusive evidence of the amount of such expenses.

"special Act."

4. In this part of this Act the term "special Act" means a local or local and personal Act, or an Act of a local and personal nature, and includes a provisional order of the Board of Trade confirmed by Act of Parliament and a certificate granted by the Board of Trade under the Railways Construction Facilities Act, 1864.

Order of Board of Trade may be in writing.

An order of the Board of Trade for the purposes of this part of this Act, or of any such special Act as is referred to in this part of this Act, may be made by writing under the hand of the President or of one of the secretaries of the Board.

Repeal of
35 & 36 Vict.
c. 18.

5. The Act of the session of the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter eighteen, intituled "An Act for regulating inquiries by the Board of Trade," is hereby repealed, without prejudice to anything done or suffered under that Act.

PART II.

Reference to Railway Commissioners.

Power of
Board of Trade to appoint Railway
Commissioners to be
or umpire.

6. Where any difference to which a railway company or canal company is a party is required or authorised under the provisions of any general or special Act passed either before or after the passing of this Act, to be referred to the arbitration of or to be determined or settled by the Board of Trade, or some person or persons appointed by the Board of Trade, the Board of Trade may, if they think fit, by order in writing under the hand of the President or one of the secretaries of the Board, refer the matter for the decision of the Railway Commissioners, and appoint them arbitrators or umpire, as the case may be, and thereupon the Commissioners for the time being shall have the same powers as if the matter had been referred to their decision in pursuance of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, and also any further powers which the Board of Trade, or an arbitrator or arbitrators, or umpire, appointed by the Board of Trade, would have had for the purpose of the arbitration, if the difference had not been referred to the Commissioners: Provided always, that this section shall not apply to any case in which application is made to the Board of Trade for the appointment of an umpire under the twenty-eighth section of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845."

Declaration
as to powers of Commissioners in arbitrations.

7. Where any difference is referred for the decision of the Commissioners in pursuance of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, as amended by this part of this Act, the Commissioners shall have the same power by their decision of rescinding, varying, or adding to any award or other decision previously made by any arbitrator or arbitrators (including therein the Board of Trade) with reference to the same subject-matter as any arbitrator or arbitrators would have had if the difference had been referred to him or them.

Duration,
&c., of part of Act, and construction with 36 & 37
Vict. c. 48.

8. This part of this Act shall be construed as one with the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, and shall continue in force for the same time as that Act and no longer, but the expiration of this part of this Act shall not affect the validity of anything done before such expiration.

The Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, together with this part of this Act, may be cited as the Regulation of Railways Acts, 1873 and 1874.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

Provisional Order authorising the Company, , to erect and maintain Electric Lines and Works, and to supply Electricity within the parish of in the county of .

1. This Order may be cited as "The ⁽²⁾ Electric Lighting Order, Secs. 1—3. 1883."

2. This Order is to be read and construed subject in all respects to the provisions of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and of any other Acts or parts of Acts incorporated therewith, which said Act and Acts and parts of Acts are in this Order collectively referred to as "the principal Act"; and the several words, terms, and expressions to which by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, meanings are assigned shall have in this Order the same respective meanings, provided that in this Order—

Short title.
Interpretation.

The expression "main" shall mean any continuous metallic conductor which may be laid down by the undertakers in any street or public place, and through which electricity may be supplied, or intended to be supplied by the undertakers for the purposes of general supply, or for charging storage batteries used for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "service line" shall mean any continuous metallic conductor through which electricity may be supplied, or intended to be supplied by the undertakers to any particular consumer on the parallel system, either from any main or directly from the premises of the undertakers:

The expression "charging main" shall mean a main which for the time being is being used solely for the purpose of charging storage batteries:

The expression "distributing main" shall mean the portion of any main which is used for the purpose of giving origin to service lines for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "general supply" shall mean the supply of electricity to ordinary consumers, and, unless otherwise specially agreed with the local authority, to the public lamps, but shall not include the supply of electricity to any one or more particular consumers under special agreement:

The expressions "Schedule A," "Schedule B," "Schedule C," and "Schedule D." shall mean the Schedules A., B., C., and D. to this Order annexed respectively.

3. This Order shall come into force and have effect upon the day when the Act confirming this Order is passed, which date is in this Order referred to as "the commencement of this Order."

Commencement of Order.

⁽¹⁾ This and the following Order (at p. 534) are two of several Orders made by the Board of Trade and confirmed by Parliament in the Session of 1883. This Order was confirmed by the statute, 46 & 47 Vict. c. 222.

⁽²⁾ The name of the place should be inserted.

Secs. 4—7.Address and Description of the Undertakers.

Address and description of
undertakers.

4. The undertakers for the purpose of this Order are the Company, , being a company, &c., and having its registered office at , and having its capital divided into shares of each.

Provided that if the undertaking or any part thereof is at any time purchased by or transferred to any other body or persons in accordance with the provisions of this Order, or of the principal Act, such body or persons shall, from the date of such purchase or transfer, be the undertakers in relation to such undertaking or part thereof for the purposes of this Order in lieu of the Company above mentioned.

Area of Supply (1).

Area of
supply.

5. The area within which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity under this Order shall be the whole of the area included in Schedule A. (which said area is more particularly delineated upon the map deposited at the Board of Trade by the undertakers together with this Order, and thereon coloured yellow and red) together with so much of the area included in Schedule B. (which said area is more particularly delineated upon the map above mentioned, and thereon edged round with blue) as may hereafter be added to the area of supply in accordance with the direction of the Board of Trade as by this Order provided.

area of supply.

6. At any time after the commencement of this Order the undertakers may apply to the Board of Trade to direct that any part or parts of the area included in Schedule B., and not removed from the operation of this Order as hereinafter mentioned, shall be added to the area of supply.

Notice of every such application shall be published by public advertisement once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper, and shall be served upon the local authority.

Where any such application has been made the Board of Trade upon being satisfied that such notice has been duly published, and served as aforesaid, and after giving an opportunity to the local authority to make representations or objections with reference to the application, may at the expiration of a period of one month after the publication of the first of such advertisements, direct all or any part of the additions to the area of supply therein specified to be made, and the area of supply shall be extended accordingly: Provided that if the Board of Trade are of opinion that such additions or some of them have not been reasonably or fairly selected, having regard to the future development of electric lighting in the district, they may refuse to direct the same to be added to the area of supply, except upon the terms that some other part or parts of the area included in Schedule B. should also be added to the area of supply.

certain parts of area included in Schedule
B. from operation of Order.

7. If at any time after the expiration of a period of two years after the commencement of this Order the local authority should be desirous that any part or parts of the area included in Schedule B. which may not for the time being be included in the area of supply should be added to the area of supply, they may serve a notice upon the undertakers requiring them to apply to the Board of Trade to direct that such part or parts as particularly specified in such notice shall be added to the area of supply; and if the undertakers for the period of three months after the service of such notice upon them as aforesaid refuse or neglect to apply to the Board of Trade to direct that such part or parts shall be added to the area of supply in compliance with the terms of such notice, the Board of Trade, upon the application of the local authority, and upon being satisfied that such notice has been duly served, and that such refusal or neglect has continued for the period aforesaid, may direct that such part or parts, or any portion thereof, be removed from the operation of this Order, either absolutely or subject to the contingency of a license or Provisional Order being obtained by some other authority, or by some company or person, authorising them to supply electricity within such part or parts or portion thereof, and may order any costs and expenses incurred by the local authority in connection with any such application by them as aforesaid to be paid to the local authority by the undertakers; and where any such part or parts or portion thereof may have been removed from the operation of this Order under the provisions of this section, the powers of the undertakers to apply to the Board of Trade to direct that such part or parts or portion thereof, as the case may be, shall be added to the area of supply shall absolutely cease and determine from and after the date when such removal is directed to take place.

8. The undertakers, within a period of six months after the commencement of this Order, and before exercising any of the powers by this Order conferred on them in relation to the execution of works, shall cause a sum of three thousand five hundred pounds to be appropriated as a separate capital for the purposes of the undertaking, such appropriation being effected either by a special resolution setting aside a portion of the capital of the undertakers, or in such other manner as may be approved of by the Board of Trade, with the consent of the local authority, and they shall also within the period aforesaid deposit or secure to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade a sum of three hundred and fifty pounds in respect of the said sum so appropriated as aforesaid.

Separate capital for undertaking.

If the undertakers fail to appropriate or to deposit or secure any such sum as aforesaid, in accordance with the provisions of this section within the said period of six months, or such extended period as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade, this Order may be revoked by the Board of Trade upon such terms as they may think just.

Any sum deposited or secured by the undertakers under the provisions of this section shall be repaid or released to them from time to time in sums of not less than one hundred pounds, when and so soon as it may be certified by an inspector to be appointed by the Board of Trade that amounts equal to the sums so to be repaid or released have been expended by the undertakers upon works executed for the purposes of the undertaking, or that distributing mains have been duly laid down in accordance with the provisions of this Order in every street or part of a street specified in that behalf in Schedule A., or at such earlier dates and by such instalments as may from time to time be approved of by the local authority.

9. Where any part or parts of the area included in Schedule B. may be hereafter added to the area of supply by the direction of the Board of Trade under the provisions of this Order, the undertakers, within a period of six months after the date when such addition is directed to take effect, and before exercising any of the powers by this Order conferred on them in relation to the execution of works within the part or parts so added, shall cause the separate capital appropriated for the purposes of the undertaking to be increased by such a sum as may be prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade; such appropriation being effected in some such manner as in the last section mentioned; and shall also within the period aforesaid deposit and secure to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade such sum as may be prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade in respect of the said increase of the separate capital so prescribed as aforesaid.

Separate capital to be increased when area of supply added to.

If in any case the undertakers fail to appropriate or to deposit or secure the sums prescribed in that behalf respectively as aforesaid in accordance with the provisions of this section within the said period of six months after the date

(1) These clauses varied considerably in different Orders. The present ones may be taken as the standard form, which will be little departed from without the consent of the local authorities.

Secs. 9-12. when any such addition as aforesaid has been directed to take effect or such extended period as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade, this Order may be revoked by the Board of Trade as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of such addition to the area of supply upon such terms as they may think just.

Any sum deposited or secured by the undertakers under the provisions of this section shall be repaid or released to them when and so soon as they have executed such works (if any) as may be prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade, or at such earlier dates and by such instalments as may be approved of by the local authority.

Separate capital to be applied for purposes of undertaking.

10. The undertakers shall, except with the special approval of the Board of Trade, to be previously given, at all times cause such sums as may have been appropriated as a separate capital for the purposes of the undertaking, together with such increases thereof as may from time to time be made in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding section, to be kept appropriated for the said purposes, and shall keep accounts thereof distinct from the accounts kept by them in respect of any other undertaking.

If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements of this section in respect of the appropriation of any capital for the purposes of the undertaking, this Order may be revoked by the Board of Trade, if they think fit, upon such terms as they may think just.

Nature and Mode of Supply (1).

Description of systems of supply.

11. Subject to the provisions of this Order, and of the principal Act, the undertakers may supply electricity within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the said Act.

Such electricity may be supplied by means of any one or more of the following systems:—

- (a.) The “parallel system,” that is to say, a system under which the electricity used by each consumer is drawn off from a double series of mains (in this Order referred to as “the positive and negative mains”) in connection respectively with the positive and negative poles of the immediate source of supply by means of service lines forming a series of parallel circuits.
- (b.) The “series system,” that is to say, a system under which the whole current is utilised at various points situated successively in the same circuit, and is not divided up for the purpose of utilisation into different parallel circuits which supply different consumers:
- (c.) Any other system which may be approved of by the Board of Trade either for general or special use.

Provided that under no such system shall the undertakers permit any part of any circuit to be connected with earth, except so far as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this Order as regards the regulations for safety and as regards testing, unless such connection is hereafter approved of by the Board of Trade, with the concurrence of the Postmaster-General, either for general use or for individual cases, and then subject only to such regulations as the Board of Trade may from time to time impose.

Powers for execution of works.

12. Subject to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, the undertakers may from time to time exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by this Order and the principal Act, and may break up and otherwise interfere with the several railways and tramways specified in Schedule D. to this Order, so far as the same may be or be upon any land dedicated to public use, and they may from time to time construct distributing boxes in any street for the purpose of Secs. 12, 13. supplying electricity.

Every such distributing box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers and under their sole control, except so far as the Board of Trade may otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring, directing, or controlling the supply of electricity, or for examining or testing the condition of the mains or other portions of the electric lines or works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches, and any other suitable and proper apparatus for any of the above purposes, and may maintain and use the same.

13. Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of distributing boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, over, along, or across any street or public bridge, the following provisions shall have effect :—

Notice of works, with plan, to be served on the Postmaster-General and local authority.

- (a.) One month before commencing the execution of such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the Postmaster-General and the local authority, describing the proposed works, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed, and the manner in which it is intended that such street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel therein or thereunder should be interfered with, and shall, upon being required to do so by the Postmaster-General or the local authority, from time to time give him or them any such further information in relation thereto as he or they may desire.
- (b.) The Postmaster-General or the local authority may in his or their discretion approve of any such works or plan, with or without any amendments or alterations, or disapprove the same, and may give notice of such approval or disapproval to the undertakers.
- (c.) Where the Postmaster-General or the local authority disapprove of any such works or plan, the undertakers may appeal to the Board of Trade against such disapproval, and the Board of Trade may inquire into the matter and may allow or disallow such appeal, and approve any such works or plan, with or without any amendments or alterations, or disapprove the same: Provided that nothing in this Order shall authorise the undertakers to place any electric line above ground, along, over, or across any street without the express consent of the local authority.
- (d.) If the Postmaster-General or the local authority fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within three weeks after the service of the notice upon them, he or they shall be deemed to have approved of such works or plan.
- (e.) Notwithstanding anything in this Order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified, except so far as the same may be of a description and in accordance with a plan which has been approved or is to be deemed to have been approved by the Postmaster-General and the local authority, or by the Board of Trade as above mentioned under this Order; but where any such works and such plan are so approved or to be deemed to be approved, the undertakers may cause such works to be executed in accordance with such plan, subject in all respects to the provisions of this Order and of the principal Act.
- (f.) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the Postmaster-General and the local authority for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues ; provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

14. Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, over, along, or across any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority, or over or under any railway, tramway, or canal, the following provisions shall have effect, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested :—

- (a.) One month before commencing the execution of any such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered) the undertakers shall, in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under this Order or the principal Act, serve a notice upon the authority, company, or persons liable to repair such streets or parts of streets, or the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work such railway or tramway, or the owners of such canal, as the case may be, (in this section referred to as the "owners,") describing the proposed works, and stating the amount of compensation proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall upon being required to do so by any such persons as aforesaid, from time to time give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b.) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof.
- (c.) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration ; and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.
- (d.) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such street, railway, tramway, or canal, and may, if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any traffic so far as may be possible.
- (e.) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the undertakers, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the undertakers, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be executed, and may from time to time repair, renew, and amend the same (provided that their character and position are not altered), but subject in all respects to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been settled by arbitration as herein-before mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (f.) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they be liable to make under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues; provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances. Secs. 14, 15.

15. The undertakers may from time to time alter the position of any pipes or wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the principal Act or this Order; and any local or other public authority, company, or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such local authority, company, or person in relation to such street or place, subject to the following provisions, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

As to alteration of pipes, wires, &c., under streets.

- (a.) One month from commencing any such alteration the undertakers, or such local or other public authority, company, or person (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the operators," shall serve a notice upon the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," describing the proposed alteration, and stating the amount of compensation proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that such alterations shall be made, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, from time to time give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b.) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration; and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.
- (c.) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works, and may, if he thinks fit, require the operators to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which such pipe, wire, electric line, or work is used so far as may be possible.
- (d.) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid, and in such case, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be made, but subject in all respects to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been settled by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (e.) At any time before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid the owners may serve a statement upon them, stating that they desire to execute such alterations themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators they shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to execute such alterations except where they have notified to such owners that they require them to execute such alterations, and such owners have refused or neglected to comply with such notification as hereinafter provided.

Secs. 15, 16.

- (f.) Where any such statement as last aforesaid has been served upon the operators, they shall not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the execution of such alterations is required to commence, serve a notification upon the owners stating the time when such alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which such alterations are required to be made.
- (g.) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid, the owners may proceed to execute such alterations as required by the operators subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing such alterations so far as the same may be applicable.
- (h.) If the owners decline, or for twenty-four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such notification, the operators may themselves proceed to execute such alterations in like manner as they might have done if no such statement as aforesaid had been served upon them.
- (i.) All expenses properly incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under the last preceding sub-section shall be repaid to them by such operators, and may be recovered summarily before any court of summary jurisdiction, who shall have power to determine the amount thereof.
- (j.) Any owners may, if they think fit, by any statement served by them upon any operators under this section, require the operators to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them in executing any alterations as above mentioned, as may be agreed upon between such owners and operators, or in default of agreement as may be determined by arbitration, and where any operators have been so required to give security they shall not be entitled to serve a notification upon the owners requiring them to execute such alterations until such security has been duly given.
- (k.) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues; provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such additional penalties as aforesaid if the Court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

electric lines, pipes, &c., near those of gas or water company or of
undertakers.

16. Whenever the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric lines (other than service lines) or other works near to which any pipe belonging to any gas or water company, or any branch or service pipe for the supply of gas or water has been lawfully placed, or where any gas or water company require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new mains or pipes other than service pipes or other apparatus near to which any electric lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers or such gas or water company (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "operators," shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to such gas or water company, or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the owners," not more than forty-eight hours' and not less than twenty-four hours' notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and such owners shall be entitled by their officers to superintend the digging or sinking of such trench, and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time be made by the owners or such officer for the protection of every such pipe, electric line, or work and for securing the same from injury, and they shall also repair any damage that may be done thereto. Secs. 16-18.

If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to all owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency and that the operators complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the pipe, electric line, or work affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

For the purposes of this section the expression "gas or water company" shall include any local authority or other body supplying gas or water.

17. Seven days before commencing to lay down any electric line, or to supply electricity through any electric line in any manner whereby the work of telegraphic or telephonic communication through any wires or lines lawfully laid down or placed in any position may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the persons for the time being entitled to such wires or lines notice in writing specifying the course, nature, and gauge of such electric lines, and the amount and nature of the current intended to be sent along the same, and the extent to and manner in which, if at all, earth returns are proposed to be used; and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time be made by such persons as aforesaid for the purpose of preventing the communication through such wires or lines from being injuriously affected as aforesaid.

of telephone companies, &c.

If any difference arises between any such persons and the undertakers with respect to the reasonableness of any requirements so made, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to repairs or renewals of existing electric lines so long as the character and position thereof is not altered, nor to the laying of connexions with mains where the direction of the electric line so laid down crosses the direction of the said telegraphic or telephonic wires or lines at right angles at the point of shortest distance, and such directions continue the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point.

If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall make full compensation to the persons entitled to any such wire or line as aforesaid for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the wires or lines affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the undertakers.

Exercise of powers of Undertakers as to breaking up Streets, &c., by Local Authority, &c. (1)

18. The local authority, and the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work any railway or tramway which the undertakers may be Local authority, &c., may give notice of

(1) Standard clauses.

Secs. 18, 19. empowered to break up for the purposes of this Order if they think fit may from time to time give a notice to the undertakers stating that they desire to exercise or discharge all or any part of any of the powers or duties of the undertakers as therein specified in relation to the breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any streets, bridges, sewers, drains, or tunnels, vested in or under the control or management of the local authority or any such railway or tramway (as the case may be).

Every such notice shall be served upon the undertakers, and may from time to time be amended or revoked by another notice similarly served.

Proceedings where local authority, &c., give such notice.

19. Where the local authority, or the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work any railway or tramway (in this section referred to as "the givers of the notice") have given notice that they desire to exercise or discharge any specified powers and duties of the undertakers as in the last section mentioned, then so long as such notice remains in force the following provisions shall have effect :—

- (a.) The undertakers shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid, except where they have required the givers of the notice to exercise or discharge such powers or duties, and the givers of the notice have refused or neglected to comply with such requisition, as hereinafter provided, or in cases of emergency.
- (b.) In addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall, not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the exercise or discharge of any such powers or duties so specified as aforesaid is required to commence, serve a requisition upon the givers of the notice stating the time when such exercise or discharge is required to be commenced and the manner in which any such powers or duties are required to be exercised or discharged.
- (c.) Upon receipt of any such requisition as last aforesaid, the givers of the notice may proceed to exercise or discharge any such powers or duties as required by the undertakers subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the undertakers would themselves be subject to in such exercise or discharge so far as the same may be applicable.
- (d.) If the givers of the notice decline, or for twenty-four hours after the time when any such exercise or discharge of any powers or duties is by any requisition required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such requisition, the undertakers may themselves proceed to exercise or discharge the powers or duties therein specified in like manner as they might have done if such notice as aforesaid had not been given to them by the givers of the notice.
- (e.) In any case of emergency the undertakers may themselves proceed to at once exercise or discharge so much of any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid as may be necessary for the actual remedying of any defect from which the emergency arises without serving any requisition on the givers of the notice.
- (f.) If the undertakers exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.
- (g.) All expenses properly incurred by the givers of the notice in complying with any requisition of the undertakers under this section shall be repaid to them by the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily before any court of summary jurisdiction, who shall have power to determine the amount thereof.
- (h.) The givers of the notice may from time to time, if they think fit, require the undertakers to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them under this section, as may be agreed upon between them and the undertakers, or in default of agreement as may be determined by arbitration. If the undertakers fail to give any such security within seven days after being required to do so or in case of difference after the delivery of the arbitrator's award, they shall not be entitled to serve any further requisition upon such givers of notice requiring them to exercise or discharge any powers or duties under this section, until such security has been duly given.

Provided that nothing in this or the last preceding section shall in any way affect the rights of the undertakers to exercise or discharge any powers or duties conferred or imposed upon them by this Order or the principal Act, in relation to the execution of any works beyond the actual breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any such streets, bridges, sewers, drains, or tunnels, or railway or tramway, as in the last section mentioned.

20. The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of this Order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system, in every street and part of a street specified in that behalf in Schedule A., and shall thereafter maintain the same.

Mains, &c., to be laid down in area included in Schedule A.

In addition to the mains in this section above specified, the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of the period of two years after the commencement of this Order, lay down and maintain suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system in every other street or part of a street (where part only of a street is included within the area of supply) within the area included in Schedule A. upon being required to do so in manner by this Order provided.

All such mains as last above mentioned shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf which may be served upon them in accordance with the provisions of this Order has become binding upon them, or such further time as may in any case be approved of by the Board of Trade.

21. If the undertakers make default in laying down any mains in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding section, within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, the Board of Trade may upon the application of the local authority revoke this Order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of the area affected thereby, or if the undertakers so desire, may, after having given an opportunity to the local authority to make representations and objections with reference thereto, suffer the same to remain in force as to such area or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in this Order.

If undertakers fail to lay down mains, &c., order may be revoked.

22. At any time after the date when any addition to the area of supply of any part of the area included in Schedule B. is directed to take effect the undertakers shall cause suitable and sufficient distributing mains, for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system, to be laid down in every street or part of a street (where part only of a street is included within the area of supply) within the part so added to the area of supply, upon being required to do so in manner by this Order provided (2).

Mains, &c., to be laid down in area included in Schedule B. on requisition.

All such mains as in this section above mentioned shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf which may be served upon them in accordance with the provisions of this Order has become binding upon them, or such further time as may in any case be approved of by the Board of Trade.

If the undertakers make default in laying down any distributing mains in accordance with the provisions of this section, the Board of Trade may upon the Secs. 22-25. application of the local authority revoke this Order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of such addition to the area of supply, or if the undertakers so desire may, after having given an opportunity to the local authority to make representations or objections with reference thereto, suffer the same to remain in force as to such addition or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in this Order.

Manner in which requisition is to be made.

23. Any requisition requiring the undertakers to lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply in any street or part of a street under the last preceding sections may be made by two or more owners or occupiers of premises along such street or part of a street, or, where the local authority has the control and management of the public lamps in such street or part of a street, by the local authority.

Every such requisition shall be signed by the owners and occupiers making such requisition, or by the local authority, as the case may be, and shall be served upon the undertakers.

Forms of requisitions shall be kept by the undertakers at their office, and a copy shall be supplied to any owner or occupier of premises within the district and to the local authority on applying for the same at the price of one shilling a copy, and any requisition so supplied shall be deemed valid in point of form.

Provisions on requisition by owners or occupiers.

24. Where any such requisition is made by any such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the undertakers (if they think fit) may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, serve a notice on all the persons by whom such requisition is signed, stating that they decline to be bound by such requisition unless such persons or some of them will bind themselves to take a supply of electricity for three years, of such amount in the aggregate (to be specified by the undertakers in such notice) as will at the rates of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of electricity from distributing mains to ordinary consumers within the area of supply produce an annual sum (to be specified by the undertakers in such notice) amounting to not less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down the required distributing mains and any other mains which may be necessary for the purpose of connecting such distributing mains with the nearest available source of supply, and thereupon such requisition shall not be binding on the undertakers unless within fourteen days after the service of such notice on all the persons signing such requisition has been effected, or in case of difference, the delivery of the arbitrator's award, there be tendered to the undertakers an agreement severally executed by such persons or some of them, binding them to take for a period of three years at the least such specified amounts of electricity respectively as will in the aggregate, at the rates of charge above specified, produce an annual sum amounting to not less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down such distributing mains and other mains as above mentioned, nor unless sufficient security for the payment to the undertakers of all moneys which may become due to them from such persons under such agreement is offered to the undertakers (if required by them by such notice as aforesaid) within the period limited for the tender of the agreement as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any persons signing any such requisition as to the reasonableness of the amounts specified by the undertakers in their notice, or as to the sufficiency of any security offered to them under this section, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Provisions on requisition by local authority.

25. Where any such requisition is made by the local authority it shall not be binding on the undertakers unless at the time when such service is effected, or within fourteen days thereafter, there be tendered to the undertakers (if required by them) an agreement executed by the local authority, and binding them to take for a period of three years at the least a supply of electricity for lighting such public lamps in the street or part of a street in respect of which such requisition is made as may be under their management or control.

*Maps.Secs. 26-29.

26. The undertakers shall forthwith, after commencing to supply electricity under this Order, cause a map to be made of the area of supply on such a scale as may from time to time be prescribed by the local authority with the approval of the Board of Trade, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes, and shall once in every year correct such map and make such additions thereto as will show the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes.

Map of area of supply to be made.

27. Every map so made for the undertakers, or a copy thereof, with the date expressed thereon of the last time when it was so corrected, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and a copy of every such map shall within one month after such map is made be served by the undertakers upon the Board of Trade, and upon the Postmaster-General, and upon the local authority.

Deposit and inspection of maps.

Every copy of the said map as last corrected which may be served upon the local authority shall be kept by them at their office, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and such applicants may take copies of the same or any part thereof.

The local authority may demand and take from every such applicant as aforesaid such fee not exceeding one shilling for each inspection of such map or copy, and such further fee not exceeding one shilling for each copy of the same, or any part thereof, taken by such applicant, as they may from time to time prescribe.

28. If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of the last preceding sections of this Order with respect to maps, they shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding two pounds for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.

Penalty on undertakers in respect of maps.

Regulations as to Supply on the Parallel System (1).

29. The following provisions shall apply to the supply of electricity by the undertakers upon the parallel system:—

Provisions as to parallel system.

(a.) One week at least before commencing to supply electricity through any distributing main the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the local authority of their intention to commence such supply, and that the said main is ready to be tested.

Notice of intention to supply through any distributing mains to be given to local authority.

(b.) From and after the time when the undertakers commence to supply electricity through any distributing main, they shall maintain in such main a current of electricity sufficient for the use of all the consumers for the time being entitled to be supplied from such main, and such supply shall, except so far as may be otherwise agreed upon from time to time between the local authority and the undertakers, be constantly maintained at such pressure as may be fixed under the provisions of this Order: Provided that during the six months after the undertakers first commence to supply electricity under this Order, or such longer period as may in any case be approved of by the Board of Trade, the undertakers need not maintain a supply of electricity during the hours between sunrise and sunset in each day; and that, for the purposes of testing or for any other purpose which the Board of Trade may consider necessary for the efficient working of the undertaking, the Board of Trade may from time to time permit the undertakers to discontinue the supply of electricity at such intervals of time and for such periods as the Board of Trade may think expedient.

Undertakers to provide constant supply.

corresponding points of the positive and negative distributing mains shall differ at each point by a constant difference (in this Order termed "the standard pressure") to be fixed as hereinafter specified: Provided that the undertakers shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this sub-section so long as the difference in potential does not at any point vary more than five per cent. from the corresponding standard pressure, unless changes in potential recur so frequently as to cause unsteadiness in the supply.

- (d) The standard pressure may be different for different points of any main and with the approval of the local authority for different hours during the period of supply but it shall in all cases be within the limits following:
In the case of continuous currents it shall not be less than thirty volts or more than two hundred volts, and
In the case of alternating currents it shall not be less than fifty volts or more than one hundred volts, the difference of potential in the case of alternating currents being taken as equal to the constant difference of potential which would in the case of continuous currents produce the same mean effect.

Provided that such limits may from time to time be varied by the Board of Trade either generally or in respect of individual cases.

- (e.) The "standard pressure" shall be fixed by the undertakers for every main, and notice of the amount of such standard pressure shall be given to the local authority before the undertakers commence to supply electricity to consumers through such main, and shall not be altered except by permission of the local authority, and upon such terms and conditions as the local authority may impose, and after public notice has been given during a period of one month in such manner as the local authority may require of the intention of the undertakers to apply for permission to alter the same.
- (f.) The number of alternations per minute of alternating currents shall not during the hours of supply be less than six hundred, or such other number as may from time to time be fixed by the undertakers and sanctioned by the local authority.
- (g.) The supply of electricity upon any premises shall (except by agreement) be given at two poles situated thereon at a safe and convenient distance from one another in connection respectively with the positive and negative mains, and the undertakers shall be responsible for the maintenance of such poles and any other lines, fittings, and apparatus belonging to the undertakers, or under their control upon such premises in a fit and proper condition for supplying electricity, but the undertakers shall not be in any way responsible for any defects in the construction of any electric lines or fittings within such premises, whether for the utilisation of the electricity supplied or otherwise where such electric lines or fittings have not been supplied by them, nor for any neglect in the maintenance of any such electric lines or fittings where they do not belong to the undertakers, or are not under their control.
- (h.) The resistance of the service lines by which the supply is given to any consumer shall not, except by agreement, be greater than would cause the difference of potential at the positive and negative poles in any consumer's premises to be less than the corresponding difference of potential at the point of junction of the mains and the service lines by which he is supplied by more than two and a half per centum of the corresponding standard pressure when the maximum current with which he is entitled to be supplied by the undertakers under this Order is passing through such service lines, or such other percentage as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade, either generally or in respect of individual cases.

30. The local authority, so long as they are not themselves the undertakers for the purposes of this Order, shall from time to time appoint, or appoint and keep appointed, one or more competent and impartial persons to be electric inspectors for the purpose of inspecting electric lines and works, and of certifying meters under this Order.

Appointment of electric inspectors by local authority.

31. If no electric inspector is appointed by the local authority, or if the inspection of electric lines and works is imperfectly attended to by the local authority, or if the local authority themselves become the undertakers for the purposes of this Order, a court of summary jurisdiction, on the application of any person supplied with electricity by the undertakers within the area of supply or of the undertakers, may from time to time appoint or may appoint and keep appointed one or more competent and impartial persons to be electric inspectors for the purposes aforesaid.

Appointment of electric inspectors by a court of summary jurisdiction in certain cases.

32. The local authority shall pay to every electric inspector appointed under this Order such reasonable remuneration (if any) as may from time to time be determined by the authority by whom he is appointed, and such remuneration may be in addition to or in substitution for any fees which are directed to be paid to electric inspectors for services rendered by them under this Order, as may be settled by the authority by whom such remuneration is determined: Provided that where any such remuneration is settled to be in substitution for such fees as aforesaid, such fees shall, in lieu of being paid to such electric inspector for his own use, be due and paid to him on behalf and for the use of the local authority, and shall be carried by them to the credit of the local rate.

33. Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by the authority by whom he is appointed, shall from time to time test for insulation and conductivity any portion of any main of the undertakers within the area of supply through which electricity is supplied by them, or through which they have given notice to the local authority, as by this Order provided, that they intend to commence supplying electricity: Provided that such testings shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of a special Order in that behalf made by the Board of Trade.

Testing of mains.

34. Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any person supplied with electricity by the undertakers, shall from time to time test the insulation and conductivity of the service lines by which such electricity is supplied, and the efficiency of any joints in such service lines, and make such other tests in relation to such service lines as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade.

Testing service lines.

35. Notice shall be given to the undertakers before the commencement of any testing by an electric inspector, and such testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of such inspector, will least interfere with the supply of electricity by the undertakers, and in such manner as such inspector may think expedient, but except under the provisions of a special Order in that behalf made by the Board of Trade, he shall not be entitled to have access to or to interfere with the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains: Provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of electricity which may be occasioned by or required by such inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid.

Mode of testing.

36. Every electric inspector shall, on the day immediately following that on which any testing has been completed by him under this Order, make and deliver a report of the results of his testing to the authority or person by whom he was required to make such testing, and to the undertakers, and such report shall be receivable in evidence.

Report of results of testing.

37. Where the report of any electric inspector shows as the result of any testing that the undertakers were in default, the expenses of such testing, including such reasonable fees to the electric inspector as may from time to time be prescribed in that behalf by the local authority, with the approval of the Board of Trade, shall

Secs. 37-44 be paid by the undertakers, but if such report shows that the undertakers were not in default, such expenses shall be paid in case of mains where the electric inspector is appointed by any local authority by such local authority, and where such electric inspector was appointed by a court of summary jurisdiction, then by the local authority, or such company, or person as the court may direct; and in case of service lines by the person requiring the electric inspector to make such testing.

Provided, that if any authority, company, or person is dissatisfied with any report of any electric inspector under the last preceding sections, they may appeal to the Board of Trade against such report, and thereupon the Board of Trade shall inquire into and decide upon the matter of any such appeal, and their decision shall be final and binding on all parties.

Local authority to establish testing places and keep instruments.

38. The local authority may, at such places within a reasonable distance from any distributing main as they think fit, establish at their own cost such reasonable number of testing stations as they shall deem to be sufficient for testing the supply of electricity by the undertakers through such main, and may place thereat proper and suitable instruments, of a pattern to be approved by the Board of Trade, for the purpose of testing such supply, and they may require the undertakers to connect such stations by means of proper and sufficient service lines with such main at the expense of the undertakers, and to supply electricity thereto for the purpose of such testing free of charge.

If any dispute arises between the local authority and the undertakers as to whether the number of such testing stations and the distance from the main at which they are established is reasonable or excessive, or as to the performance by the undertakers of their duties under this section, such dispute shall be determined by arbitration.

be taken.

39. The local authority shall keep all instruments used by them for the purposes of testing any supply of electricity by the undertakers in efficient working order, and any electric inspector appointed under this order may from time to time examine and record the readings of such instruments at such times and in such manner as he may be directed by the authority by whom he is appointed, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence.

Undertakers
may test instruments
authority.

40. The undertakers shall have the right to have access at all reasonable times to such instruments for the sake of testing the same and ascertaining if the same are in order, and may require the local authority forthwith to have the same put in order in case they are not so.

Undertakers
to keep instruments.

41. The undertakers shall also set up and keep in efficient working order upon all premises from which they supply electricity by any distributing mains or electric lines suitable and proper instruments of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time approved of or prescribed by the Board of Trade for measuring thereat the difference of potential between any corresponding points of such mains and electric lines and between such mains and electric lines and the earth, and the current passing along such mains and electric lines, and shall record and keep recorded the readings of these instruments taken at intervals of not more than one hour during the time that electricity is being supplied thereto from such premises, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence.

inspector may test undertakers' instruments.

42. Any electric inspector appointed under this order shall have the right to have access at all reasonable hours to the instruments mentioned in the last preceding section for the purpose of testing the same and ascertaining if the same are in order, and in case the same are not in order he may require the undertakers forthwith to have the same put in order.

Representation of
at testings.

43. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any main or service line, or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the undertakers by the electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but such officer or agent shall not interfere in the testing or inspection.

Undertakers
to give facilities for testing.

44. The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this order with respect to testing, and shall comply with all the requirements of this order in that behalf; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding one pound for every day after the first day during which such offence Secs. 44-46.

Supply (1).

45. The undertakers shall, upon being required so to do by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within twenty-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers, give and continue to give a supply of electricity for such premises subject to the provisions of this order, and they shall furnish and lay any electric lines that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum current with which any such owner or occupier may be entitled to be supplied under this order, subject to the conditions following; (that is to say,)

Undertakers to furnish sufficient supply of electricity to owners and occupiers within the area of supply.

The cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of electricity to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such electric line as may be laid for a greater distance than thirty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of electricity shall—

Serve a notice upon the undertakers at their office, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required and the maximum current required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence:

Enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive and pay for a supply of electricity for a period of at least two years, of such an amount that the rent payable for the same, at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of electricity to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty pounds per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric line to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply, and give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may become due to them by such owner in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of electricity to be supplied by them.

Provided always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of electricity for any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may from time to time become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply electricity for such premises as long as such failure continues.

Provided also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the electricity supplied to him by the undertakers for any purposes or deals with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the supply of electricity to any other authority, company, or person by the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply electricity to such premises so long as such user continues.

46. The maximum current with which any such consumer, as in the last section mentioned, shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may from time to time require to be supplied with, not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises: Provided that where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum current of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines, by which electricity is supplied

Maximum current.

Secs. 46-51. to the premises of such consumer, or any electric lines, fittings, or apparatus of the undertakers upon such premises, consequent upon such alterations, shall be paid by him to the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Supply of electricity to public lamps.

47. The undertakers shall supply electricity to any public lamps within the distance of fifty yards from any of the distributing mains of the undertakers in such quantities as the local authority may from time to time require to be supplied.

Penalty for failure to supply.

48. Whenever the undertakers make default in giving a supply of electricity at such pressure and during such hours as are by this Order required to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be and are required to supply electricity under this Order, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings in respect of every such default for each day upon which any such default occurs.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying electricity at such pressure and during such hours as are by this Order required to all or any of the public lamps to which they may be and are required to supply electricity under this Order, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings in respect of every such default for each such lamp, and for each day upon which any such default occurs.

Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed in the aggregate the sum of one hundred pounds in respect of any defaults in supplying private consumers, and one hundred pounds in respect of any defaults in supplying public lamps for any one day, and provided also that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default, if the Court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that such default was caused by inevitable accident, or by force majeure, or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply.

Price (1).

Methods of charging.

49. The undertakers may charge for electricity supplied by them from any distributing main to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement):—

- (1.) By the quantity of energy contained in such supply ; or
- (2.) By the actual quantity of electricity so supplied ; or unless the Board of Trade from time to time otherwise direct,

- (3.) By the number of hours during which the supply of electricity is actually used by such consumer, and the maximum current with which he is for the time being entitled to be supplied :

Provided that before commencing to supply electricity through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall give notice to the local authority by what method they propose to charge for electricity supplied through such main ; and, where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change such method of charging except after one month's notice of such change has been given by them to the local authority and to every consumer of electricity who is supplied by them from such main.

Maximum prices.

50. The prices to be charged by the undertakers for electricity supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in Schedule C. in the first, second, and third sections thereof respectively.

Other charges by agreement.

51. Subject to the provisions of this Order, and of the principal Act, and to the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one or other of the methods above-mentioned in cases where he is entitled to require a supply, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for electricity, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained and may charge accordingly.

(1) Standard clauses.

52. The price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all electricity supplied to the public lamps and the mode in which such charges shall be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the local authority and the undertakers, and in case of difference, by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case and the distributing or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district.

Secs. 52-57.

Price to public lamps.Meters.

53. The energy contained in any supply of electricity by the undertakers to any ordinary consumer under this Order, or the quantity of electricity so supplied, or the duration of such supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), in this Order referred to as "the value of the supply," shall, except as otherwise agreed between such consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter duly certified under the provisions of this Order.

Standard meters to be used except by

54. A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of this Order if it be certified by an electric inspector appointed under this Order to be of some construction and pattern and to have been fixed and to have been connected with the service lines in some manner approved of by the Board of Trade, and to be a correct meter; and every such meter is in this Order referred to as a "certified meter": Provided that, where any alteration is made in any certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed or disconnected from the service lines, such meter shall cease to be a certified meter unless and until it be again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of this Order.

certified.

55. Every electric inspector who may be required by the undertakers or by any consumer to examine any meter for the purpose of certifying the same as a certified meter under the provisions of this Order shall be entitled to demand from the undertakers or consumer so requiring him and to be paid such fees as may from time to time be determined in that behalf by the local authority with the approval of the Board of Trade, before commencing such examination, and every electric inspector shall, upon being required so to do by the undertakers or any such consumer as aforesaid, examine any meter situate within the district for which he is appointed if such fees are offered to him as aforesaid, and shall certify the same as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified.

fying meters.

56. Where the value of the supply of electricity to any consumer by the undertakers is under this Order required to be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, the undertakers shall, if required so to do by such consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter, and shall, if required so to do, fix the same upon the premises of the consumer and connect the service lines therewith, and procure such meter to be duly certified under the provisions of this Order, and for such purposes may authorise and empower any officer or person and any electric inspector to enter upon such premises and execute all necessary works and do all necessary acts; provided that previously to supplying any such meter the undertakers may require such consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of such meter, or to give security therefore if he desires to purchase the same, or to enter into an agreement for the hire of such meter as hereinafter provided if he desires to hire such meter, and also to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the expenses of fixing such meter and connecting it with the service lines and procuring the same to be certified under this Order; if any difference arises between the undertakers and any consumer under this section such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Undertakers
to supply meters if required to do so.

57. No consumer shall connect any meter used under this order for ascertaining the value of any supply of electricity to him with any electric line through which electricity is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line unless he has given to the undertakers not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

or disconnected without notice.

Secs. 58-63.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

58. Every consumer of electricity supplied by the undertakers shall at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him, whereby the value of any supply of electricity to him by the undertakers is under this order to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and in default of his so doing the undertakers may cease to supply electricity through such meter.

The undertakers shall have access to and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect and replace any such meter at all reasonable times; provided that all reasonable expenses of and incident to any such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting, and replacing, and the procuring such meter to be again duly certified where such re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary shall, if the meter be found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer, but if the same be in proper order, all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers.

Power to the undertakers to let meters.

59. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply of electricity by them to any consumer, and any fittings thereto, for such remuneration in money, and on such terms with respect to the repair of such meter and fittings, and for securing the safety and return to the undertakers of such meter, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, and such remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt.

Undertakers to keep meter let for hire in repair.

60. The undertakers shall at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply of electricity by them to such consumer is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and in default of their so doing the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that the expenses of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified where such re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary shall be paid by the undertakers.

Differences as to correctness of meter to be settled by inspector.

61. If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter whereby the value of any supply of electricity to such consumer by the undertakers is ascertained (whether belonging to such consumer or the undertakers) is or is not in proper order for correctly registering such value, or as to whether such value has been correctly registered in any case by any meter, such difference shall be determined upon the application of either party by an electric inspector, or where the local authority are the consumers, by an inspector to be appointed by the Board of Trade, who shall also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before him shall be paid, and the decision of such inspector shall be final and binding on all parties. Subject as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence in the absence of fraud of the value of any supply of electricity by the undertakers to any consumer.

Undertakers to pay expenses of providing new meters where method of charge altered.

62. Where any consumer who is supplied with electricity by the undertakers from any distributing main is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply, and the undertakers change the method of charging for electricity supplied by them from such main the undertakers shall pay to such consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply of electricity to him according to such new method of charging, and such expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt.

Undertakers may place meters to measure supply or to check measurement thereof.

63. In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply of electricity to him as between himself and the undertakers, the undertakers may from time to time place upon his premises such meter or other apparatus as they may desire for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of electricity or energy supplied to such consumer, or the number of hours during which such supply is given, or the maximum amount of such supply, or any other quantity or time connected therewith: Provided that such meter shall be of some construction and pattern and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved of by the Board of Trade, and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the undertakers, and shall not, except by agreement, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the undertakers and the poles on the consumer's premises at Secs. 63, 64. which the supply is given.

Regulations as to Safety ⁽¹⁾.

64. The following regulations shall be observed in relation to the supply of electricity under this order:—

Regulations to be observed by undertakers.

- (a.) All mains and service lines, so far as they lie in or under streets and public places (otherwise than in distributing boxes or stations), shall be of a pattern to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and shall be covered with thoroughly waterproof covering and be contained in pipes or cases of sufficient strength to protect them from injury, and due precautions shall be taken to prevent any insulating material which may be used being rendered plastic or being otherwise injured by the action of external heat.
- (b.) All mains or service lines shall be well and sufficiently insulated with some material affording an insulation of a durable character, to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and all parts of service lines shall be so secured that they shall not be liable to be brought into contact with metallic masses upon accidental abrasion of the insulation.
- (c.) No conductor in any part of any circuit shall be connected with earth unless such connection is sanctioned by the Board of Trade by any regulations to be hereafter made under the provisions of the principal Act.
- (d.) The current through any conductor used as a service line shall not exceed one thousand ampères, if such current exceeds ten ampères, or two thousand ampères, if such current is less than ten ampères, per square inch of section of a pure copper wire of a conductivity equal to that of such conductor; provided that when the insulation employed is such that it would become plastic at a temperature of 120° Fahrenheit, only three fourths of the above-mentioned currents shall be allowed.
- (e.) The supply of electricity to any premises shall be capable of being turned off at some point outside such premises.
- (f.) In each conductor of each service line shall be inserted a safety fuse or other safety connection of a pattern to be approved by the Board of Trade. Such fuse or connection shall be situated in a distributing box or at some other point in the service line which is easily accessible, and shall be of such a nature as to cut off the supply when the current through such conductor exceeds by more than fifty per centum (or such other smaller proportion as the undertakers may think fit) the maximum current which such service line is intended to supply.
- (g.) All service lines and positive and negative poles of service lines upon the premises of any consumer shall be at a distance of not less than three inches from one another respectively, and the terminals and any joint which may be made in any portion of any service lines which may be upon the premises of any consumer between the point at which they enter upon the said premises and the said poles shall be of some construction and pattern to be approved of by the Board of Trade; and notice in writing of the position of every such joint as aforesaid shall be given to every such consumer by the undertakers before commencing to supply electricity through such service lines.
- (h.) Where the maximum current given to any consumer by any service lines exceeds fifty ampères, the supply shall be divided and given at more than one pair of poles, so that the maximum current at each pair of poles shall not exceed fifty ampères except in such cases and under such conditions as may be approved of by the Board of Trade.
- (i.) Where the difference of potential between any point of any main or electric line used by the undertakers and the earth, or between such point and any other point upon the same circuit exceeds two hundred volts, such precaution shall be taken by the undertakers, as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Trade by any regulations to be made by them under the provisions of the principal Act, to prevent such main or electric line becoming electrically connected with or leaking into any main or electric line through which electricity passes at a different potential.

- (j.) Where the difference of potential between any point of any charging main and the earth or between such point and any other point upon the same circuit exceeds two hundred volts, all distributing mains connected therewith shall be fitted with such appliances and apparatus of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time prescribed or approved of by the Board of Trade for the purpose of ensuring that such mains shall be effectively disconnected and kept disconnected from such batteries during the hours of charging.
- (k.) No portion of any electric line which may be placed by the undertakers above ground, and which is not enclosed within any distributing box or building, shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than two hundred volts.
- (l.) Where any portions of any electric lines belonging to the undertakers are exposed in such a position as to be liable to be struck by lightning, they shall be efficiently protected by lightning dischargers of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time prescribed or approved by the Board of Trade.
- (m.) The difference of potential at corresponding points of the positive and negative conductors used as distributing mains or service lines shall not at any time exceed two hundred volts in the case of continuous currents and one hundred volts in the case of alternating currents (the difference of potential in the case of alternating currents being taken as equal to the constant difference of potential which would in the case of continuous currents produce the same mean effect), and no portion of any such conductor shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than such quantity.
- (n.) The difference of potential at any two points of a charging main shall not exceed four thousand volts, and no portion of any such main shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than such quantity.
- (o.) The Board of Trade may at any time direct an inquiry to be made into the condition of any mains, electric lines, or works of the undertakers if they consider it expedient to do so in the interest of the public safety, and for such purpose they may order any such mains, electric lines, or works to be tested in such manner as they may think expedient, and may require the undertakers to remedy or repair any defects therein. If the undertakers make default in remedying or repairing any such defects as aforesaid upon being required to do so as above mentioned, within the time prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds for every day during which such default continues.

Provided always, that if the undertakers at any time desire to supply electricity by agreement at a high tension for the purpose of arc lighting or for any other purpose, the Board of Trade, if they think fit, may relieve the undertakers from all or any of the obligations by this section imposed upon them, and may substitute such other regulations to be observed by the undertakers in relation to such supply as they may think expedient; and all regulations so substituted shall be observed by the undertakers, and shall, for all purposes of enforcement or otherwise be deemed to have been inserted in this section in lieu of the regulations for which the same are substituted.

65. Notices, orders, and other documents under this Order may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print; and where any notice, order, or document requires authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the clerk or surveyor to the local authority shall be sufficient authentication. Secs. 65-68.

66. Any notice, order, or document required or authorised to be served upon any body or person, under this Order or the principal Act, may be served by the same being addressed to such body or person and being left at or transmitted through the post to the following addresses respectively:—

- (a.) In the case of the Board of Trade, the office of the Board of Trade;
- (b.) In the case of the Postmaster-General, the General Post Office;
- (c.) In the case of the local authority, the office of the local authority;
- (d.) In the case of the justices of the peace for any county, the office of the clerk of the peace for the said county;
- (e.) In the case of the undertakers or any other company having a registered office, the registered office of the undertakers or such company;
- (f.) In the case of a company having an office or offices, but no registered office, any such office;
- (g.) In the case of any other person, the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

Where any notice is served by post it shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the post.

A notice, order, or document by this Order required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of any premises shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming them), without further name or description.

A notice, order, or document by this Order required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of premises may be served by delivering the same, or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence be delivered, by fixing the notice on some conspicuous part of the premises.

Revocation of Order (1).

67. If at any time after the commencement of this Order the local authority make a representation to the Board of Trade that the undertakers have made any default in executing works or supplying electricity in accordance with the terms of this Order, and that such default is in consequence of the insolvency of the undertakers, and that by reason of such insolvency the undertakers are unable fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this Order, the Board of Trade shall inquire into the truth of such representation and if upon such inquiry they are satisfied of the truth of such representation they shall, upon the application of the local authority, revoke the Order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) as to any part of the area affected hereby. Revocation of Order where undertakers are insolvent.

68. If the Board of Trade at any time revoke this Order as to the whole or any part of the area affected thereby under any of the provisions of this Order, the following provisions shall have effect:— Provisions where Order revoked.

- (a.) The Board of Trade shall serve a notice of such revocation upon the undertakers and upon the local authority, and shall in such notice fix a date at which such revocation shall take effect, and from and after such date all the powers of the undertakers for the supply of electricity within such area, or part thereof as aforesaid, shall absolutely cease and determine;

- (b.) Within one month after the service of such notice by the Board of Trade upon the local authority, the local authority, if they think fit, may by notice in writing require the undertakers to sell, and thereupon the undertakers shall sell to them the undertaking, or such part of it as is within such area or part thereof as aforesaid, upon terms of paying the then value of all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant of the undertakers, suitable to and used by them for the purposes of the undertaking within such area or part thereof, such value being estimated in manner directed by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, in the case of purchases effected by the local authority under section twenty-seven of that Act ;
- (c.) Where no purchase is effected by the local authority under the provisions of the last sub-section, and any local authority, company, or person is willing to purchase the undertaking, or such part of it as aforesaid, the Board of Trade, if they think fit, may, with the consent of the local authority and the undertakers or without the consent of the undertakers, in case the price is not less than that for which the local authority might have purchased the same under this section as aforesaid, direct that the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, should be transferred to such company or person, and thereupon on the payment of the price of the same, the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid shall be so transferred ;
- (d.) Where any purchase is effected or any transfer is directed under the preceding provisions of this section the undertaking or part thereof so purchased or transferred shall vest in the purchasers or transferees thereof freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of the undertakers or attaching to the undertaking, and the revocation of this Order as to the whole of the area affected thereby or such part thereof as aforesaid, shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties, and obligations of the undertakers from whom the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid is purchased or transferred, in relation to the supply of electricity within such area or part thereof, and save as aforesaid this Order shall remain in full force within such area or part thereof in favour of the local authority, company, or person, by or to whom such undertaking or part thereof is purchased or transferred as aforesaid ;
- (e.) Where no purchase has been effected and no transfer has been directed under the preceding provisions of this section, the local authority, and any persons who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street in which any works of the undertakers may have been placed, may forthwith remove such works, with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to the local authority or other such persons as aforesaid such reasonable costs of such removal as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by such local authority or other persons, or, if so required by the undertakers, within one week after the service of such notice upon them, as may be settled by arbitration ;
- If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of such notice or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator, as the case may be, the local authority or other such persons as aforesaid may, without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they may think fit ; and may, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled as aforesaid, and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.
- (f.) In case the local authority, or any company or person may be entitled to compensation for any damage sustained by them, by reason or in consequence of the execution of any works within such area, or part thereof, as aforesaid, or the exercise of any powers by this Order granted to the undertakers, or for any expenses to which such local authority, company, or person may have been put in removing any works of the undertakers, within such area, or part thereof, under the provisions of this Order, such compensation shall be a first charge on any money that may have been deposited or secured by the undertakers, under the provisions of this Order in respect of such area or part thereof, and which may not have been repaid or released to the undertakers, and such money shall be applied rateably in satisfying such claims, and in every such case the amount of compensation to be paid in respect of the various claims, and the persons to whom it is to be paid, shall be determined by an arbitrator to be appointed by the Board of Trade, whose decision shall be final and binding on all parties. Secs. 68-74.

General (1).

69. Where any consumer is required under this Order to give security to the undertakers, such security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as he and the undertakers agree on, or as, in default of agreement, may be determined on the application of either party by a court of summary jurisdiction, who may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the said Court shall be final and binding on all parties: Provided that where any such security is given by way of deposit the undertakers shall pay interest at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum on every sum of ten shillings so deposited for every six months during which the same remains in their hands. Nature and amount of security.

70. Where under the provisions of this Order the approval of the Board of Trade is required to be given in any case such approval shall be signified in writing under the hand of one of the secretaries or assistant secretaries of the Board of Trade, and all costs and expenses of or incident to any application for such approval, including the costs of the tests (if any) which may be required to be made by the Board of Trade for the purpose of determining whether such approval should be given, shall be borne and paid by the applicant or applicants for such approval; provided always that where any approval is given by the Board of Trade to any plan, pattern, or specification, they may require such copies of the same as they may think fit to be prepared and deposited at their office at the expense of the said applicant or applicants, and may from time to time, if they think fit, revoke any approval so given or permit such approval to be continued subject to such modifications as they may think necessary. Proceedings where approval of Board of Trade is required.

71. Where the Board of Trade, upon the application of the undertakers, give any approval or grant any extension of any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers under this Order, or where the Board of Trade, upon the application of the local authority, revoke this Order as to the whole or any part of the area affected thereby, notice that such approval has been given, or such extension of time granted, or such revocation made, shall be published by public advertisement once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper by the body by whom such application was made as aforesaid. Notice of approval of Board of Trade, &c., to be given by advertisement.

72. Where any application is made to the Board of Trade to extend any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers under this Order, notice of such application shall be served on the local authority by the undertakers, and an opportunity shall be given to the local authority to make representations or objections with reference thereto. Notice of applications for extension of time to be given to local authority.

73. All penalties under this Order, the recovery of which is not otherwise specially provided for, may be recovered in a summary manner before a court of summary jurisdiction. Recovery of penalties.

74. The undertakers shall be answerable for all accidents, damages, and injuries happening through the act or default of the undertakers, or of any person in their employment by reason or in consequence of any of the undertakers works, and shall save harmless all authorities, bodies and persons by whom any street is repaired. Undertakers to be responsible for all damages.

Secs. 74-81. able, and all other authorities, companies, and bodies collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damages and costs in respect of such accidents, damages, and injuries.

As to mortgages.

75. Nothing in this Order shall prevent the undertakers borrowing money on the security of mortgages of the undertaking, or shall make the consent or approval of the Board of Trade necessary to the validity or effect of any such mortgage: Provided that, every mortgage of the undertaking shall be deemed to comprise all purchase money which may be paid to the undertakers in the event of any compulsory sale or transfer of the undertaking or any part thereof under section twenty-seven of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, or under this Order, and that any mortgage granted by the undertakers shall not be a charge upon the undertaking or any part thereof in the event of the undertaking or such part being purchased or transferred as aforesaid, and that every mortgage deed granted by the undertakers shall be endorsed with notice to that effect.

Saving rights of the Crown in the fore-shore.

76. Nothing in this Order shall authorise the undertakers to take, use, or in any manner interfere with any portion of the shore or bed of the sea, or of any river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary, or any right in respect thereof, belonging to the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, in right of Her crown, and under the management of the Board of Trade, without the previous consent in writing of the Board of Trade on behalf of Her Majesty (which consent the Board of Trade may give); neither shall anything in this Order contained extend to take away, prejudice, diminish, or alter any of the estates, rights, privileges, powers, or authorities vested in, or enjoyed or exercisable by the Queen's Majesty, Her heirs or successors.

Works not to be constructed on shore of navigable waters without consent of Board of Trade.

77. The undertakers shall not construct on the shore of the sea, or of any creek, bay, arm of the sea, or navigable river communicating therewith, where and so far up the same as the tide flows and re-flows, any work without the previous consent of the Board of Trade, to be signified in writing under the hand of one of the secretaries or assistant secretaries of the Board of Trade, and then only according to such plan and under such restrictions and regulations as the Board of Trade may approve of, such approval being signified as last aforesaid; and where any such work may have been constructed, the undertakers shall not at any time alter or extend the same without obtaining previously to making any such alteration or extension the like consents or approvals. If any such work be commenced or completed contrary to the provisions of this Order the Board of Trade may abate and remove the same, and restore the site thereof to its former condition at the cost and charge of the undertakers; and the amount of such cost and charge may be recovered by the Board of Trade summarily as a civil debt.

Saving clause for Postmaster-General.

78. Nothing in this Order shall affect any right or remedy of the Postmaster-General under the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, or the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1878, and all provisions contained in this Order in favour of the Postmaster-General shall be construed to be in addition to and not in modification of the provisions of those Acts.

Saving for Conservators of River Thames.

79. Nothing in this Order shall authorise or empower the undertakers to embank or encroach upon or break up or interfere with any part of the soil or bed of the River Thames or the shore thereof, so far as the same may be under the jurisdiction of the Conservators of the River Thames, without the consent of the said Conservators.

Undertakers not exempted from proceedings for nuisance. Provision as to general Acts.

80. Nothing in this Order shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action, or other proceeding for nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused by them.

81. Nothing in this Order shall exempt the undertakers or their undertaking from the provisions of any general Act relating to the supply of or price to be charged for electricity which may be passed in this or any future session of Parliament.

SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE A.

The area included in this schedule is ⁽¹⁾. The houses, buildings, and premises on both sides the said streets being included within this area. .

The streets within the aforesaid area along which the undertakers are to lay distributing mains within two years from the commencement of this Order are such portions of the following streets and parts of streets as lie within the aforesaid area :—⁽²⁾

SCHEDULE B.

So much of the parish of as the same is constituted at the date of the commencement of this Order, as is not included in the area described in Schedule A.

SCHEDULE C.

The term “unit” as used in this schedule shall be deemed to mean the energy contained in a current of 1,000 ampères flowing under an electro-motive force of one volt during one hour.

SECTION 1.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the quantity of energy contained in the supply given to him, they shall be entitled to charge him at the following rates per quarter :—For any quantity up to 100 units, three pounds ten shillings ; for each unit over 100 units, sevenpence per unit.

SECTION 2.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the actual quantity of electricity supplied to him, they shall be entitled to charge him according to the rates set forth in section 1 of this schedule, the quantity of energy contained in the supply given to him being taken to be the product of the actual quantity of electricity supplied to him and the standard pressure at the point of junction of the mains and the service lines by which he is supplied.

SECTION 3.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the number of hours during which he actually uses his supply, they shall be entitled to charge him at the rates specified in section 2 of this schedule, the quantity of electricity supplied to him being calculated on the supposition that the consumer uses the maximum current specified by him under the provisions of this Order during all the hours that he has used the supply.

SCHEDULE D.

Railways and Tramways which may be broken up by the undertakers in pursuance of the special powers granted by this Order :—⁽³⁾

(1) Describe area.

(2) Specify streets.

(3) Specify railways and tramways.

tion.

1. This Order may be cited as "The Electric Lighting Order, 1883."

2. This Order is to be read and construed subject in all respects to the provisions of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and of any other Act or parts of Acts

(1) It will be observed that in all the structural parts this order is substantially the same as the order in the case of companies (see p. 507); but that in such clauses as relate to the providing capital or lands for the undertaking the peculiarities of the position of a corporation render it necessary that there should be a considerable distinction made between it and a company order. (See section 9, and the excision of the group of clauses headed "capital" in the company order). The works clauses are of course modified by omitting reference to the local authority, since they are now the undertakers, and need not give notice to themselves of what they are about to do. The same omission occurs in the group of clauses which relate to the exercise of the powers of the undertakers as to breaking up railways, &c., streets being of course omitted in this case, since the local authority themselves have jurisdiction over the streets. In the group of clauses headed "compulsory works," all provisions for requisition by the local authority are omitted, but otherwise the clauses are substantially the same as in the company order. The clauses as to maps are the same with slight variations, as, for example, the substitution of the Board of Trade for the local authority in certain minor points. The regulations as to supply on the parallel system are the same. In the testing clauses the electric inspectors are to be appointed by a court of summary jurisdiction, and not by the local authority, who are, however, to pay them. The testing places, which are to be established by the local authorities, are also to be fixed by a court of summary jurisdiction. The clauses as to supply are substantially the same as those in the company order, with the exception that reference to the public lamps is omitted. The clauses as to price and meters are substantially the same. Clause 58, relating to the application of revenue, is of course new, as no such clause could be necessary in the case of companies. The clause is something in the nature of a common form clause, which is put in in all cases where corporations work industrial undertakings. The regulations as to safety are the same in both orders, as also are those which provide for notices. The place of the elaborate clauses in the company order, which provide for the revocation of the order, is taken by the single clause 67, as there is no reason to provide against the contingency of bankruptcy in the case of a corporation. The general clauses are substantially the same in both orders. The object and effect of these alterations, taken as a whole, is to put the local authority precisely in the position of a private company undertaking the Provisional Order, so far as regards the public. It is only in matters which relate to the provision of the funds and the disposal of the revenue arising from the undertaking that there is any important difference.

incorporated therewith, which said Act and Acts and parts of Acts are in this order collectively referred to as "the principal Act;" and the several words, terms, and expressions to which by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, meanings are assigned shall have in this Order the same respective meanings, provided that in this Order—

Secs. 2—6.

The expression "main" shall mean any continuous metallic conductor which may be laid down by the undertakers in any street or public place, and through which electricity may be supplied, or intended to be supplied by the undertakers for the purposes of general supply or for charging storage batteries used for the purposes of general supply.

The expression "service line" shall mean any continuous metallic conductor through which electricity may be supplied, or intended to be supplied by the undertakers to any particular consumer on the parallel system, either from any main or directly from the premises of the undertakers:

The expression "charging main" shall mean a main which for the time being is being used solely for the purpose of charging storage batteries:

The expression "distributing main" shall mean the portion of any main which is used for the purpose of giving origin to service lines for the purpose of general supply:

The expression "general supply" shall mean the supply of electricity to ordinary consumers, and unless otherwise specially approved of by the Board of Trade either generally or in respect of individual cases, to the public lamps, but shall not include the supply of electricity to any one or more particular consumers under special agreement:

The expression "area of supply" shall mean the area within which the undertakers are for the time being authorised to supply electricity under the provisions of this Order:

The expression "occupier" shall include, in the case of any church or place of public worship, "the officiating minister thereof," and in the case of any hall or public building, "the authority having the control thereof:"

The expressions "Schedule A.," "Schedule B.," "Schedule C.," and "Schedule D." shall mean the Schedules A. B. C. and D. to this Order annexed respectively.

3. This Order shall come into force and have effect upon the day when the Act commencing this Order is passed, which date is in this Order referred to as "the commencement of this Order." Commencement of Order.

Description of the Undertakers.

4. The undertakers for the purpose of this Order are the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of the city of _____ acting by the council as the urban sanitary authority for the district of the city and county of _____. Description of undertakers.

Area of Supply.

5. The area within which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity under this Order shall be the whole of the area included in Schedule A. (which said area is more particularly delineated upon the map deposited at the Board of Trade by the undertakers together with this Order, and thereon coloured yellow) together with so much of the area included in Schedule B. (which said area is more particularly delineated upon the map above-mentioned and thereon coloured or edged round with blue) as may hereafter be added to the area of supply in accordance with the provisions of this Order. Area of supply.

6. At any time after the commencement of this Order the undertakers may, by special resolutions, direct that any part or parts of the area included in Schedule B. and not removed from the operation of this Order as hereinafter-mentioned shall be added to the area of supply, but no such special resolution shall have any force or effect unless and until it is confirmed by a subsequent special resolution to be passed by the undertakers at a meeting held at an interval of not less than one month after the passing of the first of such special resolutions, nor unless notice of Extension of area of supply.

Secs. 6—8. the meetings at which such resolutions are passed respectively, and that such resolutions would be proposed thereat, has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of the undertakers are usually given.

The Board of Trade may from time to time require the undertakers to give such public notice of the passing of any such special resolution as aforesaid as they may think expedient.

If at any time after the passing of any such special resolution as first above-mentioned, and before the passing of the confirming resolution, a representation is made to the Board of Trade by one-fourth of the ratepayers within the part or parts directed to be added, or one-fourth of the ratepayers within any part of the area included in Schedule B. which may not for the time being be included in the area of supply, and which may be comprised within a radius of two hundred and fifty yards that the additions to the area of supply thereby directed have not been reasonably or fairly selected, having regard to the future development of electric lighting in the district, the Board of Trade may inquire into the matter of such representation, and if upon such inquiry they are satisfied of the truth of such representation, they may direct that such resolution shall be cancelled, and that such additions or some of them shall not be made except upon the terms that some other part or parts of the area included in Schedule B. should also be added to the area of supply; but, save as aforesaid, where any such special resolution has been duly passed and confirmed, the additions to the area of supply thereby directed shall be made and the area of supply shall be extended accordingly.

Removal of certain parts of area included in Schedule B. from operation of Order.

7. If at any time after the expiration of a period of two years after the commencement of this Order one-fourth of the ratepayers within any part of the area included in Schedule B. which may not for the time being be included in the area of supply, and which may be comprised within a radius of two hundred and fifty yards, should be desirous that such part should be added to the area of supply, they may serve a notice upon the undertakers requiring them to direct that such part as particularly specified in such notice shall be added to the area of supply; and if the undertakers for the period of six months after the service of such notice upon them as aforesaid refuse or neglect to direct that such part or parts shall be added to the area of supply in compliance with the terms of such notice, the Board of Trade, upon being satisfied that such notice has been duly served, and that such refusal or neglect has without any good reason continued for the period aforesaid, may direct that such part, or any portion thereof, be removed from the operation of this order, either absolutely or conditionally or subject to the contingency of a license or Provisional Order being obtained by some other local authority, or by some company or person, authorising them to supply electricity within such part or portion thereof: and where any such part or portion thereof may have been removed from the operation of this Order under the provisions of this section, the powers of the undertakers to direct by special resolution that such part or portion thereof, as the case may be, shall be added to the area of supply shall absolutely cease and determine from and after the date when such removal is directed to take place.

Nature and Mode of Supply.

Description of systems of supply.

8. Subject to the provisions of this Order and of the principal Act, the undertakers may supply electricity within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the said Act.

Such electricity may be supplied by means of any one or more of the following systems:—

(a.) The “parallel system,” that is to say, the system under which the electricity used by each consumer is drawn off from a double series of mains (in this order referred to as the “positive and negative mains”) in connection respectively with the positive and negative poles of the immediate source of supply by means of service lines forming a series of parallel circuits.

circuit, and is not divided up for the purpose of utilization into different parallel circuits which supply different consumers. Secs. 8-11.

- (c.) Any other system which may be approved of by the Board of Trade either for general or special use.

Provided that under no such system shall the undertakers permit any part of any circuit to be connected with earth, except so far as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this Order as regards the regulations for safety and as regards testing, unless such connection is hereafter approved of by the Board of Trade with the concurrence of the Postmaster-General, either for general use or for individual cases, and then subject only to such regulations as the Board of Trade may from time to time impose.

Lands.

9. Subject to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, the undertakers may from time to time by agreement, purchase, or take on lease, any lands for the purposes of this order, and may use such lands and any other lands which may for the time being belong to, or be vested in, or leased by them, and may not be dedicated to the public as a park or recreation ground, or be appropriated as a cemetery, for the purposes aforesaid, and may from time to time dispose of any lands acquired by them under the provisions of this section which may not for the time be required for the purposes of this order: Provided that the amount of land so used by them shall not at any one time exceed in the whole ten acres, except with the consent of the Board of Trade. Purchase and use of lands.

Works.

10. Subject to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, the undertakers may from time to time exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by this Order and the principal Act, and may break up and otherwise interfere with so much of the several streets, railways, and tramways specified in Schedule D. in this Order as may for the time being be included within the area of supply, so far as the same may be or be upon any land dedicated to public use, and they may from time to time construct distributing boxes in any street for the purpose of supplying electricity. Powers for execution of works.

Every such distributing box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers and under their sole control, except so far as the Board of Trade may otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring, directing, or controlling the supply of electricity, or for examining or testing the conditions of the mains or other portions of the electric lines or works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches, and any other suitable and proper apparatus for any of the above purposes, and may maintain and use the same.

11. Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of distributing boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, over, along, or across any street or public bridge, the following provisions shall have effect:— Notice of works, with plan, to be served on the Postmaster-General.

- (a.) One month before commencing the execution of such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the Postmaster-General, describing the proposed works, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall upon being required to do so by the Postmaster-General, from time to time give him any such further information in relation thereto as he or they may desire.
- (b.) The Postmaster-General may in his discretion approve of any such works or plan, with or without any amendment or alterations, or disapprove the same, and may give notice of such approval or disapproval to the undertakers.

Secs. 11, 12.

- (c.) Where the Postmaster-General disapproves of any such works or plan, the undertakers may appeal to the Board of Trade against such disapproval, and the Board of Trade may inquire into the matter and may allow or disallow such appeal, and approve any such works or plan, with or without any amendments or alterations, or disapprove the same.
- (d.) If the Postmaster-General fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within three weeks after the service of the notice upon him, he shall be deemed to have approved of such works or plan.
- (e.) Notwithstanding anything in this Order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified, except so far as the same may be of a description and in accordance with a plan which has been approved or is to be deemed to have been approved by the Postmaster-General or by the Board of Trade as above mentioned under this Order; but where any such works and such plan are so approved or to be deemed to be approved; the undertakers may cause such works to be executed in accordance with such plan, subject in all respects to the provisions of this Order and of the principal Act.
- (f.) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the Postmaster-General for any loss or damage which he may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues; provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency or otherwise excusable, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

As to streets not repairable by the local authority,
railways, &c.

12. Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, over, along, or across any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority, or over or under any railway, tramway, or canal, the following provisions shall have effect, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested :—

- (a.) One month before commencing the execution of any such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered) the undertakers shall, in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under this Order or the principal Act, serve a notice upon the authority, company, or persons liable to repair such streets or parts of streets, or the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work such railway or tramway or the owners of such canal as the case may be (in this section referred to as the "owners"), describing the proposed works, and stating the amount of compensation proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such persons as aforesaid from time to time give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b.) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof.
- (c.) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration ; and thereupon such question shall be settled by Secs. 12, 13.

arbitration accordingly.

- (d.) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such street, railway, tramway, or canal, and may, if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any traffic so far as may be possible.
- (e.) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the undertakers, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the undertakers, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be executed, and may from time to time repair, renew, and amend the same (provided that their character and position are not altered), but subject in all respects to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been settled by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (f.) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby, for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues ; provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency or otherwise excusable, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

13. The undertakers may from time to time alter the position of any pipes or wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the principal Act or this Order ; and any local or other public authority, company, or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such local authority, company, or person in relation to such street or place, subject to the following provisions, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested :—

As to alteration of pipes, wires, &c., under streets.

- (a.) One month before commencing any such alteration the undertakers, or such local or other public authority, company, or person (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the operators," shall serve a notice upon the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the owners," describing the proposed alteration, and stating the amount of compensation proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that such alterations shall be made, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, from time to time give them any such information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b.) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration ; and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.

- (c.) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works, and may, if he thinks fit, require the operators to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which such pipe, wire, electric line, or work is used so far as may be possible.
- (d.) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid, and in such case, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be made, but subject in all respects to the provisions of this Order and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been settled by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (e.) At any time before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid the owners may serve a statement upon them, stating that they desire to execute such alteration themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators they shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to execute such alterations except where they have notified to such owners that they require them to execute such alterations, and such owners have refused or neglected to comply with such notification as hereinafter provided.
- (f.) Where any such statement as last aforesaid has been served upon the operators, they shall not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the execution of such alterations is required to commence, serve a notification upon the owners stating the time when such alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which such alterations are required to be made.
- (g.) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid, the owners may proceed to execute such alterations as required by the operators, subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing such alterations so far as the same may be applicable.
- (h.) If the owners decline, or for twenty-four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such notification, the operators may themselves proceed to execute such alterations in like manner as they might have done if no such statement as aforesaid had been served upon them.
- (i.) All expenses properly incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under the last preceding subsections shall be repaid to them by such operators, and may be recovered summarily before any court of summary jurisdiction who shall have power to determine the amount thereof.
- (j.) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues ; provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency or otherwise excusable, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances. Secs. 13-15.

14. Whenever the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric lines (other than service lines) or other works near to which any pipe belonging to any gas or water company, or any branch or service pipe for the supply of gas or water has been lawfully placed, or where any gas or water company require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new mains or pipes other than service pipes or other apparatus near to which any electric lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers, or such gas or water company (as the case may be) in this section referred to as "the operators," shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to such gas or water company or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the owners," not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hour's notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and such owners shall be entitled by their officer to superintend the digging or sinking of such trench, and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time be made by the owners or such officer for the protection of every such pipe, electric line, or work, and for securing the same from injury, and they shall also repair any damage that may be done to any such pipe, electric line, or work.

Laying of electric lines, pipes, &c., near those of gas or water company or of undertakers.

If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to the owners of any pipe, electric line, or work affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the Court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency or otherwise excusable, and that the operators complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the pipe, electric line, or work affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

15. Seven days before commencing to lay down any electric line, or to supply electricity through any electric line in any manner whereby the work of telegraphic or telephonic communication through any wires or lines lawfully laid down or placed in any position may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the persons for the time being entitled to such wires or lines notice in writing specifying the course, nature, and gauge of such electric lines, and the amount and nature of the current intended to be sent along the same, and the extent to and manner in which, if at all, earth returns are proposed to be used; and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time be made by such persons as aforesaid for the purpose of preventing the communication through such wires or lines from being injuriously affected as aforesaid.

For protection of telephone companies, &c.

If any difference arises between any such persons and the undertakers with respect to the reasonableness of any requirements so made, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to repairs or renewals of existing electric lines so long as the character and position thereof is not altered, nor to the laying of connexions with mains where the direction of the electric lines so laid down crosses the direction of the said telegraphic or telephonic wires or lines at right angles at the point of shortest distance, and such directions continue the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point.

If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or Secs. 15-17. restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to the persons entitled to any such wire or line as aforesaid for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the Court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency or otherwise excusable, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the wires or lines affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the undertakers.

Exercise of Powers of Undertakers as to breaking up Railways, &c., by Owners.

Railway company, &c., may give notice of desire to break up railways, &c., on behalf of undertakers.

16. The authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work any railway or tramway which the undertakers may be empowered to break up for the purposes of this Order if they think fit may from time to time give a notice to the undertakers stating that they desire to exercise or discharge all or any part of any of the powers or duties of the undertakers as therein specified in relation to the breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any such railway or tramway.

Every such notice shall be served upon the undertakers, and may from time to time be amended or revoked by another notice similarly served.

Proceedings where railway company, &c., give such notice.

17. Where the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work any railway or tramway (in this section referred to as "the givers of the notice") have given notice that they desire to exercise or discharge any specified powers and duties of the undertakers as in the last section mentioned, then so long as such notice remains in force, the following provisions shall have effect:—

- (a.) The undertakers shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid, except where they have required the givers of the notice to exercise or discharge such powers or duties, and the givers of the notice have refused or neglected to comply with such requisition, as hereinafter provided, or in cases of emergency.
- (b.) In addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under the provisions of this Order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall, not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the exercise or discharge of any such powers or duties so specified as aforesaid is required to commence, serve a requisition upon the givers of the notice stating the time when such exercise or discharge is required to be commenced and the manner in which any such powers or duties are required to be exercised or discharged.
- (c.) Upon receipt of any such requisition as last aforesaid, the givers of the notice may proceed to exercise or discharge any such powers or duties as required by the undertakers subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the undertakers would themselves be subject to in such exercise or discharge so far as the same may be applicable.
- (d.) If the givers of the notice decline, or for twenty-four hours after the time when any such exercise or discharge of any powers or duties is by any requisition required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such requisition, the undertakers may themselves proceed to exercise or discharge the powers or duties therein specified in like manner as they might have done if such notice as aforesaid had not been given to them by the givers of the notice.
- (e.) In any case of emergency the undertakers may themselves proceed to at once exercise or discharge so much of any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid as may be necessary for the actual remedying of any defect from which the emergency arises without serving any requisition on the givers of the notice.

- (f.) If the undertakers exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such offence continues. Secs. 17-21.
- (g.) All expenses properly incurred by the givers of the notice in complying with any requisition of the undertakers under this section shall be repaid to them by the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily before any court of summary jurisdiction, who shall have power to determine the amount thereof.

Provided that nothing in this or the last preceding section shall in any way affect the rights of the undertakers to exercise or discharge any powers or duties conferred or imposed upon them by this Order or the principal Act, in relation to the execution of any works beyond the actual breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any such railway or tramway, as in the last section mentioned.

Compulsory Works.

18. The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of this Order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system, in every street and part of a street specified in that behalf in Schedule A. to this order, and shall thereafter maintain the same. Mains, &c., to be laid down in certain streets specified in Schedule A. within two years.

19. In addition to the mains specified in the last section, the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of the period of two years after the commencement of this Order, lay down and maintain suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system in every other street or part of a street (where part only of a street is included within the area of supply) within the area included in Schedule A. upon being required to do so in manner by this Order provided. Mains, &c., to be laid down in remainder of area in Schedule A. on requisition.

All such mains as in this section above mentioned shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf which may be served upon them in accordance with the provisions of this Order has become binding on them, or such further time as may in any case be approved of by the Board of Trade.

20. If the undertakers make default in laying down any mains in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding sections, within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, the Board of Trade may revoke this Order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of the area affected thereby, or, if the undertakers so desire, may suffer the same to remain in force as to such area or part thereof, subject to such conditions, as they may think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in this Order; but the undertakers shall not be liable to any proceeding, civil or criminal, in respect of any such default as aforesaid beyond the exercise of the powers by this section conferred upon the Board of Trade. If undertakers fail to lay down mains, &c., Order may be revoked.

21. At any time after the date when any addition to the area of supply of any part of the area included in Schedule B. is directed to take effect the undertakers shall cause suitable and sufficient distributing mains, for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system to be laid down in every street or part of a street (where part only of a street is included within the area of supply) within the part so added to the area of supply, upon being required to do so in manner by this Order provided. Mains, &c., to be laid down in area included in Schedule B. on requisition.

All such mains as in this section above mentioned shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf which may be served upon them in accordance with the provisions of this Order has become binding upon them, or such further time as may in any case be approved of by the Board of Trade.

Secs. 21-24. If the undertakers make default in laying down any distributing mains in accordance with the provisions of this section, the Board of Trade may revoke this Order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of such addition to the area of supply, or, if the undertakers so desire, may suffer the same to remain in force as to such addition or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in this Order; but the undertakers shall not be liable to any proceeding, civil or criminal, in respect of any such default as aforesaid beyond the exercise of the powers by this section conferred upon the Board of Trade.

Manner in which requisition is to be made.

22. Any requisition requiring the undertakers to lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply in any street or part of a street under the last preceding sections may be made by the owners or occupiers of not less than one-fourth of the premises along such street or part of a street.

Every such requisition shall be signed by the owners and occupiers making such requisition, and shall be served upon the undertakers.

Forms of requisitions shall be kept by the undertakers at their office, and a copy shall be supplied to any owner or occupier of premises within the district on applying for the same at the price of one shilling a copy, and any requisition so supplied shall be deemed valid in point of form.

Provisions on requisition by owners or occupiers.

23. Where any such requisition is made by any such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the undertakers (if they think fit) may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, serve a notice on all the persons by whom such requisition is signed, stating that they decline to be bound by such requisition unless such persons or some of them will bind themselves to take a supply of electricity for three years, of such amount in the aggregate (to be specified by the undertakers in such notice) as will at the rates of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of electricity from distributing mains to ordinary consumers within the area of supply produce an annual sum (to be specified by the undertakers in such notice) amounting to not less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down the required distributing mains and any other mains which may be necessary for the purpose of connecting such distributing mains with the nearest available source of supply, and thereupon such requisition shall not be binding on the undertakers unless within fourteen days after the service of such notice on all the persons signing such requisition has been effected, or in case of difference, the delivery of the arbitrator's award, there be tendered to the undertakers an agreement severally executed by such persons or some of them, binding them to take for a period of three years at the least such specified amounts of electricity respectively as will in the aggregate at the rates of charge above specified, produce an annual sum amounting to not less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down such distributing mains and other mains as above-mentioned, nor unless sufficient security for the payment to the undertakers of all moneys which may become due to them from such persons under such agreement is offered to the undertakers (if required by them by such notice as aforesaid) within the period limited for the tender of the agreement as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any persons signing any such requisition as to the reasonableness of the amounts specified by the undertakers in their notice, or as to the sufficiency of any security offered to them under this section, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Maps.

Map of area of supply to be made.

24. The undertakers shall forthwith, after commencing to supply electricity under this Order, cause a map to be made of the area of supply on such a scale as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Trade, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes, and shall once in every year correct such map and make such additions thereto as will show the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes. Secs. 24-27.

25. Every map so made for the undertakers, or a copy thereof, with the date expressed thereon of the last time when it was so corrected shall be kept by the undertakers at their office and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and such applicants may take copies of the same or any part thereof, and a copy of every such map shall within one month after such map is made be served by the undertakers upon the Board of Trade, and upon the Postmaster-General.

Deposit and inspection of maps.

The local authority may demand and take from every such applicant as aforesaid such fee not exceeding one shilling for each inspection of such map or copy, and such further fee not exceeding one shilling for each copy of the same, or any part thereof, taken by such applicant as they may from time to time prescribe.

26. If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of the last preceding sections of this Order with respect to maps, they shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding two pounds for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.

Penalty on undertakers in respect of maps.

Regulations as to Supply on the Parallel System.

27. The following provisions shall apply to the supply of electricity by the undertakers upon the parallel system:—

Provisions as to parallel system.

(a.) From and after the time when the undertakers commence to supply electricity through any distributing main, they shall maintain in such main a current of electricity sufficient for the use of all the consumers for the time being entitled to be supplied from such main; and such supply shall, except so far as may be otherwise from time to time approved by the Board of Trade, be constantly maintained at such pressure as may be fixed under the provisions of this Order.

Undertakers to provide constant supply.

b.) During the whole of the period when a supply of electricity is required to be maintained by the undertakers in the distributing mains under this Order (in this Order termed "the hours of supply") the potential at corresponding points of the positive and negative distributing mains shall differ at each point by a constant difference (in this Order termed "the standard pressure") to be fixed as hereinafter specified: Provided that the undertakers shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this sub-section so long as the difference in potential does not at any point vary more than five per cent from the corresponding standard pressure, unless changes in potential recur so frequently as to cause unsteadiness in the supply.

Pressure in mains during supply.

(c.) The standard pressure may be different for different points of any main and for different hours during the period of supply, but it shall in all cases be within the limits following:—

Limits of standard pressure.

In the case of continuous currents it shall not be less than thirty volts or more than two hundred volts, and

In the case of alternating currents it shall not be less than fifty volts, or more than one hundred volts, the difference of potential in the case of alternating currents being taken as equal to the constant difference of potential which would in the case of continuous currents produce the same mean effect.

Provided that such limits may from time to time be varied by the Board of Trade either generally or in respect of individual cases.

(d.) The "standard pressure" shall be fixed by the undertakers for every main, and shall not be altered except after notice to the Board of Trade and upon such terms and conditions as the Board of Trade may impose, after public notice has been given during a period of one month in such manner as the Board of Trade may require of the intention of the undertakers to alter the same.

Fixing of standard pressure.

during the hours of supply be less than six hundred, or such other number as may from time to time be fixed by the undertakers with the approval of the Board of Trade.

- (f.) The supply of electricity upon any premises shall (except by agreement) be given at two poles situated thereon at a safe and convenient distance from one another in connection respectively with the positive and negative mains, and the undertakers shall be responsible for the maintenance of such poles and any other lines, fittings, and apparatus belonging to the undertakers, or under their control upon such premises in a fit and proper condition for supplying electricity, but the undertakers shall not be in any way responsible for any defects in the construction of any electric lines or fittings within such premises, whether for the utilisation of the electricity supplied or otherwise where such electric lines or fittings have not been supplied by them, nor for any neglect in the maintenance of any such electric lines or fittings where they do not belong to the undertakers or are not under their control.
- (g.) The resistance of the service lines by which the supply is given to any consumer shall not, except by agreement, be greater than would cause the difference of potential at the positive and negative poles in any consumer's premises to be less than the corresponding difference of potential at the point of junction of the mains and the service lines by which he is supplied by more than two and a half per centum of the corresponding standard pressure when the maximum current with which he is entitled to be supplied by the undertakers under this Order is passing through such service lines, or such other per-centage as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade either generally or in respect of individual cases.

Testing.

28. A court of summary jurisdiction, on the application of any person supplied with electricity by the undertakers within the area of supply, or of the undertakers, shall from time to time appoint or shall appoint and keep appointed one or more competent persons to be electric inspectors for the purpose of inspecting electric lines and works, and of certifying meters under this Order.

29. The local authority shall pay to every electric inspector appointed under this Order such reasonable remuneration (if any) as may from time to time be determined by the court by whom he is appointed, and such remuneration may be in addition to or substitution for any fees which are directed to be paid to electric inspectors for services rendered by them under this Order, as may be settled by the court by whom such remuneration is determined: Provided that where any such remuneration is settled to be in substitution for such fees as aforesaid, such fees shall, in lieu of being paid to such electric inspector for his own use, be due and paid to him on behalf and for the use of the local authority, and shall be carried by them to the credit of the local rate.

30. Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any court of summary jurisdiction, shall from time to time test for insulation and conductivity any portion of any main of the undertakers within the area of supply through which electricity is supplied by them: Provided that such testings shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of a special order in that behalf made by the Board of Trade.

31. Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any person supplied with electricity by the undertakers, shall from time to time test the insulation and conductivity of the service lines by which such electricity is supplied, and the efficiency of any joints in such service lines and make such other tests in relation to such service lines as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade.

32. Notice shall be given to the undertakers before the commencement of any testing by an electric inspector, and such testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of such inspector, will least interfere with the supply of electricity by the undertakers, and in such manner as such inspector may think expedient, but except under the provisions of a special order in that behalf made by the Board of Trade, he shall not be entitled to have access to or to interfere with the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains: Provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of electricity which may be occasioned by or required by such inspector for the purpose of such testing as aforesaid. Secs. 32-38.

33. Every electric inspector shall, on the day immediately following that on which any testing has been completed by him under this Order, make and deliver a report of the results of his testing to the court or person by whom he was required to make such testing, and to the undertakers, and such report shall be receivable in evidence. Report of results of testing.

34. Where the report of any electric inspector shows as the result of any testing that the undertakers were in default, the expenses of such testing, including such reasonable fees to the electric inspector as may from time to time be prescribed in that behalf by a court of summary jurisdiction, with the approval of the Board of Trade, shall be paid by the undertakers, but if such report shows that the undertakers were not in default, such expenses shall be paid by such company or person as the court may direct; and in case of service lines by the person requiring the electric inspector to make such testing. Expenses of testing.

Provided that if the undertakers, or any other authority, company, or person should be dissatisfied with any report of any electric inspector under the last preceding sections, they may appeal to the Board of Trade against such report, and thereupon the Board of Trade shall inquire into and decide upon the matter of such appeal, and their decision shall be final and binding on all parties.

35. A court of summary jurisdiction may, upon the application of any ten consumers of electricity within the area of supply, direct the undertakers, at such places within a reasonable distance from any distributing main as such court think necessary, to establish at their own cost such reasonable number of testing stations as the court may deem to be sufficient for testing the supply of electricity by the undertakers through such main, and thereupon the undertakers shall establish such testing places, and shall place thereat such proper and suitable instruments, of a pattern to be approved by the Board of Trade, for the purpose of testing such supply as the court may direct, and they shall connect such stations by means of proper and sufficient service lines with such main at their own expense, and supply electricity thereto for the purpose of such testing free of charge. Undertakers to establish testing places and keep instruments.

If the undertakers are dissatisfied with any requirements of any court of summary jurisdiction under this section they may appeal to the Board of Trade against the same, and thereupon the Board of Trade shall inquire into and decide upon the matter of such appeal, and their decision shall be final and binding on all parties.

36. The undertakers shall keep all instruments required to be placed by them for the purpose of testing any supply of electricity by the undertakers in efficient working order, and any electric inspector appointed under this Order may from time to time examine and record the readings of such instruments at such times and in such manner as he may be directed by the authority by whom he is appointed, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence. Readings of instruments to be taken.

37. The undertakers shall also set up and keep in efficient working order upon all premises from which they supply electricity by any distributing mains or electric lines suitable and proper instruments of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time approved of or prescribed by the Board of Trade for measuring thereat the difference of potential between any corresponding points of such mains and electric lines and between such mains and electric lines and the earth, and the current passing along such mains and electric lines, and shall record and keep recorded the readings of these instruments taken at intervals of not more than one hour during the time that electricity is being supplied thereto from such premises, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence. Undertakers to keep instruments.

38. Any electric inspector appointed under this Order shall have the right to Electric

39. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any main or service line, or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the undertakers by the electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but such officer or agent shall not interfere in the testing or inspection.

40. The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this Order with respect to testing, and shall comply with all the requirements of this Order in that behalf; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding one pound for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.

Supply.

Undertakers
to furnish sufficient supply of electricity to owners and occupiers within the
area of supply.

41. The undertakers shall, upon being required so to do by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within twenty-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers, give and continue to give a supply of electricity for such premises, subject to the provisions of this Order, and they shall furnish and lay any electric lines that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum current with which any such owner or occupier may be entitled to be supplied under this Order, subject to the conditions following; (that is to say,)

The cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of electricity to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such electric line as may be laid for a greater distance than thirty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of electricity shall—

Serve a notice upon the undertakers at their office, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required and the maximum current required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence:

Enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive and pay for a supply of electricity for a period of at least two years, of such an amount that the rent payable for the same, at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of electricity to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty pounds per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric line to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply, and give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may become due to them by such owner or occupier in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of electricity to be supplied by them.

Provided always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of electricity for any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may from time to time become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply electricity for such premises so long as such failure continues: Provided also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the electricity supplied to him by the undertakers for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the supply of electricity to any other authority, company, or person by Secs. 41-46.

the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply electricity to such premises so long as such user continues.

42. The maximum current with which any such consumer, as in the last section mentioned, shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may from time to time require to be supplied with, not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises: Provided that where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum current of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines by which electricity is supplied to the premises of such consumer, or any electric lines, fittings, or apparatus of the undertakers upon such premises, consequent upon such alteration, shall be paid by him to the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

43. Whenever the undertakers make default in giving a supply of electricity at such pressure and during such hours as are by this Order required to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be and are required to supply electricity under this Order, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings in respect of every such default for each day upon which any such default occurs.

Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed in the aggregate the sum of one hundred pounds in respect of any defaults in supplying private consumers, for any one day; and provided also that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that such default was caused by inevitable accident, or by force majeure or was otherwise excusable, or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply.

Price.

44. The undertakers may charge for electricity supplied by them from any distributing main to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

- (1.) By the quantity of energy contained in such supply; or,
- (2.) By the actual quantity of electricity so supplied; or
- (3.) By the number of hours during which the supply of electricity is actually used by such consumer, and the maximum current with which he is for the time being entitled to be supplied;

unless the Board of Trade from time to time otherwise direct,
Provided that, before commencing to supply electricity through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall give notice to all consumers into whose premises service lines have been laid from such main by what method they propose to charge for electricity supplied through such main; and, where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change such method of charging except after one month's notice of such change has been given by them to every consumer of electricity who is supplied by them from such main.

45. The prices to be charged by the undertakers for electricity supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in Schedule C. in the first, second, and third sections thereof respectively, or such other prices as may from time to time be substituted by the Board of Trade for the prices so stated, upon the application either of the undertakers or of any twenty consumers of electricity of the undertakers within the area of supply.

46. Subject to the provisions of this Order, and of the principal Act, and to the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one or other of the methods above mentioned in cases where he is entitled to require a supply, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for electricity, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained, and may charge accordingly.

Secs. 47-52.

Meters.

Meters to be used except by agreement.

47] The energy contained in any supply of electricity by the undertakers to any ordinary consumer under this Order, or the quantity of electricity so supplied, or the duration of such supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), in this Order referred to as "the value of the supply," shall, except as otherwise agreed between such consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter duly certified under the provisions of this Order.

Meter to be certified.

48. A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of this Order if it be certified by an electric inspector appointed under this Order to be of some construction and pattern, and to have been fixed and to have been connected with the service lines in some manner approved of by the Board of Trade, and to be a correct meter; and every such meter is in this Order referred to as a "certified meter": Provided that, where any alteration is made in any certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed or disconnected from the service lines, such meter shall cease to be a certified meter unless and until it be again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of this Order.

Fees for certifying meters.

49. Every electric inspector who may be required by the undertakers or by any consumer to examine any meter for the purpose of certifying the same as a certified meter under the provisions of this Order shall be entitled to demand from the undertakers or consumer so requiring him and to be paid such fees as may from time to time be determined in that behalf by a court of summary jurisdiction with the approval of the Board of Trade, before commencing such examination, and every electric inspector shall, upon being required so to do by the undertakers or any such consumer as aforesaid, examine any meter situate within the district for which he is appointed if such fees are offered to him as aforesaid, and shall certify the same as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified.

Undertakers to supply meter, if required to do so.

50. Where the value of the supply of electricity to any consumer by the undertakers is under this Order required to be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, the undertakers shall, if required so to do by such consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter, and shall, if required so to do, fix the same upon the premises of the consumer and connect the service lines therewith, and procure such meter to be duly certified under the provisions of this Order, and for such purposes may authorise and empower any officer or person and any electric inspector to enter upon such premises and execute all necessary works and do all necessary acts; provided that previously to supplying any such meter the undertakers may require such consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of such meter, or to give security therefor if he desires to purchase the same, or to enter into an agreement for the hire of such meter as hereinafter provided if he desires to hire such meter, and also to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the expense of fixing such meter and connecting it with the service lines and procuring the same to be certified under this Order; if any difference arises between the undertakers and any consumer under this section such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

51. No consumer shall connect any meter used under this Order for ascertaining the value of any supply of electricity to him with any electric line through which electricity is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line unless he has given to the undertakers not less than forty-eight hours notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

52. Every consumer of electricity supplied by the undertakers shall at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him, whereby the value of any supply of electricity to him by the undertakers is under this Order to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and in default of his so doing the undertakers may cease to supply electricity through such meter.

The undertakers shall have access to and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times; provided that all reasonable expenses of and incident to any such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting, and replacing, and the procuring such meter to be again duly certified where such re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter be found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer, but if the same be in proper order, all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers. Secs. 52-58.

53. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply of electricity by them to any consumer, and any fittings thereto, for such remuneration in money, and on such terms with respect to the repair of such meter and fittings, and for securing the safety and return to the undertakers of such meter, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, and such remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt. Power to the undertakers to let meters.

54. The undertakers shall at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply of electricity by them to such consumer is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and in default of their so doing the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that the expenses of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified where such re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary shall be paid by the undertakers. Undertakers to keep meter let for hire in repair.

55. If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter whereby the value of any supply of electricity to such consumer by the undertakers is ascertained (whether belonging to such consumer or the undertakers) is or is not in proper order for correctly registering such value, or as to whether such value has been correctly registered in any case by any meter, such difference shall be determined upon the application of either party by an electric inspector, who shall also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before him shall be paid, and the decision of such inspector shall be final and binding on all parties. Subject as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence in the absence of fraud of the value of any supply of electricity by the undertakers to any consumer. Differences as to correctness of meter to be settled by inspector.

56. Where any consumer who is supplied with electricity by the undertakers from any distributing main is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply, and the undertakers change the method of charging for electricity supplied by them from such main, the undertakers shall pay to such consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply of electricity to him according to such new method of charging, and such expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt. Undertakers to pay expenses of providing new meters where method of charge altered.

57. In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply of electricity to him as between himself and the undertakers, the undertakers may from time to time place upon his premises such meter or other apparatus as they may desire for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of electricity or energy supplied to such consumer, or the number of hours during which such supply is given, or the maximum amount of such supply, or any other quantity or time connected therewith: Provided that such meter shall be of some construction and pattern and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved of by the Board of Trade, and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the undertakers, and shall not, except by agreement, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the undertakers and the pole on the consumer's premises at which the supply is given. Undertakers may place meters to measure supply or to check measurement thereof.

Application of Revenue.

58. All moneys from time to time received by the undertakers in respect of the undertaking, except borrowed money, shall be applied by them as follows:— Application of moneys.

(1.) In payment of the working and establishment expenses and costs of maintenance of the undertaking, including all costs, expenses, penalties, and damages incurred or payable by the undertakers, consequent upon any proceedings by or against the undertakers, their officers or servants in relation to the undertaking.

Secs. 58, 59.

- (2.) In payment of the interest on any mortgages, stock, or other securities granted and issued by the undertakers in respect of money borrowed for electricity purposes.
- (3.) In providing any instalments or sinking fund required to be provided in respect of moneys borrowed for electricity purposes.
- (4.) In payment of all other their expenses of executing this Order, not being expenses properly chargeable to capital.
- (5.) In providing a reserve fund if they think fit by setting aside such money as they may from time to time think reasonable, and investing the same and the resulting income thereof in Government securities, or in any other securities in which trustees are by law for the time being authorised to invest, or in any stock or securities of the undertakers, and accumulating the same at compound interest until the fund so formed amounts to one tenth of the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking, which fund shall be applicable from time to time to answer any deficiency at any time happening in the income of the undertakers from the undertaking, or to meet any extraordinary claim or demand at any time arising against the undertakers in respect of the undertaking, and so that if that fund is at any time reduced, it may thereafter be again restored to the prescribed limit, and so from time to time as often as such reduction happens.

And shall carry the net surplus remaining in any year, and the annual proceeds of the reserve fund, when amounting to the prescribed limit, to the credit of the local rate as defined by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, or, at the option of the undertakers, shall apply such surplus, or some part thereof, to the improvement of the city and public benefit of the inhabitants, or in reduction of the capital moneys borrowed for electricity purposes.

Provided always, that if the surplus shall in any year exceed seven pounds per centum per annum upon the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking, the undertakers shall make such a rateable reduction in the charge for the supply of electricity as in their judgment will reduce the surplus to the said maximum rate of profit.

Any deficiency of income in any year shall be charged upon and payable out of the local rate.

Regulations as to Safety.

Regulations
to be observed by
undertakers.

59. The following regulations shall be observed in relation to the supply of electricity under this Order:—

- (a.) All mains and service lines, so far as they lie in or under streets and public places (otherwise than in distributing boxes or stations), shall be of a pattern to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and shall be covered with thoroughly waterproof covering and be contained in pipes or cases of sufficient strength to protect them from injury, and due precautions shall be taken to prevent any insulating material which may be used being rendered plastic or being otherwise injured by the action of external heat.
- (b.) All mains or service lines shall be well and sufficiently insulated with some material affording an insulation of a durable character, to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and all parts of service lines shall be so secured that they shall not be liable to be brought into contact with metallic masses upon accidental abrasion of the insulation.
- (c.) No conductor in any part of any circuit shall be connected with earth unless such connection is sanctioned by the Board of Trade by any regulations to be hereafter made under the provision of the principal Act.
- (d.) The current through any conductor used as a service line shall not exceed one thousand ampères, if such current exceeds ten ampères, or two thousand ampères, if such current is less than ten ampères, per square inch of section of a pure copper wire of a conductivity equal to that of such conductor; provided that when the insulation employed is such that it would become plastic at a temperature of 120° Fahrenheit, only three fourths of the above-mentioned currents shall be allowed.

- (e.) The supply of electricity to any premises shall be capable of being turned off at some point outside such premises.
- (f.) In each conductor of each service line shall be inserted a safety fuze or other safety connection of a pattern to be approved by the Board of Trade. Such fuze or connection shall be situated in a distributing box or at some other point in the service line which is easily accessible, and shall be of such a nature as to cut off the supply when the current through such conductor exceeds by more than fifty per centum (or such other smaller proportion as the undertakers may think fit) the maximum current which such service line is intended to supply.
- (g.) All service lines and positive and negative poles of service lines upon the premises of any consumer shall be at a distance of not less than three inches from one another respectively, and the terminals and any joints which may be made in any portion of any service lines which may be upon the premises of any consumer between the point at which they enter upon the said premises and the said poles shall be of some construction and pattern to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and notice in writing of the position of every such joint as aforesaid shall be given to every such consumer by the undertakers before commencing to supply electricity through such service lines.
- (h.) Where the maximum current given to any consumer by any service lines exceeds fifty ampères, the supply shall be divided and given at more than one pair of poles, so that the maximum current at each pair of poles shall not exceed fifty ampères except in such cases and under such conditions as may be approved of by the Board of Trade.
- (i.) Where the difference of potential between any point of any main or electric line used by the undertakers and the earth, or between such point and any other point upon the same circuit exceeds two hundred volts, such precaution shall be taken by the undertakers, as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Trade by any regulations to be made by them under the provisions of the principal Act, to prevent such main or electric line becoming electrically connected with or leaking into any main or electric line through which electricity passes at a different potential.
- (j.) Where the difference of potential between any point of any charging main and the earth or between such point and any other point upon the same circuit exceeds two hundred volts, all distributing mains connected therewith shall be fitted with such appliances and apparatus of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time prescribed or approved of by the Board of Trade for the purpose of ensuring that such mains shall be effectively disconnected and kept disconnected from such batteries during the hours of charging.
- (k.) No portion of any electric line which may be placed by the undertakers above ground, and which is not enclosed within any distributing box or building, shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than two hundred volts.
- (l.) Where any portions of any electric lines belonging to the undertakers are exposed in such a position as to be liable to be struck by lightning, they shall be efficiently protected by lightning dischargers of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time prescribed or approved by the Board of Trade.
- (m.) The difference of potential at corresponding points of the positive and negative conductors used as distributing mains or service lines shall not at any time exceed two hundred volts in the case of continuous currents and one hundred volts in the case of alternating currents (the difference of potential in the case of alternating currents being taken as equal to the constant difference of potential which would in the case of continuous currents produce the same mean effect), and no portion of any such conductor shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than such quantity.

- (n.) The difference of potential at any two points of a charging main shall not exceed four thousand volts, and no portion of any such main shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than such quantity.
- (o.) The Board of Trade may at any time direct an inquiry to be made into the condition of any mains, electric lines, or works of the undertakers if they consider it expedient to do so in the interest of the public safety, and for such purpose they may order any such mains, electric lines, or works to be tested in such manner as they may think expedient, and may require the undertakers to remedy or repair any defects therein. If the undertakers make default in remedying or repairing any such defects as aforesaid upon being required to do so, as above mentioned, within the time prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds for every day during which such default continues.

Provided always, that if the undertakers at any time desire to supply electricity by agreement at a high tension for the purpose of arc lighting or for any other purpose, the Board of Trade, if they think fit, may relieve the undertakers from all or any of the obligations by this section imposed upon them, and may substitute such other regulations to be observed by the undertakers in relation to such supply as they may think expedient; and all regulations so substituted shall be observed by the undertakers, and shall, for all purposes of enforcement or otherwise, be deemed to have been inserted in this section in lieu of the regulations for which the same are substituted.

Notices, &c.

Notices, &c., may be printed or written.

60. Notices, orders, and other documents, under this Order may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print; and where any notice, order, or document requires authentication by the undertakers, the signature thereof by the mayor or the clerk to the urban sanitary authority for the district of the city and county of _____ shall be sufficient authentication.

Service of
notices, &c.

61. Any notice, order, or document required or authorised to be served upon any body or person, under this Order or the principal Act, may be served by the same being addressed to such body or person and being left at or transmitted through the post to the following addresses respectively:—

- (a.) In the case of the Board of Trade, the office of the Board of Trade;
- (b.) In the case of the Postmaster-General, the General Post Office;
- (c.) In the case of the undertakers, the office of the clerk to the urban sanitary authority for the district of the city and county of _____;
- (d.) In the case of the justices of the peace for any county, the office of the clerk of the peace for the said county.
- (e.) In the case of any company having a registered office, the registered office of such company;
- (f.) In the case of a company having an office or offices, but no registered office, any such office;
- (g.) In the case of any other person, the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

Where any notice is served by post it shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the post.

A notice, order, or document by this Order required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of any premises shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming them), without further name or description.

A notice, order, or document by this Order required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of premises may be served by delivering the same, or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence be delivered, by fixing the notice on some conspicuous part of the premises. Secs. 61-66.

Revocation of Order.

62. If the Board of Trade at any time revoke this Order as to the whole or any part of the area affected thereby, any persons who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street within such area or part thereof in which any works of the undertakers may have been placed may forthwith remove such works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to such persons such reasonable costs of such removal as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers, by such persons, or, if so required by the undertakers, within one week after the service of such notice upon them, as may be settled by arbitration. Provisions where Order revoked.

If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of such notice or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator, as the case may be, such persons as aforesaid may, without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they may think fit; and may, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled as aforesaid, and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

General.

63. Where any consumer is required under this Order to give any security to the undertakers, such security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as he and the undertakers agree on, or as, in default of agreement, may be determined on the application of either party by a court of summary jurisdiction, who may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the said court shall be final and binding on all parties: Provided that where any such security is given by way of deposit the undertakers shall pay interest at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum on every sum of ten shillings so deposited for every six months during which the same remains in their hands. Nature and amount of security.

64. The Board of Trade at any time and from time to time upon sufficient cause shown to their satisfaction by the undertakers, and upon such conditions (if any) as the Board of Trade think just, may for any limited or unlimited period suspend or modify any obligation of the undertakers with respect to the supply of electricity under the principal Act or this Order, in the whole or any part of the area of supply. Board of Trade may suspend obligation to supply.

65. Where under the provisions of this Order the approval of the Board of Trade is required to be given in any case, such approval shall be signified in writing under the hand of one of the secretaries or assistant secretaries of the Board of Trade, and all costs and expenses of or incident to any application for such approval, including the costs of the tests (if any) which may be required to be made by the Board of Trade for the purpose of determining whether such approval shall be given, shall be borne and paid by the applicant or applicants for such approval; provided always that where any approval is given by the Board of Trade to any plan, pattern, or specification, they may require such copies of the same as they may think fit to be prepared and deposited at their office at the expense of the said applicant or applicants, and may from time to time, if they think fit, revoke any approval so given, or permit such approval to be continued subject to such modifications as they may think necessary. Proceedings where approval of Board of Trade is required.

66. Where the Board of Trade, upon the application of the undertakers, give any approval or grant any extension of any time limited for the performance of any Notice of approval of

- Secs. 66-72. duties by the undertakers under this Order, or where the Board of Trade, upon the application of any such persons as hereinbefore specified in that behalf, revoke this Order as to the whole or any part of the area affected thereby, notice that such approval has been given, or such extension of time granted, or such revocation made, shall be published by public advertisement once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper by the body or persons by whom such application was made as aforesaid.
- Board of Trade, &c., to be given by advertisement.
- Recovery of penalties. 67. All penalties under this Order, the recovery of which is not otherwise specially provided for, may be recovered in a summary manner before a court of summary jurisdiction.
- Undertakers to be responsible for all damages. 68. The undertakers shall be answerable for all accidents, damages, and injuries happening through the act or default of the undertakers, or of any person in their employment by reason or in consequence of any of the undertakers works, and shall save harmless all authorities, bodies, and persons by whom any street is repairable, and all other authorities, companies, and bodies collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damages and costs in respect of such accidents, damages, and injuries.
- Incorporation of sections 264 and 265 of Public Health Act, 1875. 69. The provisions of sections two hundred and sixty-four and two hundred and sixty-five of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall be incorporated with this Order, and for the purposes of this Order in the construction of the said provisions "this Act" means this Order and the principal Act, and the "local authority" means the undertakers under this Order.
- Saving clause for Postmaster-General. 70. Nothing in this Order shall affect any right or remedy of the Postmaster-General under the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, or the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1878, and all provisions contained in this Order in favour of the Postmaster-General shall be construed to be in addition to and not in modification of the provisions of those Acts.
- Undertakers not exempted from proceedings for nuisance. 71. Nothing in this Order shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action or other proceeding for nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused by them.
- Provision as to general Acts. 72. Nothing in this Order shall exempt the undertakers or their undertaking from the provisions of any general Act relating to the supply of or price to be charged for electricity which may be passed in this or any future session of Parliament.

SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE A.

The streets within the city of _____ known as (1) _____ including the houses and buildings on both sides of such streets.

The undertakers are to lay distributing mains along the said streets within two years from the commencement of this Order.

SCHEDULE B.

The whole of the city and county of _____, as the same is constituted at the date of the commencement of this Order excepting the area included in Schedule A.

(1) Here specify streets.

SCHEDULE C.

The term "unit" as used in this schedule shall be deemed to mean the energy contained in a current of 1,000 ampères flowing under an electro-motive force of one volt during one hour.

SECTION 1.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the quantity of energy contained in the supply given to him, they shall be entitled to charge him at the following rates per quarter:—For any quantity up to 100 units, three pounds ten shillings; for each unit over 100 units, sevenpence per unit.

SECTION 2.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the actual quantity of electricity supplied to him, they shall be entitled to charge him according to the rates set forth in section 1 of this schedule, the quantity of energy contained in the supply given to him being taken to be the product of the actual quantity of electricity supplied to him and the standard pressure at the point of junction of the mains and the service lines by which he is supplied.

SECTION 3.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the number of hours during which he actually uses his supply, they shall be entitled to charge him at the rates specified in section 2 of this schedule, the quantity of electricity supplied to him being calculated on the supposition that the consumer uses the maximum current specified by him under the provisions of this Order during all the hours that he has used the supply.

SCHEDULE D.

List of Streets, Railways, and Tramways which may be broken up by the undertakers in pursuance of the special powers granted by this Order (¹).

(¹) Here specify Streets, Railways, and Tramways.

MODEL LICENCE FOR ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

Licence ⁽¹⁾ authorising the Company, Limited, to erect and maintain Electric Lines and Works, and to supply Electricity within certain parts of the Borough of in the County of

Preliminary.

Secs. 1, 2.

1. This licence may be cited as "The

Electric Lighting Licence,

Short title.

Interpretation.

2. This licence is to be read and construed subject in all respects to the provisions of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and of any other Acts or parts of Acts incorporated therewith, which said Act and Acts and parts of Acts are in this licence collectively referred to as "the principal Act"; and the several words, terms, and expressions to which by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, meanings are

(1) This is a copy of what is believed to be the only licence yet granted. As licences only last for seven years (see section 3 of Act, sub-section 2), and were originally intended for experimental purposes, the Board of Trade have resolved not to grant them to private undertakers, except in respect of small undertakings. They announced this decision on the occasion of the Swan Provisional Order on the Strand district being in the House of Lords Committee. This decision only relates to private undertakings as the main peculiarity of licences as opposed to Provisional Orders, viz., their requiring the consent of the local authority to renewal every seven years, does not of course affect the local authority itself, if it is the undertaker under the licence. The reason nominally given by the Board of Trade was, that it did not think that powers such as those contained in a Provisional Order, should be given to private companies over larger as without Parliamentary sanction. It would appear, however, to be almost as necessary that such sanction should be a condition precedent to local authorities undertaking industrial enterprises of so difficult a nature on a large scale, and it is believed that the Board of Trade would not grant a licence even to a local authority over any considerable area.

The principal points of difference between the form of Licence and Provisional Order are as follows:—

The meter clauses are omitted, and it is difficult to understand the reason for such omission, inasmuch, as the clauses which relate to charging by quantity are left in, and it is hard to see how the quantity supplied can be arrived at without meters. It might be, however, that the reason was that the Board of Trade thought that the existence of meter clauses might render necessary an expensive staff of inspectors, &c., and that it would not be worth while to have this staff for an undertaking which was on a small scale, and only temporary in character. For a similar reason the testing clauses are greatly modified so as to prevent its being obligatory on the local authority to appoint electric inspectors, but it is difficult to appreciate the motive which has lead to their being modified in the way they are. Clause 27 takes the place of a group of clauses which gave a legal status to the tests of the local authority by making them receivable in evidence. It would seem that it was intended to allow the local authority to ascertain how the undertakers are doing their work, but permits that to be done in a comparatively informal manner. Clauses 23—26 seem intended to allow any electric inspector of any district in England to officiate in the district covered by the licence, so that a special electric inspector need not be appointed.

assigned shall have in this licence the same respective meanings, provided that Secs. 2—6.
in this licence:

The expression "main" shall mean any continuous metallic conductor which may be laid down by the undertakers in any street or public place, and through which electricity may be supplied, or intended to be supplied, by the undertakers for the purposes of general supply or for charging storage batteries used for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "service line" shall mean any continuous metallic conductor through which electricity may be supplied, or intended to be supplied, by the undertakers to any particular consumer on the parallel system, either from any main or directly from the premises of the undertakers:

The expression "charging main" shall mean a main which for the time being is being used solely for the purpose of charging storage batteries:

The expression "distributing main" shall mean the portion of any main which is used for the purpose of giving origin to service lines for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "general supply" shall mean the supply of electricity to ordinary consumers, and, unless otherwise specially agreed with the local authority, to the public lamps, but shall not include the supply of electricity to any one or more particular consumers under special agreement:

The expressions "Schedule A.," "Schedule B.," and "Schedule C." shall mean the Schedules A., B., and C. to this licence annexed respectively.

3. This licence shall come into force and have effect upon the first day of December, 1883, which date is in this licence referred to as "the commencement of this licence," and shall continue in force for a period of seven years from the commencement thereof, which period is in this licence referred to as the "term of this licence." Commencement of licence.

Address and Description of the Undertakers.

4. The undertakers for the purpose of this licence are the Address and description of

Company, Limited, being a company registered under the Companies Acts, 1862 to 1880, with limited liability, and having its registered office at _____, in the city of _____, and having its capital divided into 20,000 shares of 5*l.* each.

Area of Supply.

5. The area within which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity Area of under this licence shall be the streets described in Schedule A. (which said streets are more particularly delineated upon the map deposited at the Board of Trade by the undertakers together with this licence and thereon coloured Capital.

6. The undertakers within a period of six months after the commencement of this licence, and before exercising any of the powers by this licence conferred on them in relation to the execution of works, shall show to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade that they are in a position to fully and efficiently discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this licence. Separate capital for undertaking.

These clauses constitute the principal points of difference between the licence and the Provisional Order excepting that, as might be expected, there is no district B. in the case of the licence, and therefore the clauses as to area of supply and as to capital are greatly simplified. The streets through which the mains may be placed are specifically enumerated in Schedule A., so there is no need of a clause enabling the inhabitants in a street by requisition to compel the undertakers to lay down mains in their street. There is also considerable modification in the clauses as to expiration or revocation of licence arising from the fact that the licence is itself terminable, whereas a Provisional Order is not.

Secs. 6—10. If the undertakers fail to show to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade that they are in such a position as in this section above mentioned within the said period of six months, or such extended period as may from time to time, be approved of by the Board of Trade, this licence may be revoked by the Board of Trade upon such terms as they may think just.

Accounts.

7. The undertakers shall, except with the special approval of the Board of Trade, to be previously given, at all times keep accounts of the capital employed for the purposes of the undertaking distinct from the accounts kept by them in respect of any other undertaking.

Nature and Mode of Supply.

Description of systems of supply. 8. Subject to the provisions of this licence, and of the principal Act, the undertakers may supply electricity within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the said Act.

Such electricity may be supplied by means of any one or more of the following systems:—

- (a.) The “parallel system,” that is to say, a system under which the electricity used by each consumer is drawn off from a double series of mains (in this licence referred to as “the positive and negative mains”) in connection respectively with the positive and negative poles of the immediate source of supply by means of service lines forming a series of parallel circuits:
- (b.) The “series system,” that is to say, a system under which the whole current is utilised at various points situated successively in the same circuit, and is not divided up for the purpose of utilisation into different parallel circuits which supply different consumers:
- (c.) Any other system which may be approved of by the Board of Trade either for general or special use.

Provided that under no such system shall the undertakers permit any part of any circuit to be connected with earth, except so far as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this licence as regards the regulations for safety and as regards testing, unless such connection is hereafter approved of by the Board of Trade, with the concurrence of the Postmaster-General, either for general use or for individual cases, and then subject only to such regulations as the Board of Trade may from time to time impose.

Works.

Powers for execution of works.

9. Subject to the provisions of this licence and the principal Act, the undertakers may from time to time exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by this licence and the principal Act, and may break up and otherwise interfere with the several tramways specified in Schedule C. to this licence, so far as the same may be or be upon any land dedicated to public use, and they may from time to time construct distributing boxes in any street for the purpose of supplying electricity.

Every such distributing box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers and under their sole control, except so far as the Board of Trade may otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring, directing, or controlling the supply of electricity, or for examining or testing the condition of the mains or other portions of the electric lines or works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches, and any other suitable and proper apparatus for any of the above purposes, and may maintain and use the same.

Notice of works, with plan, to be served on the

10. Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of distributing boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, over, along, or across any street or public bridge, the following provisions shall have effect:—

- (a.) One month before commencing the execution of such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the Postmaster-General and the local authority describing the proposed works, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed, and the manner in which it is intended that such street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel therein or thereunder should be interfered with, and shall, upon being required to do so by the Postmaster-General or the local authority, from time to time give him or them any such further information in relation thereto as he or they may desire. Secs. 10. 11.
Postmaster-General and local authority.
- (b.) The Postmaster-General or the local authority may in his or their discretion approve of any such works or plan, with or without any amendments or alterations, or disapprove the same, and may give notice of such approval or disapproval to the undertakers.
- (c.) Where the Postmaster-General or the local authority disapprove of any such works or plan, the undertakers may appeal to the Board of Trade against such disapproval, and the Board of Trade may inquire into the matter and may allow or disallow such appeal, and approve any such works or plan, with or without any amendments or alterations, or disapprove the same: Provided that nothing in this licence shall authorise the undertakers to place any electric line above ground, along, over, or across any street without the express consent of the local authority.
- (d.) If the Postmaster-General or the local authority fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within three weeks after the service of the notice upon them, he or they shall be deemed to have approved of such works or plan.
- (e.) Notwithstanding anything in this licence or the principal Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified, except so far as the same may be of a description and in accordance with a plan which has been approved or is to be deemed to have been approved by the Postmaster-General and the local authority, or by the Board of Trade as above-mentioned under this licence; but where any such works and such plan are so approved or to be deemed to be approved, the undertakers may cause such works to be executed in accordance with such plan, subject in all respects to the provisions of this licence and of the principal Act.
- (f.) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this licence or the principal Act) make full compensation to the Postmaster-General and the local authority for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the Court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

11. Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, over, along, or across any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority, or over or under any railway, tramway, or canal, the following provisions shall have effect, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

- (a.) One month before commencing the execution of any such works (not being the repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered) the undertakers shall, in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under this licence or the principal Act, serve a notice upon the authority, company, or persons liable to repair such streets or parts of streets, or the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to work such railway or tramway, or the owners of such canal, as the case may be (in this section referred to as the "owners"), describing the proposed works, and stating the amount of compensation proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such persons as aforesaid, from time to time give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.

- (b.) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof.
- (c.) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration; and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.
- (d.) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such street, railway, tramway, or canal, and may, if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any traffic so far as may be possible.
- (e.) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the undertakers, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the undertakers, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be executed, and may from time to time repair, renew, and amend the same (provided that their character and position are not altered), but subject in all respects to the provisions of this licence and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been settled by arbitration as herein-before mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (f.) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this licence or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

As to alteration of pipes, wires, &c., under streets.

12. The undertakers may from time to time alter the position of any pipes or wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the principal Act or this licence; and any local or other public authority, company, or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such local authority, company, or person in relation to such street or place, subject to the following provisions, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested :—

- (a.) One month before commencing any such alteration the undertakers, or such local or other public authority, company, or person (as the case may be), in this section referred to as “the operators,” shall serve a notice upon the authority, company, or persons for the time being entitled to such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the “owners,” describing the proposed alteration, and stating the amount of compensation proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that such alterations shall be made, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, from time to time give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b.) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration; and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly.
- (c.) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such pipes, wires, electric lines, or works, and may, if he thinks fit, require the operators to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which such pipe, wire, electric line, or work is used so far as may be possible.
- (d.) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid, and in such case, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be made, but subject in all respects to the provisions of this licence and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been settled by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (e.) At any time before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid the owners may serve a statement upon them, stating that they desire to execute such alterations themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators they shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to execute such alterations except where they have notified to such owners that they require them to execute such alterations, and such owners have refused or neglected to comply with such notification as hereinafter provided.
- (f.) Where any such statement as last aforesaid has been served upon the operators, they shall, not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the execution of such alterations are required to commence, serve a notification upon the owners stating the time when such alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which such alterations are required to be made.
- (g.) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid, the owners may proceed to execute such alterations as required by the operators, subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing such alterations so far as the same may be applicable.
- (h.) If the owners decline, or for twenty-four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such notification, the operators may themselves proceed to execute such alterations in like manner as they might have done if no such statement as aforesaid had been served upon them.

- (i.) All expenses properly incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under the last preceding sub-sections shall be repaid to them by such operators, and may be recovered summarily before any court of summary jurisdiction, who shall have power to determine the amount thereof.
- (j.) Any owners may, if they think fit, by any statement served by them upon any operators under this section, require the operators to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them in executing any alterations as above mentioned, as may be agreed upon between such owners and operators, or in default of agreement as may be determined by arbitration, and where any operators have been so required to give security they shall not be entitled to serve a notification upon the owners requiring them to execute such alterations until such security has been duly given.
- (k.) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this licence or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such additional penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

13. Whenever the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric lines (other than service lines) or other works near to which any pipe belonging to any gas or water company, or any branch or service pipe for the supply of gas or water has been lawfully placed, or where any gas or water company require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new mains or pipes other than service pipes or other apparatus near to which any electric lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers or such gas or water company (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "operators," shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to such gas or water company, or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as "the owners," not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and such owners shall be entitled by their officers to superintend the digging or sinking of such trench, and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time be made by the owners or any such officer for the protection of every such pipe, electric line, or work, and for securing the same from injury, and they shall also repair any damage that may be done thereto.

If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to all owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency and that the operators complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the pipe, electric line, or work affected thereby; and that such Secs. 13-16.

ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

14. Seven days before commencing to lay down any electric line, or to supply For protection electricity through any electric line in any manner whereby the work of tele- of telephone graphic or telephonic communication through any wires or lines lawfully laid companies, down or placed in any position may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, &c.
unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the persons for the time being entitled to such wires or lines notice in writing specifying the course, nature, and gauge of such electric lines, and the amount and nature of the current intended to be sent along the same, and the extent to and manner in which, if at all, earth returns are proposed to be used; and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time be made by such persons as aforesaid for the purpose of preventing the communication through such wires or lines from being injuriously affected as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between any such persons and the undertakers with respect to the reasonableness of any requirements so made, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to repairs or renewals of existing electric lines so long as the character and position thereof is not altered, nor to the laying of connections with mains where the direction of the electric line so laid down crosses the direction of the said telegraphic or telephonic wires or lines at right angles at the point of shortest distance, and such directions continue the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point.

If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall make full compensation to the persons entitled to any such wire or line as aforesaid for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day after the first day during which such default continues: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the wires or lines affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the undertakers.

Exercise of powers of Undertakers as to breaking up Streets, &c., by Local Authority, &c.

15. The local authority, and the authority, company, or persons for the time Local autho-being entitled to work any railway or tramway which the undertakers may be rity, &c., may empowered to break up for the purposes of this licence may, if they think fit, give notice of from time to time give a notice to the undertakers stating that they desire to desire to exercise or discharge all or any part of any of the powers or duties of the under- break up takers as therein specified in relation to the breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or streets, &c., making good any streets, bridges, sewers, drains, or tunnels, vested in or under on behalf of the control or management of the local authority or any such railway or tramway undertakers.
(as the case may be).

Every such notice shall be served upon the undertakers, and may from time to time be amended or revoked by another notice similarly served.

16. Where the local authority, or the authority, company, or persons for the Proceedings time being entitled to work any railway or tramway (in this section referred to as where local
"the givers of the notice") have given notice that they desire to exercise or authority, &c., discharge any specified powers and duties of the undertakers as in the last section give such mentioned, then so long as such notice remains in force the following provisions notice.
shall have effect :—

Sec. 16.

- (a.) The undertakers shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid, except where they have required the givers of the notice to exercise or discharge such powers or duties, and the givers of the notice have refused or neglected to comply with such requisition, as hereinafter provided, or in cases of emergency.
- (b.) In addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under the provisions of this licence or the principal Act, the undertakers shall, not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the exercise or discharge of any powers or duties so specified as aforesaid is required to commence, serve a requisition upon the givers of the notice stating the time when such exercise or discharge is required to be commenced and the manner in which any such powers or duties are required to be exercised or discharged.
- (c.) Upon receipt of any such requisition as last aforesaid the givers of the notice may proceed to exercise or discharge any such powers or duties as required by the undertakers, subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the undertakers would themselves be subject to in such exercise or discharge so far as the same may be applicable.
- (d.) If the givers of the notice decline, or for twenty-four hours after the time when any such exercise or discharge of any powers or duties is by any requisition required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such requisition, the undertakers may themselves proceed to exercise or discharge the powers or duties therein specified in like manner as they might have done if such notice as aforesaid had not been given to them by the givers of the notice.
- (e.) In any case of emergency the undertakers may themselves proceed to at once exercise or discharge so much of any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid as may be necessary for the actual remedying of any defect from which the emergency arises without serving any requisition on the givers of the notice.
- (f.) If the undertakers exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.
- (g.) All expenses properly incurred by the givers of the notice in complying with any requisition of the undertakers under this section shall be repaid to them by the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily before any court of summary jurisdiction, who shall have power to determine the amount thereof.
- (h.) The givers of the notice may from time to time, if they think fit, require the undertakers to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them under this section, as may be agreed upon between them and the undertakers, or in default of agreement as may be determined by arbitration. If the undertakers fail to give any such security within seven days after being required to do so, or in case of difference after the delivery of the arbitrator's award, they shall not be entitled to serve any further requisition upon such givers of notice requiring them to exercise or discharge any powers or duties under this section, until such security has been duly given.

Provided that nothing in this or the last preceding section shall in any way affect the rights of the undertakers to exercise or discharge any powers or duties conferred or imposed upon them by this licence or the principal Act, in relation to the execution of any works beyond the actual breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any such streets, bridges, sewers, drains, or tunnels, or railway or tramway, as in the last section mentioned.

17. The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of this licence, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply upon the parallel system, in every street and part of a street specified in Schedule A., and shall thereafter maintain the same. Secs. 17-22.

18. If the undertakers make default in laying down any mains in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding section, within the period prescribed in that behalf, the Board of Trade may upon the application of the local authority revoke this licence as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of the area affected thereby, or if the undertakers so desire, may, after having given an opportunity to the local authority to make representations and objections with reference thereto, suffer the same to remain in force as to such area or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in this licence. Mains, &c., to be laid down in area included in Schedule A. If undertakers fail to lay down mains, &c. licence may be revoked.

Maps.

19. The undertakers shall forthwith, after commencing to supply electricity under this Order, cause a map to be made of the area of supply on such a scale as may from time to time be prescribed by the local authority with the approval of the Board of Trade, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes, and shall once in every year correct such map and make such additions thereto as will show the line of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and distributing boxes. Map of area of supply to be made.

20. Every map so made for the undertakers, or a copy thereof, with the date expressed thereon of the last time when it was so corrected, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and a copy of every such map shall within one month after such map is made be served by the undertakers upon the Board of Trade, and upon the Postmaster-General, and upon the local authority. Deposit and inspection of maps.

Every copy of the said map as last corrected which may be served upon the local authority shall be kept by them at their office, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and such applicants may take copies of the same or any part thereof.

The local authority may demand and take from every such applicant as aforesaid such fee not exceeding one shilling for each inspection of such map or copy, and such further fee not exceeding one shilling for each copy of the same, or any part thereof, taken by such applicant, as they may from time to time prescribe.

21. If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of the last preceding sections of this licence with respect to maps, they shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding two pounds for every day after the first day during which such offence continues. Penalty on undertakers in respect of maps.

Regulations as to Supply on the Parallel System.

22. The following provisions shall apply to the supply of electricity by the undertakers upon the parallel system:— Provisions as to parallel system.

- (a.) One week at least before commencing to supply electricity through any distributing main the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the local authority of their intention to commence such supply, and that the said main is ready to be tested. Notice of intention to supply through any distributing mains to be given to local authority.
- (b.) From and after the time when the undertakers commence to supply electricity through any distributing main, they shall maintain in such main a current of electricity sufficient for the use of all the consumers for the time being entitled to be supplied from such main, and such supply shall, Undertakers

to provide

except so far as may be otherwise agreed upon from time to time between the local authority and the undertakers, be constantly maintained at such pressure as may be fixed under the provisions of this licence: Provided that during the six months after the undertakers first commence to supply electricity under this licence, or such longer period as may in any case be approved of by the Board of Trade, the undertakers need not maintain a supply of electricity during the hours between sunrise and sunset in each day; and that, for the purposes of testing or for any other purpose which the Board of Trade may consider necessary for the efficient working of the undertaking, the Board of Trade may from time to time permit the undertakers to discontinue the supply of electricity at such intervals of time and for such periods as the Board of Trade may think expedient.

Pressure in mains during
supply.

- (c.) During the whole of the period when a supply of electricity is required to be maintained by the undertakers in the distributing mains under this licence (in this licence termed "the hours of supply") the potential at corresponding points of the positive and negative distributing mains shall differ at each point by a constant difference (in this licence termed "the standard pressure") to be fixed as hereinafter specified: Provided that the undertakers shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this sub-section so long as the difference in potential does not at any point vary more than five per cent. from the corresponding standard pressure, unless changes in potential recur so frequently as to cause unsteadiness in the supply.

standard pressure.

- (d.) The standard pressure may be different for different points of any main and, with the approval of the local authority, for different hours during the period of supply, but it shall in all cases be within the limits following:

In the case of continuous currents it shall not be less than thirty volts or more than two hundred volts, and

In the case of alternating currents it shall not be less than fifty volts or more than one hundred volts, the difference of potential in the case of alternating currents being taken as equal to the constant difference of potential which would in the case of continuous currents produce the same mean effect.

Provided that such limits may from time to time be varied by the Board of Trade either generally or in respect of individual cases.

Fixing of standard pressure.

- (e.) The "standard pressure" shall be fixed by the undertakers for every main, and notice of the amount of such standard pressure shall be given to the local authority before the undertakers commence to supply electricity to consumers through such main, and such standard pressure shall not be altered except by permission of the local authority, and upon such terms and conditions as the local authority may impose, and after public notice has been given during a period of one month in such manner as the local authority may require of the intention of the undertakers to apply for permission to alter the same.

alternations in alternating currents.

- (f.) The number of alternations per minute of alternating currents shall not during the hours of supply be less than six hundred, or such other number as may from time to time be fixed by the undertakers and sanctioned by the local authority.

Supply to be given at two poles on consumer's premises.

- (g.) The supply of electricity upon any premises shall (except by agreement) be given at two poles, situated thereon at a safe and convenient distance from one another in connection respectively with the positive and negative mains, and the undertakers shall be responsible for the maintenance of such poles and any other lines, fittings, and apparatus belonging to the undertakers, or under their control upon such premises in a fit and proper condition for supplying electricity, but the undertakers shall not be in any way responsible for any defects in the construction of any electric lines or fittings within such premises, whether for the utilisation of the electricity supplied or otherwise where such electric lines or fittings have not been supplied by them, nor for any neglect in the maintenance

undertakers, or are not under their control.

- (h.) The resistance of the service lines by which the supply is given to any consumer shall not, except by agreement, be greater than would cause the difference of potential at the positive and negative poles in any consumer's premises to be less than the corresponding difference of potential at the point of junction of the mains and the service lines by which he is supplied by more than two and a-half per centum of the corresponding standard pressure when the maximum current with which he is entitled to be supplied by the undertakers under this licence is passing through such service lines, or such other per-centage as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade, either generally or in respect of individual cases. Pressure at poles on consumer's premises.

Testing.

23. Where the local authority may have appointed any competent and impartial person or persons to be an electric inspector or electric inspectors for the purpose of inspecting electric lines and works under this licence, any such person, in this licence referred to as an "electric inspector," may from time to time test for insulation and conductivity any portion of any main of the undertakers within the area of supply through which electricity is supplied by them, or through which they have given notice to the local authority, as by this licensee provided, that they intend to commence supplying electricity: Provided that such testings shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of a special order in that behalf made by the Board of Trade. Testing of mains.

24. Any electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any person supplied with electricity by the undertakers may from time to time test the insulation and conductivity of the service lines by which such electricity is supplied, and the efficiency of any joints in such service lines, and make such other tests in relation to such service lines as may from time to time be approved of by the Board of Trade. Testing of service lines.

25. Notice shall be given to the undertakers before the commencement of any testing by an electric inspector, and such testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of such inspector, will least interfere with the supply of electricity by the undertakers, and in such manner as such inspector may think expedient, but except under the provisions of a special order in that behalf made by the Board of Trade he shall not be entitled to have access to or to interfere with the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains: Provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of electricity which may be occasioned by or required by such inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid. Mode of testing.

26. If the report of any electric inspector shows as the result of any testing that the undertakers were in default, the expenses of such testing, including such reasonable fees to the electric inspector as may from time to time be prescribed in that behalf by the local authority, with the approval of the Board of Trade, shall be paid by the undertakers. Expenses of testing.

Provided, that if any authority, company, or person is dissatisfied with any report of any electric inspector under the last preceding sections, they may appeal to the Board of Trade against such report, and thereupon the Board of Trade may inquire into and decide upon the matter of any such appeal, and their decision shall be final and binding on all parties.

27. The undertakers shall at their own expense, upon the request of the local authority, connect such reasonable number of testing stations as the local authority may establish, within a reasonable distance from any distributing main, by means of proper and sufficient service lines with such main, and supply electricity thereto for the purpose of testing free of charge. Undertakers to connect testing places with mains.

If any dispute arises between the local authority and the undertakers as to Secs. 27-32. whether the number of such testing stations and the distance from the main at which they are established is reasonable or excessive, or as to the performance by the undertakers of their duties under this section, such dispute shall be determined by arbitration.

Undertakers
to keep instruments.

28. The undertakers shall also set up and keep in efficient working order upon all premises from which they supply electricity by any distributing mains or electric lines suitable and proper instruments of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time approved of or prescribed by the Board of Trade for measuring thereat the difference of potential between any corresponding points of such mains and electric lines and between such mains and electric lines and the earth, and the current passing along such mains and electric lines, and shall record and keep recorded the readings of these instruments taken at intervals of not more than one hour during the time that electricity is being supplied thereto from such premises, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence.

Electric
inspector may test
undertakers'
instruments.

29. Any electric inspector shall have the right to have access at all reasonable hours to the instruments mentioned in the last preceding section for the purpose of testing the same and ascertaining if the same are in order, and in case the same are not in order he may require the undertakers forthwith to have the same put in order.

Representa-
undertakers at testings.

30. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any main or service line, or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the undertakers by the electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but such officer or agent shall not interfere in the testing or inspection.

Undertakers
to give facilities for testing.

31. The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this licence with respect to testing, and shall comply with all the requirements of this licence in that behalf; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding one pound for every day after the first day during which such offence continues.

Supply.

Undertakers to furnish sufficient supply of electricity to owners and occupiers within the
area of supply.

32. The undertakers shall, upon being required so to do, at any time within six years after the commencement of this licence, by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within twenty-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers, give and continue to give a supply of electricity for such premises subject to the provisions of this licence, and they shall furnish and lay any electric lines that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum current with which any such owner or occupier may be entitled to be supplied under this licence, subject to the conditions following; (that is to say,)

The cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of electricity to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such electric line as may be laid for a greater distance than thirty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of electricity shall—

Serve a notice upon the undertakers at their office, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required and the maximum current required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence:

Enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive and pay for a supply of electricity for a period of at least two years, or for the residue of the term of this licence where such residue is less than two years, of such an amount that the rent payable for the same, at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of electricity to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty pounds per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric line to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply, and give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may become due to them by such owner in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of electricity to be supplied by them. Secs. 32-35.

Provided always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of electricity for any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may from time to time become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply electricity for such premises so long as such failure continues.

Provided also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the electricity supplied to him by the undertakers for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the supply of electricity to any other authority, company, or person by the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply electricity to such premises so long as such user continues.

33. The maximum current with which any such consumer, as in the last section mentioned, shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may from time to time require to be supplied with, not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises: Provided that where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum current of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines, by which electricity is supplied to the premises of such consumer, or any electric lines, fittings, or apparatus of the undertakers upon such premises, consequent upon such alteration, shall be paid by him to the undertakers. Maximum current.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

34. The undertakers shall supply electricity to any public lamps within the distance of fifty yards from any of the distributing mains of the undertakers in such quantities as the local authority may from time to time require to be supplied. Supply of electricity to public lamps.

35. Whenever the undertakers make default in giving a supply of electricity at such pressure and during such hours as are by this licence required to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be and are required to supply electricity under this licence, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings in respect of every such default for each day upon which any such default occurs. Penalty for failure to supply.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying electricity at such pressure and during such hours as are by this licence required to all or any of the public lamps to which they may be and are required to supply electricity under this licence, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings in respect of every such default for each such lamp, and for each day upon which any such default occurs.

Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed in the aggregate the sum of one hundred pounds in respect of any defaults in supplying private consumers, and one hundred pounds in respect of any defaults in supplying public lamps for any one day, and provided also that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court having cognizance of the case are of opinion that such default was caused by inevitable accident, or by force majeure, or was of so

Secs. 35-40. slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply.

Price.

Methods of charging. 36. The undertakers may charge for electricity supplied by them from any distributing main to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

- (1.) By the quantity of energy contained in such supply; or
- (2.) By the actual quantity of electricity so supplied; or unless the Board of Trade from time to time otherwise direct,
- (3.) By the number of hours during which the supply of electricity is actually used by such consumer, and the maximum current with which he is for the time being entitled to be supplied :

Provided that before commencing to supply electricity through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall give notice to the local authority by what method they propose to charge for electricity supplied through such main ; and, where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change such method of charging, except after one month's notice of such change has been given by them to the local authority and to every consumer of electricity who is supplied by them from such main.

Maximum prices. 37. The prices to be charged by the undertakers for electricity supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in Schedule B. in the first, second, and third sections thereof respectively.

Other charges by agreement. 38. Subject to the provisions of this licence, and of the principal Act, and to the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one or other of the methods above mentioned in cases where he is entitled to require a supply, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for electricity, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained and may charge accordingly.

Price to public lamps. 39. The price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all electricity supplied to the public lamps, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the local authority and the undertakers, and in case of difference, by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case and the distributing or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose, and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district.

Regulations as to Safety.

Regulations as to safety. 40. The following regulations shall be observed in relation to the supply of electricity under this licence:

- (a.) All mains and service lines, so far as they lie in or under streets and public places (otherwise than in distributing boxes or stations), shall be of a pattern to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and shall be covered with thoroughly waterproof covering and be contained in pipes or cases of sufficient strength to protect them from injury, and due precautions shall be taken to prevent any insulating material which may be used being rendered plastic or being otherwise injured by the action of external heat.
- (b.) All mains or service lines shall be well and sufficiently insulated with some material affording an insulation of a durable character, to be approved of by the Board of Trade, and all parts of service lines shall be so secured that they shall not be liable to be brought into contact with metallic masses upon accidental abrasion of the insulation.
- (c.) No conductor in any part of any circuit shall be connected with earth unless such connection is sanctioned by the Board of Trade by any regulations to be hereafter made under the provisions of the principal Act or this licence.
- (d.) The current through any conductor used as a service line shall not exceed one thousand amperes, if such current exceeds ten amperes, or two thousand amperes, if such current is less than ten amperes, per square inch of section of a pure copper wire of a conductivity equal to that of such conductor; provided that when the insulation employed is such that it would become plastic at a temperature of 120° Fahrenheit, only three-fourths of the above-mentioned currents shall be allowed.

- (e.) The supply of electricity to any premises shall be capable of being turned off at some point outside such premises.
- (f.) In each conductor of each service line shall be inserted a safety fuse or other safety connection of a pattern to be approved by the Board of Trade. Such fuse or connection shall be situated in a distributing box or at some other point in the service line which is easily accessible, and shall be of such a nature as to cut off the supply when the current through such conductor exceeds by more than fifty per centum (or such other smaller proportion as the undertakers may think fit) the maximum current which such service line is intended to supply.
- (g.) All service lines and positive and negative poles of service lines upon the premises of any consumer shall be at a distance of not less than three inches from one another respectively, and the terminals and any joint which may be made in any portion of any service lines which may be upon the premises of any consumer between the point at which they enter upon the said premises and the said poles shall be of some construction and pattern to be approved of by the Board of Trade; and notice in writing of the position of every such joint as aforesaid shall be given to every such consumer by the undertakers before commencing to supply electricity through such service lines.
- (h.) Where the maximum current given to any consumer by any service lines exceeds fifty amperes, the supply shall be divided and given at more than one pair of poles, so that the maximum current at each pair of poles shall not exceed fifty amperes, except in such cases and under such conditions as may be approved of by the Board of Trade.
- (i.) Where the difference of potential between any point of any main or electric line used by the undertakers and the earth, or between such point and any other point upon the same circuit, exceeds two hundred volts, such precautions shall be taken by the undertakers as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Trade by any regulations to be made by them under the provisions of the principal Act, to prevent such main or electric line becoming electrically connected with or leaking into any main or electric line through which electricity passes at a different potential.
- (j.) Where the difference of potential between any point of any charging main and the earth or between such point and any other point upon the same circuit exceeds two hundred volts, all distributing mains connected therewith shall be fitted with such appliances and apparatus of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time prescribed or approved of by the Board of Trade for the purpose of ensuring that such mains shall be effectively disconnected and kept disconnected from such batteries during the hours of charging.
- (k.) No portion of any electric line which may be placed by the undertakers above ground, and which is not enclosed within any distributing box or building, shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than two hundred volts.
- (l.) Where any portions of any electric lines belonging to the undertakers are exposed in such a position as to be liable to be struck by lightning, they shall be efficiently protected by lightning dischargers of such pattern and construction as may be from time to time prescribed or approved by the Board of Trade.
- (m.) The difference of potential at corresponding points of the positive and negative conductors used as distributing mains or service lines shall not at any time exceed two hundred volts in the case of continuous currents and one hundred volts in the case of alternating currents (the difference of potential in the case of alternating currents being taken as equal to the constant difference of potential which would in the case of continuous currents produce the same mean effect), and no portion of any such conductor shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than such quantity.

- (n.) The difference of potential at any two points of a charging main shall not exceed four thousand volts, and no portion of any such main shall be at a potential differing from that of the earth by more than such quantity.
- (o.) The Board of Trade may at any time direct an inquiry to be made into the condition of any mains, electric lines, or works of the undertakers if they consider it expedient to do so in the interest of the public safety, and for such purpose they may order any such mains, electric lines, or works to be tested in such manner as they may think expedient, and may require the undertakers to remedy or repair any defects therein. If the undertakers make default in remedying or repairing any such defects as aforesaid upon being required to do so as above mentioned within the time prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds for every day during which such default continues.

Provided always, that if the undertakers at any time desire to supply electricity by agreement at a high tension for the purpose of arc lighting, or for any other purpose, the Board of Trade, if they think fit, may relieve the undertakers from all or any of the obligations by this section imposed upon them, and may substitute such other regulations to be observed by the undertakers in relation to such supply as they may think expedient; and all regulations so substituted shall be observed by the undertakers, and shall, for all purposes of enforcement or otherwise, be deemed to have been inserted in this section in lieu of the regulations for which the same are substituted.

Notices, &c.

Notices, &c., may be printed or written.

Service of
notices, &c.

41. Notices, orders, and other documents under this licence may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print; and where any notice, order, or document requires authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the clerk or surveyor to the local authority shall be sufficient authentication.

42. Any notice, order, or document required or authorised to be served upon any body or person under this licence may be served by the same being addressed to such body or person and being left at or transmitted through the post to the following addresses respectively:—

- (a.) In the case of the Board of Trade, the office of the Board of Trade;
- (b.) In the case of the Postmaster-General, the General Post Office;
- (c.) In the case of the local authority, the office of the local authority;
- (d.) In the case of the justices of the peace for any county, the office of the clerk of the peace for the said county;
- (e.) In the case of the undertakers or any other company having a registered office, the registered office of the undertakers or such company;
- (f.) In the case of a company having an office or offices, but no registered office, any such office;
- (g.) In the case of any other person, the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

Where any notice is served by post it shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the post.

A notice, order, or document by this licence required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of any premises shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming them), without further name or description.

A notice, order, or document by this licence required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of premises may be served by delivering the same, or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence be delivered, by fixing the notice on some conspicuous part of the premises. Secs. 42-47.

Expiration or Revocation of Licence.

43. If at any time after the commencement of this licence the local authority make a representation to the Board of Trade that the undertakers have made any default in executing works or supplying electricity in accordance with the terms of this licence, and that such default is in consequence of the insolvency of the undertakers, and that by reason of such insolvency the undertakers are unable fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this licence, the Board of Trade shall inquire into the truth of such representation, and if upon such inquiry they are satisfied of the truth of such representation they shall, upon the application of the local authority, revoke this licence as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) as to any part of the area affected thereby. Revocation of licence where undertakers are insolvent.

44. In addition to any other powers which the Board of Trade may have in that behalf, they may revoke this licence at any time with the consent and concurrence of the undertakers and the local authority, upon such terms as they may think fit. Revocation of licence with consent of undertakers and local authority.

45. If the Board of Trade at any time revoke this licence as to the whole or any part of the area affected thereby under any of the provisions of this licence, the Board of Trade shall serve a notice of such revocation upon the undertakers and upon the local authority, and shall in such notice fix a date at which such revocation shall take effect, and from and after such date all the powers of the undertakers for the supply of electricity within such area, or part thereof as aforesaid, shall absolutely cease and determine. Notice where licence revoked.

46. Except so far as may be otherwise specially provided by any licence, order, or special Act to be hereafter granted or passed, upon the expiration of the term of this licence, or upon the revocation of this licence, the local authority, and any persons who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street in which any works of the undertakers may have been placed, may forthwith remove such works, with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to the local authority or other such persons as aforesaid such reasonable costs of such removal as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by such local authority or other persons, or (if so required by the undertakers within one week after the service of such notice upon them) as may be settled by arbitration. Removal of works where licence expires or is revoked.

If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of such notice or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator, as the case may be, the local authority or other such persons as aforesaid may, without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they may think fit; and may, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled as aforesaid, and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

General.

47. Where under the provisions of this licence the approval of the Board of Trade is required to be given in any case such approval shall be signified in writing under the hand of one of the secretaries or assistant secretaries of the Board of Trade, and all costs and expenses of or incident to any application for such approval, including the costs of the tests (if any) which may be required to be made by the Board of Trade for the purpose of determining whether such approval should be given, shall be borne and paid by the applicant or applicants for such approval: Provided always that where any approval is given by the Proceedings where approval of Board of Trade is required.

Secs. 47-55. Board of Trade to any plan, pattern, or specification, they may require such copies of the same as they may think fit to be prepared and deposited at their office at the expense of the said applicant or applicants, and may from time to time, if they think fit, revoke any approval so given or permit such approval to be continued subject to such modifications as they may think necessary.

Notice of approval of Board of Trade, &c., to be given by advertisement.

Notice of applications for extension of time to be given to local authority.

Recovery of penalties.

Undertakers to be responsible for all damages.

Saving rights of the Crown in the fore-shore.

Works not to be constructed on shore of navigable waters without consent of Board of Trade.

Saving clause for Postmaster General.

Saving for Conservators of River Thames.

48. Where the Board of Trade, upon the application of the undertakers, give any approval or grant any extension of any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers under this licence, notice that such approval has been given, or such extension of time granted, or such revocation made, shall be published by public advertisement once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper by the undertakers.

49. Where any application is made to the Board of Trade to extend any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers under this licence, notice of such application shall be served on the local authority by the undertakers, and an opportunity shall be given to the local authority to make representations or objections with reference thereto.

50. All penalties under this licence, the recovery of which is not otherwise specially provided for, may be recovered in a summary manner before a court of summary jurisdiction.

51. The undertakers shall be answerable for all accidents, damages, and injuries happening through the act or default of the undertakers, or of any person in their employment, by reason or in consequence of any of the undertakers works, and shall save harmless all authorities, bodies, and persons by whom any street is repairable, and all other authorities, companies, and bodies, collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damage and costs in respect of such accidents, damages and injuries.

52. Nothing in this licence shall authorise the undertakers to take, use, or in any manner interfere with any portion of the shore or bed of the sea, or of any river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary, or any right in respect thereof, belonging to the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, in right of her crown, and under the management of the Board of Trade, without the previous consent in writing of the Board of Trade on behalf of Her Majesty (which consent the Board of Trade may give): neither shall anything in this licence contained extend to take away, prejudice, diminish, or alter any of the estates, rights, privileges, powers, or authorities vested in, or enjoyed or exercisable by, the Queen's Majesty, her heirs or successors.

53. The undertakers shall not construct on the shore of the sea, or of any creek, bay, arm of the sea, or navigable river communicating therewith, where and so far up the same as the tide flows and re-flows, any work without the previous consent of the Board of Trade, to be signified in writing under the hand of one of the secretaries or assistant secretaries of the Board of Trade, and then only according to such plan and under such restrictions and regulations as the Board of Trade may approve of, such approval being signified as last aforesaid; and where any such work may have been constructed, the undertakers shall not at any time alter or extend the same without obtaining previously to making any such alteration or extension the like consents or approvals. If any such work be commenced or completed contrary to the provisions of this licence the Board of Trade may abate and remove the same, and restore the site thereof to its former condition at the cost and charge of the undertakers; and the amount of such cost and charge may be recovered by the Board of Trade summarily as a civil debt.

54. Nothing in this licence shall affect any right or remedy of the Postmaster-General under the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, or the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1878, and all provisions contained in this licence in favour of the Postmaster-General shall be construed to be in addition to and not in modification of the provisions of those Acts.

55. Nothing in this licence shall authorise or empower the undertakers to embank or encroach upon or break up or interfere with any part of the soil or bed of the River Thames or the shore thereof, so far as the same may be under the jurisdiction of the Conservators of the River Thames, without the consent of the said Conservators.

56. Nothing in this licence shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action, or other proceeding for nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused by them. Secs. 56, 57.

57. Nothing in this licence shall exempt the undertakers or their undertaking from the provisions of any general Act relating to the supply of electricity which may be hereafter passed. Undertakers not exempted from proceedings for nuisance. Provision as to general Acts.

SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE A.

The streets described in this schedule are—

[Specify streets.]

The houses, buildings, and premises on both sides the said streets being included within this area.

SCHEDULE B.

The term “unit” as used in this schedule shall be deemed to mean the energy contained in a current of 1,000 ampères flowing under an electro-motive force of one volt during one hour.

SECTION 1.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the quantity of energy contained in the supply given to him, they shall be entitled to charge him at the following rates per quarter :—For any quantity up to 100 units, three pounds ten shillings ; for each unit over 100 units, sevenpence per unit.

SECTION 2.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the actual quantity of electricity supplied to him, they shall be entitled to charge him according to the rates set forth in section 1 of this schedule, the quantity of energy contained in the supply given to him being taken to be the product of the actual quantity of electricity supplied to him and the standard pressure at the point of junction of the mains and the service lines by which he is supplied.

SECTION 3.

Where the undertakers charge any consumer by the number of hours during which he actually uses his supply, they shall be entitled to charge him at the rates specified in section 2 of this schedule, the quantity of electricity supplied to him being calculated on the supposition that the consumer uses the maximum current specified by him under the provisions of this licence during all the hours that he has used the supply.

SCHEDULE C.

Tramways which may be broken up by the undertakers in pursuance of the special powers granted by this licence :—

ARTIZANS' AND LABOURERS' DWELLINGS ACT, 1868.

31 & 32 VICT. c. 130.

An Act to provide better Dwellings for Artizans and Labourers.

Secs. 1—3.

Whereas it is expedient to make provision for taking down or improving dwellings occupied by working men and their families which are unfit for human habitation, and for the building and maintenance of better dwellings for such persons instead thereof: Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Short title.

1. In citing this Act it shall be sufficient to use the words "The Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868" ⁽¹⁾.

Application of Act, and definition of "local authority," "local rate," and "clerk of local authority."

This Act shall apply only to the places named in the first column of Table (A.) in the First Schedule annexed hereto; and "local authority," "local rate," and "clerk of local authority" shall mean "the bodies of persons," "rate," and "officer" in that table in that behalf mentioned; and the said table shall be of the same force as if it were enacted in the body of this Act: Provided always, that this Act shall not apply to any city, borough, town, or place that would otherwise be included within the said table, the population whereof does not according to the census for the time being in force amount to the number of ten thousand persons ⁽²⁾.

Interpretation of terms:

"Street" and "square."

3. The following words and expressions have in this Act the following meanings, unless excluded by the subject or context; (that is to say,)

The word "street" includes any court, alley, street, square, or row of houses:

"Premises."

The word "premises" means any dwelling-house or inhabited building, and the site thereof, with the yard, garden, outhouses, and appurtenances belonging thereto or usually enjoyed therewith:

"Owner."

The expression "owner," in addition to the definition given by the Lands Clauses Act ⁽³⁾, shall include all lessees or mortgagees of any premises required to be dealt with under this Act, except persons holding or entitled to the rents and profits of such premises for a term of years, of which twenty-one years do not remain unexpired:

"Person."

"Person" shall include a body of persons, corporate or unincorporate:

"Quarter sessions."

"Quarter sessions" shall include general sessions, and in Ireland shall mean, in towns and boroughs where there are separate quarter sessions, the quarter sessions of said boroughs and towns, and in boroughs where there are no separate quarter sessions, the quarter sessions of the divisions of the courts in which such towns or boroughs shall be situate : Secs. 3—7.

“Officer of health” shall mean and include medical officer of health, sanitary inspector, or any statutory officer performing the duties which a medical officer or sanitary inspector performs under or by virtue of any Act of Parliament : “Officer of health.”

In all cases in which the name of a local authority, local court, magistrate, or officer having any local jurisdiction in respect of their or his office is referred to, without mention of the locality to which the jurisdiction extends, such reference is to be understood to indicate the local authority, local court, magistrate, or officer having jurisdiction in that place within which are situate the premises or other subject matter or any part thereof to which such reference applies : “Local officer,” &c.

“The metropolis” shall not include the city of London or the liberties thereof, but shall include all other parishes or places within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Board of Works : “The metropolis.”

“Borough” in England shall mean any place for the time being subject to the Act passed in the session holden in the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, intituled “An Act to provide for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales” : “Borough” in England.

“Burgh” in Scotland shall mean any place returning or contributing to return members to Parliament, or any place subject to the jurisdiction of a town council : “Burgh” in Scotland.

“Borough” in Ireland shall mean any place for the time being subject to the Act passed in the session of the third and fourth years of the reign of her present Majesty, chapter one hundred and eight, and intituled “An Act for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in Ireland.” “Borough” in Ireland.

4. If in any place to which this Act applies there is no officer of health within the meaning of this Act, the local authority, with the approval of one of Her Majesty’s principal Secretaries of State⁽¹⁾, shall forthwith appoint such an officer for such period as shall be necessary, shall assign him his duties, and pay him such salary or emolument out of the local rate as they, with such approval as aforesaid, shall think fit. The local authority, with the like approval, may from time to time remove any officer appointed under this section, and in manner aforesaid appoint another officer in his place ⁽²⁾. As to appointment of officers of health and payment of salaries.

5. If in any place to which this Act applies the officer of health find that any premises therein are in a condition or state dangerous to health so as to be unfit for human habitation ⁽³⁾, he shall report the same in manner hereinafter provided to the local authority. Officer of health to report as to condition of streets.

6. Every report made under this Act by the officer of health shall be made in writing and delivered to the clerk of the local authority, and the local authority shall refer such report to a surveyor or engineer, who shall thereupon consider the report so furnished to him, and report to the local authority what is the cause of the evil so reported on, and the remedy thereof, and if such evil is occasioned by defects in any premises, whether the same can be remedied by structural alterations and improvements or otherwise, or whether such premises, or any and what part thereof, ought to be demolished. Officer of health to deliver copies of report to clerk of local authority, who shall refer the same to a surveyor, &c.

7. Upon receipt of the report of the surveyor and engineer the local authority shall cause copies of both the reports to be given to the owner, with notice of the time and place appointed by the local authority for the consideration thereof, and such owner shall be at liberty to attend and to state his objections (if any) to such reports, or either of them, including therein any objection that the necessary works ought to be done by or at the expense of some other person or persons, or at the expense of the parish or district in which the premises are situate ; and on such objections the local authority shall make an order in writing, signed by the clerk of such local authority, which shall be subject to appeal in manner hereinafter Local authority to cause copies of reports to be given to owner, who may object to the same, and to prepare plan and specification

Secs. 7—11. mentioned; and if such objections are overruled, the local authority, if they deem it necessary, shall cause to be prepared a plan and specification of the works (if any), and an estimate of the cost of such works, required to be executed.

Clerk of local authority to give notice to owner of plan, &c., of required works having been prepared.

8. The clerk of the local authority shall thereupon forthwith give notice to the owner of the premises, informing him that a plan and specification and estimate of the cost of such works as are required in reference thereto have been prepared, and that such plan and specification and estimate may, if such owner think fit, be inspected and transcribed by him or his agent at the office of the clerk of the local authority without charge; and any such owner may at any time within three weeks after the receipt of such notice state in writing to the clerk of the local authority, any objection which he may entertain to the said plan, specification, and estimate, or any of them, and may attend at a time and place to be appointed for such purpose by the local authority to support such objections; and the local authority shall thereupon make such order in relation thereto as they may think fit; and if they decide that any alteration is to be made in the said plan, specification, and estimate, the local authority shall cause such alteration to be made accordingly, and the plan and specification and estimate so amended shall be the plan and specification and estimate according to which the works shall be executed.

Persons aggrieved by order of local authority may appeal against the same.

9. Any person aggrieved by any order of the local authority, or his agent, may appeal against the same to the court of quarter sessions held next after the making of the said order, but the appellant shall not be heard in support of the appeal unless, within one calendar month after the making of the order appealed against, he give to the clerk of the local authority notice in writing stating his intention to appeal, together with a statement in writing of the grounds of appeal, and shall, within two days after giving such notice, enter into a recognisance before some justice of the peace, with sufficient securities, conditioned to try such appeal at the said court, and to abide the order of and pay such costs as may be awarded by the court or any adjournment thereof; and the court, upon the appearing of the parties, or upon their making default, shall have full power and jurisdiction to make such order and give such directions as under the circumstances shall seem just, and may, according to its discretion, award such costs to the party appealing or appealed against as they think proper, and the determination of the court in or concerning the premises shall be conclusive and binding on all persons to all intents or purposes whatsoever: Provided,—

First, that if there be no time to give such notice and enter into such recognisance as aforesaid, then such appeal may be made to, and such notice, statement, and recognisance be given and entered into for the next sessions at which the appeal can be heard:

Secondly, that on the hearing of the appeal no grounds of appeal shall be gone into or entertained other than those set forth in such statement as aforesaid:

Thirdly, that in any case of appeal the court shall, at the request of either party, state the facts specially for the determination, in England or Ireland, of Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench, or in Scotland of either division of the Court of Session, in which case it shall be lawful to remove the proceedings, by writ of certiorari or by petition, into the said Courts of Queen's Bench or to the Court of Session respectively:

Fourthly, that pending any appeal no work shall be done nor proceedings taken under any order until after the determination of such appeal, or it shall cease to be prosecuted.

Owner may appeal where decision of local authority is against him.

10. If the owner appeal from the decision of the local authority upon the objection that he is not responsible for the state and condition of his premises, he shall be bound to give notice of his appeal, and a statement in writing of the ground thereof, to the person or persons, or to the parish or district, alleged by him to be the occasion of his premises being in such a state or condition as to render them liable to be reported upon under the provisions of the Act, and such person or persons, or parish or district, may appear before the Court, and be heard against his or their alleged liability.

the premises that some other person or persons, or that the parish or district in which the premises are situate, is or are responsible for the state and condition of his premises, the local authority shall forthwith send copies of the reports of the officer of health and of the surveyor or engineer to such person or persons, or to the officer of such parish or district, together with notice of his or their alleged liability, and shall appoint a time and place for hearing the parties so alleged to be liable, and give notice thereof to the said parties and also to the owner of the premises, and the local authority shall make such order thereupon as to them shall seem just, and the same shall be subject to appeal in manner aforesaid.

Secs. 11-18.

cide in favour of owner, reports and notices to be sent to parties liable.

12. If and whenever any four or more householders living in or near to any street by writing under their hands represent to the officer of health that in or near that street any premises are in a condition or state dangerous to health so as to be unfit for human habitation, he shall forthwith inspect the premises, and report thereon; but the absence of any such representation shall not excuse him from inspecting any premises, and reporting thereon.

On representation by householders that disease exists in any house, officer of health to inspect and report.

13. In the event of the local authority declining or neglecting for the space of three calendar months after receiving such report to take any proceedings to put this Act in force, the householders who signed such representation may address a memorial to the Secretary of State⁽¹⁾ stating the circumstances, and asking that an inquiry be made, and upon receipt of such memorial the said Secretary of State may direct the local authority to proceed under the provisions of the Act, and such direction shall be binding on the local authority.

If local authority neglect to enforce Act, Secretary of State may compel it to proceed.

14. Within three calendar months after the service on the owner of the order by the clerk of the local authority, or, in the case of appeal, within one calendar month after the order of quarter sessions, or, in the event of a further appeal, within one calendar month after the order of the Court of Final Appeal, the persons so served with the order of the local authority shall each of them signify in writing to the clerk of the local authority whether he is willing to effect the works required to be executed; and where two or more persons shall so signify, the right of effecting the works shall be given first to the person whose ownership is first or earliest in title.

Owner to signify to clerk of local authority whether he is willing to execute specified works.

15. Where the owner of the premises and his residence or place of business are known to the local authority, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the local authority, if the owner be residing or have a place of business within the district of such local authority, to give any notice by this Act required to be served on him to the owner, or for him, to some inmate of his place of residence or business within the place; and if he be not residing within such district, or has no place of business therein, then to send the notice by post in a registered letter addressed to the owner at his place of residence or business; provided that the notice served upon the agent of the owner shall be deemed notice to the owner.

Service of notice on owner whose name and residence are known.

16. Where the owner of the premises or his residence or place of business is not known to, or after diligent inquiry cannot be found by the local authority, then the clerk of the local authority may serve the notice by leaving it, addressed to the owner, with some occupier of the premises, or if there be not an occupier, then by causing it to be put up on some conspicuous part of the premises.

Service of notice on owner whose name or residence is not known.

17. Every notice required to be given by the clerk of the local authority by this Act shall be in writing or print, or partly in writing and partly in print, and shall be signed by the clerk of the local authority or deputy appointed by him.

Notices to be signed by the local authority.

18. The owner on whom the local authority shall have imposed in the first instance the duty of executing the work shall, within two calendar months thereafter, commence the works as shown on the plan and described in the specification, and shall diligently proceed with and complete the same in conformity with the specification to the satisfaction of the surveyor or engineer appointed by the local authority; and if such owner shall fail therein, the local authority shall require the owner next in order as aforesaid to execute the said works, and in case of his default shall require the remaining owners in their order as aforesaid; and if all such owners shall make default, the local authority shall, as the case may seem to Local authority to require owners to execute works as in specification.

Proceedings of local authority in case owners neglect.

Secs. 18-24. them to require, either order the premises to be shut up or to be demolished, or may themselves execute the required works in conformity with the specification.

Provision in case local authority themselves execute the works.

19. Where the local authority themselves execute the works, they may apply to the court of quarter sessions having jurisdiction over the place of which they are the local authority for an order charging on the premises on which the works have been executed the amount of all costs, charges and expenses that have been incurred by such authority in or about the execution of such works, including the costs of obtaining the order; and the court of quarter sessions, when satisfied of the amount so expended, shall make an order accordingly, charging on the premises the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses, together with interest at the rate of four pounds per cent. per annum, and such order shall be filed and recorded in manner hereinafter mentioned, and thereupon the amount of principal and interest thereby secured shall be a charge on the house, bearing interest at four per centum, and having priority over all other estates, incumbrances, and interests whatsoever, and the local authority shall, for the purpose of obtaining satisfaction of the moneys so charged, or of any interest thereon, be deemed to be a mortgagee of an absolute estate in the house, and shall be invested with all the powers conferred on mortgagees by Part II. of the Act of the session of the twenty-third and twenty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter one hundred and forty-five, and in Scotland such order shall be recorded in the appropriate register of sasines.

Local authority to pay compensation when total demolition required.

20. If the requirements of the order involve the total demolition, and not the improvement of the premises specified therein, the owner shall, within three months after service of the order, proceed to take down and remove the premises, and if such owner fail therein, then the local authority shall proceed to take down and remove the same; and the local authority shall sell the materials, and, after deducting the expenses incident to such taking down and removal, pay over the balance of moneys, if any, to the owner.

21. Where at the time of making the order the premises specified therein, or any part thereof, are or is subject to any tenancy from year to year, or for a year or for any less term, the local authority shall give notice to every such tenant, stating the time at which such tenancy will be determined.

Remedies of owner for breach of covenant, &c., not to be prejudiced.

22. Provided always, that nothing in this Act contained shall prejudice or interfere with the rights or remedies of any owner for the breach, non-observance, or non-performance of any covenant or contract entered into by a tenant or lessee in reference to any premises in respect of which any order shall be made by a local authority; and if any owner shall be obliged to take possession of any premises in order to comply with any order made under the provisions of this Act, such entry or taking possession shall not affect his right to avail himself of any such breach, non-observance, or non-performance that may have occurred prior to his so taking possession.

Owner instead of effecting improvements may take down premises.

23. If the order be that the premises require improvement, the owner, including therein the owner of the first estate of inheritance, if he think fit, may, instead of effecting the works required by the plan and specification, take down the premises; but in every such case, and also in the event of the owner desiring to retain the site ⁽¹⁾ of the premises required by the order to be totally demolished, no house or other building or erection shall be erected on all or any part of the site of the premises so taken down which shall be injurious to health; and the local authority may at any time make an order upon the owner to abate or alter the said house, building, or erection, as the case may require; and in the event of non-compliance with such order the local authority may, at the expense of the owner thereof, abate or alter any house or other building or erection at any time wholly or partly erected contrary to the provisions of this section.

Application may be made to justices where more than one owner of

24. When there are two or more owners of any premises, and it appears to any two justices in petty sessions, on application of any owner of such premises, that the interest of the applicant in the premises will be prejudiced by the neglect and default of any other owner to deal with the premises in conformity with the order so made, it shall be lawful for such justices, if the applicant undertake to their satisfaction to bring the premises into conformity with such order, to make an order empowering the applicant forthwith to take possession of the premises and to do all such works as may be necessary for bringing the same into conformity with such order, and within such time as shall be fixed by such justices, and on non-compliance by such last-mentioned applicant with his undertaking it shall be lawful for the justices to make a like order in favour of any other owner.

25. Where any owner has completed any works required to be executed by a local authority in pursuance of this Act, he may on the completion thereof apply to the local authority for a charging order charging on the premises on which the works have been executed an annuity as compensation to the owner for the expenditure incurred by him in executing such works, and shall produce to the local authority the certificate of their surveyor or engineer that the works have been executed to his satisfaction, and also the accounts and vouchers for such works, and the local authority, when satisfied that the owner has duly executed such works, shall make a charging order accordingly.

The annuity charged shall be a sum of six pounds for every 100*l.* of such expenditure, and so in proportion for any less sum, to commence from the date of the order, and to be payable for a term of thirty years to the owner named in such order, his executors, administrators, or assigns.

Charging orders made under this Act shall be made according to the form marked A. in the Second Schedule hereto annexed, or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit.

The costs of obtaining the order to be allowed by the local authority shall be deemed to be part of the expenditure incurred by the owner.

26. Every annuity created by a charging order under this Act shall be a charge on the premises comprised in the order, having priority over all existing and future estates, interests and incumbrances, with the exception of quitrents and other charges incident to tenure, tithe commutation rentcharges, and any charges created under any Act authorising advances of public money; and where more annuities than one are chargeable under this Act on any premises, such annuities shall, as between themselves, take order according to their respective dates.

27. Every annuity charged on any premises by a charging order under this Act may be recovered by the persons for the time being entitled to the same by the same means and in the like manner in all respects as if it were a rentcharge granted by deed out of the premises by the owner thereof.

28. An order made in pursuance of this Act charging an annuity on any premises shall be, both at law and in equity, conclusive evidence that all notices, acts, and proceedings by this Act directed with reference to or consequent on the obtaining such order, or the making such charge, have been duly served, done, and taken, and that such charge has been duly created, and that it is a valid charge on the premises declared to be subject thereto.

29. Every charging order made in pursuance of this Act relating to premises in Middlesex or Yorkshire shall be registered in the same manner respectively as if such charge were made by deed by the absolute owner of such lands without the aid of this Act; and a copy of every such charging order of the certificate of such surveyor or engineer as aforesaid, together with a copy of the accounts as passed by the local authority, and which copies shall be certified to be true copies by the clerk of such local authority, shall, within six months after the date of such charging order, be deposited with the clerk of the peace of the county in which the premises are situate, who shall be entitled to a fee of ten shillings for filing and recording the same; and every charging order made in pursuance of this Act relating to premises in Scotland shall be recorded in the appropriate register of sasines.

30. The proprietor of any charge may, by deed under seal, stamped with the same ad valorem stamp as if it were an assignment of a charge created by deed, assign the benefit of the charging order, or of any portion of the charge comprised therein, to any other person; and on such assignment being executed the assignee shall have the same rights under the order as the proprietor would have had if no such assignment had been executed; and any assignee of a charging order may, by deed stamped in manner aforesaid, assign the charge to any other person. As to expenses of local authority. 31. All expenses incurred by the local authority in pursuance of this Act shall be defrayed by them out of a special local rate, not exceeding twopence in the pound in any year, which they are hereby empowered to assess and levy for the purposes of this Act.

Power to Public Works Loan Commissioners to advance moneys to local authority. 32. The Public Works Loan Commissioners, as defined by the Public Works Loan Act, 1853, may, if they think fit, lend to any local authority, and any local authority may borrow from the said Commissioners, such sums as the said authority may require for the purposes of this Act, but the amount of every loan shall be sanctioned by the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury.

Service of notice on the local authority. 33. Any summons, notice, writ, or other proceeding at law or in equity, or otherwise, in relation to carrying into effect the objects and purposes of this Act, required to be served upon the local authority, may be lawfully served by delivering the same to the clerk of the local authority, or leaving the same at his office with some person employed there by him.

Notices served by local authority to be signed by the clerk. 34. Any notice, demand, or other written document served by the local authority for the purposes of this Act shall be signed by the clerk of the local authority.

Penalty for obstructing officer of health, &c., in execution of Act. 35. Where any person at any time obstructs the officer of health or other person acting in the performance of anything which the local authority or their officers respectively are by this Act required or authorised to do, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit not exceeding twenty pounds.

Penalty for preventing execution of Act. 36. If the occupier of any premises prevents the owner thereof, or if the owner or occupier of any premises prevents the officer of health, or their officers, agents, servants, or workmen, from carrying into effect with respect to the premises any of the provisions of this Act, after notice of the intention so to do has been given to the occupier, or, as the case shall be, to the owner, any justice on proof thereof may make an order in writing requiring the occupier to permit the owner, or, as the case shall be, requiring the owner or occupier, or both, to permit the officer of health, or the local authority, and their officers, agents, servants, and workmen, to do all things requisite for carrying into effect with respect to the premises the provisions of this Act; and if at the expiration of ten days after the service of such order of the justice the occupier or owner fails to comply therewith, every person so offending shall for every day during which the failure continues forfeit not exceeding twenty pounds: Provided that during any such failure by the occupier the owner, unless assenting thereto, shall not be liable to the forfeiture.

Appearance of local authority. 37. The local authority may appear before any judge, justices, borough magistrates, sheriff, or sheriff substitute, by their clerk, and any company or body corporate may appear before the said magistrate or magistrates by any member of their board of management.

Recovery of penalties. 38. Penalties under this Act may be recovered before two justices in manner directed by an Act passed in the session holden in the eleventh and twelfth years of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, chapter forty-three, intituled "An Act to facilitate the performance of the duties of justices of the peace out of sessions within England and Wales with respect to summary convictions and orders," or any Act amending the same, and in Scotland by summary complaint before the Sheriff, Sheriff Substitute, or two justices, or in boroughs before the magistrates, in manner provided by "The Summary Procedure Act, 1864," and in Ireland in manner directed by "The Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851," and any Act amending the same.

Application of Act to Scotland. 39. For the purpose of adapting this Act to Scotland the following alteration shall be made; (that is to say,)

1. "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act (Scotland), 1845," shall be substituted for "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845:"

2. All the judicial powers given to justices in quarter sessions by this Act shall be exercised by sheriffs of counties or sheriff substitutes; and wherever by this Act an appeal is given to the court of quarter sessions, and thence to the Court of Queen's Bench, such appeal shall be to the sheriff of the county, and from him to the Court of Session in the usual manner. Secs. 39-41.

40. For the purpose of adapting this Act to Ireland the words "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," shall mean "The Railways Act (Ireland), 1851," and the several Acts amending the same. Application of Act to Ireland.

41. Any act, power, or jurisdiction hereby authorised to be done or exercised by two justices may be done or exercised by the following magistrates within their respective jurisdictions ; that is to say : As to England, by any metropolitan police magistrate or other stipendiary magistrate sitting alone at a police court or other appointed place, or by the Lord Mayor of the City of London, or any alderman of the said city, sitting alone or with others, at the Mansion House or Guildhall ; as to Scotland, by the Sheriff or Sheriff Substitute, or by any two magistrates of a burgh ; and as to Ireland, by any one or more divisional magistrates of police in the police district of Dublin, and elsewhere by two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions. THE ARTIZANS' AND LABOURERS' DWELLINGS IMPROVEMENT ACT, 1875.

38 & 39 VICT. c. 36.

An Act for facilitating the Improvement of the Dwellings of the Working Classes in Large Towns. [29 June, 1875.]

Whereas various portions of many cities and boroughs are so built, and the buildings thereon are so densely inhabited, as to be highly injurious to the moral and physical welfare of the inhabitants :

And whereas there are in such portions of cities and boroughs as aforesaid a great number of houses, courts, and alleys which, by reason of the want of light, air, ventilation, or of proper conveniences, or from other causes, are unfit for human habitation, and fevers and diseases are constantly generated there, causing death and loss of health, not only in the courts and alleys but also in other parts of such cities and boroughs :

And whereas it often happens that owing to the above circumstances, and to the fact that such houses, courts, and alleys are the property of several owners, it is not in the power of any one owner to make such alterations as are necessary for the public health :

And whereas it is necessary for the public health that many of such houses, courts, and alleys should be pulled down, and such portions of the said cities and boroughs should be reconstructed :

And whereas in connection with the reconstruction of those portions of such cities and boroughs it is expedient that provision be made for dwellings for the working class who may be displaced in consequence thereof :

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

(2.) The Metropolis, exclusive of the City of London ; and

(3.) Urban sanitary districts in England containing, according to the last published census, for the time being a population of twenty-five thousand and upwards ;

(4.) Urban sanitary districts in Ireland containing, according to the last published census, a population of twenty-five thousand and upwards ; and the local authority shall be as follows ; (that is to say,)

(1.) As respects the City of London, the Commissioners of Sewers ; and

(2.) As respects the Metropolis, the Metropolitan Board of Works ; and (3.) As respects each urban sanitary district, the urban sanitary authority of that district.

PART I.

UNHEALTHY AREAS.

1. Scheme by Local Authority.

3. Where an official representation as hereinafter mentioned is made to the local authority that any houses, courts, or alleys within a certain area under the jurisdiction of the local authority are unfit for human habitation, or that diseases indicating a generally low condition of health amongst the population have been from time to time prevalent in a certain area within the jurisdiction of the local authority, and that such prevalence may reasonably be attributed to the closeness, narrowness, and bad arrangement or the bad condition of the streets and houses or groups of houses within such area, or to the want of light, air, ventilation, or proper conveniences, or to any other sanitary defects, or to one or more of such causes, and that the evils connected with such houses, courts, or alleys, and the sanitary defects in such area, cannot be effectually remedied otherwise than by an improvement scheme for the re-arrangement and reconstruction of the streets and houses within such area, or of some of such streets or houses, the local authority shall take such representation into their consideration, and if satisfied of the truth thereof, and of the sufficiency of their resources, shall pass a resolution to the effect that such area is an unhealthy area, and that an improvement scheme ought to be made in respect of such area, and after passing such resolution they shall forthwith proceed to make a scheme for the improvement of such area.

Local authority on being satisfied by official representation of the unhealthiness of district to make scheme for its improvement.

Provided always, that no person being beneficially interested in any lands within such area shall vote as member of the local authority upon such resolution, or upon any question relating to the purchase or taking of lands in which he is so interested.

If any person votes in contravention of this proviso, he shall, on summary conviction, incur a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds; but the fact of his giving such vote shall not invalidate any resolution passed by the local authority.

Provided always, that any number of such areas may be included in one improvement scheme.

4. An official representation shall mean, in the Metropolis, a representation made by the medical officer of health of any district board, or vestry, or by such medical officer as is hereafter in this Act mentioned, to the local authority, and elsewhere shall mean a representation made to the local authority by the medical officer of health of such authority. A medical officer acting in pursuance of this Act shall make such representation whenever he sees cause to make the same; and if two or more justices of the peace acting within the jurisdiction for which he is medical officer, or twelve or more persons liable to be rated to any rate out of the proceeds of which the expenses of the local authority under this Act are made payable, complain to him of the unhealthiness of any area within such jurisdiction, it shall be the duty of the officer forthwith to inspect such area, and to make an official representation stating the facts of the case, and whether in his opinion the area is an unhealthy area or not an unhealthy area, for the purpose of this Act.

Official representation by whom to be made.

5. The improvement scheme of a local authority shall be accompanied by maps, particulars, and estimates; it may exclude any part of the area in respect of which an official representation is made, or include any neighbouring lands, if the local authority are of opinion that such exclusion is expedient or inclusion is necessary for making their scheme efficient for sanitary purposes; it may also provide for widening any existing approaches to the unhealthy area or otherwise for opening out the same for the purposes of ventilation or health; also it shall distinguish the lands proposed to be taken compulsorily, and shall provide for the accommodation of at the least as many persons of the working class as may be displaced in the area with respect to which the scheme is proposed, in suitable dwellings, which, unless there are any special reasons to the contrary, shall be situate within the Requisites of improvement scheme of local authority.

Secs. 5, 6. limits of the same area, or in the vicinity thereof ⁽¹⁾; it shall also provide for proper sanitary arrangements. It may also provide for such scheme or any part thereof being carried out and effected by the person entitled to the first estate of freehold in any property subject to the scheme or with the concurrence of such person, under the superintendence and control of the local authority, and upon such terms and conditions to be embodied in the scheme as may be agreed upon between the local authority and such person.

2. Confirmation of Scheme.

Publication of notices.
Service of notices.

6. Upon the completion of an improvement scheme the local authority shall—Publish, during three consecutive weeks in the month of September, or October, or November, in some one and the same newspaper circulating within the jurisdiction of the local authority, an advertisement stating the fact of a scheme having been made, the limits of the area to which the scheme relates, and naming a place within such area or in the vicinity thereof where a copy of the scheme may be seen at all reasonable hours; and,

During the month next following the month in which such advertisement is published serve a notice on every owner or reputed owner, lessee, or reputed lessee, and occupier of any lands proposed to be taken compulsorily, so far as such persons can reasonably be ascertained, stating that such lands are proposed to be taken compulsorily for the purpose of an improvement scheme, and in the case of any owner or reputed owner, lessee or reputed lessee, requiring an answer stating whether the person so served dissents or not in respect of such lands, such notice to be served—

- (a.) By delivery of the same personally to the person required to be served, or if such person is absent abroad, or cannot be found, to his agent, or if no agent can be found, then by leaving the same on the premises; or,
- (b.) By leaving the same at the usual or last known place of abode of such person as aforesaid; or,
- (c.) By forwarding the same by post in a prepaid letter addressed to the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

One notice addressed to the occupier or occupiers without naming him or them, and left at any house, shall be deemed to be a notice served on the occupier or on all the occupiers of any such house.

Petition to Secretary of State or Local Government
Board.

Upon compliance with the provisions contained in this section with respect to the publication of an advertisement and the service of notices, the local authority shall present a petition, if such authority be the Commissioners of Sewers or the Metropolitan Board of Works to a Secretary of State, and if such authority be an urban sanitary authority to the Local Government Board, praying that an order may be made confirming such scheme. The petition shall be accompanied by a copy of the scheme, and shall state the names of the owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, who have dissented in respect of the taking their lands, and shall be supported by such evidence as the Secretary of State or Local Government Board, according to the circumstances of the case (in this Act referred to as the confirming authority), may from time to time require:

If, on consideration of the petition and on proof of the publication of the proper advertisements and the service of the proper notices, the confirming authority think fit to proceed with the case they shall direct a local inquiry to be held in, or in the vicinity of, the area to which the scheme relates, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of the official representation made as to the area and the sufficiency of the scheme provided for its improvement, and any local objections to be made to such scheme : Secs. 6—8.

After receiving the report made upon such inquiry, the confirming authority may make a Provisional Order declaring the limits of the area to which the scheme relates, and authorising such scheme to be carried into execution. Such Provisional Order may be made either absolutely or with such conditions and modifications of the scheme as the confirming authority may think fit, so that no addition be made to the lands proposed in the scheme to be taken compulsorily, and it shall be the duty of the local authority to serve a copy of any Provisional Order so made in the manner and upon the persons in which and upon whom notices in respect of lands proposed to be taken compulsorily are required by this Act to be served, except tenants for a month or a less period than a month.

A Provisional Order made in pursuance of this section shall not be of any validity until and unless it has been confirmed by Act of Parliament; and it shall be lawful for the confirming authority, as soon as conveniently may be, to obtain such confirmation, and any Provisional Order made in pursuance of this Act, when confirmed by Parliament, with such modifications as may seem fit to Parliament, shall be deemed to be a Public General Act of Parliament, and is in this Act referred to as the confirming Act.

The confirming authority may make such Order as they think fit in favour of any person whose lands were proposed by the scheme to be taken compulsorily for the allowance of the reasonable costs, charges, and expenses properly incurred by him in opposing such scheme.

All costs, charges, and expenses incurred by the confirming authority in relation to any Provisional Order under this Act shall, to such amount as the confirming authority think proper to direct, and all costs, charges, and expenses of any person to such amount as may be allowed to him by the confirming authority in pursuance of the aforesaid power, shall be deemed to be an expense incurred by the local authority under this Act, and shall be paid to the confirming authority and to such person respectively, in such manner and at such times and either in one sum or by instalments as the confirming authority may order, with power for the confirming authority to direct interest to be paid at such rate not exceeding five pounds in the hundred by the year as the confirming authority may determine, upon any sum for the time being due in respect of such costs, charges, and expenses as aforesaid.

Any Order made by the confirming authority in pursuance of this section may be made a rule of one of Her Majesty's superior courts, and be enforced accordingly.

7. Where any Bill for confirming a Provisional Order authorising an improvement scheme is referred to a committee of either House of Parliament upon the petition of any person opposing such Bill, the committee shall take into consideration the circumstances under which such opposition is made to the Bill, and whether such opposition was or was not justified by such circumstances, and shall award costs accordingly to be paid by the promoters or the opponents of the Bill as the committee may think just. Costs to be awarded in certain cases.

Any costs under this section may be taxed and recovered in the manner in which costs may be taxed and recovered under the Act of the session of the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter twenty-seven.

The decision of the majority of the members of the committee for the time being present and voting on any question under this section shall be deemed to be the decision of the committee.

8. Where an official representation is made to the local authority with a view to their passing a resolution in favour of an improvement scheme, and they fail to pass any resolution in relation to such representation, or pass a resolution to the effect that they will not proceed with such scheme, such local authority shall, as soon as possible, send a copy of the official representation, accompanied by their reasons for not acting upon it, to the confirming authority, and, upon the receipt thereof, the confirming authority may direct a local inquiry to be held, and a report to be made to them with respect to the correctness of the official representation Inquiry on refusal of local authority to make an improvement scheme

Secs. 8—11. made to the local authority, and any matters connected therewith on which the confirming authority may desire to be informed.

3. Execution of Scheme by Local Authority.

Duty of local authority to carry scheme, when confirmed, into execution.

9. When the confirming Act authorising any improvement scheme of a local authority under this Act has been passed by Parliament, it shall be the duty of that authority to take steps for purchasing the lands required for the scheme, and otherwise for carrying the scheme into execution as soon as practicable. They may sell or let all or any part of the area to which such scheme relates to any purchasers or lessees for the purposes and under the condition that such purchasers or lessees will, as respects the land so purchased by or leased to them, carry the scheme into execution; and in particular they may insert in any grant or lease of any part of the area provisions binding the grantee or lessee to build thereon as in the grant or lease prescribed, and to maintain and repair the buildings, and prohibiting the division of buildings, and any addition to or alteration of the character of buildings without the consent of the local authority, and for the re-vesting of the land in the local authority, or their re-entry thereon, on breach of any provision in the grant or lease. The local authority may also engage with any body of trustees, society or societies, persons or person, to carry the whole or any part of such scheme into effect upon such terms as the local authority may think expedient, but the local authority shall not themselves, without the express approval of the confirming authority, undertake the rebuilding of the houses or the execution of any part of the scheme, except that they may take down any or all of the buildings upon the area, and clear the whole or any part thereof, and may lay out, form, pave, sewer, and complete all such streets upon the land purchased by them as they may think fit, and all streets so laid out and completed shall thenceforth be public streets, repairable by the same authority as other streets in the district.

Provided that in any grant or lease of any part of the area which may be appropriated by the scheme for the erection of dwellings for the working classes, the local authority shall impose suitable conditions and restrictions as to the elevation, size, and design of the houses, and the extent of the accommodation to be afforded thereby, and shall make due provision for the maintenance of proper sanitary arrangements.

Provided also, that in any case in which the local authority erect any dwellings out of funds to be provided under this Act, they shall, unless the confirming authority shall otherwise determine, sell and dispose of all such dwellings within ten years from the time of the completion thereof.

The local authority may, where they think it expedient so to do, without themselves acquiring the land, or after or subject to their acquiring any part thereof, contract with the person entitled to the first estate of freehold in any land comprised in an improvement scheme for the carrying out of the scheme in respect of such land by such person.

Completion of scheme on failure by local authority.

10. If within five years after the removal of any buildings on the land set aside by any Provisional Order as sites for working men's dwellings the local authority have failed to sell or let such land for the purposes prescribed by the scheme, or have failed to make arrangements for the erection of the said dwellings, the confirming authority may order the said land to be sold by public auction or public tender, with full power to fix a reserve price, subject to the conditions imposed by the scheme, and to any modifications thereof which may be made in pursuance of this Act, and to a special condition on the part of the purchaser to erect upon the said land dwellings for the working classes, in accordance with plans to be approved by the local authority, and subject to such other reservations and regulations as the confirming authority may deem necessary.

Notice to occupiers by placards.

11. The local authority shall, not less than thirteen weeks before taking any fifteen houses or more, make known their intention to take the same by placards, handbills, or other general notices placed in public view upon or within a reasonable distance of such houses, and the local authority shall not take any such houses until they have obtained a certificate of a justice of the peace that it has been proved to his satisfaction that the local authority have made known, in manner Secs. 11-15. required by this section, their intention to take such houses.

12. The confirming authority, on application from the local authority, and on its being proved to their satisfaction that an improvement can be made in the details of any scheme, and that due provision has been made or secured for the accommodation in suitable dwellings of as many persons of the working class as may be displaced in the area to which such scheme relates, either in manner provided by the scheme or in some other manner, or will be more advantageously made or secured under the proposed alteration, may permit the local authority to modify any part of an improvement scheme authorised by the confirming Act which it may appear inexpedient to carry into execution in accordance with such Act (1).

Power of confirming authority to modify authorised scheme.

A statement of any modifications permitted to be made in any part of an improvement scheme in pursuance of this section shall be laid by the confirming authority before both Houses of Parliament as soon as practicable after they are made, if Parliament be then sitting, and if not, within one month after the next meeting of Parliament: Provided always, that if such modification or alteration shall require a larger public expenditure than that sanctioned by the former scheme, or the taking of any property otherwise than by agreement, or shall affect injuriously other property in a manner different to that proposed in the former scheme without the consent of the owner and occupier of any such property, it must be made by a Provisional Order to be confirmed by Act of Parliament in the manner provided in section six of this Act on the completion of an improvement scheme.

PART II.

PROVISIONS ANCILLARY TO IMPROVEMENT SCHEME.

As to Local Authority.

1. Medical Officer.

13. The Metropolitan Board of Works may, with the assent of a Secretary of State, at any time appoint one or more legally qualified medical practitioner or practitioners, with such remuneration as they think fit, for the purpose of better carrying into effect this Act in the metropolis. Any officer so appointed by the Metropolitan Board of Works shall be deemed to be a medical officer of health of a local authority within the meaning of this Act, and shall perform the duties and be subject to the liabilities which such medical officer is by this Act required to perform and be subject to.

Medical officer of health in metropolis.

14. In case of the illness or unavoidable absence of the medical officer of health, the district board, vestry, or local authority, as the case may be, may (subject to the approval of the confirming authority) appoint a duly qualified medical practitioner, who shall for the period of six calendar months, or any less period to be named in the appointment, have and perform all the powers and duties of a medical officer of health under this Act.

Provision in case of absence of medical officer of health.

15. Where twelve or more ratepayers have complained to a medical officer of the unhealthiness of any area within the jurisdiction of such officer, and the medical officer has failed to inspect such area, or to make an official representation with respect thereto, or has made an official representation to the effect that in his opinion the area is not an unhealthy area, such ratepayers may appeal to the confirming authority, and, upon their giving security to the satisfaction of that authority for costs, the confirming authority shall appoint a medical officer to inspect such area and to make representation to the confirming authority, stating the facts of the case, and whether, in his opinion, the area is an unhealthy area or not an Secs. 15-19. unhealthy area. The representation so made shall be transmitted by the confirming authority to the local authority, and if it state that the area is an unhealthy area the local authority shall proceed therein in the same manner as if it were an official representation made to that authority.

The confirming authority shall make such Order as to the costs of the inquiry as they think just, with power to require the whole or any part of such costs to be paid by the appellants where the officer appointed is of opinion that the area is not an unhealthy area, and to declare the whole or any part of such costs to be payable by the local authority where such officer is of opinion that the area is an unhealthy area.

Any Order made by the confirming authority in pursuance of this section may be made a rule of one of Her Majesty's superior courts, and be enforced accordingly.

2. Local Inquiry.

Proceedings on local inquiry.

16. Where a local inquiry is directed, an officer shall be sent by the confirming authority to the area to which such inquiry relates for the purpose of making an inquiry into the correctness of the official representation made to the local authority as to such area being an unhealthy area, and into the sufficiency of the scheme provided for its improvement, and into any local objections to be made to such scheme.

Notice of inquiry to be publicly given.

17. Before commencing such inquiry the officer appointed to conduct the same shall make public by advertisement or otherwise in such manner as he thinks best calculated to give information to the persons residing in the area his intention to make such inquiry, and a statement of a time and place at which he will be prepared to hear all persons desirous of being heard before him upon the subject of the inquiry.

Power to administer oath.

18. The officer conducting such inquiry shall have power to administer an oath; he shall report the result of the inquiry to the confirming authority, who shall deal with such report in such manner as they think expedient.

3. Acquisition of Land.

Acquisition of land.

19. (1.) The clauses of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement shall not, except to the extent set forth in the schedule hereto, apply to any lands taken in pursuance of this Act, but save as aforesaid the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860, as amended by the provisions contained in the schedule hereto, shall regulate and apply to the purchase and taking of lands in England, and shall for that purpose be deemed to form part of this Act in the same manner as if they were enacted in the body thereof; and (2.) "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," as amended by "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1860," "The Railways Act (Ireland), 1851," "The Railways Act (Ireland), 1860," "The Railways Act (Ireland), 1864," and "The Railways Traverse Act," shall, subject to the provisions following, regulate and apply to the purchase and taking of lands in Ireland, and shall for this purpose be deemed to form part of this Act, in the same manner as if they were enacted in the body hereof.

Subject, as respects both England and Ireland, to the provisions following; that is to say,

- (1.) This Act shall authorise the taking by agreement any lands which the local authority may require for the purpose of carrying into effect the scheme authorised by any confirming Act, but it shall authorise the taking by the exercise of any compulsory powers of such lands only as are proposed by the scheme in the confirming Act to be taken compulsorily:
- (2.) Whenever the compensation payable in respect of any lands or of any interests in any lands proposed to be taken compulsorily in pursuance of this Act requires to be assessed, (1) the estimate of the value of such lands or interests shall be based upon the fair market value ⁽¹⁾, as estimated at the time of the valuation being made of such lands, and of the several interests in such lands, due regard being had to the nature and then condition of the property, and the probable duration of the buildings in their existing state and to the state of repair thereof, and all circumstances affecting such value, ⁽²⁾ without any additional allowance in respect of the compulsory purchase of an area or of any part of an area in respect of which an official representation has been made, or of any lands which in the opinion of the arbitrator have been included in a scheme as falling under the description of property named in the third section of this Act; Secs. 19-21.

- (3.) In the construction of the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, and the provisions in the said schedule, this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act and the local authority shall be deemed to be the promoters of the undertaking; and the period after which the powers for the compulsory purchase or taking of lands shall not be exercised, shall be three years after the passing of the confirming Act.

20. Upon the purchase by the local authority of any lands required for the purpose of carrying into effect any scheme authorised by a confirming Act, all rights of way, rights of laying down or of continuing any pipes, sewers or drains on, through, or under such lands, or part thereof, and all other rights or easements ⁽³⁾ in or relating to such lands, or any part thereof, shall be extinguished, and all the soil of such ways, and the property in the pipes, sewers, or drains, shall vest in the local authority, subject to this provision, that compensation shall be paid by the local authority to any persons or bodies of persons proved to have sustained loss by this section, and such compensation shall be determined in the manner in which compensation for lands is determinable under this Act, or as near thereto as circumstances admit. Extinction of rights of way and other easements.

4. Expenses.

21. A separate account shall be kept by the local authority of their receipts and expenditure in respect of any transactions under this Act. Their receipts shall form a fund (in this Act referred to as "The Dwelling-house Improvement Fund"), and their expenditure shall be made out of such fund. Formation of improvement fund for purposes of this Act.

The moneys required in the first instance to establish such fund, and any deficiency for the purposes of this Act from time to time appearing in such fund by reason of the excess of expenditure of receipts, shall be supplied out of the local rates or out of moneys borrowed in pursuance of this Act.

In settling any accounts of the local authority in respect of any transactions under this Act, care shall be taken that as far as may be practicable all expenditure shall ultimately be defrayed out of the property dealt with under this Act; and any balances of profit made by the local authority under this Act shall be applicable to any purposes to which the local rates are for the time being applicable.

The local rates shall, in the case of the Commissioners of Sewers, mean the sewer rate and the consolidated rate leviable by such commissioners, or either of such rates.

⁽¹⁾ Section 4 of the Artizans' Dwellings Act, 1882 (see post, p. 623), provides that no addition to or improvement of the property made after the publication of an advertisement in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of this Act shall be taken into consideration in the estimate of value.

See also section 7 of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879, and footnote thereto, post, p. 611.

The "local rates" shall, in the case of an urban sanitary authority, mean all or any rates or rate levied throughout the district of such authority, and out of which the local authority is authorised to pay any expenses incurred under the Sanitary Acts, as defined by the Public Health Act, 1872, and by the Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1874.

The local authority may carry to the account of the Dwelling-house Improvement Fund any moneys or the produce of any property, which moneys or produce are or is legally applicable to purposes similar to the purposes of this Act; and in case of doubt as to whether, in any particular case, the purposes are similar to the purposes of this Act, it shall be lawful for the confirming authority to decide such question, and such decision shall be conclusive.

Power of borrowing money for the purposes of the Act.

22. Any local authority under this Act may, for the purposes of this Act, borrow any moneys on the security of any lands, houses, or other property acquired by them under this Act, and may mortgage such lands, houses, or other property to any person advancing such moneys, and it shall not be in any way incumbent on the mortgagees to see to the application of such moneys, nor shall they be responsible for the misapplication thereof.

Every local authority borrowing on the credit of such lands, houses, or other property as aforesaid, may pay out of local rates the interest of any moneys so borrowed by them.

Any local authority under this Act borrowing any moneys on the security of any lands, houses, or other property as aforesaid, may execute such instruments by way of security, with such power of sale and other conditions as they think expedient.

An urban sanitary authority shall have the same power of borrowing on the credit of the local rates such sums of money as they may require for the purposes of this Act as they have under section forty of the Public Health Act, 1872, or under the Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1874, for sanitary purposes.

The Commissioners of Sewers may borrow and take up at interest such money on the credit of the local rates, or any of them, as they may require for the purposes of this Act, and may mortgage any such rate or rates to the persons by or on behalf of whom such money is advanced for securing the repayment to them of the sums borrowed, with interest thereon, and for the purposes of any mortgages so made by the Commissioners of Sewers the clauses of the Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to the mortgages to be executed by the commissioners shall be incorporated with this Act; and in the construction of that Act "the special Act" shall mean this Act; "the commissioners" shall mean the Commissioners of Sewers; "the clerk of the commissioners" shall include any officer appointed for the purpose by the Commissioners of Sewers by this Act; and the mortgagees or assignees of any mortgage made as last aforesaid may enforce payment of the arrears of principal and interest due to them by the appointment of a receiver.

The Metropolitan Board of Works may, with the assent of the Treasury, create consolidated stock under the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, for the purpose of raising such sums as they may require for the purposes of this Act; but there shall be repaid to the consolidated rate out of the local rate all moneys required for payment of the dividends on and the redemption of the consolidated stock created for the purposes of this Act.

The Public Works Loan Commissioners, or, in the case of Ireland, the Commissioners of Public Works, acting with the consent of the Treasury, may, on the recommendation of the confirming authority, lend to any local authority any money required by them for purposes of this Act, on the security, in the case of the Metropolitan Board of Works, of consolidated stock created under the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, and in any other case, on the security of the local rates. Such loan shall be repaid within such period, not exceeding fifty years, as may be recommended by the confirming authority, and shall bear interest at the rate of three and a half per cent. per annum, or such higher rate as may, in the judgment of the Treasury, be necessary to enable the loan to be made without loss to the exchequer. Secs. 22-30.

Any limit imposed on or in respect of local rates by any Act of Parliament other than this Act shall not apply to any rate required to be levied for the purpose of defraying any expenses under this Act.

23. The accounts of the Commissioners of Sewers and the accounts of the Metropolitan Board of Works under this Act shall respectively be audited in the same manner and with the same power in the officers auditing the same in which the accounts of those bodies, when acting in their capacities of Commissioners of Sewers and Metropolitan Board of Works, are for the time being required to be audited by law. Audit of accounts.

The accounts of an urban sanitary authority under this Act shall be audited in the same manner and with the same power in the officers auditing the same in which the accounts of that authority in its character of sanitary authority are for the time being required to be audited by law.

PART III.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

24. Any petition or document proceeding from a local authority may be authenticated by their seal where such authority have a seal, and in any other case by the signature of any two or more members of the local authority, or in such other manner as the confirming authority may require. Provision where local authority has no seal.

Notices.

25. Any notice required to be served upon the local authority may be lawfully served by delivering the same to the clerk of the local authority, or leaving the same at his office with some person employed there by him. Service of notice on the local authority.

26. The confirming authority may from time to time by order prescribe the forms of advertisements and notices under this Act; it shall not be obligatory on any persons to adopt such forms, but the same, when adopted, shall be deemed sufficient for all the purposes of this Act. Power of confirming authority as to advertisement and notices.

27. The confirming authority may, on the consideration of any petition of a local authority for an order confirming a scheme, dispense with the publication of any advertisement, or the service of any notice, proof of which publication or service is not given to them as required by this Act, where reasonable cause is shown to their satisfaction why such publication or service should be dispensed with, and such dispensation may be made by the confirming authority, either unconditionally or upon such condition as to the publication of other advertisements and the service of other notices or otherwise as the confirming authority may think fit, due care being taken by the confirming authority to prevent the interest of any person being prejudiced by the fact of the publication of any advertisement or the service of any notice being dispensed with in pursuance of this section. Power of confirming authority to dispense with notices in certain cases.

28. Any notice served by the local authority for the purposes of this Act may be signed by the clerk of the local authority. Authentication of notices served by the local authority.

Penalties.

29. Where any person obstructs the officer of health or any officer of the local or confirming authority acting in the performance of anything which the local or confirming authority are by this Act required or authorised to do, every person so offending shall, on summary conviction, for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty pounds. Penalty for obstructing officers in execution of Act.

Secs. 30, 31.

Relation of local Acts to general Acts.

30. Where in any place to which this Act applies, any local Act is in force providing for objects the same as or similar to the objects of this Act, the enactments of such local Act may be enforced at the discretion of the local authority either instead of or in concurrence with this Act; provided that the local authority of any place to which this Act applies shall not, by reason of any local Act within its jurisdiction, be exempted from the performance of any duty or obligation to which such authority are subject under this Act.

SCHEDULE (¹).

PROVISIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE PURCHASE AND TAKING OF LANDS IN ENGLAND OTHERWISE THAN BY AGREEMENT, AND OTHERWISE AMENDING THE LANDS CLAUSES ACT, 1845.

Deposit of Maps and Plans.

(1.) The local authority shall as soon as practicable after the passing of the confirming Act cause to be made out, and to be signed by their clerk or some other principal officer appointed by them, maps and schedules of all lands proposed to be taken compulsorily (which lands are hereinafter referred to as the scheduled lands), together with the names, so far as the same can be reasonably ascertained, of all persons interested in such lands as owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, or occupiers.

(2.) The maps made by the local authority shall be upon such scale and be framed in such manner as may be prescribed by the confirming authority.

(3.) The local authority shall deposit such maps and schedules at the office of the confirming authority, and shall deposit and keep copies of such maps and schedules at the office of the local authority. Schedule.

Appointment of Arbitrator.

(4.) After such deposit at the office of the confirming authority as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the confirming authority, upon the application of the local authority, to appoint an arbitrator between the local authority and the persons interested in such of the scheduled lands, or lands injuriously affected by the execution of such scheme, so far as compensation for the same has not been made the subject of agreement.

Proceedings on Arbitration (1).

(5.) Before any arbitrator enters upon any inquiry he shall, in the presence of a justice of the peace, make and subscribe the following declaration; that is to say,

"I A. B. do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I will faithfully and honestly, and to the best of my skill and ability, hear and determine the matters referred to me under the provisions of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875.

"A. B.

"Made and subscribed in the presence of ."

And such declaration shall be annexed to the award when made; and if any arbitrator, having made such declaration, wilfully act contrary thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(6.) As soon as an arbitrator has been appointed as aforesaid, the confirming authority shall deliver to him the maps and schedules deposited at their office, and the local authority shall publish once in each of three successive weeks the following particulars (2):—

(a.) The appointment of the arbitrator:

(b.) The deposit at the office of the local authority of the copies of such maps and schedules as aforesaid, with a description of the situation of such office, and a statement of the time at which such copies may be inspected by any person desirous of inspecting the same:

(c.) A requisition directing the owners of or parties by this Act enabled to sell and convey or release any of the said scheduled lands, or any lands injuriously affected by the execution of the scheme of the local authority or any interest in such lands, to deliver to the arbitrator, on or before a day fixed by the arbitrator and named in such requisition (and being a day not earlier than twenty-one days from the date of the insertion of the last of such notices), a short statement in writing of the nature of their respective claims.

(7.) The arbitrator shall, after the expiration of the period within which such claims are required to be delivered to him as aforesaid, and so far as such claims may not be settled by agreement, proceed to inquire into and adjudicate according to the basis provided in this Act upon the compensation (3) to be paid in respect of the scheduled lands, and of the several interests in such lands, and the compensation to be made for injury to any lands as are mentioned in his appointment injuriously affected by the execution of the scheme of the local authority.

(8.) The arbitrator shall, after due inquiry and examination, frame a provisional award (4), setting forth the compensation to be paid by the local authority in respect of the several interests in the said scheduled lands, and also, where any inquiry relates to

(1) These articles from (5) to (13), both inclusive, are repealed by section 5 of the Artizans' Dwellings Act, 1882 (see post, p. 623), and the articles contained in the schedule to that Act are substituted for them.

(3) The arbitrator may assess the amount of compensation without deciding as to the right to compensation: Wilkins v. Mayor of Birmingham, supra.

(4) The provisional award does not transfer the ownership to the local authority. This is effected by the final award: Barnett v. Metrop. Board, 46 L. T. N. S. 384, 46 J. P. 469.

Schedule. injury to any lands injuriously affected by the execution of the scheme of the local authority, the compensation payable in respect of such injury.

(9.) The provisional award shall be deposited at the office of the confirming authority, and a copy shall be deposited at the office of the local authority.

(10.) The arbitrator shall cause notice of such award to be given to all persons entitled to compensation under the same, or who have made a claim before such arbitrator as claimants for compensation; the arbitrator shall cause notice to be published once in each of three successive weeks, stating that a copy of the provisional award has been deposited at the office of the local authority, and he shall in the notice of the award given to such persons as aforesaid, and also in the published notice, appoint a time and place, or times and places, for holding a meeting or meetings to hear objections against such provisional award (the first such meeting to be not earlier than twenty-one days after the last day of publication of the said notice).

(11.) The arbitrator shall hold such meeting or meetings according to such notices, and thereat hear and determine any objections which may then and there be made to such provisional award by any person interested therein, or adjourn the further hearing thereof, if the arbitrator see fit, to a future meeting, and may take any measures which he may deem proper for ascertaining the compensation payable in respect of any such lands or interests as aforesaid, or the justice or propriety of any other matter of such provisional award, and may from time to time, if he see occasion, appoint and hold further meetings for hearing and determining objections to such provisional award, of which further meetings, when not holden by adjournment, notice shall be given in manner hereinbefore directed.

(12.) When the arbitrator has heard and determined all such objections, and made such inquiries as he may think necessary in relation thereto, and made such alterations (if any) as he may deem proper in the provisional award, he shall confirm such award under his hand and seal accordingly; and thereupon such award shall be final, and be binding and conclusive (subject to the provisions concerning an appeal hereinafter contained) upon all persons whomsoever, and no such award shall be set aside for irregularity in matter of form ⁽¹⁾.

(13.) Such final award as aforesaid shall be deposited at the office of the confirming authority, and a copy thereof shall be deposited at the office of the local authority, and the local authority shall thereupon publish once in each of three successive weeks notice of the deposit having been made at the office of the local authority of a copy of the award so confirmed, and a further notice requiring all persons claiming to have any right to or interest in the lands (the compensation to be paid in respect of which is ascertained by such award) to deliver to the local authority, on or before a day to be named in such notice (such day not being earlier than twenty-one days from the date of the last publication of the notice), a short statement in writing of the nature of such claim, and a short abstract of the title on which the same is founded; and such statement and abstract shall be paid for by the local authority. Such abstract of title, in the case of a person claiming a fee simple interest in the land, shall commence twenty years previous to the date of the claim, except there has been an absolute conveyance on sale within twenty years, and more than ten years, previous to the claim when the abstract shall commence with such conveyance.

Payment of Purchase Money.

(14.) Within thirty days from the delivery of such statement and abstract as aforesaid to the local authority, the local authority shall, where it appears to them that any person so claiming is absolutely entitled to the lands, estate, or interest claimed by him, deliver to such person, on demand, a certificate stating the amount of the compensation to which he is entitled under the said award.

(15.) Every such certificate shall be prepared by and at the costs of the local authority; and where any agreement has been entered into as to the compensation payable in respect of the interest of any person in any lands, the local authority may, where it

(16.) The local authority shall, thirty days after demand, pay to the party to whom any such certificate is given, or otherwise as herein provided in the cases hereinafter mentioned, the amount of moneys specified to be payable by such certificate to the party to whom or in whose favour such certificate is given, or his or her executors, administrators, or assigns.

(17.) If the local authority wilfully make default in such payment as aforesaid, then the party named in such certificate shall be entitled to enter up judgment against the local authority in any of Her Majesty's superior courts of law at Westminster, or in any court to which the jurisdiction of such courts may be transferred, for the amount of the sums specified in such certificate, in the same manner in all respects as if he had been, by warrant of attorney from the local authority, authorised to enter up judgment for the amount mentioned in the certificate, with costs, as is usual in like cases; and all moneys payable under such certificates, or to be recovered by such judgments as aforesaid, shall at law and in equity be taken as personal estate as from the time of the local authority entering on any such lands as aforesaid.

(18.) When and so soon as the local authority have paid to the party to whom any such certificate as aforesaid is given, or otherwise, as herein provided, in the cases hereinafter mentioned, the amount specified to be payable by such certificate to the party to whom or in whose favour the certificate is given, his executors, administrators, or assigns, it shall be lawful for the local authority, upon obtaining such receipt as hereinafter mentioned, from time to time to enter upon any lands in respect of which such certificate is given, and thenceforth to hold the same for the estate or interest in respect of which the amount specified in such certificate was payable.

(19.) In every case in which any moneys are paid by any local authority under this Act, for such compensation as aforesaid, the party receiving such moneys shall give to the local authority a receipt for the same, and such receipt shall have the effect of a grant, release, and conveyance of all the estate and interest of such party, and of all parties claiming under or through him, in the lands in respect of which such moneys are paid, provided such receipt has had an ad valorem stamp of the same amount impressed thereon in respect of the purchase moneys mentioned in such certificate as would have been necessary if such receipt had been an actual conveyance of such estate or interest, every such receipt to be prepared by and at the costs of the local authority.

(20.) If it appear to the local authority, from any such statement and abstract as aforesaid, or otherwise, that the party making any such claim as aforesaid is not absolutely entitled to the lands, estate, or interest in respect of which his claim is made, or is under any disability, or if the title to such lands, estate, or interest be not satisfactorily deduced to the local authority, then and in every such case the amount to be paid by the local authority in respect of such lands, estate, or interest as aforesaid shall be paid and applied as provided by the clauses of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," as amended by "The Court of Chancery Funds Act, 1872," "with respect to the purchase money or compensation coming to parties having limited interests, or prevented from treating, or not making title."

(21.) Where any person claiming any right or interest in any lands refuses to produce his title to the same, or where the local authority have under the provisions of this Act taken possession of any lands in respect of the compensation whereof, or of any estate or interest wherein, no claim has been made within one year from the time of the local authority taking possession, or if any party to whom any such certificate has been given or tendered refuses to receive such certificate, or to accept the amount therein specified as payable to him, then and in any such case the amount payable by the local authority in respect of such lands, estate, or interest, or the amount specified in such certificate, shall be paid into the Bank of England, in manner provided by the last-mentioned clauses of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," as amended by "The Court of Chancery Funds Act, 1872," and the amount so paid into the said Bank shall be accordingly dealt with as by the said Act provided.

(22.) Nothing herein contained shall prevent the local authority from requiring any further abstract or evidence of title respecting any lands included in any such award as aforesaid, in addition to the abstract or statement hereinbefore mentioned, if they think fit, so as the same be obtained at the costs of the local authority.

(23.) If from any reason whatever the local authority does not deliver the certificate aforesaid to any party claiming to be entitled to any interest in any lands the possession whereof has been taken by the local authority as aforesaid, then the right to have a certificate according to the provisions of this Act may, at the costs and charges of the local authority, be enforced by any party or parties, by application to the High Court of Chancery, or any court to which the jurisdiction of the High Court of Chancery may be transferred, in a summary way by petition, and all other rights and interests of any party or parties arising under the provisions of this Act may be in like manner enforced against the local authority by such application as aforesaid.

Entry on Lands on making Deposit.

(24.) Where the local authority are desirous, for the purposes of their works, of entering upon any lands before they would be entitled to enter thereon under the provisions hereinbefore contained, it shall be lawful for the local authority, at any time, after the arbitrator has framed his provisional award, upon depositing in the Bank of England such sum as the arbitrator may certify to be in his opinion the proper amount to be so deposited in respect of any lands authorised to be purchased or taken by the local authority, and mentioned in such provisional award, to enter upon and use such lands for the purposes of the improvement scheme of the local authority; and the arbitrator shall, upon the request of the local authority, at any time after he has framed such provisional award, certify under his hand the sum which, in his opinion, should be so deposited by the local authority in respect of any lands mentioned in such provisional award before they enter upon and use the same as aforesaid, and the sum to be so certified shall be the sum or the amount of the several sums set forth in such provisional award as the sum or sums to be paid by the local authority in respect of such lands, or such greater amount as to the arbitrator, under the circumstances of the case, may seem proper; and, notwithstanding such entry as aforesaid, all proceedings for and in relation to the completion of the award, the delivery of certificates, and other proceedings under this Act, shall be had, and payments made, as if such entry and deposit had not been made; provided that the local authority shall, where they enter upon any lands by virtue of this present provision, pay interest at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum upon the compensation money payable by them in respect of any lands so entered upon, from the time of their entry until the time of the payment of such money and interest to the party entitled thereto, or where, under the provisions of this Act, such compensation is required to be paid into the said Bank, then until the same, with such interest, is paid into such Bank accordingly; and where under this provision interest is payable on any compensation money the certificate to be delivered by the local authority in respect thereof shall specify that interest is so payable, and the same shall be recoverable in like manner as the principal money mentioned in such certificate.

(25.) The money so deposited as last aforesaid shall be paid into the Bank of England to such account as may from time to time be directed by any regulation or Act for the time being in force in relation to moneys deposited in the Bank in similar cases, or to such account as may be directed by any order of the Court of Chancery, or of any court to whom the powers of the Court of Chancery may be transferred, and remain in the Bank by way of security to the parties interested in the lands which have been so entered upon, for the payment of the money to become payable by the local authority in respect thereof under the award of the arbitrator; and the money so deposited may, on the application by petition of the local authority, be ordered to be invested in Bank Annuities or Government securities, and accumulated; and upon such payment as aforesaid by the local authority it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery, or any other court to which the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery may be transferred, upon a like application, to order the money so deposited, or the funds in which the same shall have been invested, together with the accumulation thereof, to be repaid or transferred to the local authority, or in default of such payment as aforesaid by the local authority, it shall be lawful for the said court to order the same to be applied in such manner as it thinks fit for the benefit of the parties for whose security the same shall so have been deposited.

Appeal.Schedule.

(26.) Where the party named in any certificate issued under the provisions hereinbefore contained of the amount of the compensation ascertained by any award under this Act (or any party claiming under the party so named) is dissatisfied with the amount in such certificate certified to be payable, and such amount exceeds five hundred pounds, and

Where any party claiming any interest in any moneys so paid into court as aforesaid is dissatisfied with the amount of the price or compensation in respect of which such moneys are paid into court, and such amount exceeds five hundred pounds, also

Where the local authority is dissatisfied with the amount of compensation which the arbitrator appointed under the provisions of this Act has awarded to be paid by the local authority to any person in respect of any estate or interest in lands, and such amount exceed the sum of five hundred pounds;

The party dissatisfied may submit the question of the proper amount of compensation to a jury, provided that such party give notice in writing to the other party of their intention to appeal within ten days after the cause of appeal has arisen.

The cause of appeal shall be deemed to have arisen,—

(1.) Where a certificate has been issued as aforesaid, at the date of the issue of the certificate:

(2.) Where moneys have been paid into court, at the date of the payment into court:

(3.) Where the local authority appeals, at the date of the making of the final award.

(27.) Where a notice has been given under this Act of an appeal to a jury in respect of compensation for land, or any interest in land, a question of disputed compensation required to be determined by the verdict of a jury shall be deemed to have arisen within the meaning of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and all the provisions of that Act contained in sections thirty-eight to fifty-seven, both inclusive, shall be deemed to apply, except sections forty-seven and fifty-one: Provided also, that,—

(1.) Where the local authority appeals, that authority shall be deemed to be the plaintiff, and the party entitled to compensation to be the defendant; and

(2.) Where the party claiming compensation appeals, then, in case the verdict of the jury is for a sum exceeding the award of the arbitrator, the local authority shall pay to such party the costs of the trial, such costs to be taxed and ascertained in the same manner as costs are by law ascertained on the trial of issues tried in the Court of Queen's Bench, or any court to which the jurisdiction of the Court of Queen's Bench may be transferred; but in case the verdict of the jury is for a sum not exceeding the award of the arbitrator, the party appealing shall pay to the local authority the costs of the trial to be taxed and ascertained in manner aforesaid.

(3.) Where the local authority is the appellant,—

(1.) Notwithstanding the verdict of the jury may be for a sum less than that awarded by the arbitrator, the local authority shall pay to the other party such sum not exceeding twenty pounds for the costs of the trial as the sheriff or other officer before whom the same is tried shall direct; and,

(2.) In case the verdict of the jury is for a sum equal to or exceeding the award of the arbitrator, the local authority shall pay to the other party the costs of the trial, such costs to be taxed and ascertained in manner aforesaid.

(4.) The amount of compensation awarded by the arbitrator shall not be communicated to the jury, but they shall be required to make an independent assessment of the amount of compensation to which the party claiming compensation is entitled.

Costs of Arbitration.

(28.) The salary or remuneration, travelling and other expenses of the arbitrator, and all costs, charges, and expenses (if any) which may be incurred by the confirming authority in carrying the provisions of this Act into execution, shall be paid by the local authority; and the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses shall from time to time be certified by the confirming authority after first hearing any objections that may be

Schedule. made to the reasonableness of any such costs, charges, and expenses by or on behalf of the local authority; and every certificate of the said confirming authority certifying the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses shall be taken as proof in all proceedings at law or in equity of the amount of such respective costs, charges, and expenses, and the amount so certified shall be a debt due from the local authority to the Crown, and shall be recoverable accordingly. Further, any such certificate may be made a rule of one of the superior courts of law on the application of any party named therein, and may be enforced accordingly.

(29.) It shall be lawful for the arbitrator, where he thinks fit, upon the request of any party by whom any claim has been made before him, to certify the amount of the costs properly incurred by such party in relation to the arbitration, and the amount of the costs so certified shall be paid by the local authority; and if within seven days after demand the amount so certified be not paid to the party entitled to receive the same, such amount shall be recoverable as a debt, from such local authority with interest at the rate of five per cent. for any time during which the same remains unpaid after such seven days as aforesaid, but no such certificate shall be given where the arbitrator has awarded the same or a less sum than has been offered by the local authority in respect of such claim before the appointment of the arbitrator.

Miscellaneous.

(30.) The arbitrator may call for the production of any documents in the possession or power of the local authority, or of any party making any claim under the provisions of this Act, which such arbitrator may think necessary for determining any question or matter to be determined by him under this Act, and may examine any such party and his witnesses, and the witnesses for the local authority, on oath, and administer the oaths necessary for that purpose.

(31.) If any arbitrator appointed in pursuance of this Act die, or refuse, decline, or become incapable to act, the confirming authority may appoint an arbitrator in his place, who shall have the same powers and authorities as the arbitrator first appointed; and upon the appointment of any arbitrator in the place of an arbitrator dying, or refusing, declining, or becoming incapable to act, all the documents relating to the matter of the arbitration which were in the possession of such arbitrator shall be delivered to the arbitrator appointed in his place, and the local authority shall publish notice of such appointment in the London Gazette.

(32.) All notices required by this schedule to be published shall be published in some one and the same newspaper circulating within the jurisdiction of the local authority, and where no other form of service is prescribed all notices required to be served or given by the local authority under this schedule or otherwise upon any persons interested in or entitled to sell lands, shall be served in manner in which notices of lands proposed to be taken compulsorily for the purpose of an improvement scheme are directed by this Act to be served upon owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, and occupiers.

to arbitration.

Whereas it is expedient to extend and amend the provisions of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868 :

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

1. This Act may be cited as the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879, and shall, so far as is consistent with the tenour thereof, be construed together with the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act of 1868"), as one Act ⁽¹⁾.

2. The Act shall apply only to the places named in the first column of Table (A.) in the First Schedule annexed hereto, and "local authority," "local rate," and "clerk of local authority" shall mean the "bodies of persons," "rate," and "officer" in that table in that behalf mentioned; and the said table, and the explanation annexed thereto, shall be of the same force as if they were enacted in the body of the Act of 1868 and this Act.

3. The term "officer of health" as used in the Act of 1868, shall, as respects any urban sanitary district in England, mean the medical officer of health appointed by the urban sanitary authority of the district under the Public Health Act, 1875, and as respects any urban sanitary district in Ireland shall mean the medical officer of health appointed by the urban sanitary authority of the district under the Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1878, and shall not include any other officer.

4. The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860, except the provisions of those Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, and with respect to the entry on lands by the promoters of the undertaking, and save so far as any of the provisions of those Acts respectively are expressly varied by or are inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, are incorporated with the Act of 1868 as amended by this Act, and for the purpose of such incorporation the Act of 1868, as amended by this Act, shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the local authority to be the promoters of the undertaking.

5. Notwithstanding anything in the Act of 1868, the owner of any premises specified in an order of the local authority made under that Act, and requiring him to execute any works or to demolish such premises, may, within three months after service on him of the order, require the local authority in writing to purchase such premises.

6. Where the owner of any premises has in manner aforesaid required the local authority to purchase the same, and no agreement is come to between such owner and the local authority as to the amount of the compensation to be paid by the local authority, the amount of the compensation to be paid by the local authority for the premises shall be settled by arbitration in manner provided by this Act.

7. In all cases in which the amount of any compensation is, in pursuance of this Act, to be settled by arbitration, the following provisions shall have effect; (namely,)

(1.) The amount of compensation shall be settled by an arbitrator to be appointed and removable by the Local Government Board; Secs. 7—9.

(2.) In settling the amount of any compensation—

(a.) The estimate of the value of the premises shall be based on the fair market value as estimated at the time of the valuation being made of such premises, and of the several interests in such premises, due regard being had to the nature and then condition of the property and the probable duration of the buildings in their existing state, and to the state of repair thereof, and all circumstances affecting such value ⁽¹⁾, and without any additional allowance in respect of compulsory purchase; and

(b.) The arbitrator shall have regard to and make an allowance in respect of any increased value which, in his opinion, will be given to other premises of the same owner by the alteration or demolition by the local authority of the premises;

(3.) On payment or tender to the person entitled to receive the same of the amount of compensation agreed or awarded to be paid in respect of the premises, or on payment thereof in manner prescribed by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, the owner shall, when required by the local authority, convey his interest in such premises to them, or as they may direct; and in default thereof, or if the owner fails to adduce a good title to such premises to the satisfaction of the local authority, it shall be lawful for the local authority, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll in such manner, and with such consequences, as are mentioned in the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845: 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.

(4.) Sections thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-five, thirty-six, and thirty-seven of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, shall apply, with any necessary modifications, to an arbitration and to an arbitrator appointed under this Act; 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.

(5.) The arbitrator may, by one award, settle the amount or amounts of compensation payable in respect of all or any of the premises included in one or more order or orders made by the local authority;

(6.) In the event of the death, resignation, or incapacity, refusal, or neglect to act of any arbitrator before he shall have made his award, the Local Government Board may appoint another arbitrator, to whom all documents relating to the matter of the arbitration which were in the possession of the former arbitrator shall be delivered;

(7.) The arbitrator may, where he thinks fit, on the request of any party by whom any claim has been made before him, certify the amount of the costs properly incurred by such party in relation to the arbitration, and the amount of the costs so certified shall be paid by the local authority; and if within seven days after demand the amount so certified be not paid to the party entitled to receive the same, such amount shall be recoverable as a debt from the local authority with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum for any time during which the same remains unpaid after such seven days as aforesaid, but no such certificate shall be given where the arbitrator has awarded the same or a less sum than has been offered by the local authority in respect of such claim before the appointment of the arbitrator;

(8.) The award of an arbitrator shall be final and binding on all parties.

8. Section twenty-three of the Act of 1868 shall apply to the site of any premises purchased by a local authority which the owner has elected to retain under the provisions of this Act.

9. Where the local authority, on default of the owner of any premises, themselves execute the required works, they may sell the old materials and retain the proceeds towards the expenses incurred by them in executing such works, and may

The expression "court of competent jurisdiction" shall, for the purposes of this section, be read and have effect as if the debt herein referred to were a simple contract debt, and not a debt or demand created by statute.

Disposal of land acquired by local authority under 30 & 31 Vict. c. 130.

10. Any land or premises acquired by any local authority under the Act of 1868 and this Act may from time to time be sold, let, and disposed of in like manner as any other lands acquired for sanitary purposes by such authority, and not needed for the purposes for which they were acquired; but in cases where the approbation of any Government department is required for any such disposal, then only with that approbation.

Local authority may dedicate land as highway, &c.

11. A local authority may, where they so think fit, dedicate any land acquired by them under the authority of the Act of 1868 and this Act as a highway or other public place.

30 & 31 Vict. c. 130.

Metropolitan Board empowered to enforce Act in case local authority fail to do so.

12. In the event of any local authority within the metropolis declining or neglecting for the space of three months after receiving a notice from the Metropolitan Board of Works (hereinafter called the Board) requiring such local authority to put in force the provisions of this Act, in respect of any premises described in such notice, then and in such case all the powers vested in the local authority under this Act, so far as relates to any such premises, shall become vested in the said Board, and the Board shall have power so far as relates to any such premises to act in all respects for the purposes of this Act as though they were the local authority, and all expenses incurred by the Board under this Act may be recovered by the Board from and shall upon demand be paid by the local authority out of the local rates which they are authorised to make or apply for the purpose of defraying expenses incurred by them under this Act, and the amounts so payable to the Board may and shall be included in the precepts from time to time issued by the Board under the Metropolitan Management Acts to the local authority.

Repealing 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130, s. 2, and Sch. I.

13. Section two of the Act of 1868 and the First Schedule to that Act are hereby repealed.

Appropriation of property acquired by local authority.

14. In the metropolis the local authority or their lessees shall hold all property acquired by them under this Act upon trust to carry into effect some one or more of the purposes thereof:

The purposes of this Act shall in the metropolis be deemed to be—

First, the providing by the construction of new buildings, or the repairing or improvement of existing buildings, the labouring classes with suitable dwellings situate within the jurisdiction of the local authority:

Second, the opening out of closed or partially closed alleys or courts inhabited by the labouring classes, and the widening of the same, by pulling down any building, or otherwise leaving such open spaces as may be necessary to make such alleys or courts healthful:

But subject to the aforesaid trust, the local authority or lessees may from time to time sell, exchange, lease, or otherwise dispose of any premises acquired by them under this Act: Provided that if any property acquired by the local authority under this Act shall not within seven years after the acquisition thereof be disposed of by way of absolute sale or of exchange, or by a lease for a period of not less than ninety-nine years, or be effectually dealt with by way of public improvement, then and in such case the property so acquired may be sold by the order of one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by public auction or public tender, with full power to fix a reserve price and subject to such terms and conditions as the said Secretary of State shall deem proper, and the proceeds of such sale, after deducting the whole of the expenses attending the same, shall be paid to the local authority to be by them applied to the purposes of this Act, and a receipt signed by the said Secretary of State for the amount of the purchase money shall absolutely vest such property in the purchaser for the whole estate and interest of the local authority therein subject to the before-mentioned terms and conditions.

Lessee acquiring property under this Act to

15. Every lessee who in the metropolis shall acquire any property under this Act shall forthwith, at his own costs, charges, and expenses, proceed to execute thereon, to the satisfaction of the surveyor of the local authority, the works shown on the plans referred to in the specifications prepared by the local authority, and such other works (being for some one or more of the purposes of this Act) as may have been agreed upon between the local authority and the lessee; and if the lessee shall at any time, in the opinion of the surveyor of the local authority, fail to exercise due diligence in the execution of the works, the local authority may, by themselves, their contractors, servants, workmen, and agents, enter upon the premises and execute the works so far as the same shall be incomplete, and reimburse themselves all costs, charges, and expenses incident to the execution of such works by sale of the old materials, so far as the same may extend, or may recover from the parties making default the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses as a debt in Her Majesty's High Court of Justice, and shall also have an express charge upon the premises in respect of such amount, which charge may be realised by a sale of the premises, or any part thereof.

pairing, lighting, watering, &c. workmen's
dwellings.

20. The local authority may from time to time make, alter, and repeal bye-laws for the regulation of the dwellings belonging to them under this Act, and there may be imposed by such bye-laws a penalty, recoverable in a summary manner, not exceeding two pounds for any breach of the bye-laws by the tenants or occupiers of the said houses. A copy of such bye-laws shall be given to every tenant or occupier upon his taking possession of every such dwelling, or of any portion thereof. A bye-law under this Act and any alteration made therein, and any repeal of a bye-law, shall not be of any validity until it has been submitted sioners.

16 & 17 Vict.
c. 40.

22. The Public Works Loan Commissioners, as defined by the Public Works Loan Act, 1853, or in the metropolis the Metropolitan Board of Works may, if they think fit, lend to any local authority, and any local authority may borrow from the said Commissioners, or in the metropolis from the Metropolitan Board of Works, such sums as the said authority may require for the purposes of this Act, subject to the following regulations:

1. The amount of every loan shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners of the Treasury:
2. No loan shall be made except for the purpose of defraying the cost of building suitable dwellings for the labouring classes, or of defraying the cost of purchasing sites, and of building thereon such dwellings:
3. Every loan, with interest thereon at such rate as shall be agreed upon, but not a less rate of interest than four per centum per annum, shall be secured by a mortgage, [in the form set forth in the Third Schedule hereto, ⁽¹⁾] of certain dwellings for the labouring classes erected or improved, or about to be erected or improved, by a local authority, in pursuance of this Act, and of the sites of such dwellings, and the appurtenances, if any, and also by a mortgage of the local rate:
4. Any sum borrowed on mortgage under this section may be paid off by sale of the premises comprised in such mortgage, or by instalments, or otherwise, as may be agreed upon between the parties, so that the period of the borrowing do not exceed seven years:
5. The amount borrowed by any local authority on the mortgage of any building and sites, and of the local rate, shall not exceed the estimated value of the proposed buildings, including the sites thereof, comprised in such mortgage, such value to be ascertained in manner approved by the said Public Works Loan Commissioners:
6. The powers conferred by Act of Parliament on the said Public Works Loan Commissioners in relation to loans shall apply to any loans made under this section.

ARTIZANS' AND LABOURERS' DWELLINGS IMPROVEMENT ACT, 1879.

42 & 43 VICT. c. 63.

An Act to amend the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875.

[15th August, 1879.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1879. Secs. 1—4.

This Act shall be construed as one with the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875 (in this Act referred to as the principal Act), and the principal Act and this Act may be cited together as the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 and 1879. Short title and construction of Act. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36.

2. The schedule to the principal Act shall be construed as if the schedule to this Act formed part thereof. Amendment of schedule to principal Act.

3. On the occasion of assessing the compensation payable under any improvement scheme in respect of any house or premises situate within an unhealthy area, evidence shall be receivable by the arbitrator to prove that at the date of the confirming Act authorising such scheme, or at some previous date not earlier than the date of the official representation in which the scheme originated, such house or premises was by reason of its unhealthy state, or by reason of overcrowding or otherwise, in such a condition as to have been a nuisance within the meaning of the Acts relating to nuisances; and if the arbitrator is satisfied that from either of such causes as aforesaid, such house or premises was, at such dates as aforesaid or either of them, a nuisance as aforesaid, he shall then determine what would have been the value of such house or premises supposing the nuisance to have been abated, and what would have been the expense of abating the nuisance; and the amount of compensation payable in respect of such house or premises shall be an amount equal to the estimated value of the house or premises after the nuisance was abated, and after deducting the estimated expense of abating the nuisance. As to assessment of compensation.

4. Whereas by the fifth section of the principal Act it is provided, amongst other things, that an improvement scheme of a local authority shall provide for the accommodation of at least as many persons of the working classes as may be displaced in the area with respect to which the scheme is proposed in suitable dwellings which, unless there are special reasons to the contrary, shall be situate within the limits of the same area or in the vicinity thereof: Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, s. 5, as to the provision of accommodation for the working classes.

And whereas it not unfrequently happens that, having due regard to the requirements of persons of the working classes displaced by an improvement scheme, equally convenient accommodation at a much less cost can be furnished to such persons or some of them at some place other than within the area or the immediate vicinity of the area from which they have been displaced: Be it enacted that—

Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the confirming authority on an application to authorise or modify an improvement scheme that equally convenient accommodation can be provided for any persons of the working class displaced by an improvement scheme at some place other than within the area or the immediate vicinity of the area comprised in the improvement scheme, and it is also proved to the satisfaction of such authority that the required accommodation has been or is about to be forthwith provided, it shall be lawful for the confirming authority accordingly to authorise any such improvement scheme, or to permit a modification of any such scheme, and the requirements of the principal Act with respect to providing accommodation for persons of the working class shall, to the extent

Secs. 4, 5. to which accommodation is provided in accordance with this section, be deemed to have been complied with.

A local authority may for purpose of providing accommodation for persons of the working classes displaced by any improvement scheme, appropriate any lands for the time being belonging to them which are suitable for the purpose, or may purchase by agreement any such further lands as may be convenient.

As respects any place in Ireland, the Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1878, and any local Act which contains any provisions with respect to nuisances in that place; and

As respects the metropolis, as defined by the Public Health Act, 1875, the Nuisances Removal Acts as defined by the Sanitary Act, 1866, or any Act amending the same, and any local Act which contains any provisions with respect to nuisances in that place; and

As respects any other place in England, the Public Health Act, 1875, and any local Act which contains any provisions with respect to nuisances in that place.

SCHEDULE.

Schedule.

Notice of appointment
of arbitrator.

1. The publication by the local authority of the appointment of the arbitrator, and the other particulars mentioned in article six of the schedule to the principal Act, shall be made not only by advertisement, but also by placards and handbills affixed in conspicuous places on or near the lands to be taken, and also by leaving a notice thereof at each house proposed to be taken, and also by sending a notice thereof by post to the persons interested in such lands as owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, so far as they can be reasonably ascertained.

arbitrator as to apportionment.

2. The arbitrator shall have the same power of apportioning any rent-service, rent-charge, chief or other rent, payment, or incumbrance, or any rent payable in respect of lands comprised in a lease, as two justices have under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845.

Amendment
respecting severance of properties.
8 & 9 Vict.
c. 18.

3. Notwithstanding anything in section ninety-two of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, the arbitrator may determine that such part of any house, building, or manufactory as is proposed to be taken by the local authority can be taken without material damage to such house, building, or manufactory, and if he so determine may award compensation in respect of the severance of the part so proposed to be taken, in addition to the value of that part, and thereupon the party interested shall be required to sell and convey to the local authority such part, without the local authority being obliged to purchase the greater part or the whole of such house, building, or manufactory.

The local authority, or any person interested, if dissatisfied with a determination under this enactment, may, in manner provided by article twenty-six of the schedule to the principal Act, submit the question of whether the said part can be taken without material damage, as well as the question of the proper amount of compensation, to a jury; and the notice of intention to appeal shall be given within the same time as notice of intention to appeal against the amount of compensation awarded is required to be given.

interests.

4. The amount of purchase money or compensation to be paid in pursuance of section one hundred and twenty-four of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, in respect of any estate, right, or interest in or charge affecting any of the scheduled lands which the local authority have through mistake or inadvertence failed or omitted duly to purchase or make compensation for, shall be awarded by the arbitrator and be paid, in like manner, as near as may be, as the same would have been awarded and paid if the claim of such estate, right, interest, or charge had been delivered to the arbitrator before the day fixed for the delivery of statements of claims; with this qualification, that the first award of the arbitrator shall be final, and not provisional.

If the arbitrator is satisfied that the failure or omission to purchase the said estate, right, interest, or charge arose from any default on the part either of the claimant or of the local authority, he may direct the costs to be paid by the party so in default.

SCHEDULE.

ARTIZANS' DWELLINGS ACT, 1882.

45 & 46 VICT. c. 54.

An Act to amend the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Acts.

[18th August, 1882.]

Secs. 1—3. Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Preliminary.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Artizans' Dwellings Act, 1882.

PART I.

Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 and 1879.

Construction of Part I. of Act. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, 42 & 43 Vict. c. 63.

Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, s. 5, as to the provision of accommodation for the working classes.

2. This part of this Act shall be construed as one with the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwelling Improvement Acts, 1875 and 1879, and those Acts together with this part of this Act may be cited together as the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 to 1882.

3. Whereas by section five of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, it is provided, amongst other things, that an improvement scheme of a local authority shall provide for the accommodation of at the least as many persons of the working class as may be displaced in the area with respect to which the scheme is proposed in suitable dwellings which, unless there are special reasons to the contrary, shall be situate within the limits of the same area or in the vicinity thereof:

And whereas by section four of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1879, it is provided that the above requirements of section five of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, may, if the confirming authority so authorise, be complied with by the provision of equally convenient accommodation at some place other than within the area or the immediate vicinity of the area comprised in such scheme:

And whereas it is expedient to make further provision respecting such accommodation: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

Where an improvement scheme of a local authority comprises an area situate in the metropolis or the city of London, the confirming authority shall, without prejudice to the powers conferred on it by the said fourth section of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1879, be authorised (on the application of the local authority, and on a report being made by the officer conducting the local inquiry directed by the confirming authority that it is expedient having regard to the special circumstances of the locality and to the number of artizans and others belonging to the labouring class dwelling within the area, and being employed within a mile thereof, that a modification should be made) to dispense in the provisional order authorising the scheme altogether with the obligation of the local authority to provide for the accommodation of the persons of the working class who may be displaced by their scheme to such extent as he may think expedient, having regard to such special circumstances as aforesaid, but not exceeding one half of the persons so displaced, and where any such improvement scheme comprises an area situate elsewhere than in the metropolis or the city of London, it shall, if the confirming authority so require (but it shall not otherwise be obligatory on the local authority so to frame their scheme), provide for the accommodation of such number of those persons of the working class displaced in the area with respect to which the scheme is proposed in suitable dwellings to be erected in such place or places either within or without the limits of the same area as the said authority on a report made by the officer conducting the local inquiry may require.

The twelfth section of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, and any other enactment relating to the requirement of the said Act as to the accommodation of the working classes, shall be construed with reference and subject to the modifications made by this Act.

The power by this section given to the confirming authority to dispense altogether with the obligation of the local authority to provide for the accommodation of the persons of the working class who may be displaced by their scheme to an extent not exceeding one half of the persons so displaced may (in the case of any scheme which has, before the passing of this Act, been authorised by a confirming Act) upon the application of the local authority be exercised by the confirming authority by an order made at any time within twelve months after the passing of this Act.

4. Whereas it is expedient to amend section nineteen of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875: Be it therefore enacted as follows: Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 38, s. 19, as to the valuation of land.

In the estimate of the value of the said lands or interests in the said section in that behalf mentioned any addition to or improvement of the property made after the date of the publication of an advertisement in pursuance of section six of the said Act stating the fact of the improvement scheme having been made shall not (unless such addition or improvement was necessary for the maintenance of the property in a proper state of repairs) be included, nor in the case of any interest acquired after the said date shall any separate estimate of the value thereof be made so as to increase the amount of compensation to be paid for the lands, and the words "and all circumstances affecting such value" in the said section are hereby repealed.

5. There shall be repealed so much of the schedule to the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, as is comprised under the heading "Proceedings on Arbitration," that is to say, articles numbered (5) to (13) both inclusive, and there shall be substituted therefor the articles contained in the schedule hereto: Provided that such repeal shall not affect anything duly done or suffered under any provision hereby repealed. Amendment of schedule to 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36.

6. Where an official representation made to the Metropolitan Board of Works in pursuance of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, relates to not more than ten houses, the Metropolitan Board of Works shall not take any proceedings on such representation, but shall direct the officer making the same to report the case to the local authority as defined by the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868, and it shall be the duty of the local authority to deal with such case in manner provided by the last-mentioned Act, and the Acts amending the same. Limit of area to be dealt with on official representation. 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130.

PART II.

7. This part of this Act shall be construed as one with the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868, and the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879, and those Acts and this part of this Act may be cited together as the Artizans' Dwellings Acts, 1868 to 1882. Construction of Part II. 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130.

8.—(1.) If in any place to which the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868⁽¹⁾, applies the officer of health finds that any building, although not in itself unfit for human habitation, is so situate that by reason of its proximity to or contact with any other buildings it causes one of the following effects, that is to say,— 42 & 43 Vict. c. 64.

(1.) It stops ventilation, or otherwise makes or conduces to make such other buildings to be in a condition unfit for human habitation; or Power to local authority to purchase houses for opening alleys, &c.

(1) See ante, pp. 615, 616.

Section 8. (2.) It prevents proper measures from being carried into effect for remedying the evils complained of in respect of such other buildings, in any such case, the officer of health shall make a report to the local authority in writing of the particulars relating to such first-mentioned building (in this Act referred to as "an obstructive building"), stating that in his opinion it is expedient that the obstructive building should be pulled down, and shall deliver the report to the clerk of the local authority.

(2.) The local authority shall refer such report to a surveyor or engineer to report thereon, and to report as to the cost of acquiring the lands on which such obstructive building is erected and of pulling down such building.

(3.) The local authority shall take into consideration the reports of the officer of health and of the surveyor, and if they decide to adopt such reports shall cause copies to be given to the owner of the lands on which the obstructive building stands, with notice of the time and place appointed by the local authority for the consideration thereof; and such owner shall be at liberty to attend and state his objections, and after hearing such objections the local authority shall make an order in writing signed by their clerk either allowing the objections or directing that such obstructive building shall be pulled down, and such order shall be subject to appeal in like manner as an order of the local authority under the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868.

(4.) Where an order of the local authority for pulling down an obstructive building is made under this section and is not appealed against, or if appealed against is confirmed, the local authority shall be deemed to be authorised to purchase the lands on which the obstructive building is erected in like manner as if they had been authorised by a special Act to purchase the same; and for the purpose of such purchase the provisions of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and the Acts amending the same with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement shall be deemed to be incorporated in this Act ⁽¹⁾ (subject nevertheless to the provisions of this Act), and for the purpose of those provisions this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act and the local authority to be the promoters of the undertaking, and such lands may be purchased at any time within one year after the date of the order, or if it was appealed against after the date of the confirmation.

(5.) The owner of the lands may, within one month after notice to purchase the same is served upon him, declare that he desires to retain the site of the obstructive building and undertake either to pull down or to permit the local authority to pull down the obstructive building, and in such case the owner shall retain the site and shall receive compensation from the local authority for the pulling down of the obstructive building.

(6.) The amount of such compensation, and also the amount of any compensation to be paid on the purchase of any lands under this section, shall, in case of difference, be settled by arbitration in manner provided by section seven of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879 ⁽²⁾, as amended by this part of this Act.

(7.) Where the owner retains the site or any part thereof, section twenty-three of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868 ⁽³⁾, shall apply to such site.

(8.) Where the lands are purchased by the local authority, the local authority shall pull down the obstructive building, or such part thereof as may be obstructive within the meaning of this section, and keep as an open space the whole site, or such part thereof as may be required to be kept open for the purpose of remedying the evils caused by such obstructive building, and may, with the assent of the confirming authority and upon such terms as such authority thinks expedient, permit such portion of the site to be sold as is not required for the purpose of carrying this section into effect.

Where in the opinion of the arbitrator the demolition of an obstructive building adds to the value of such other buildings as are in that behalf mentioned in this section, the arbitrator shall apportion so much of the compensation to be paid for the demolition of the obstructive building as may be equal to the increase in value of the other buildings amongst such other buildings respectively, and the amount apportioned to each such other building in respect of its increase in value by reason of the demolition of such obstructive building shall be deemed to be private improvement expenses incurred by the local authority in respect of such building, and such local authority may, for the purpose of defraying such expenses, make and levy improvement rates on the occupier of such premises accordingly; and the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875, relating to private improvement expenses and to private improvement rates ⁽¹⁾ shall, so far as circumstances admit, c. 55. apply accordingly in the same manner as if such provisions were incorporated in this Act, and the said provisions shall be deemed to extend to the city of London and to the metropolis, and in the construction of the said provisions, as respects the city of London the Commissioners of Sewers, and as respects the metropolis the Metropolitan Board of Works, shall be deemed to be the urban authority.

(2) See ante, p. 611.

(3) See ante, p. 582.

If any dispute arises between the owner or occupier of any building (to which any amount may be apportioned in respect of private improvement expenses) and the arbitrator by whom such apportionment is made, such dispute shall be settled by two justices in manner provided by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, in cases where the compensation claimed in respect of lands does not exceed fifty pounds.

9. Section seven of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879 ⁽²⁾, shall be construed as if the words "and all circumstances affecting such value" were omitted therefrom.

Amendment of s. 7 of 42 & 43 Vict. c. 64.

10. The expenses of the local authority under this part of this Act shall be defrayed in like manner as expenses incurred in pursuance of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879 ⁽³⁾.

Expenses of local authority.

11. Whereas by section twelve of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879 ⁽⁴⁾, it is provided that in the event of a local authority within the metropolis declining or neglecting for the space of three months after receiving a notice from the Metropolitan Board of Works requiring such local authority to put in force the provisions of the said Act in respect of any premises described in such notice, the Metropolitan Board of Works shall have the powers therein mentioned: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

Amendment of 42 & 43 Vict. c. 64, s. 12, as to enforcement of Act by Metropolitan Board of Works.

Where an officer of health, in pursuance of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868, has reported any premises as unfit for human habitation ⁽⁵⁾, or in pursuance of this part of this Act has reported that the pulling down of any obstructive building would be expedient, the board of guardians in whose union or parish, or the owner of any property in the neighbourhood of which such premises or buildings are situate, may complain to the Metropolitan Board of Works that the local authority have failed to put in force the provisions of the said Acts in respect of such premises or buildings, and the Metropolitan Board of Works may, if they think it expedient so to do, thereupon proceed under section twelve of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act (1868) Amendment Act, 1879, and that section shall apply as if it were enacted in this part of this Act and in terms made applicable to the duties of local authorities under this part of this Act.

SCHEDULE.

AMENDMENT OF SCHEDULE TO 38 & 39 VICT. c. 36.

Schedule

(1.) In lieu of articles eight to thirteen (both inclusive) of the schedule to the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, the following articles shall be substituted; that is to say, Proceedings on Arbitration.

(a.) Before any arbitrator enters upon any inquiry he shall, in the presence of a justice of the peace, make and subscribe the following declaration; that is to say,

"I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I will faithfully and honestly, and to the best of my skill and ability, hear and determine the matters referred to me under the provisions of the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875.

"A. B.

"Made and subscribed in the presence of ."

And such declaration shall be annexed to the award when made; and if any arbitrator, having made such declaration, wilfully act contrary thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour.

(b.) As soon as an arbitrator has been appointed as aforesaid, the confirming authority shall deliver to him the maps and schedules deposited at their office, and the local authority shall publish once in each of three successive weeks the following particulars:—

(1.) The appointment of the arbitrator; and

(2.) The deposit at the office of the local authority of the copies of such maps and schedules as aforesaid, with a description of the situation of such office, and a statement of the time at which such copies may be inspected by any person desirous of inspecting the same.

(c.) In every case in which compensation is payable under the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, by the local authority to any claimant, and which compensation has not been made the subject of agreement (in this Act referred to as "a disputed case"), the arbitrator shall ascertain in such manner as he thinks most convenient the amount of compensation demanded by the claimant, and the amount which the local authority may be willing to pay; and after hearing all such parties interested in each disputed case as may appear before him at a time and place of which notice has been given as in this Act mentioned, he shall proceed to decide on the amount of compensation to which he may consider the claimant to be entitled in each case.

(d.) The arbitrator shall from time to time give notice to the claimants in disputed cases by causing such notice to be published or otherwise in such manner as he thinks advisable, of a time and place at which the difference between the claimants and the local authority in disputed cases as to the amount of compensation to be paid will be decided by the arbitrator.

(e.) After the arbitrator has arrived at a decision on all the disputed cases brought before him, he shall make an award under his hand and seal, and such award shall be final, and be binding and conclusive (subject to the provisions concerning an appeal hereinafter contained) upon all persons whoinsoever, and no such award shall be set aside for irregularity in matter of form.

(f.) Such award as aforesaid shall be deposited at the office of the confirming authority, and a copy thereof shall be deposited at the office of the local authority, and the local authority shall thereupon publish once in each of three successive weeks notice of the deposit having been made at the office of the local authority of a copy of the award, and a further notice requiring all persons claiming to have any right to or interest in the lands (the compensation to be paid in respect of which is ascertained by such award) to deliver to the local authority on or before a day to be named in such notice (such day not being earlier than twenty-one days from the date of the last publication of the notice), a short statement in writing of the nature of such claim, and a short abstract of the title on which the same is founded; and such statement and abstract shall be paid for by the local authority. Such abstract of title, in the case of a person claiming a fee simple interest in the land, shall commence twenty years previous to the date of the claim, except there has been an absolute conveyance on sale within twenty years, and more than ten years, previous to the claim when the abstract shall commence with such conveyance. Schedule.

- (g.) Any person or local authority dissatisfied with the amount of compensation awarded may, where such amount exceeds one thousand pounds, but not otherwise, appeal in manner provided by article twenty-six of the schedule to the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, and that article shall be construed as if one thousand pounds were therein substituted for five hundred pounds.
- (h.) The costs, charges, and expenses payable by the local authority under article twenty-eight of the schedule to the Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, shall not be payable until the amount has been certified by the confirming authority.
- (i.) Notwithstanding anything contained in article twenty-nine of the said schedule, the arbitrator shall not be required to certify the amount of costs incurred by any party in relation to the arbitration in any case where he considers that such costs are not properly payable by the local authority.

THE INFANT LIFE PROTECTION
ACT, 1872.

35 & 36 VICT. c. 38.

An Act for the better Protection of Infant Life.

Secs. 1—4.

Whereas it is expedient to make better provision for the protection of infants intrusted to persons to be nursed or maintained for hire or reward in that behalf: Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Interpretation clause.

1. The term "Summary Jurisdiction Acts" means as follows:

As to England, the Act of the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter forty-three, intituled "An Act to facilitate the performance of the duties of justices of the peace out of sessions within England and Wales with respect to summary convictions and orders," and any Acts amending the same:

The term "Court of Summary Jurisdiction" means and includes any justice or justices of the peace, sheriff or sheriff substitute, metropolitan police magistrate, stipendiary or other magistrate or authority, by whatever name called, to whom jurisdiction is given by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, or any Acts therein referred to, or to proceedings before whom the provisions of the Summary Jurisdiction Acts are or may be made applicable:

In this Act the words "local rate," "local jurisdiction," and "local authority," mean, in reference to the districts mentioned in the first column of the First Schedule annexed hereto, the rate, jurisdiction, and authority mentioned in the second, third, and fourth columns of the said schedule, and such schedule and the notes thereto annexed shall be deemed to be part of this Act.

Houses of persons retaining or receiving for hire two or more infants for the purpose of nursing to be registered.

Register of names and houses to be kept by local authority.

2. From and after the commencement of this Act it shall not be lawful for any person to retain or receive for hire or reward in that behalf more than one infant, and in case of twins more than two infants, under the age of one year for the purpose of nursing or maintaining such infants apart from their parents for a longer period than twenty-four hours, except in a house which has been registered as herein provided.

3. The local authority shall cause a register to be kept in which shall be entered the name of every person applying to register any house for the purposes of this Act, and the situation of every such house, and the local authority shall from time to time make bye-laws for fixing the number of infants who may be received into each house so registered; the registration shall remain in force for one year; no fee shall be charged for registration. Every person who receives or retains any infant in contravention to the provisions of this Act shall be guilty of an offence against this Act.

Local authority may refuse to register.

4. The local authority may refuse to register any house, unless they are satisfied that such house is suitable for the purposes for which it is to be registered, and unless they are satisfied by the production of certificates that the person applying to be registered is of good character, and able to maintain such infants.

5. The person registered as aforesaid shall immediately enter in a register to be kept by him the name, sex, and age of each infant under his care, and the date at which and the names and addresses of the persons from whom they were received, and shall also enter in the said register the time when and the names and addresses of the person by whom every such infant received and retained as aforesaid shall be removed immediately after the removal of such infant, and shall produce the said register when required to do so by the local authority; and in the event of his refusing so to produce the said register or neglecting to enter in a register the name, sex, and age of each of the said infants, and the date at which the names and addresses of the persons from whom they were received and by whom they were removed respectively, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds. The person registered shall be entitled to receive gratuitously from the local authority a book of forms for the registration of infants; such register may be in the form contained in the second schedule to this Act.

Secs. 5—11.
Persons whose names and houses are registered to keep a register of infants and to produce it when lawfully required.

6. If any person shall make false representations with a view to being registered under this Act, or shall forge any certificate for the purpose of this Act, or make use of any forged certificate, knowing it to be forged, or shall falsify any register kept in pursuance of this Act, he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act.

Forgery of certificate and falsifying register.

7. If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the local authority that any person whose house has been so registered as aforesaid has been guilty of serious neglect, or is incapable of providing the infants intrusted to his care with proper food and attention, or that the house specified in the register has become unfit for the reception of infants, it shall be lawful for the local authority to strike his name and house off the register.

Local authority may strike name and house off register for neglect, &c.

8. The person registered as aforesaid shall within twenty-four hours after the death of every infant so retained or received cause notice thereof to be given to the coroner for the district within which the said infant died, and the said coroner shall hold an inquest on the body of every such infant unless a certificate under the hand of a registered medical practitioner shall be produced to him by the person so registered certifying that such registered medical practitioner has personally attended or examined such infant, and specifying the cause of its death, and the said coroner shall be satisfied by such certificate that there is no ground for holding such inquest. If the person so registered shall neglect to give notice as aforesaid he shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

Inquest to be held on death of infant.

9. Every person guilty of an offence under this Act shall be liable to imprisonment for not more than six months, with or without hard labour, or to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, as a court of summary jurisdiction may award, and shall in addition be liable to have his name and house struck off the register.

Punishment for offence under this Act.

10. All expenses incurred in and about the execution of this Act shall be defrayed out of the local rate.

Payment of expenses out of local rate.

11. Any offence under this Act may be prosecuted before a court of summary jurisdiction in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts: Provided as follows:

Offence how to be prosecuted.

[The description of any offence under this Act in the words of such Act, or as near thereto as may be, shall be sufficient in law:

Any exception, exemption, proviso, excuse, or qualification, whether it does or does not accompany the description of the offence in this Act, may be proved by the defendant, but need not be specified or negatived in the information, and if so specified or negatived, no proof in relation to the matters so specified or negatived shall be required on the part of the informant or prosecutor (1):]

The Court of Summary Jurisdiction, when hearing, trying, determining, and adjudging an information or complaint in respect of any offence or matter arising under this Act, shall be constituted either of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions, or of some magistrate or officer sitting alone or with others at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice, and for the time being empowered by law to do alone any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace.

12. Any moneys arising from fees or fines under this Act shall be paid to the account of the local rate, and be applied to the purposes to which that rate is applicable.

13. The provisions of this Act shall not extend to the relatives or guardians of any infant retained or received as aforesaid, nor to institutions established for the protection or care of infants, nor to any person receiving any infant for the purpose of nursing or maintaining such infant under the provisions of any Act for the relief of the poor.

14. [Act subject to certain provisions in its application to Scotland.]

15. This Act shall commence on the first day of November one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two.

16. This Act may be cited as "The Infant Life Protection Act, 1872."

SCHEDULES.

The First Schedule referred to in the foregoing Act.

ENGLAND.

District.	Local Rate.	Local Jurisdiction.	Local Authority.
Counties, except the metropolis and city of London.	The county rate or rate in the nature of a county rate.	Petty sessional division.	Justices in petty sessions.
The metropolis.	Rate or fund applicable to the payment of the general expenses of the board.	Area of the metropolis.	The Metropolitan Board of Works.
City of London and the liberties thereof.	Consolidated sewers rate.	Area of the city of London and the liberties thereof.	Common council.
Boroughs.	The borough fund or borough rate.	Area of borough.	Council.

“County” shall not include a county of a city or county of a town, but shall include any riding, division, parts, or liberty of a county having a separate commission of the peace.

Where a county or liberty of a county having a separate commission of the peace is not divided into petty sessional divisions, such county or liberty of a county shall itself for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be a petty sessional division of the county by which it is constituted or in which it is geographically situate.

“The metropolis” shall include all parishes and places in which the Metropolitan Board of Works have power to levy a main drainage rate, exclusive of the city of London and the liberties thereof.

“Borough” shall mean any place for the time being subject to an Act passed in the session holden in the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, intituled “An Act made to provide for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales,” and having a separate court of quarter sessions.

Every place that is not, according to the foregoing definitions, a borough, a county, or part of the metropolis, or city of London, or the liberties thereof, shall be deemed to form part of the county, as hereinbefore defined, to the county rate of which it is assessed, or, if not so assessed, of the county within which it is situate.

THE SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS ACT, 1875.

38 & 39 VICT. c. 63.

An Act to repeal the Adulteration of Food Acts, and to make better provision for the Sale of Food and Drugs in a pure state ⁽¹⁾. [11th August, 1875.]

Secs. 1, 2.

Whereas it is desirable that the Acts now in force relating to the adulteration of food should be repealed, and that the law regarding the sale of food and drugs in a pure and genuine condition should be amended:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Repeal of
statutes.

1. From the commencement of this Act the statutes of the twenty-third and twenty-fourth of Victoria, chapter eighty-four ⁽²⁾, of the thirty-first and thirty-second of Victoria, chapter one hundred and twenty-one, section twenty-four ⁽³⁾, of the thirty-third and thirty-fourth of Victoria, chapter twenty-six, section three ⁽⁴⁾, and of the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth of Victoria, chapter seventy-four ⁽⁵⁾, shall be repealed except in regard to any appointment made under them and not then determined, and in regard to any offence committed against them or any prosecution or other act commenced and not concluded or completed, and any payment of money then due in respect of any provision thereof.

Interpretation of words

2. The term "food" shall include every article used for food or drink by man, other than drugs or water:

The term "drug" shall include medicine for internal or external use.

The term "county" shall include every county, riding, and division, as well as every county of a city or town not being a borough:

The term "justices" shall include any police and stipendiary magistrate invested with the powers of a justice of the peace in England, and any divisional justices in Ireland.

Generally as to the scope of the Act, see the Circular of the Local Government Board, dated 30th September, 1875, amongst the circulars of the Local Government Board, post.

⁽²⁾ This Act was rendered difficult in its execution, as it involved the necessity of proving knowledge on the part of the vendor that the article sold was injurious to health.

Description of Offences.

Secs. 3—6.

3. No person shall mix, colour, stain, or powder, or order or permit any other person to mix, colour, stain, or powder, any article of food ⁽¹⁾ with any ingredient or material so as to render the article injurious to health ⁽²⁾, with intent that the same may be sold in that state, and no person shall sell any such article so mixed, coloured, stained, or powdered, under a penalty in each case not exceeding fifty pounds for the first offence; every offence, after a conviction for a first offence, shall be a misdemeanour, for which the person, on conviction, shall be imprisoned for a period not exceeding six months with hard labour.

Prohibition of the mixing of injurious ingredients, and of selling the same.

4. No person shall, except for the purpose of compounding as hereinafter described ⁽³⁾, mix, colour, stain, or powder, or order or permit any other person to mix, colour, stain, or powder, any drug with any ingredient or material so as to affect injuriously the quality or potency of such drug, with intent that the same may be sold in that state, and no person shall sell any such drug so mixed, coloured, stained, or powdered, under the same penalty in each case respectively as in the preceding section for a first and subsequent offence.

Prohibition of the mixing of drugs with injurious ingredients, and of selling the same.

5. Provided that no person shall be liable to be convicted under either of the two last foregoing sections of this Act in respect of the sale of any article of food or of any drug, if he shows to the satisfaction of the justice or court before whom he is charged that he did not know of the article of food or drug sold by him being so mixed, coloured, stained, or powdered as in either of those sections mentioned, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained that knowledge ⁽⁴⁾.

Exemption in case of proof of absence of knowledge.

6. No person shall sell to the prejudice of the purchaser ⁽⁵⁾ any article of food or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, and quality ⁽⁶⁾ of the article demanded by such purchaser, under a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds; provided that an offence shall not be deemed to be committed under this section in the following cases; that is to say,

Prohibition of the sale of articles of food and of drugs not of the proper nature, substance, and quality

(1.) Where any matter or ingredient not injurious to health has been added to the food or drug because the same is required for the production or preparation thereof as an article of commerce, in a state fit for carriage or consumption and not fraudulently to increase the bulk, weight, or measure of the food or drug, or conceal the inferior quality thereof;

(2.) Where the drug or food is a proprietary medicine, or is the subject of a patent in force, and is supplied in the state required by the specification of the patent;

(1) "Food" excludes drugs and water (see s. 2, supra).

(2) To sell an article which is unwholesome or injurious to health is an indictable offence at common law (see the observations of Lord Ellenborough, C.J., in The King v. Southerton, 6 East, 133. "At any rate the cheat was effected by means of bartering pretended port wine, which the indictment alleged was not wholesome or fit to drink; and the vending of such an article for drinking is clearly indictable." (Reg. v. Mackarty and Fordenborough, 2 Ld. Ray. 1179, and 3 Ld. Ray. 325).

(3) See s. 6.

(4) This throws the burthen of proving absence of knowledge on the vendor: (see foot-notes (2), (3), and (5), section 1).

(5) Hoyle v. Hitchman, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 233, 48 L. J. M. C. 97, 40 L. T. N. S. 252, 27 W. R. 487, decided that the purchase by an inspector duly appointed, under section 13, of an article for analysis, such article not being of the nature, substance, and quality of the article demanded by him, but an inferior article, though not known to be so at the time of the purchase, was "a sale to the prejudice of the purchaser" within this section: (Davidson v. McCleod in the Scotch Court of Justiciary dissented from). This question was afterwards settled by statute (see Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, see post).

See also Horner v. Scott, L. R. 5 Q. B. D. 552, 49 L. J. M. C. 78, 42 L. T. N. S. 660, 25 W. R. 918, 44 J. P. 520.

(6) Section 2 of "The Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879," (see post), provides that it shall not be "a good defence to prove that the article of food or drug in question, though defective in nature or in substance or in quality, was not defective in all these respects."

Secs 6—10.

Provision for the sale of compounded articles of food and compounded drugs.

Protection from offences by giving of label.

Prohibition of the abstraction of any part of an article of food before sale, and selling without notice.

Appointment of analysts.

- (3.) Where the food or drug is compounded as in this Act mentioned;
 (4.) Where the food or drug is unavoidably mixed with some extraneous matter in the process of collection or preparation.

7. No person shall sell any compound article of food or compounded drug which is not composed of ingredients in accordance with the demand of the purchaser, under a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

8. Provided that no person shall be guilty of any such offence as aforesaid in respect of the sale of an article of food or a drug mixed with any matter or ingredient not injurious to health, and not intended fraudulently to increase its bulk, weight, or measure ⁽¹⁾, or conceal its inferior quality, if at the time of delivering such article or drug he shall supply to the person receiving the same a notice, by a label distinctly and legibly written or printed on or with the article or drug, to the effect that the same is mixed ⁽²⁾.

9. No person shall, with the intent that the same may be sold in its altered state without notice, abstract from an article of food any part of it so as to affect injuriously its quality, substance, or nature, and no person shall sell any article so altered without making disclosure of the alteration, under a penalty in each case not exceeding twenty pounds.

Appointment and Duties of Analysts, and Proceedings to obtain Analysis.

10. In the city of London and the liberties thereof the Commissioners of Sewers in the city of London and the liberties thereof, and in all other parts of the metropolis the vestries and district boards acting in execution of the Act for the better local management of the metropolis, the court of quarter sessions of every county, and the town council of every borough having a separate court of quarter sessions, or having under any general or local Act of Parliament or otherwise a separate police establishment, may, as soon as convenient after the passing of this Act, where no appointment has hitherto been made, and in all cases as and when vacancies in the office occur, or when required so to do by the Local Government Board, shall, for their respective city, districts, counties, or boroughs, appoint one or more persons possessing competent knowledge, skill, and experience ⁽³⁾, as analysts of all articles of food and drugs sold within the said city, metropolitan districts, counties, or boroughs, and shall pay to such analysts such remuneration as shall be mutually agreed upon, and may remove him or them as they shall deem proper; but such appointments and removals shall at all times be subject to the approval of the Local Government Board, who may require satisfactory proof of competency to be supplied to them, and may give their approval absolutely or with Section 6 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879 (see post), provides that "In determining whether an offence has been committed under s. 6 of the said Act (i.e., of this Act), by selling, to the prejudice of the purchaser, spirits not adulterated otherwise than by the admixture of water, it shall be a good defence to prove that such admixture has not reduced the spirit more than twenty-five degrees under proof for brandy, whiskey, or rum, or thirty-five degrees under proof for gin": see Pashler v. Stevenitt, 35 L. T. N. S. 862, 41 J. P. 136; and Webb v. Knight, 2 L. R. Q. B. D. 530, 46 L. J. M. C. 264, 36 L. T. N. S. 791, 26 W. R. 14, C. A., 41 J. P. 726.

⁽²⁾ In an unreported case before one of the metropolitan police magistrates, in which one of the authors was engaged, a sample of coffee had been purchased which was sought to be protected from the penalties of adulteration because it was labelled "This is a mixture of coffee and chicory." The mixture upon analysis showed that it consisted of ninety-five parts of chicory to five parts of coffee. The magistrate held the label to be misleading inasmuch as it should have said "This is a mixture of chicory and coffee," and convicted. He further added that it appeared to him to be a case of chicory adulterated with coffee: see Liddiard v. Reece, 44 J. P. 233; Pope v. Tearle, 43 L. J. M. C. 129, 30 L. T. N. S. 789, 22 W. R. 950; Horder v. Meddings, supra.

modifications as to the period of the appointment and removal, or otherwise: Secs. 10-14. Provided, that no person shall hereafter be appointed an analyst for any place under this section who shall be engaged directly or indirectly in any trade or business connected with the sale of food or drugs in such place.

In Scotland the like powers shall be conferred and the like duties shall be imposed upon the commissioners of supply at their ordinary meetings for counties, and the commissioners or boards of police, or where there are no such commissioners or boards, upon the town councils, for boroughs within their several jurisdictions; provided that one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State in Scotland shall be substituted for the Local Government Board of England.

In Ireland the like powers and duties shall be conferred and imposed respectively upon the grand jury of every county and town council of every borough; provided that the Local Government Board of Ireland shall be substituted for the Local Government Board of England.

11. The town council of any borough may agree that the analyst appointed by any neighbouring borough or for the county in which the borough is situated, shall act for their borough during such time as the said council shall think proper, and shall make due provision for the payment of his remuneration, and if such analyst shall consent, he shall during such time be the analyst for such borough for the purposes of this Act. Town council of a borough may engage the analyst of another borough or of the county.

12. Any purchaser of an article of food or of a drug in any place being a district, county, city, or borough where there is any analyst appointed under this or any Act hereby repealed shall be entitled, on payment to such analyst of a sum not exceeding ten shillings and sixpence, or if there be no such analyst then acting for such place, to the analyst of another place, of such sum as may be agreed upon between such person and the analyst; to have such article analysed by such analyst, and to receive from him a certificate of the result of his analysis ⁽¹⁾. Power to purchaser of an article of food to have it analysed.

13. Any medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances, or inspector ⁽²⁾ of weights and measures, or any inspector ⁽²⁾ of a market, or any police constable ⁽³⁾ under the direction and at the cost of the local authority appointing such officer, inspector, or constable, or charged with the execution of this Act, may procure any sample of food or drugs, and if he suspects the same to have been sold to him contrary to any provision of this Act, shall submit the same to be analysed by the analyst of the district or place for which he acts, or if there be no such analyst then acting for such place to the analyst of another place, and such analyst shall, upon receiving payment as is provided in the last section, with all convenient speed, analyse the same and give a certificate to such officer, wherein he shall specify the result of the analysis. Officer named to obtain a sample of food or drug to submit to analyst.

14. The person purchasing any article with the intention of submitting the same to analysis shall, after the purchase shall have been completed, forthwith notify ⁽⁴⁾ to the seller or his agent selling the article his intention to have the Provision for dealing with the sample when purchased.

⁽¹⁾ Section 9 of the repealed Act (35 & 36 Vict. c. 74) provided that the certificate should specify whether, in the opinion of the analyst, such article was adulterated, and also whether, if it were an article of food or drink, it was so adulterated as to be injurious to the health of persons eating or drinking the same. (See footnote to the schedule to this Act upon "observations.")

⁽⁴⁾ In Barnes v. Chipp, L. R. 3 Ex. D. 176, 47 L. J. M. C. 85, 38 L. T. N. S. 570, 26 W. R. 635, it was held that the notification required by this section was a condition precedent to a prosecution under this Act, and the conviction was quashed upon the ground that this condition had not been complied with. And Parsons v. Birmingham Dairy Co., 9 Q. B. D. 172, 51 L. J. M. C. 111, 30 W. R. 748, 46 J. P. 727, decided that such notification was equally a condition precedent to the right of a private purchaser to take proceedings for a penalty under this Act, as it is to the right of one of the officers named in the Act.

Secs. 14-19. same analysed by the public analyst, and shall offer to divide the article into three parts to be then and there separated, and each part to be marked and sealed or fastened up in such manner as its nature will permit, and shall, if required to do so, proceed accordingly, and shall deliver one of the parts to the seller or his agent ⁽¹⁾.

He shall afterwards retain one of the said parts for future comparison, and submit the third part, if he deems it right to have the article analysed, to the analyst.

Provision when sample is not divided.

15. If the seller or his agent do not accept the offer of the purchaser to divide the article purchased in his presence, the analyst receiving the article for analysis shall divide the same into two parts, and shall seal or fasten up one of those parts and shall cause it to be delivered, either upon receipt of the sample or when he supplies his certificate to the purchaser, who shall retain the same for production in case proceedings shall afterwards be taken in the matter ⁽²⁾.

Provision for sending article to the analyst through the post office.

16. If the analyst do not reside within two miles of the residence of the person requiring the article to be analysed, such article may be forwarded to the analyst through the post office as a registered letter, subject to any regulations which the Postmaster-General may make in reference to the carrying and delivery of such article ⁽³⁾, and the charge for the postage of such article shall be deemed one of the charges of this Act or of the prosecution, as the case may be.

Person refusing to sell any article to any officer liable to penalty.

17. If any such officer, inspector, or constable, as above described, shall apply to purchase any article of food or any drug exposed to sale ⁽⁴⁾, or on sale by retail on any premises or in any shop or stores, and shall tender the price for the quantity which he shall require for the purpose of analysis, not being more than shall be reasonably requisite, and the person exposing the same for sale shall refuse to sell the same to such officer, inspector, or constable, such person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

Form of the certificate.

18. The certificate of the analysis shall be in the form set forth in the schedule hereto, or to the like effect.

Quarterly report of the analyst.

19. Every analyst appointed under any Act hereby repealed or this Act shall report quarterly to the authority appointing him the number of articles analysed by him under this Act during the foregoing quarter, and shall specify the result of each analysis and the sum paid to him in respect thereof, and such report shall be presented at the next meeting of the authority appointing such analyst, and every such authority shall annually transmit to the Local Government Board, at such time and in such form as the Board shall direct, a certified copy of such quarterly report ⁽⁵⁾.

(1) H., a farmer in the country, had contracted to supply milk to a dealer in London, and sent cans to a London railway terminus free of charge. The appellant was an inspector, and had demanded a sample from a railway porter, who had allowed him to take it. It contained 16 per cent. of water. Held that the offer to divide the sample as required by this section was not a condition precedent to the proceedings being taken against the consignor, as it was not applicable to section 3 of 42 & 43 Vict. c. 30, and that H. should have been convicted. Rouch v. Hall, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 17, 50 L. J. M. C. 6, 29 W. R. 304, 44 L. T. N. S. 183, 45 J. P. 220, and 44 J. P. 748.

(2) This and the preceding section are entirely new provisions.

(3) See the circular of 30th September, 1875, amongst the circulars, &c., of Local Government Board, post, as to this section; and see the regulations of the Postmaster-General, printed at the end of the circular.

(4) Section 3 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, empowers the officer or inspector or constable to obtain a sample of milk at the place of delivery to submit to the analyst, and section 5 enacts that "any street or open place of public resort shall be held to come within the meaning of section 17 of the principal Act."

(5) The latter part of the section providing for the transmission of the analyst's quarterly report to the Local Government Board is new.

*Proceedings against Offenders.Secs. 20-22.

20. When the analyst having analysed any article shall have given his certificate of the result, from which it may appear that an offence against some one of the provisions of this Act has been committed, the person causing the analysis to be made may take proceedings for the recovery of the penalty herein imposed for such offence, before any justices in petty sessions assembled having jurisdiction in the place where the article or drug sold was actually delivered to the purchaser, in a summary manner ⁽¹⁾.

Proceedings against offenders.

Every penalty imposed by this Act shall be recovered in England in the manner prescribed by the eleventh and twelfth of Victoria, chapter forty-three. In Ireland such penalties and proceedings shall be recoverable, and may be taken with respect to the police district of Dublin metropolis, subject and according to the provisions of any Act regulating the powers and duties of justices of the peace for such district, or of the police of such district; and with respect to other parts of Ireland, before a justice or justices of the peace sitting in petty sessions, subject and according to the provisions of "The Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851," and any Act amending the same ⁽²⁾.

Every penalty herein imposed may be reduced or mitigated according to the judgment of the justices.

21. At the hearing of the information in such proceeding the production of the certificate of the analyst shall be sufficient evidence of the facts therein stated, unless the defendant shall require that the analyst shall be called as a witness, and the parts of the articles retained by the person who purchased the article shall be produced, and the defendant may, if he think fit, tender himself and his wife, to be examined on his behalf, and he or she shall, if he so desire, be examined accordingly ⁽³⁾.

R. sold milk to H., which was stated to be purchased for analysis, and the milk was duly divided into parts as required by the statute; and on analysis the certificate of the analyst, after stating the constituents, said the milk was adulterated with 20 per cent. of water. R., being charged with selling adulterated milk, the analyst's certificate was given in evidence, and H. gave no evidence to contradict it, but the magistrate, thinking that the state of the milk might be explained by its standing several hours in a large can, and the best milk at the top ladled out before the purchaser, dismissed the summons. Held, the magistrate was wrong, and as there was no evidence to contradict the certificate of the analyst, he ought to have acted on it, and convicted R.: Harrison v. Richards, 45 J. P. 552.

23. Any person who has been convicted of any offence punishable by any Act hereby repealed or by this Act by any justices may appeal in England to the next general or quarter sessions of the peace [which shall be held for the city, county, town, or place wherein such conviction shall have been made, provided that such person enter into a recognizance within three days next after such conviction, with two sufficient sureties, conditioned to try such appeal, and to be forthcoming to abide the judgment and determination of the court at such general or quarter sessions, and to pay such costs as shall be by such court awarded; and the justices before whom such conviction shall be had are hereby empowered and required to take such recognizance; and the court at such general or quarter sessions are hereby required to hear and determine the matter of such appeal, and may award such costs to the party appealing or appealed against as they or he shall think proper ⁽¹⁾.]

In Ireland any person who has been convicted of any offence punishable by this Act may appeal to the next court of quarter sessions to be held in the same division of the county where the conviction shall be made by any justice or justices in any petty sessions district, or to the recorder at his next sessions where the conviction shall be made by the divisional justices in the police district of Dublin metropolis, or to the recorder of any corporate or borough town when the conviction shall be made by any justice or justices in such corporate or borough town (unless when any such sessions shall commence within ten days from the date of any such conviction, in which case, if the appellant sees fit, the appeal may be made to the next succeeding sessions to be held for such division or town), and it shall be lawful for such court of quarter sessions or recorder (as the case may be) to decide such appeal, if made in such form and manner and with such notices as are required by the said Petty Sessions Acts respectively hereinbefore mentioned as to appeals against orders made by justices at petty sessions, and all the provisions of the said Petty Sessions Acts respectively as to making appeals and as to executing the orders made on appeal, or the original orders where the appeals shall not be duly prosecuted, shall also apply to any appeal made under this Act.

24. In any prosecution under this Act, where the fact of an article having been sold in a mixed state has been proved, if the defendant shall desire to rely upon any exception or provision contained in this Act, it shall be incumbent upon him to prove the same.

25. If the defendant in any prosecution under this Act prove to the satisfaction of the justices or court that he had purchased the article in question as the same in nature, substance, and quality as that demanded of him by the prosecutor, and with a written warranty to that effect ⁽²⁾, that he had no reason to believe at the time when he sold it that the article was otherwise, and that he sold it in the same state as when he purchased it, he shall be discharged from the prosecution, but shall be liable to pay the costs incurred by the prosecutor, unless he shall have given due notice to him that he will rely on the above defence.

26. Every penalty imposed and recovered under this Act shall be paid in the case of a prosecution by any officer, inspector, or constable of the authority who penalties.⁽³⁾

⁽²⁾ In Rook v. Hopley, L. R. 3 Ex. D. 209, 38 L. T. N. S. 649, 26 W. R. 663, on a prosecution under this Act for selling as lard a substance which was lard adulterated with upwards of 15 per cent. of water, the defendant proved that he sold the substance in the same condition as it was in when he bought it, and that when he purchased it he received an invoice in which it was described as lard, but it was held that the invoice was not a written warranty within this section, so as to discharge the defendant. See also Harris v. May, L. R. 12 Q. B. D. 97.

shall have appointed an analyst or agreed to the acting of an analyst within their district, to such officer, inspector, or constable, and shall be by him paid to the authority for whom he acts, and be applied towards the expenses of executing this Act, any Statute to the contrary notwithstanding; but in the case of any other prosecution the same shall be paid and applied in England according to the law regulating the application of penalties for offences punishable in a summary manner, and in Ireland in the manner directed by the Fines Act, Ireland, 1851, and the Acts amending the same.

27. Any person who shall forge, or shall utter, knowing it to be forged for the purposes of this Act, any certificate or any writing purporting to contain a warranty, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punishable on conviction by imprisonment for a term of not exceeding two years with hard labour; Punishment for forging certificate or warranty;

Every person who shall wilfully apply to an article of food, or a drug, in any proceedings under this Act, a certificate or warranty given in relation to any other article or drug, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act, and be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds; for wilful misapplication of warranty;

Every person who shall give a false warranty in writing to any purchaser in respect of an article of food or a drug sold by him as principal or agent, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act, and be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds; for false warranty;

And every person who shall wilfully give a label with any article sold by him which shall falsely describe the article sold, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act, and be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds. for false label.

28. Nothing in this Act contained shall affect the power of proceeding by indictment, or take away any other remedy against any offender under this Act, or in any way interfere with contracts and bargains between individuals, and the rights and remedies belonging thereto. Proceedings by indictment and contracts not to be affected.

Provided that in any action brought by any person for a breach of contract on the sale of any article of food or of any drug, such person may recover alone or in addition to any other damages recoverable by him the amount of any penalty in which he may have been convicted under this Act, together with the costs paid by him upon such conviction and those incurred by him in and about his defence thereto, if he prove that the article or drug the subject of such conviction was sold to him as and for an article or drug of the same nature, substance, and quality as that which was demanded of him, and that he purchased it not knowing it to be otherwise, and afterwards sold it in the same state in which he purchased it; the defendant in such action being nevertheless at liberty to prove that the conviction was wrongful, or that the amount of costs awarded or claimed was unreasonable (1).

Expenses of executing the Act.

29. The expenses of executing this Act shall be borne, in the city of London and the liberties thereof, by the consolidated rates raised by the Commissioners of Sewers of the city of London and the liberties thereof, and in the rest of the metropolis by any rates or funds applicable to the purposes of the Act for the better local management of the metropolis (2), and otherwise as regards England, in counties by the county rate, and in boroughs by the borough fund or rate (3); Expenses of executing Act.

and as regards Ireland, in counties by the grand jury cess, and in boroughs by the borough fund or rate; all such expenses payable in any county out of grand jury cess shall be paid by the treasurer of such county; and

The grand jury of any such county shall, at any assizes at which it is proved that any such expenses have been incurred or paid without previous application to presentment sessions, present to be raised off and paid by such county the moneys required to defray the same.

(1) This proviso was not introduced into the corresponding section of the repealed Act of 1872 (section 12).

From and after the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six all tea imported as merchandise into and landed at any port in Great Britain or Ireland shall be subject to examination by persons to be appointed by the Commissioners of Customs, subject to the approval of the Treasury, for the inspection and analysis thereof, for which purpose samples may, when deemed necessary by such inspectors, be taken and with all convenient speed be examined by the analysts to be so appointed; and if upon such analysis the same shall be found to be mixed with other substances or exhausted tea ⁽¹⁾, the same shall not be delivered unless with the sanction of the said commissioners, and on such terms and conditions as they shall see fit to direct, either for home consumption or for use as ships stores or for exportation; but if on such inspection and analysis it shall appear that such tea is in the opinion of the analyst unfit for human food, the same shall be forfeited and destroyed or otherwise disposed of in such manner as the said commissioner may direct ⁽²⁾.

Interpretation of Act.

31. Tea to which the term "exhausted" is applied in this Act shall mean and include any tea which has been deprived of its proper quality, strength, or virtue by steeping, infusion, decoction, or other means.

Provision for the liberty of a cinque port.

32. For the purposes of this Act every liberty of a cinque port not comprised within the jurisdiction of a borough shall be part of the county in which it is situated, and subject to the jurisdiction of the justices of such county ⁽³⁾.

34. [Interpretation of terms in application of Act to Ireland.]

Commencement of the Act.
Title of the Act.

35. This Act shall commence on the first day of October one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five.

36. This Act may be cited as "The Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875."

(1) For interpretation of "exhausted tea," see section 31.

(2) These special provisions for the protection of tea did not exist in the repealed Act of 1872.

(3) Section 7 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, provides that "Every liberty having a separate court of quarter sessions, except a liberty of a cinque port, shall be deemed to be a county within the meaning of the said Act."

Extension of Act as to sale
in streets, &c.

Whereas conflicting decisions have been given in England and in Scotland ⁽¹⁾ in regard to the meaning and effect of section six of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, in this Act referred to as the principal Act, and it is expedient, in this respect and otherwise, to amend the said Act: Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Sale of Food and Drugs Amendment Act, 1879.

2. In any prosecution under the provisions of the principal Act for selling to the prejudice of the purchaser any article of food or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, and quality ⁽²⁾ of the article demanded by such purchaser, it shall be no defence to any such prosecution to allege that the purchaser, having bought only for analysis, was not prejudiced by such sale. Neither shall it be a good defence to prove that the article of food or drug in question, though defective in nature or in substance or in quality, was not defective in all three respects.

3. Any medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances, or inspector of weights and measures, or any inspector of a market, or any police constable under the direction and at the cost of the local authority appointing such officer, inspector, or constable, or charged with the execution of this Act, may procure at the place of delivery any sample of any milk in course of delivery ⁽³⁾ to the purchaser or consignee in pursuance of any contract for the sale to such purchaser or consignee of such milk; and such officer, inspector, or constable, if he suspect the same to have been sold contrary to any of the provisions of the principal Act, shall submit the same to be analysed, and the same shall be analysed, and proceedings shall be taken, and penalties on conviction be enforced in like manner in all respects as if such officer, inspector, or constable had purchased the same from the seller or consignor under section thirteen of the principal Act.

4. The seller or consignor or any person or persons entrusted by him for the time being with the charge of such milk, if he shall refuse to allow such officer, inspector, or constable to take the quantity which such officer, inspector, or constable shall require for the purpose of analysis, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

5. Any street or open place of public resort shall be held to come within the meaning of section seventeen of the principal Act.

6. In determining whether an offence has been committed under section six of the said Act by selling, to the prejudice of the purchaser, spirits not adulterated otherwise than by the admixture of water, it shall be a good defence to prove that such admixture has not reduced the spirit more than twenty-five degrees under proof for brandy, whisky, or rum, or thirty-five degrees under proof for gin ⁽¹⁾.

7. Every liberty having a separate court of quarter sessions, except a liberty of a cinque port, shall be deemed to be a county within the meaning of the said Act ⁽²⁾.

8. The town council of any borough having a separate court of quarter sessions shall be exempt from contributing towards the expenses incurred in the execution of the principal Act in respect of the county within which such borough is situate, and the treasurer of the county shall exclude the expenses so incurred from the account required by section one hundred and seventeen of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, to be sent by him to such town council.

9. The town council of any borough having under any general or local Act of Parliament, or otherwise, a separate police establishment, and being liable to be assessed to the county rate of the county within which the borough is situate, shall be paid by the justices of such county the proportionate amount contributed towards the expenses incurred by the county in the execution of the principal Act by the several parishes and parts of parishes within such borough in respect of the rateable value of the property assessable therein, as ascertained by the valuation lists for the time being in force.

10. In all prosecutions under the principal Act, and notwithstanding the provisions of section twenty of the said Act, the summons to appear before the magistrates shall be served upon the person charged with violating the provisions of the said Act within a reasonable time, and in the case of a perishable article not exceeding twenty-eight days from the time of the purchase from such person for test purposes of the food or drug, for the sale of which in contravention to the terms of the principal Act the seller is rendered liable to prosecution, and particulars of the offence or offences against the said Act of which the seller is accused, and also the name of the prosecutor, shall be stated on the summons, and the summons shall not be made returnable in a less time than seven days from the day it is served upon the person summoned.

Secs. 6—10.
Reduction allowed to the extent of 25 degrees under proof for brandy, whisky, or rum, and 35 degrees for gin.

ALKALI, ETC., WORKS REGULATION ACT, 1881.

44 & 45 VICT. c. 37.

An Act to consolidate the Alkali Acts, 1863 and 1874, and to make further provision for regulating Alkali and certain other works in which noxious or offensive gases are evolved.
[11th August, 1881.]

PRELIMINARY.

Secs. 1—5.

Short title.
Commence-
ment of Act.

1. This Act may be cited as the Alkali, &c., Works Regulation Act, 1881.
2. This Act shall (save as otherwise provided in this Act) come into operation on the first day of January, 1882, which date is hereinafter referred to as the commencement of this Act.

PART I.

Alkali Works and Alkali Waste.

Condensation of muriatic and other acid gases in alkali
works.

3. Every alkali work shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation, to the satisfaction of the chief inspector, derived from his own examination, or from that of some other inspector—

- (a.) Of the muriatic acid gas evolved in such work, to the extent of ninety-five per centum, and to such an extent that in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or chimney gases, escaping from the works into the atmosphere, there is not contained more than one-fifth part of a grain of muriatic acid.
- (b.) Of the acid gases of sulphur and nitrogen which are evolved in the process of manufacturing sulphuric acid or sulphates in the work, to such an extent that the total acidity of such gases in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases, escaping into the chimney or into the atmosphere, does not exceed what is equivalent to four grains of sulphuric anhydride.

The owner of any alkali work which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in the case of the first offence, fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence, one hundred pounds.

Best practicable means to be used for preventing discharge of noxious and offensive gases in alkali
works.

4. In addition to the condensation of acid gases as aforesaid, the owner of every alkali work shall use the best practicable means for preventing the discharge into the atmosphere of all noxious gases and of all offensive gases evolved in such work, or for rendering such gases harmless and inoffensive when discharged, subject to the qualification that no objection shall be taken under this section by an inspector to any discharge of gas by a chimney or flue, on the basis of the amount of acid gas per cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases, where that amount does not exceed the amount limited by the last preceding section.

If the owner of any alkali work fails, in the opinion of the court having cognisance of the matter, to use such means, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in the case of the first offence, twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence, fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued.

Acid drainage and alkali waste to be kept apart.

5. Every work in which acid is produced or used shall be carried on in such manner that the acid shall not come in contact with alkali waste, or with drainage therefrom, so as to cause a nuisance.

The owner of any work which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in the case of the first offence, fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence, one hundred pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued. Secs. 5—9.

On the request of the owner of any such work as is mentioned in this section the sanitary authority of the district in which such work is situate shall, at the expense of such owner, provide and maintain a drain or channel for carrying off the acid produced in such work into the sea or into any river or watercourse into which such acid can be carried without contravention of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876; and the sanitary authority shall for the purpose of providing any such drain or channel have the like powers as they have for providing sewers, whether within or without their district, under the Public Health Act. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75.

Compensation shall be made to any person for any damage sustained by him by reason of the exercise by a sanitary authority of the powers conferred by this section, and such compensation shall be deemed part of the expenses to be paid by the owner making the request to the sanitary authority under this section.

6. Alkali waste shall not be deposited or discharged without the best practicable means being used for effectually preventing any nuisance arising therefrom. Deposit or discharge of alkali waste.

Any person who causes or knowingly permits any alkali waste to be deposited or discharged in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in the case of the first offence, twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence, fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued.

7. Where alkali waste has been deposited or discharged, either before or after the commencement of this Act, and complaint is made to the chief inspector that a nuisance is occasioned thereby, the chief inspector, if satisfied of the existence of the nuisance, and that it is within the power of the owner or occupier of the land to abate it, shall serve a notice on such owner or occupier requiring him to abate the nuisance; and if such owner or occupier fails to use the best practicable and reasonably available means for the abatement thereof he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and if he does not proceed to use such means within such time as shall be limited by the court inflicting such fine then he shall be liable to a further penalty of five pounds per day from the expiration of the time so limited. Prevention of nuisance from alkali waste already deposited or discharged.

PART II.

Sulphuric Acid Works and other specified Works.

8. Every sulphuric acid work as defined in the schedule to this Act shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation, to the satisfaction of the chief inspector, derived from his own examination or from that of some other inspector, of the acid gases of sulphur and nitrogen which are evolved in the process of the manufacture of sulphuric acid in such work, to such an extent that the total acidity of such gases in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases, escaping into the chimney or into the atmosphere does not exceed what is equivalent to four grains of sulphuric anhydride. Condensation of acid gases in sulphuric acid works.

The owner of any sulphuric acid work which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in the case of the first offence, fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence, one hundred pounds.

9. The owner of any work specified in the schedule to this Act (hereinafter referred to as a scheduled work) shall use the best practicable means for preventing the discharge into the atmosphere of all noxious gases and of all offensive gases evolved in such work, or for rendering such gases harmless and inoffensive when discharged, subject to the qualification, in the case of sulphuric acid works, that no objection shall be taken under this section by an inspector to any discharge of gas by a chimney or flue, on the basis of the amount of acid gas per cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases, where that amount does not exceed the amount limited by the last preceding section. Best practicable means to be used for preventing discharge of noxious and offensive gases in scheduled works.

Secs. 9—11. If the owner of any such work fails, in the opinion of the court having cognizance of the matter, to use such means, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in the case of the first offence, twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence, fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued.

Provisional Order to prevent discharge of certain gases
in salt works.

10. An inspector may from time to time inquire whether, in any works in which the extraction of salt from brine is carried on, hereinafter called salt works, means can be adopted at a reasonable expense for preventing the discharge from the furnaces or chimneys of such works into the atmosphere of sulphurous and muriatic acid gases evolved in such works, or either of such gases, or for rendering such gases, or either of them, harmless or inoffensive when discharged; also whether in any works in which aluminous deposits are treated for the purpose of making cement, hereinafter called cement works, such means as aforesaid can be adopted with respect to the noxious or offensive gases evolved from such works.

Where it appears to the Local Government Board that such means can be adopted at a reasonable expense the Board may from time to time by order require the owners of such works to adopt the best practicable means for the purpose, and may by the order limit the amount or proportion, in the case of salt works, of sulphurous or muriatic acid gas, and in the case of cement works of any noxious or offensive gas, which is to be permitted to escape from such works into the chimney or into the atmosphere, and may also by the order extend to such works such provisions of this Act relating to scheduled works as they see fit.

An order made under this section shall be provisional only and shall not be of any validity until confirmed by Parliament, but when so confirmed shall have full effect, with such modifications as may be made therein by Parliament; and the expression "this Act," when used in this Act, shall be deemed to include an order so confirmed, so far as is consistent with the tenor of that order.

The Board shall take such steps as they may think fit for giving notice to persons interested of the provisions of any order made by them under this section before any Bill for confirming the same is introduced into Parliament.

An order made under this section may impose fines for a breach of its provisions of like amount as any fines imposed by this Act for offences against this Act.

PART III.

(i.) Registration of Works.

Registration of works, and stamp duty.

11.—(1.) An alkali work or a work to which Part II. of this Act applies shall not, after the first day of April, 1882, be carried on unless it is certified to be registered.

(2.) The work shall be registered in a register containing the prescribed particulars, and the register shall be conducted and the certificates issued in the prescribed manner.

(3.) The owner of an alkali work or of a work required to be registered shall, in the month of January or February in every year, apply for a certificate of registration in the prescribed manner, and on such application and compliance with the conditions as to registration the certificate shall be issued, and shall be in force for one year from the first day of April following the said application.

(4.) The owner of an alkali work or of a work required to be registered erected after the commencement of this Act shall, before commencing any manufacture or process in such work, apply for such certificate in the prescribed manner, and on such application and compliance with the conditions as to registration the certificate shall be issued as soon as may be, and shall be in force until the next first day of April.

There shall be charged in respect of every such certificate, in the case of an alkali work, the duty of five pounds; and in the case of a work required to be registered, not being an alkali work, the duty of three pounds.

(5.) Written notice of any change which occurs in the ownership of a work or in the other particulars stated in the register shall within one month after such change be sent by the owner to an inspector, and the register and the certificate shall be altered accordingly in the prescribed manner without charge and without the issue of a new certificate. If such notice is not sent as so required, the work shall not be deemed to be certified to be registered. Secs. 11-15.

(6.) The owner of a work which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which it is so carried on.

12. An alkali work or a scheduled work, erected after the commencement of this Act, or which has been closed for a period of twelve months, shall not be registered under this Act unless the work is furnished with such appliances as at the time of registration appear to the chief inspector after his own examination, or that of an inspector, or in case of difference to the central authority, to be necessary in order to enable the work to be carried on in accordance with such requirements of this Act as for the time being apply to such work. Certificate of inspector prior to registration of new works.

13. The duties charged in respect of a certificate of registration under this Act shall be stamp duties under the management of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and all the Acts relating to stamp duties, particularly those relating to forgery, fraudulent dies, and other offences in connexion with stamp duties, shall apply accordingly; and for the purpose of the said duties the Commissioners of Inland Revenue shall issue stamped forms of certificate, and the Commissioners may issue the same at any time after the passing of this Act. Supplemental provisions as to duties.

14. The Local Government Board shall at any time after the passing of this Act, and from time to time, with the approval of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury as to numbers and salaries or remuneration, appoint such inspectors (under whatever title they from time to time fix) as the Board think necessary for the execution of this Act, and may assign them their duties and award them their salaries or remuneration, and shall constitute a chief inspector, and may regulate the cases and manner in which the inspectors, or any of them, are to execute and perform the powers and duties of inspectors under this Act, and may remove such inspectors. Appointment of inspectors.

Notice of the appointment of every such inspector shall be published in the London Gazette, and a copy of the Gazette shall be evidence of the appointment.

The salaries or remuneration of the inspectors, and such expenses of the execution of this Act as the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury may sanction, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

The inspector appointed before the commencement of this Act under the Alkali Acts, 1863 and 1874, shall be deemed to be the first chief inspector under this Act, and the sub-inspectors appointed under those Acts before the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to be inspectors appointed under this Act. A person holding the office of chief inspector (other than the person at the commencement of this Act discharging the duties thereof) or inspector shall not be employed in any other work except by or with the sanction of the authority appointing him to such office. 26 & 27 Vict. c. 124.
37 & 38 Vict. c. 43.

15. A person who acts or practices as a land agent, or who is engaged or interested directly or indirectly in any work to which this Act applies, or in any patent for any process or apparatus carried on or used in any such work, or in any process or apparatus connected with the condensation of acid gases, or with the treatment of alkali waste, or with preventing the discharge into the atmosphere or rendering harmless or inoffensive any noxious or offensive gas, or otherwise with any of the matters dealt with by this Act, or who is employed in or about or in connexion with any work to which this Act applies, or in any other chemical work for gain, shall be disqualified to act as an inspector under this Act. Disqualification of certain persons for inspectors.

Secs. 16-20.

inspectors.

16. For the purpose of the execution of this Act, an inspector may at all reasonable times by day and night, without giving previous notice, but so as not to interrupt the process of the manufacture, enter and inspect any work to which this Act applies, and examine any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas, and any apparatus for condensing any such gas, or otherwise preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or for rendering any such gas harmless or inoffensive when discharged, and may ascertain the quantity of gas discharged into the atmosphere, condensed, or otherwise dealt with; and may enter and inspect any place where alkali waste is treated or deposited, or where any liquid containing acid is likely to come into contact with alkali waste; and generally may inquire into all matters and processes which tend to show compliance or non-compliance with such of the provisions of this Act as are for the time being applicable to the work or place entered, or which seem necessary or proper for the execution of his duties under this Act.

An inspector may, but so as not to interrupt the process of the manufacture, apply any tests and make any experiments he may think proper for the purpose of the execution of his duties under this Act.

Facilities for inspection.

17. The owner of any work to which this Act applies shall, on the demand of the chief inspector, furnish him within a reasonable time with a plan, to be kept secret, of those parts of such work in which any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas, or any process for the condensation of such gas or preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or for rendering any such gas harmless or inoffensive when discharged, is carried on.

The owner of every such work and his agents shall render to every inspector all necessary facilities for an entry inspection examination and testing in pursuance of this Act.

Every owner of a work in which such facilities are not afforded to an inspector as are required by this Act, or in which an inspector is obstructed in the execution of his duty under this Act, and every person wilfully obstructing an inspector in the execution of his duty under this Act, shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Annual report to Local Government
Board.

18. The chief inspector shall, on or before the first day of March in every year, make a report in writing to the Local Government Board of the proceedings of himself and of the other inspectors under this Act, who shall furnish him with a detailed account of the number of inspections of works in their districts, and the recorded escapes of acid gases from such works during the preceding year, and a copy of such report shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

Additional inspector on application of sanitary
authorities.

19. If any sanitary authority or authorities apply to the central authority for an additional inspector under this Act, and undertake to pay a proportion of his salary or remuneration, not being less than one half, out of any rate or rates leviable by such authority or authorities (which undertaking such authority or authorities are hereby authorised to give and to carry into effect), the Local Government Board may (if they see fit) from time to time, with the sanction of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, appoint an additional inspector under this Act, to reside within a convenient distance of the works he is required to inspect; and such inspector shall have the same powers and be subject to the same power of removal and the same regulations and liabilities as other inspectors under this Act.

The proportion of salary or remuneration aforesaid shall be paid at the prescribed time or times into Her Majesty's Exchequer, and in the case of failure on the part of any sanitary authority to pay any sum payable by them in pursuance of this section, the same may be recovered by action in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(iii.) Special Rules.

Power of owners of works to make special rules.

20. The owner of an alkali work or of a scheduled work may, with the sanction of the central authority, make, and when made, alter add to and repeal special rules for the guidance of his workmen who are employed in any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas, or whose duty it is to attend to the apparatus used in the condensation of that gas, or for preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or for rendering any such gas harmless and inoffensive when discharged, and may annex fines to any violation of such rules, so that the fine for any offence do not exceed two pounds. Secs. 20-23.

A printed copy of the special rules in force under this section in any work shall be given by the owner of that work to every person working or employed in or about that work who is affected thereby.

Any fine incurred under this Act in respect of an offence against a special rule may be recovered summarily.

(iv.) Procedure.

21. In calculating the proportion of acid to a cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases, for the purposes of this Act, such air, smoke, or gases, shall be calculated at the temperature of sixty degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, and at a barometric pressure of thirty inches. Provision as to calculation of acid.

22. The following regulations are hereby enacted with respect to the recovery of fines for offences other than offences against a special rule: Recovery of fines for offences against Act in county court.

Every such fine shall be recovered by action in the county court having jurisdiction in the district in which the offence is alleged to have been committed:

The action shall be brought, with the sanction of the central authority, by the chief inspector, or by such other inspector as the Local Government Board may in any particular case direct, within three months after the commission of the offence, and for the purposes of such action the fine shall be deemed to be a debt due to such inspector:

The plaintiff in any action for a fine under this Act shall be presumed to be an inspector authorised under this Act to bring the action, until the contrary is proved by the defendant:

The court may, on the application of either party, appoint a person to take down in writing the evidence of the witnesses, and may award to that person such remuneration as the court thinks just; and the amount so awarded shall be deemed to be costs in the action:

If either party in any action under this Act feels aggrieved by the decision of the court in point of law, or on the merits or in respect of the admission or rejection of any evidence, he may appeal from that decision to the High Court of Justice:

The appeal shall be in the form of a special case to be agreed on by both parties or their solicitors, and if they cannot agree, to be settled by the judge of the county court on the application of the parties or their solicitors:

The court of appeal may draw any inference from the facts stated in the case that a jury might draw from facts stated by witnesses:

Subject to the provisions of this section, all the enactments, rules, and orders relating to proceedings in actions in county courts, and to enforcing judgments in county courts, and appeals from decisions of the county court judges, and to the conditions of such appeals, and to the power of the High Court of Justice, or any division or judge thereof, on such appeals, shall apply to an action for a fine under this Act, and to an appeal from such action, in the same manner as if such action and appeal related to a matter within the ordinary jurisdiction of the court: ⁽¹⁾

23. In any proceeding under this Act in relation to a fine for an offence other than an offence against a special rule— Further provisions as to recovery of fines in county court.

(a.) It shall be sufficient to allege that any work is a work to which this Act applies, without more; and

(b.) It shall be sufficient to state the name of the registered or ostensible owner of the work, or the title of the firm by which the employer of persons in such work is usually known.

A person shall not be subject to a fine under this Act for more than one offence in respect of the same work or place in respect of any one day.

Not less than twenty-one days before the hearing of any proceeding against an

Secs. 23-27. owner to recover a fine under this Act for failing to secure the condensation of any gas to the satisfaction of the chief inspector, or for failing to use the best practicable means as required by this Act, an inspector shall serve on the owner proceeded against a notice in writing stating, as the case requires, either the facts on which such chief inspector founds his opinion, or the means which such owner has failed to use, and the means which, in the chief inspector's opinion, would suffice, and shall produce a copy of such notice before the court having cognisance of the matter.

A person shall not be liable under this Act to an increased fine in respect of a second offence, or in respect of a third or any subsequent offence, unless a fine has been recovered within the preceding twelve months against such person for the first offence, or for the second or other offence, as the case may be.

Application of fines.

24. All fines recovered under this Act, except in respect of offences against a special rule, shall be paid into the receipt of Her Majesty's Exchequer.

Discharge of

of actual offender.

25. The owner of a work in which an offence under this Act other than an offence against a special rule has been proved to have been committed shall in every case be deemed to have committed the offence, and shall be liable to pay the fine, unless he prove to the satisfaction of the court before which any proceeding is instituted to recover such fine, that he has used due diligence to comply with and to enforce the execution of this Act, and that the offence in question was committed by some agent servant or workman, whom he shall charge by name as the actual offender, without his knowledge consent or connivance; in which case such agent servant or workman shall be liable to pay the fine, and proceedings may be taken against him for the recovery thereof and of the costs of all proceedings which may be taken either against himself or against the owner under this Act:

Provided that it shall be lawful for the inspector to proceed in the first instance against the person whom he believes to be the actual offender, without first proceeding against the owner, in any case in which it is made to appear to the satisfaction of such inspector that the owner has used all due diligence to comply with and to enforce the execution of this Act, and that the offence has been committed by the person whom he may charge therewith without the knowledge consent or connivance of the owner, and in contravention of his orders.

notices.

26. Any notice summons or other document under this Act, may be in writing or print, or partly in writing and partly in print.

Any notice summons or document required or authorised for the purposes of this Act to be delivered to or served on or sent to the owner of any work, may be served by delivering the same to the owner, or at his residence or works; it may also be served or sent by post by a prepaid letter, and if served or sent by post shall be deemed to have been served and received respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post; and in proving such service or sending it shall be sufficient to prove that it was properly addressed and put into the post; and the same shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed to the registered address of an owner, or, when required to be served on or sent to the owner of any works, if addressed to the owner of the works at the works, with the addition of the proper postal address, but without naming the person who is the owner.

Complaint
by sanitary authority in cases of nuisance.

27. Where it appears to any sanitary authority, on the written representation of any of their officers, or of any ten inhabitants of their district, that any work (either within or without the district) to which this Act applies is carried on in contravention of this Act, or that any alkali waste is deposited (either within or without the district) in contravention of this Act, and that a nuisance is occasioned by such contravention to any of the inhabitants of their district, such authority may complain to the central authority, who shall make such inquiry into the matters complained of, and after the inquiry may direct such proceedings to be taken by an inspector as they think just.

The sanitary authority complaining shall, if so required by the central authority, pay the expense of any such inquiry, and may pay the same out of the fund or rate applicable to the general expenses of such authority.

The expression "sanitary authority" in this section includes as regards the metropolis, except the City of London, any vestry or district board elected under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, also any local board of health, not being an urban sanitary authority within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875, and as regards the City of London shall mean the Commissioners of Sewers of the said city. Secs. 27-31.

18 & 19 Vict.
c. 120.
33 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

28. Where a nuisance arising from any noxious or offensive gas or gases is wholly or partially caused by the acts or defaults of several persons, any person injured by such nuisance may proceed against any one or more of such persons, and may recover damages from each person made a defendant in proportion to the extent of the contribution of such defendant to the nuisance, notwithstanding that the act or default of such defendant would not separately have caused a nuisance. This section shall not apply to any defendant who can produce a certificate from the chief inspector that in the works of such defendant the requirements of this Act have been complied with and were complied with when the nuisance arose. Actions in case of contributory nuisance.

(v.) Definitions; Repeal; Saving.

29. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

“Alkali work” means every work for the manufacture of alkali, sulphate of soda, or sulphate of potash, in which muriatic acid gas is evolved, and for the purpose of this definition the formation of any sulphate in the treatment of copper ores by common salt or other chlorides shall be deemed to be a manufacture of sulphate of soda. Interpretation of terms.

“Noxious or offensive gas” does not include sulphurous acid arising from the combustion of coal.

“Owner” means the lessee, occupier, or any other person carrying on any work to which this Act applies.

“Prescribed” means prescribed from time to time by the Local Government Board, and “the Local Government Board” means the Local Government Board established by the Local Government Board Act, 1871. 34 & 35 Vict.

“Central authority” means as regards England the said Local Government Board. c. 70.

“Sanitary authority” means any local authority entrusted with the execution of the Public Health Act.

“The Public Health Act” means, as regards England, the Public Health Act, 1875. 38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

“Person” includes a corporation.

30. [Repeal of the Alkali Act, 1863 (26 & 27 Vict. c. 124); the Act to make perpetual the Alkali Act, 1863 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 36); and the Alkali Act, 1874 (37 & 38 Vict. c. 43)].

31. Nothing in this Act shall legalise any act or default that would, but for this Act, be deemed to be a nuisance, or otherwise be contrary to law, or deprive any person of any remedy by action, indictment, or otherwise, to which he would have been entitled if this Act had not passed. Saving as to general law.

SCHEDULE.

List of Works.

- (1.) Sulphuric acid works, that is to say, any works in which the manufacture of sulphuric acid is carried on (not being alkali works within the meaning of the foregoing Act, and not being works in which the manufacture of sulphuric acid is carried on in conjunction with the extraction of copper or other metals from ore);
- (2.) Chemical manure works, that is to say, any works in which the manufacture of chemical manure is carried on;
- (3.) Gas liquor works, that is to say, any works in which gas liquor is used in any manufacturing process;
- (4.) Nitric acid works, that is to say, any works in which the manufacture of nitric acid is carried on;
- (5.) Sulphate of ammonia works and muriate of ammonia works, that is to say, any works in which the manufacture of sulphate of ammonia or of muriate of ammonia is carried on; and
- (6.) Chlorine works or works in which chlorine, bleaching powder, or bleaching liquor is made.

Secs. 4—8.

travention of any bye-law for the time being in force under this Act in any harbour, the owner and master of such ship, or the owner of such cargo, as the case may be, shall each incur a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds ⁽¹⁾ for each day during which such contravention continues; and it shall be lawful for the harbour master, or any other person acting under the orders of the harbour authority of such harbour, to cause such ship or cargo to be removed, at the expense of the owner thereof, to such place as may be in conformity with the said bye-law, and all expenses incurred in such removal may be recovered in the same manner in which penalties are by this Act made recoverable.

Notice by owner or master of ship carrying petroleum.

5. The owner or master of every ship carrying a cargo, any part of which consists of petroleum to which this Act applies, on entering any harbour within the United Kingdom, shall give notice of the nature of such cargo to the harbour authority having jurisdiction over such harbour.

If such notice is not given, the owner and master of such ship shall each incur a penalty not exceeding the sum of five hundred pounds, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court before which the case is tried that neither the owner nor the master knew the nature of the goods to which the proceedings relate, nor could with reasonable diligence have obtained such knowledge.

Label on vessels containing
petroleum.

6. Where any petroleum to which this Act applies ⁽²⁾—

- (a.) Is kept at any place except during the seven days next after it has been imported; or,
- (b.) Is sent or conveyed by land or water between any two places in the United Kingdom; or,
- (c.) Is sold or exposed for sale;

the vessel containing such petroleum shall have attached thereto a label in conspicuous characters, stating the description of the petroleum, with the addition of the words "highly inflammable," and with the addition—

- (a.) In the case of a vessel kept, of the name and address of the consignee or owner;
- (b.) In the case of a vessel sent or conveyed, of the name and address of the sender;
- (c.) In the case of a vessel sold or exposed for sale, of the name and address of the vendor.

All petroleum to which this Act applies which is kept, sent, conveyed, sold, or exposed for sale, in contravention of this section, shall, together with the vessel containing the same, be forfeited, and in addition thereto the person keeping, sending, selling, or exposing for sale the same, shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Regulations as to storage of petroleum.

7. Save as hereinafter mentioned, after the passing of this Act, petroleum to which this Act applies shall not be kept, except in pursuance of a license ⁽³⁾ given by such local authority ⁽⁴⁾ as is in this Act mentioned.

All petroleum kept in contravention of this section shall, together with the vessel containing the same, be forfeited, and in addition thereto, the occupier of the place in which such petroleum is so kept shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds a day for each day during which such petroleum is so kept.

This section shall not apply to any petroleum kept either for private use or for sale, provided the following conditions are complied with:

- (1.) That it is kept in separate glass, earthenware, or metal vessels, each of which contains not more than a pint, and is securely stopped;
- (2.) That the aggregate amount kept, supposing the whole contents of the vessels to be in bulk, does not exceed three gallons.

Definition of local authority.

8. The following bodies shall respectively be the local authority to grant licenses under this Act in the districts hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say,)

- (1.) In the City of London, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, the Court of the Lord Mayor and aldermen of the said city;
- (2.) In the metropolis, (that is, in places for the time being within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Board of Works under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855,) except the City of London, and except as hereafter Secs. 8—10.

in this section mentioned, the Metropolitan Board of Works:

- (3.) In any borough in England or Ireland, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses acting by the council:
- (4.) In any place in England or Ireland, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, within the jurisdiction of any trustees or improvement commissioners appointed under the provisions of any local or general Act of Parliament, and not being a borough or comprising any part of a borough, the trustees or commissioners:
- (5.) In any place in England, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, within the jurisdiction of a local board constituted under the Local Government Act, 1858, and not being any of the districts before mentioned or comprising any part of any such district, the local board:
- (6.) In any borough in Scotland, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, the town council:
- (7.) In any place in Scotland, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, within the jurisdiction of police commissioners or trustees exercising the functions of police commissioners under any general or local Act, and not being a borough or comprising any part of a borough, the police commissioners or trustees:
- (8.) In any harbour within the jurisdiction of a harbour authority, whether situate or not within the jurisdiction of any local authority before in this section mentioned, the harbour authority, to the exclusion of any other local authority.
- (9.) In any place in which there is no local authority as before in this section defined, in England or Ireland, the justices in petty sessions assembled, and in Scotland any two or more justices of the peace for the county sitting as judges in the justice of the peace court.

9. Licenses in pursuance of this Act shall be valid if signed by two or more of the persons constituting the local authority, or executed in any other way in which other licenses, if any, granted by such authority are executed. Licenses may be granted for a limited time and may be subject to renewal or not in such manner as the local authority think necessary.

licenses.

There may be annexed to any such licence such conditions as to the mode of storage, the nature and situation of the premises in which, and the nature of the goods with which petroleum to which this Act applies is to be stored ⁽¹⁾, the facilities for the testing of such petroleum from time to time, the mode of carrying such petroleum within the district of the licensing authority, and generally as to the safe keeping of such petroleum as may seem expedient to the local authority.

Any licensee violating any of the conditions of his license shall be deemed to be an unlicensed person. There may be charged in respect of each license five shillings, as the local authority may think fit to charge.

10. If on any application for a license under this Act the local authority refuse the license, or grant the same only on conditions with which the applicant is dissatisfied, the local authority shall, if required by the applicant, deliver to him in writing under the hand or hands of one or more of the persons constituting the local authority, a certificate of the grounds on which they refused the license or annexed conditions to the grant thereof.

In case of refusal of license the applicant may memorialise Secretary of State or Lord Lieutenant.

The applicant, within ten days from the time of the delivery of the certificate, may transmit the same to a Secretary of State if the application is for a license in England or Scotland, and to the Lord Lieutenant if the application is for a license in Ireland, together with a memorial, praying that notwithstanding such refusal the license may be granted, or that the conditions may not be imposed, or may be

Secs. 10-13. altered or modified in such manner and to such extent as may be set forth in such memorial.

It shall be lawful for the Secretary of State, or the Lord Lieutenant, if he think fit, on consideration of such memorial and certificate, and, if he think it necessary or desirable after due inquiry and a report by such person as he may appoint for that purpose, to grant the license prayed for, either absolutely or with such conditions as he thinks fit, or to alter or modify the conditions imposed by the local authority; and the license so granted, or altered and modified, as the case may be, when certified under the hand of a Secretary of State, or the Lord Lieutenant, shall be to all intents as valid as if granted by the local authority.

Testing of petroleum by officer of local authority.

11. Any officer authorised by the local authority may purchase any petroleum from any dealer in it, or may, on producing a copy of his appointment, purporting to be certified by the clerk or some member of the local authority, or producing some other sufficient authority, require the dealer to show him every or any place, and all or any of the vessels in which any petroleum in his possession is kept, and to give him samples of such petroleum on payment of the value of such samples.

When the officer has by either of the means aforesaid taken samples of petroleum, he may declare in writing to the dealer that he is about to test the same, or cause the same to be tested, in manner set forth in Schedule I. to this Act (¹), and it shall be lawful for him to test the same or cause the same to be tested, at any convenient place at such reasonable time as he may appoint, and the dealer or any person appointed by him may be present at the testing, and if it appear to the officer or other person so testing that the petroleum from which such samples have been taken is petroleum to which this Act applies, such officer or other person may certify such fact and the certificate so given shall be receivable as evidence in any proceedings that may be taken against a dealer in petroleum in pursuance of this Act; but it shall be lawful for a dealer proceeded against to give evidence in proof that such certificate is incorrect, and thereupon the court before which any such proceedings may be taken may, if such court think fit, appoint some person skilled in testing petroleum to examine the samples to which such certificate relates, and to declare whether such certificate is correct or incorrect.

Any expenses incurred in testing any petroleum of such dealer in pursuance of this section shall, if such dealer be convicted of keeping, sending, conveying, selling, or exposing for sale, petroleum in contravention of this Act, be deemed to be a portion of the costs of the proceedings against him, and shall be paid by him accordingly. In any other event such expenses shall be paid by the local authority out of any funds for the time being in their hands, and in case the local authority are the justices, out of the county rate.

Penalty for refusing information and obstructing officer.

12. Any dealer who refuses to show to any officer authorised by the local authority every or any place or all or any of the vessels in which petroleum in his possession is kept, or to give him such assistance as he may require for examining the same, or to give to such officer samples of such petroleum on payment of the value of such samples, or who wilfully obstructs the local authority, or any officer of the local authority, in the execution of this Act, shall incur a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Search for petroleum.
See 23 & 24
s. 25.

13. Where any court of summary jurisdiction is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground to believe that any petroleum to which this Act applies is being kept, sent, conveyed, or exposed for sale within the jurisdiction of such court in contravention of this Act, at any place, whether a building or not, or in any ship or vehicle, such court shall grant a warrant by virtue whereof it shall be lawful for any person named in such warrant to enter the place, ship, or vehicle named in such warrant, and every part thereof, and examine the same and search for petroleum therein, and take samples of any petroleum found therein, and if any petroleum to which this Act applies be found therein, which is kept, sent, conveyed, or exposed for sale, in contravention of this Act, to seize and remove such petroleum, and the vessel containing the same, and to detain such petroleum and vessel until some court of summary jurisdiction has determined whether the same are or not forfeited, the proceedings for which forfeiture shall be commenced forthwith after the seizure. Secs. 13-15.

Any person seizing any petroleum to which this Act applies in pursuance of this section shall not be liable to any suit for detaining the same, or for any loss or damage incurred in respect of such petroleum, otherwise than by any wilful act or neglect while the same is so detained.

If any petroleum to which this Act applies is seized in pursuance of this section in any ship or vehicle, the person seizing the same may use for the purposes of the removal thereof, during twenty-four hours after the seizure, the said ship or vehicle, with the tackle, beasts, and accoutrements belonging thereto, and if he do so shall pay to the owner thereof a reasonable recompense for the use thereof, and the amount of such recompense shall, in case of dispute, be settled by the court of summary jurisdiction before whom proceedings for the forfeiture are taken, and may be recovered in like manner as penalties under this Act may be recovered.

Any person who, by himself or by any one in his employ or acting by his direction or with his consent, refuses or fails to admit into any place occupied by or under the control of such person, any person demanding to enter in pursuance of this section, or in any way obstructs or prevents any person in or from making any such search, examination, or seizure, or taking any such samples as authorised by this section, shall be liable to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and to forfeit all petroleum to which this Act applies which is found in his possession or under his control.

14. Her Majesty may from time to time make, revoke, and vary orders in council directing this Act or any part thereof to apply to any substance, and this Act, or the part thereof specified in the order shall, during the continuance of the order, apply to such substance, and shall be construed and have effect as if throughout it such substance had been included in the definition of petroleum to which this Act applies, subject to the following qualifications:

- (1.) The quantity of any substance to which this Act is directed by order in council to apply, which may be kept without a license, shall be such quantity only as is specified in that behalf in such order, or if no such quantity is specified no quantity may be kept without a license:
- (2.) The label on the vessel containing such substance shall be such as may be specified in that behalf in the order.

15. In England and Ireland all offences and penalties under this Act, and all money and costs directed by this Act to be recovered as penalties, may be prosecuted and recovered in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

In Scotland all offences and penalties under this Act, and all money and expenses by this Act directed to be recovered as penalties, shall, save as hereinafter provided, be prosecuted and recovered at the instance of the procurator fiscal or of any officer authorised in that behalf by the harbour authority or local authority under the provisions of the Summary Jurisdiction Acts before a court of summary jurisdiction, and all necessary powers and jurisdictions are hereby conferred on such court in Scotland.

Provided as follows:

1. A court of summary jurisdiction shall not impose a penalty exceeding fifty pounds, but any such court may impose that or any less penalty for any one offence, notwithstanding the offence involves a penalty of higher amount.
2. In Scotland any penalty exceeding fifty pounds shall be recovered and enforced in the same manner in which any penalty due to Her Majesty under any Act of Parliament may be recovered and enforced.
3. The "Court of Summary Jurisdiction," when hearing and determining an information or complaint, shall be constituted in some one of the following manners; (that is to say,)

- (a.) In England, either of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions sitting at a place appointed for holding petty sessions, or of one of the magistrates hereinafter mentioned, sitting alone or with others at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice; that is to say, the Lord Mayor, or any alderman of the City of London, a metropolitan police magistrate, a stipendiary magistrate, or some other officer or officers for the time being empowered by law to do alone or with others any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace :

(b.) In Scotland, of two or more justices of the peace sitting as judges in a justice of the peace court, or of one of the magistrates hereinafter mentioned sitting alone or with others at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice ; that is to say, the sheriff of the county or his substitute, or the provost or other magistrate of a royal burgh, or some other officer or officers for the time being empowered by law to do alone or with others any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace :

(c.) In Ireland, within the police district of Dublin metropolis, of one of the divisional justices of the police district of Dublin metropolis, sitting at a police court within the said district ; and elsewhere, of a stipendiary magistrate, sitting alone or with others, or of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions, sitting at a place appointed for holding petty sessions.

4. [The description of any offence under this Act in the words of such Act shall be sufficient in law.

5. Any exception, exemption, proviso, excuse, or qualification, whether it does or not accompany the description of the offence in this Act, may be proved by the defendant, but need not be specified or negatived in the information, and if so specified or negatived, no proof in relation to the matters so specified or negatived shall be required on the part of the informant or prosecutor ^(1.)]

6. No conviction or order made in pursuance of this Act shall be quashed for want of form or be removed by certiorari or otherwise, either at the instance of the Crown or of any private party, into any superior court. Moreover, no warrant of commitment shall be held void by reason of any defect therein, provided that there is a valid conviction to maintain such warrant, and it is alleged in the warrant that the party has been convicted.

7. All forfeitures may be sold or otherwise disposed of in such manner as the court may direct.

8. In Scotland all penalties imposed under the provisions of this Act by a court of summary jurisdiction may be enforced in default of payment by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three calendar months ; and all such penalties recovered and the proceeds of all forfeitures sold under this Act shall be paid to the clerk of the court of summary jurisdiction, and by him accounted for and paid to the persons and for the purposes under stated ; (that is to say,)

(a.) To the Queen's and Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, on behalf of Her Majesty, when the court is the sheriff's court :

(b.) To the collector of county rates in aid of the general county assessment when the court is the justice of the peace court :

(c.) To the treasurer of the burgh in aid of the funds of the burgh when the court is a burgh court.

9. In Ireland all penalties recovered under the provisions of this Act shall be applied according to the Fines, Ireland, Act, 1851, or any Act amending the same.

Reservation of previous powers with respect to inflammable substances.

16. All powers given by this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers conferred on any local or harbour authority by Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and every local authority and harbour authority may exercise such other powers in the same manner as if this Act had not passed and nothing in this Act contained shall be deemed to exempt any person from any penalty to which he would otherwise be subject in respect of a nuisance.

Repeal of Acts.

17. The Acts mentioned in schedule two to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent in that schedule mentioned.

(1) The words between brackets are repealed by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1881 (47 & 48 Vict. c. 43, s. 4).

Provided that such repeal shall not affect any order in council made, or any license granted, under any Act hereby repealed or any liability or penalty incurred in respect of any offence committed before the passing of this Act, or any remedy or proceeding for enforcing such liability or penalty, and every such order, so far as relates to the matters provided for by this Act, and every such license, shall have effect as if it had been made or granted under this Act. Secs. 17, 18.

18. This Act shall continue in force until the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and no longer ⁽¹⁾. Duration of Act.

SCHEDULES.

Schedule 1.

SCHEDULE ONE.

Directions for testing Petroleum to ascertain the Temperature at which it gives off Inflammable Vapour.

The vessel which is to hold the oil shall be of thin sheet iron ; it shall be two inches deep and two inches wide at the opening, tapering slightly towards the bottom ; it shall have a flat rim, with a raised edge one quarter of an inch high round the top ; it shall be supported by this rim in a tin vessel four inches and a half deep and four and a half inches in diameter ; it shall also have a thin wire stretched across the opening, which wire shall be so fixed to the edge of the vessel that it shall be a quarter of an inch above the surface of the flat rim. The thermometer to be used shall have a round bulb about half an inch in diameter, and is to be graduated upon the scale of Fahrenheit, every ten degrees occupying not less than half an inch upon the scale.

The inner vessel shall be filled with the petroleum to be tested, but care must be taken that the liquid does not cover the flat rim. The outer vessel shall be filled with cold, or nearly cold, water ; a small flame shall be applied to the bottom of the outer vessel, and the thermometer shall be inserted into the oil so that the bulb shall be immersed about one and a half inches beneath the surface. A screen of pasteboard or wood shall be placed round the apparatus, and shall be of such dimensions as to surround it about two-thirds, and to reach several inches above the level of the vessels.

When heat has been applied to the water until the thermometer has risen to about ninety degrees Fahrenheit, a very small flame shall be quickly passed across the surface of the oil on a level with the wire. If no pale blue flicker or flash is produced, the application of the flame is to be repeated for every rise of two or three degrees in the thermometer. When the flashing point has been noted, the test shall be repeated with a fresh sample of the oil, using cold, or nearly cold, water as before, withdrawing the source of heat from the outer vessel when the temperature approaches that noted in the first experiment, and applying the flame test at every rise of two degrees in the thermometer.

FIRST SCHEDULE.—Mode of testing petroleum so as to ascertain the temperature at which it will give off inflammable vapour.

SECOND SCHEDULE.—Act repealed.

THE PETROLEUM ACT, 1879.

42 & 43 VICT. c. 47.

An Act to continue and amend the Petroleum Act, 1871. [11th August, 1879.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Petroleum Act, 1879.

Secs. 1—6.

This Act shall be construed as one with the Petroleum Act, 1871, and together with that Act may be cited as the Petroleum Acts, 1871 and 1879.

Short title, and construction of Act.
34 & 35 Vict.
c. 105.

2. Whereas by the Petroleum Act, 1871, it is enacted that the term "petroleum to which this Act applies" means such of the petroleum defined by that Act as, when tested in manner set forth in Schedule One to that Act, gives off an inflammable vapour at a temperature of less than one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, and it is expedient to alter the said test: Be it therefore enacted that—

Alteration of test.
34 & 35 Vict.
c. 105.

In the Petroleum Act, 1871, the term "petroleum to which this Act applies" shall mean such of the petroleum defined by section three of that Act as, when tested in manner set forth in Schedule One to this Act, gives off an inflammable vapour at a temperature of less than seventy-three degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer ⁽¹⁾.

34 & 35 Vict.
c. 105.

Every reference in the Petroleum Act, 1871, to Schedule One to that Act shall be construed to refer to Schedule One to this Act.

34 & 35 Vict.
c. 105.

3. A model of the apparatus for testing petroleum, as described in Schedule One to this Act, shall be deposited with the Board of Trade, and the Board of Trade shall, on payment of such fee, not exceeding five shillings, as they from time to time prescribe, cause to be compared with such model and verified every apparatus constructed in accordance with Schedule One to this Act which is submitted to them for the purpose, and if the same is found correct shall stamp the same with a mark approved of by the Board and notified in the London Gazette.

Verification of test apparatus.

An apparatus for testing petroleum purporting to be stamped with the said mark shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been verified by the Board of Trade.

All fees under this section shall be paid into the Exchequer.

4. The Petroleum Act, 1871, shall continue in force until otherwise directed by Parliament.

Continuance of 34 & 35
Vict. c. 105.

5. This Act shall come into operation on the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, which day is in this Act referred to as the commencement of this Act.

Schedule 1.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

MODE OF TESTING PETROLEUM SO AS TO ASCERTAIN THE TEMPERATURE AT WHICH IT WILL GIVE OFF INFLAMMABLE VAPOUR.

Specification of the Test Apparatus.

The following is a description of the details of the apparatus :

The oil cup consists of a cylindrical vessel 2" diameter, $2\frac{2}{10}$ " height (internal), with outward projecting rim $\frac{5}{10}$ " wide, $\frac{3}{8}$ " from the top, and $1\frac{1}{8}$ " from the bottom of the cup. It is made of gun metal or brass (17 B.W.G.) tinned inside. A bracket, consisting of a short stout piece of wire bent upwards and terminating in a point, is fixed to the inside of the cup to serve as a gauge. The distance of the point from the bottom of the cup is $1\frac{1}{2}$ ". The cup is provided with a close-fitting overlapping cover made of brass (22 B.W.G.) which carries the thermometer and test lamp. The latter is suspended from two supports from the side by means of trunnions upon which it may be made to oscillate, it is provided with a spout, the mouth of which is one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. The socket which is to hold the thermometer is fixed at such an angle and its length is so adjusted that the bulb of the thermometer when inserted to its full depth shall be $1\frac{1}{2}$ " below the centre of the lid.

The cover is provided with three square holes, one in the centre, $\frac{5}{10}$ " by $\frac{4}{10}$ ", and two smaller ones, $\frac{3}{10}$ " by $\frac{2}{10}$ ", close to the sides and opposite each other. These three holes may be closed and uncovered by means of a slide moving in grooves, and having perforations corresponding to those on the lid.

In moving the slide so as to uncover the holes, the oscillating lamp is caught by a pin fixed in the slide, and tilted in such a way as to bring the end of the spout just below the surface of the lid. Upon the slide being pushed back so as to cover the holes, the lamp returns to its original position.

Upon the cover, in front and in line with the mouth of the lamp, is fixed a white bead, the dimensions of which represent the size of the test flame to be used.

The bath or heated vessel consists of two flat-bottomed copper cylinders (24 B.W.G.), an inner one of 3" diameter and $2\frac{1}{2}$ " height, and an outer one of $5\frac{1}{2}$ " diameter and $5\frac{3}{4}$ " height; they are soldered to a circular copper plate (20 B.W.G.) perforated in the centre, which forms the top of the bath, in such a manner as to enclose the space between the two cylinders, but leaving access to the inner cylinder. The top of the bath projects both outwards and inwards about $\frac{3}{8}$ "; that is, its diameter is about $\frac{1}{8}$ " greater than that of the body of the bath, while the diameter of the circular opening in the centre is about the same amount less than that of the inner copper cylinder. To the inner projection of the top is fastened, by six small screws, a flat ring of ebonite, the screws being sunk below the surface of the ebonite, to avoid metallic contact between the bath and the oil cup. The exact distance between the sides and bottom of the bath and of the oil lamp is one-half of an inch. A split socket similar to that on the cover of the oil cup, but set at a right angle, allows a thermometer to be inserted into the space between the two cylinders. The bath is further provided with a funnel, an overflow pipe, and two loop handles.

The bath rests upon a cast-iron tripod stand, to the ring of which is attached a copper cylinder or jacket (24 B.W.G.) flanged at the top, and of such dimensions that the bath, while firmly resting on the iron ring, just touches with its projecting top the inward-turned flange. The diameter of this outer jacket is $6\frac{1}{2}$ ". One of the three legs of the stand serves as support for the spirit lamp attached to it by means of a small swing bracket. The distance of the wick holder from the bottom of the bath is 1".

Two thermometers are provided with the apparatus, the one for ascertaining the temperature of the bath, the other for determining the flashing point. The thermometer for ascertaining the temperature of the water has a long bulb and a space at the top. Its range is from about 90° to 190° Fahrenheit. The scale (in degrees of Fahrenheit) is marked on an ivory back fastened to the tube in the usual way. It is fitted with a metal collar, fitting the socket, and the part of the tube below the scale should have a length of about $3\frac{1}{2}$ " measured from the lower end of the scale to the end of the bulb. The thermometer for ascertaining the temperature of the oil is fitted with collar and ivory scale in a similar manner to the one described. It has a round bulb, a space at the top, and ranges from about 55° F. to 150° F.; it measures from end of ivory back to bulb $2\frac{1}{4}$ ".

NOTE.—A model apparatus is deposited at the Weights and Measures Department of the Board of Trade.

DIRECTIONS FOR APPLYING THE FLASHING TEST⁽¹⁾.

1. The test apparatus is to be placed for use in a position where it is not exposed to currents of air or draughts.

2. The heating vessel or water bath is filled by pouring water into the funnel until it begins to flow out at the spout of the vessel. The temperature of the water at the commencement of the test is to be 130° Fahrenheit, and this is attained in the first instance either by mixing hot and cold water in the bath, or in a vessel from which the bath is filled, until the thermometer which is provided for testing the temperature of the water gives the proper indication; or by heating the water with the spirit lamp (which is attached to the stand of the apparatus) until the required temperature is indicated.

If the water has been heated too highly, it is easily reduced to 130° by pouring in cold water little by little (to replace a portion of the warm water) until the thermometer gives the proper reading.

When a test has been completed, this water bath is again raised to 130° by placing the lamp underneath, and the result is readily obtained while the petroleum cup is being emptied, cooled, and refilled with a fresh sample to be tested. The lamp is then turned on its swivel from under the apparatus, and the next test is proceeded with.

3. The test lamp is prepared for use by fitting it with a piece of flat plaited candle wick, and filling it with colza or rape oil up to the lower edge of the opening of the spout or wick tube. The lamp is trimmed so that when lighted it gives a flame of about 0.15 of an inch diameter, and this size of flame which is represented by the projecting white bead on the cover of the oil cup is readily maintained by simple manipulation from time to time with a small wire trimmer.

When gas is available it may be conveniently used in place of the little oil lamp, and for this purpose a test-flame arrangement for use with gas may be substituted for the lamp.

4. The bath having been raised to the proper temperature, the oil to be tested is introduced into the petroleum cup, being poured in slowly until the level of the liquid just reaches the point of the gauge which is fixed in the cup. In warm weather the temperature of the room in which the samples to be tested have been kept should be observed in the first instance, and if it exceeds 65° the samples to be tested should be cooled down (to about 60°) by immersing the bottles containing them in cold water, or by any other convenient method. The lid of the cup, with the slide closed, is then put on, and the cup is placed into the bath or heating vessel. The thermometer in the lid of the cup has been adjusted so as to have its bulb just immersed in the liquid, and its position is not under any circumstances to be altered. When the cup has been placed in the proper position, the scale of the thermometer faces the operator.

5. The test lamp is then placed in position upon the lid of the cup, the lead line or pendulum, which has been fixed in a convenient position in front of the operator, is set in motion, and the rise of the thermometer in the petroleum cup is watched. When

Schedule 1. the temperature has reached about 66° the operation of testing is to be commenced, the test-flame being applied once for every rise of one degree, in the following manner:—

The slide is slowly drawn open while the pendulum performs three oscillations, and is closed during the fourth oscillation.

NOTE.—If it is desired to employ the test apparatus to determine the flashing points of oils of very low volatility, the mode of proceeding is to be modified as follows:—

The air-chamber which surrounds the cup is filled with cold water, to a depth of 1½ inches, and the heating vessel or water bath is filled as usual, but also with cold water. The lamp is then placed under the apparatus and kept there during the entire operation. If a very heavy oil is being dealt with, the operation may be commenced with water previously heated to 120°, instead of with cold water.

Schedule 2.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

ACT REPEALED.

Year and Chapter.	Title.	Extent of repeal.
34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.	The Petroleum Act, 1871.	Section three, from “and the term petroleum to which this Act applies” inclusive to the end of the section. Section eighteen.

PETROLEUM (HAWKERS) ACT,
1881.

44 & 45 VICT. c. 67.

An Act to regulate the hawking of Petroleum and other substances of a like nature.
 [27th August, 1881.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows: Secs. 1, 2.

1. Any person who is licensed in pursuance of the Petroleum Act, 1871, to keep petroleum to which that Act applies may, subject to the enactments for the time being in force with respect to hawkers and pedlars, hawk such petroleum by himself or his servants. Power to hawk petroleum.
34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.

2. With respect to the hawking of petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies, the following regulations shall be observed: Regulations for hawking petroleum.

- (1.) The amount of petroleum conveyed at one time in any one carriage shall not exceed twenty gallons:
- (2.) The petroleum shall be conveyed in a closed vessel so constructed as to be free from leakage:
- (3.) The carriage in which the vessels containing the petroleum are conveyed shall be so ventilated as to prevent any evaporation from the petroleum mixing with the air in or about the carriage in such proportion as to produce or be liable to produce an explosive mixture:
- (4.) Any fire or light or any article of an explosive or highly inflammable nature shall not be brought into or dangerously near to the carriage in which the vessels containing the petroleum are conveyed:
- (5.) The carriage in which the vessels containing the petroleum are conveyed shall be so constructed or fitted that the petroleum cannot escape therefrom in the form of liquid, whether ignited or otherwise:
- (6.) Proper care shall be taken to prevent any petroleum escaping into any part of a house or building, or of the curtilage thereof, or into a drain or sewer:
- (7.) The petroleum shall be stored in some premises licensed for keeping of petroleum and in accordance with the license for such premises both every night and also when the petroleum is not in the course of being hawked:
- (8.) All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of accidents by fire or explosion, and for preventing unauthorised persons having access to the vessels containing the petroleum, and every person concerned in hawking the petroleum shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the purpose of such hawking:
- (9.) No article or substance of an explosive or inflammable character other than petroleum, nor any article liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion, shall be in the carriage while such carriage is being used for the purpose of hawking petroleum:

Secs. 2—7.

In the event of any contravention of this section with reference to any petroleum, the petroleum, together with the vessels containing and the carriage conveying the same, shall be liable to be forfeited, and in addition thereto the licensee by whom or by whose servants the petroleum was being hawked shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Provided that—

- (1.) When some servant of the licensee or other person has in fact committed the offence, such servant or other person shall be liable to the same penalty as if he were the licensee :
- (2.) Where the licensee is charged with a contravention of this section, he shall be entitled upon information duly laid by him to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the Court at the time appointed for hearing the charge, and if the licensee proves to the satisfaction of the Court that he had used due diligence to enforce the execution of this section, and that the said other person had committed the offence in question without his knowledge, consent, or connivance, the said other person shall be summarily convicted of such offence, and the licensee shall be exempt from any penalty.

Any petroleum other than that to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies while in any carriage used for the hawking of petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies, shall for the purposes of this section be deemed to be petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies.

Modification of conditions of license under 34 & 35 Vict.
c. 105.

Power of constable as to prevention of offences.

Saving of rights of municipal boroughs.

Definitions.

3. Any conditions annexed to a license granted in pursuance of the Petroleum Act, 1871, either before or after the passing of this Act, shall, so far as they are inconsistent with this Act, be void, but save as aforesaid nothing in this Act shall affect the application to a licensee of the provisions of the Petroleum Act, 1871, or of any license granted thereunder.

4. Where a constable or any officer authorised by the local authority has reasonable cause to believe that a contravention of this Act is being committed in relation to any petroleum, he may seize and detain such petroleum and the vessels and carriage containing the same, until some court of summary jurisdiction has determined whether there was or not a contravention of this Act, and section thirteen of the Petroleum Act, 1871, shall apply to such constable and officer as if he were the person named in the warrant mentioned in that section, and as if the seizure were a seizure in pursuance of that section.

5. Nothing in this Act contained shall extend to authorise the hawking of petroleum within the limits of any municipal borough in which, by any lawful authority, such hawking shall have been or may hereafter be forbidden.

6. For the purposes of this Act—

The expression “carriage” includes any carriage, waggon, cart, truck, vehicle, or other means of conveyance by land, in whatever manner the same may be drawn or propelled ; and

A person shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to hawk petroleum if by himself or his servants he goes about carrying petroleum to sell, whether going from town to town or to other men’s houses, or selling it in the streets of the place of his residence or otherwise, and whether with or without any horse or other beast bearing or drawing burden.

7. This Act may be cited as the Petroleum (Hawkers) Act, 1881.

This Act shall be construed as one with the Petroleum Acts, 1871 and 1879, and together with those Acts may be cited as the Petroleum Acts, 1871 to 1881.

SCHEDULES.

THE EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1875.

38 VICT. c. 17.

An Act to amend the Law with respect to manufacturing, keeping, selling, carrying, and importing Gunpowder, Nitro-glycerine, and other explosive substances.
[14th June, 1875.]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows : Secs. 1—4.

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be cited as the Explosives Act, 1875. Short title.
 2. This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, in this Act referred to as the commencement of this Act; but any Order in Council, order ⁽¹⁾, general rules, and bye-laws, and any appointment to an office, may be made under this Act at any time after the passing thereof, but shall not take effect until the commencement of this Act. Commencement of Act.
 3. This Act shall apply to gunpowder and other explosives as defined by this section. Substances to which this Act applies.
- The term "explosive" in this Act ⁽²⁾—
- (1.) Means gunpowder, nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gun-cotton, blasting powders, fulminate of mercury or of other metals, coloured fires, and every other substance, whether similar to those above mentioned or not, used or manufactured with a view to produce a practical effect by explosion or a pyrotechnic effect; and
 - (2.) Includes fog-signals ⁽³⁾, fireworks, fuzes, rockets, percussion caps, detonators, cartridges, ammunition of all descriptions, and every adaptation or preparation of an explosive as above defined.

PART I.

LAW RELATING TO GUNPOWDER.

General Law as to Manufacture and Keeping of Gunpowder.

4. The manufacture of gunpowder shall not, nor shall any process of such manufacture, be carried on except at a factory for gunpowder either lawfully existing ⁽⁴⁾ or licensed for the same under this Act. Gunpowder to be manufactured only at factory lawfully existing or licensed under this Act.
- Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to the making of a small quantity of gunpowder for the purpose of chemical experiment and not for practical use or for sale.

⁽⁴⁾ Section 108, post, provides "the expression 'existing' means existing at the passing of this Act."

Secs. 4—6.

If any person manufactures gunpowder or carries on any process of such manufacture at any place at which he is not allowed by this section so to do, he shall be deemed to manufacture gunpowder at an unauthorised place.

Where gunpowder is manufactured at an unauthorised place—

1. All or any part of the gunpowder or the ingredients of gunpowder which may be found either in or about such place or in the possession or under the control of any person convicted under this section, may be forfeited; and
2. The person so manufacturing shall be liable to a penalty ⁽¹⁾ not exceeding one hundred pounds a day for every day during which he so manufactures.

Gunpowder (except for private use) to be kept only in existing or new magazine or store, or in registered premises.

5. Gunpowder shall not be kept at any place except as follows; that is to say,—

- (1.) Except in the factory (either lawfully existing or licensed for the same under this Act) in which it is manufactured; or
- (2.) Except in a magazine or store for gunpowder either lawfully existing or licensed under this Act for keeping gunpowder; or
- (3.) Except in premises registered under this Act for keeping gunpowder.

Provided that this section shall not apply—

- (1.) To a person keeping for his private use and not for sale gunpowder to an amount not exceeding on the same premises thirty pounds; or
- (2.) To the keeping of any gunpowder by a carrier or other person for the purpose of conveyance, when the same is being conveyed or kept in accordance with the provisions of this Act with respect to the conveyance of gunpowder.

Any gunpowder kept in any place other than as above in this section mentioned shall be deemed to be kept in an unauthorised place.

Where any gunpowder is kept in an unauthorised place—

- (1.) All or any part of the gunpowder found in such place may be forfeited; and
- (2.) The occupier of such place, and also the owner of, or other person guilty of keeping the gunpowder, shall each be liable to a penalty not exceeding two shillings for every pound of gunpowder so kept.

Licensing of Factories and Magazines for Gunpowder.

Application for license for new factory or magazine.

6. A new factory or magazine for gunpowder shall not be established except on the site and in the manner specified in a license for the same granted under this Act.

An applicant for such a license shall submit to the Secretary of State the draft of a license accompanied by a plan (drawn to scale) of the proposed factory or magazine, and the site thereof (which plan shall be deemed to form part of and to be in this Act included in the expression “the license”).

The draft license shall contain the terms which the applicant proposes to have inserted in the license, and shall specify such of the following matters as are applicable; namely,

- (a.) The boundaries of the land forming the site of the factory or magazine and either any belt of land surrounding the site which is to be kept clear, and the buildings and works from which it is to be kept clear, or the distances to be maintained between the factory or magazine, or any part thereof, and other buildings and works; and
- (b.) The situation, character, and construction of all the mounds, buildings, and works on or connected with the factory or magazine, and the distances thereof from each other; and
- (c.) The nature of the processes to be carried on in the factory and in each part thereof, and the place at which each process of the manufacture, and each description of work connected with the factory or magazine, is to be carried on, and the places in the factory or magazine at which gunpowder and any ingredients of gunpowder, and any articles liable to spontaneous ignition, or inflammable or otherwise dangerous, are to be kept; and

Secs. 6—8.

- (d.) The amount of gunpowder and of ingredients thereof wholly or partly mixed to be allowed at the same time in any building or machine or any process of the manufacture or within a limited distance from such building or machine, having regard to the situation and construction of such building, and to the distance thereof from any other building or any works; and
- (e.) The situation, in the case of a factory, of each factory magazine, and in the case of another magazine, of each building forming part of such magazine in which gunpowder is to be kept, and the maximum amount of gunpowder to be kept in each factory magazine, and in each such building as aforesaid; and
- (f.) The maximum number of persons to be employed in each building in the factory; and
- (g.) Any special terms which the applicant may propose by reason of any special circumstances arising from the locality, the situation or construction of any buildings or works, or the nature of any process, or otherwise.

The Secretary of State, after examination of the proposal, may reject the application altogether or may approve of the draft license, with or without modification or addition, and grant to the applicant permission to apply to the local authority for their assent to the establishment of the factory or magazine on the proposed site.

7. The local authority, upon application being made for their assent to the establishment of a new factory or magazine on the proposed site, shall cause notice to be published by the applicant in manner directed by this Act of the application and of the time and place at which they will be prepared to hear the applicant, and any persons objecting to such establishment who have not less than seven clear days before the day of hearing sent to the clerk of the local authority and to the applicant notice of their intention to appear and object, with their name, address, and calling, and a short statement of the grounds of their objection.

Application for assent of local authority to site of new factory or magazine.

Upon the hearing of the application or any adjournment thereof, the local authority may dissent altogether from the establishment of such new factory or magazine on the proposed site, or assent thereto, either absolutely or on any conditions requiring additional restrictions or precautions.

Where the site of the proposed factory or magazine is situate within or within one mile of the limits of the jurisdiction of any urban sanitary authority, or of any harbour authority, the applicant shall serve on such authority, if they are not the local authority, notice of the application and of the time and place of hearing fixed by the local authority.

The said notices shall be published and served by the applicant not less than one month before the hearing.

The local authority shall fix the time and place of hearing as soon as practicable after application made to them, and the time so fixed shall be as soon as practicable after the expiration of the said month from the publication and service of the notices by the applicant, and their final decision shall be given as soon as practicable after the expiration of the said month.

The place so fixed shall be situate within the jurisdiction of the local authority, or within a convenient distance of the limits of that jurisdiction.

The costs of any objections which the local authority may deem to be frivolous shall be ascertained by an order made by the local authority, and shall be a debt due from the objector to the applicant, of which such order shall be conclusive evidence.

Where the site of the proposed factory or magazine is situate partly within the jurisdiction of one local authority and partly within the jurisdiction of another, the assent of both local authorities shall be applied for in manner provided by this Act.

8. If on the hearing of the application for the establishment of a factory or magazine the local authority assent thereto either absolutely or on conditions

Grant and confirmation of license.

Secs. 8—10. submitted by the applicant, the applicant shall be entitled to the license applied for in accordance with the draft approved by the Secretary of State, with the addition (if the assent was on conditions) of the additional restrictions and precautions required by those conditions.

If the local authority assent on any conditions not submitted to by the applicant, or dissent, the applicant may appeal to the Secretary of State, giving notice of such appeal to the local authority, and requiring them to state in writing their reasons for such conditions or dissent; and the Secretary of State, after considering the reasons (if any) so stated, and after such inquiry, local or other, as he may think necessary, may if the local authority dissented, refuse the license, or may in either case grant the license applied for in accordance with the draft license either as previously approved by him, or with such modifications and additions as he may consider required to meet the reasons (if any) so stated by the local authority.

The Secretary of State, when satisfied that the factory or magazine is sufficiently completed according to the license to justify the use thereof, shall confirm the license, but until so confirmed the license shall not come into force.

The land forming the site bounded as described in the license shall, with every mound, building, and work thereon for whatever purpose, be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be the factory or magazine referred to in the license.

Regulation of Factories and Magazines for Gunpowder.

Regulation of factories and magazines for gunpowder.

9. In every gunpowder factory and magazine—

- (1.) The factory or magazine, or any part thereof, shall not be used for any purpose not in accordance with the license; and
- (2.) The terms of the license shall be duly observed, and the manufacture or keeping or any process in or work connected with the manufacture or keeping of gunpowder shall not be carried on except in accordance with those terms; and
- (3.) The factory or magazine and every part thereof shall be maintained in accordance with the license; and any material alteration in the factory or magazine by enlarging or adding to the site, or by externally enlarging or adding to any building, or by altering any mound otherwise than by enlargement, or by making any new work, shall not be made except in pursuance of an amending license granted under this Act.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of this section in any factory or magazine,

- (a.) All or any part of the gunpowder or ingredients thereof in respect to which, or being in any building or machine in respect to which, the offence was committed, may be forfeited; and
- (b.) The occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding in the case of the first offence fifty pounds, and in the case of a second or any subsequent offence one hundred pounds, and in addition fifty pounds for every day during which such breach continues.

The occupier of a factory shall not be deemed guilty of a breach of this section for using in a case of emergency, or temporarily, one building or part of a building in which any process of the manufacture is, under the terms of the license, carried on, for another process of the manufacture, if he do not carry on in such building or part more than one process at the same time, and if the quantity of gunpowder or ingredients thereof in such building or part do not exceed the quantity allowed to be therein, or any less quantity allowed to be in the building or part of a building in which such other process is usually carried on; and if upon such use being continued after the lapse of twenty-eight days from the first beginning of such use he send notice of such use to a Government inspector, and the Government inspector do not require the discontinuance of such use.

10. In every gunpowder factory and magazine the following general rules shall be observed:

- (1.) In a factory every factory magazine, and in any other magazine every building in which gunpowder is kept, shall be used only for the keeping of and maga-

gunpowder, and receptacles for or tools or implements for work connected with the keeping of such gunpowder; and

- (2.) The interior of every building in which any process of the manufacture is carried on or in which gunpowder or any ingredients thereof, either mixed or partially mixed, are kept, or in the course of manufacture are liable to be (in this Act referred to as a danger building), and the benches, shelves, and fittings in such building (other than machinery), shall be so constructed or so lined or covered as to prevent the exposure of any iron or steel in such manner, and the detaching of any grit, iron, steel, or similar substance in such manner, as to come into contact with the gunpowder or ingredients thereof in such building, and such interior, benches, shelves, and fittings shall, so far as is reasonably practicable, be kept free from grit and otherwise clean; and
- (3.) Every factory magazine and expense magazine in a factory, and every danger building in a magazine, shall have attached thereto a sufficient lightning conductor, unless, by reason of the construction by excavation or the position of such magazine or building, or otherwise, the Secretary of State considers a conductor unnecessary, and every danger building in a factory shall, if so required by the Secretary of State, have attached thereto a sufficient lightning conductor; and
- (4.) Charcoal, whether ground or otherwise, and oiled cotton, oiled rags, and oiled waste, and any articles whatever liable to spontaneous ignition, shall not be taken into any danger building, except for the purpose of immediate supply and work or immediate use in such building, and upon the cessation of such work or use shall be forthwith removed; and
- (5.) Before repairs are done to or in any room in or other part of a danger building, that room or part shall, so far as practicable, be cleaned by the removal of all gunpowder, and wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof, and the thorough washing out of such room or part; and such room or part of the building after being so cleaned shall not be deemed to be a danger building within the meaning of these rules until gunpowder or the wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof are again taken into it; and
- (6.) There shall be constantly kept affixed in every danger building, either outside or inside, in such manner as to be easily read, a statement of the quantities of gunpowder or ingredients allowed to be in the building, and a copy of these rules, and of any other part of this Act required by the Secretary of State to be affixed, and of such part of the license and special rules made under this Act as apply to the building; and with the addition in a factory of the name of the building, or words indicating the purpose for which it is used; and
- (7.) All tools and implements used in any repairs to or in a danger building shall be made only of wood or copper or brass or some soft metal or material, or shall be covered with some safe and suitable material; and
- (8.) Due provision shall be made, by the use of suitable working clothes, without pockets, suitable shoes, searching, and otherwise, or by some of such means, for preventing the introduction into any danger building of fire, lucifer matches, or any substance or article likely to cause explosion or fire, and for preventing the introduction of any iron, steel, or grit into any part of a danger building where it would be likely to come into contact with gunpowder or the wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof; but this rule shall not prevent the introduction of an artificial light of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger of fire or explosion; and
- (9.) No person shall smoke in any part of the factory or magazine, except in such part (if any) as may be allowed by the special rules; and
- (10.) Any carriage, boat, or other receptacle in which gunpowder, or the wholly or partly mixed ingredients thereof, are conveyed from one building to another in a factory or magazine, or from any such building to any place outside of such factory or magazine, shall be constructed without any exposed iron or steel in the interior thereof, and shall contain only the gunpowder and ingredients, and shall be closed or otherwise properly covered over; and the gunpowder and ingredients shall be so conveyed with all due diligence, and with such precautions and in such manner as will sufficiently guard against any accidental ignition; and

Secs. 10-12.

- (11.) A person under the age of sixteen years shall not be employed in or enter any danger building, except in the presence and under the supervision of some grown-up person; and
- (12.) In a factory the ingredients in course of manufacture into gunpowder shall be removed with all due diligence from each working building so soon as the process connected with those ingredients which is carried on in such building is completed, and all finished gunpowder shall with all due diligence either be removed to a factory magazine, or sent away immediately from the factory, and such ingredients and gunpowder shall be loaded and unloaded with all due diligence; and
- (13.) In a factory all ingredients to be made or mixed into gunpowder shall, before being so made or mixed, be carefully sifted, for the purpose of removing therefrom, so far as practicable, all dangerous foreign matter.

The Secretary of State may, from time to time, by order, make, and when made rescind and alter, such modifications in the foregoing general rules as may appear to him to be necessary for adapting the same to floating magazines, and such modifications shall have effect as if they were contained in this section.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of the general rules in any factory or magazine—

- (a.) All or any part of the gunpowder or ingredients thereof in respect to which, or being in any building or machine in respect to which, the offence was committed, may be forfeited; and
- (b.) The occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and in addition (in the case of a second offence) ten pounds for every day during which such breach continues.

11. Every occupier of a gunpowder factory or magazine shall, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, make special rules for the regulation of the persons managing or employed in or about such factory or magazine, with a view to secure the observance of this Act therein, and the safety and proper discipline of the said persons and the safety of the public.

There may be annexed to any breach of special rules made in pursuance of this section such penalties, not exceeding forty shillings for each offence, as may be deemed just.

The occupier may, and if required by the Secretary of State shall, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, repeal, alter, or add to any rules made in pursuance of this section.

If an occupier is required by the Secretary of State to make, repeal, alter, or add to any rules under this section, and fail within three months after such requisition to comply therewith to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of State may make, repeal, alter, or add to the special rules, and anything so done by the Secretary of State shall have effect as if done by the occupier with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

If the occupier feel aggrieved by any such requisition, or by anything so done by the Secretary of State, he may, after receiving such requisition or notice of the same being so done, require the matter to be referred to arbitration in manner provided by this Act.

Supplemental as to Factories and Magazines for Gunpowder.

12. Where the occupier of any gunpowder factory or magazine desires that any alteration should be made in the terms of his license, or any material alteration made in the factory or magazine by enlarging or adding to the site or by externally enlarging or adding to any building, or by altering any mound otherwise than by enlargement, or by making any new work, he may apply for an amending Secs. 12-14. license.

If he satisfy the Secretary of State that the alteration may be properly permitted, having regard to the safety of the persons employed in the factory or magazine, and will not materially either increase the danger to the public from fire or explosion, or diminish the distance of any danger building in the factory or magazine from any building or work outside and in the neighbourhood of the factory or magazine, or increase the amount of gunpowder allowed to be kept in the factory magazine, or in any building in the magazine, the Secretary of State may grant the amending license of his own authority, but save as aforesaid, the provisions of this Act with respect to the application for and grant of a new license shall apply to such amending license.

13. A gunpowder factory or magazine license shall not be avoided by any change in the occupier of the factory or magazine; but notice of the name, address, and calling of the new occupier shall be sent to the Secretary of State within three months after the change, and in default such new occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for every week during which such default continues.

Devolution and determination
of license.

A factory or magazine license shall be determined by a discontinuance of the business carried on in pursuance of any such license if such discontinuance continues for a period of two years or more, or if the factory or magazine is used for any purpose not authorised by the license:

Provided that if the occupier sends to the Secretary of State, and publishes in manner directed by the Secretary of State, a notice to the effect that the right to the factory or magazine license is not intended to be surrendered, the license shall not be determined until after the expiration of five years after the first discontinuance of the business, whether the factory or magazine has or has not been used for any purpose not authorised by the license.

Application of Act to existing Factories and Magazines for Gunpowder.

14. A factory or magazine for gunpowder used at the time of the passing of this Act shall not be deemed to be a lawfully existing factory or magazine within the meaning of this Act unless the occupier thereof apply for and obtain in manner provided by this Act a certificate (in this Act referred to as a continuing certificate) in respect of such factory or magazine.

Continuing certificate for existing factories and magazines.

The occupier desirous of obtaining such certificate shall, before the expiration of three months after the commencement of this Act, send to the Secretary of State an application for such certificate, stating his name and address, and calling, and the situation of his factory or magazine, and accompanied with such particulars respecting the factory or magazine and the site thereof, and the mounds, buildings, and works thereon or connected therewith, and such copies of any plans in the possession of the occupier, as the Secretary of State may deem necessary for enabling him to make out the certificate.

The Secretary of State upon receiving such application shall grant the continuing certificate for the factory or magazine to which the application relates, and shall insert therein, by reference to a plan (which shall be deemed part of the certificate) or otherwise, such particulars as he may consider sufficient to identify the factory or magazine and indicate the site and all the existing mounds, buildings, and works thereon or connected therewith: the plan so referred to may be either the plan sent by the occupier or such other plan as the Secretary of State may cause to be made for the purpose.

The continuing certificate shall specify the maximum amount of gunpowder to be kept if the certificate is for a factory in each factory magazine, or in all the factory magazines of the factory, and if for a magazine in each building in the magazine, or in all the buildings of the magazine, and the amount so specified, where the maximum amount so to be kept is at the passing of this Act limited by any Act or by license or otherwise, shall be that amount, and where there is no such limitation, shall be the maximum amount which the factory magazine, or all the factory magazines of the factory, or the building or all the buildings of the Secs. 14-16. magazine, was or were capable of holding on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five.

The regulations in Part One of the first schedule to this Act shall be deemed to form part of the terms of a continuing certificate for a factory.

The land forming the site bounded as described in the certificate shall, with every mound, building, and work thereon, for whatever purpose, be deemed, for the purpose of this Act, to be the factory or magazine referred to in the certificate.

Where a license has been obtained before the twenty-fifth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, for a factory or magazine for gunpowder, and such factory or magazine has not been completed before the passing of this Act, such factory or magazine shall be deemed to be, for the purposes of this section, a factory or magazine for gunpowder used at the time of the passing of this Act :

Provided that—

- (1.) The particulars to be stated in the continuing certificate shall, as regards such mounds, buildings, and works as are not completed at the date of the certificate, relate to the same as designed on the commencement of the construction of the factory or magazine ; and
- (2.) The maximum amount of gunpowder to be specified in the continuing certificate as being allowed to be kept in any building shall, subject to the provisions of any Act or license, be the maximum amount which such building was designed on the commencement of the building thereof to hold, or such less amount as it is completed for holding at the time of the passing of this Act.

For the purposes of this Act, a continuing certificate shall (save as otherwise expressly provided) be deemed to be a license, and the factory or magazine, as the case may be, mentioned therein to be a factory or magazine licensed under this Act, and the provisions of this Act shall be construed accordingly.

Provided that—

- (1.) It shall not be necessary in any case to apply for the assent of the local authority to an amending license for an alteration in the terms of such certificate, or for an alteration in the factory or magazine ; and
- (2.) Such factory or magazine, if the certificate is determined by the discontinuance of the business carried on therein, shall cease to be deemed an existing factory or magazine.

The occupier of any lawfully existing factory or magazine may, until the expiration of the time within which he is required by this section to send to the Secretary of State an application for a continuing certificate, and if he has sent such an application as is required by this section may, until he obtains such certificate, carry on his business in such factory or magazine in like manner as if this Act had not passed.

Consumers Stores for Gunpowder.

Licensing and Regulation of Stores.

Store license to be obtained from local authority.

15. Any person may apply for a license for a gunpowder store to the local authority at the time and place appointed by such authority, stating his name, address, and calling, the proposed site and construction of the store and the amount of gunpowder he proposes to store therein; and the local authority shall, as soon as practicable, if the proposed site, construction of the store, and amount of gunpowder are in accordance with the Order in Council hereinafter mentioned, grant to the applicant, on payment of such fee, not exceeding five shillings, as may be fixed by that authority, the license applied for.

16. Her Majesty may from time to time, by Order in Council made on the recommendation of the Secretary of State—

- (1.) Regulate the construction and materials and fittings on gunpowder stores; and
- (2.) Prescribe the buildings and works from which gunpowder stores are to be separated, and the distances by which they are to be separated; and Order in Council prescribing situation and construction of stores.

- (3.) Prescribe the maximum amount of gunpowder, not exceeding two tons, to be kept in stores, graduated according to their construction and situation and their distance from the said buildings and works. Secs. 16-18.

Provided that an Order under this section shall not require the removal of any building lawfully in use at the date of the making of such Order.

17. In every gunpowder store the following general rules shall be observed; that is to say, General rules for stores.

- (1.) The provisions of an Order in Council relating to stores, so far as they apply to such store, shall be duly observed:
- (2.) There shall not be at the same time in the store an amount of gunpowder exceeding the amount specified in the license; and
- (3.) The store shall be used only for the keeping of gunpowder, and receptacles for or tools or implements for work connected with the keeping of such gunpowder; and
- (4.) The interior of the store, and the benches, shelves, and fittings therein, shall be so constructed or so lined or covered as to prevent the exposure of any iron or steel and the detaching of any grit, iron, steel, or similar substance, in such manner as to come into contact with the gunpowder, and such interior, benches, shelves, and fittings shall, so far as is reasonably practicable, be kept free from grit, and otherwise clean; and
- (5.) The store shall have attached thereto a sufficient lightning conductor ⁽¹⁾, unless it is made by excavation or is licensed for less than one thousand pounds of gunpowder; and
- (6.) Before repairs are done to or in any part of a store, the store shall, so far as practicable, be cleaned by the removal of all gunpowder and the thorough washing out of the store; and after such cleansing, these rules shall cease to apply to the store until gunpowder is again taken there; and
- (7.) Except after such cleaning, all tools and implements used in or in any repairs to the store shall be made only of wood, copper, or brass, or some soft metal or material, or shall be covered with some safe and suitable material; and
- (8.) Due provision shall be made, by the use of suitable working clothes without pockets, suitable shoes, searching, and otherwise, or by some of such means, for preventing the introduction into the store of fire, lucifer matches, or any substance or article likely to cause explosion or fire, or any iron, steel, or grit; but this rule shall not prevent the introduction of an artificial light of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger of fire or explosion; and
- (9.) No person shall smoke in any part of the store; and
- (10.) A person under the age of sixteen years shall not be employed in or enter the store, except in the presence and under the supervision of some grown-up person.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of the general rules in any store,—

- (a.) All or any part of the gunpowder in respect to which or being in the store when the offence was committed may be forfeited; and
- (b.) The occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and in addition (in the case of a second offence) ten pounds for every day during which such breach continues.

18. A store license shall be valid only for the person named in it, and shall annually, unless the circumstances have so changed that the grant of a new license would not be authorised by this Act, on application by post or otherwise, and payment of such fee, not exceeding one shilling, as may be from time to time fixed by Non-transferability, renewal, and forms of store licences.

Secs. 18-20. the local authority, be renewed by that authority, by endorsement or otherwise, for that year, and unless so renewed shall expire.

Store licenses shall be in the form from time to time directed by the Secretary of State.

Special rules for regulation of workmen in stores.

19. Every occupier of a gunpowder store may, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, make, and when made, may, with the like sanction, repeal, alter, or add to, special rules for the regulation of the persons managing or employed in or about such store, with a view to secure the observance of this Act therein, and the safety and proper discipline of the said persons and the safety of the public.

There may be annexed to any breach of special rules made in pursuance of this section such penalties, not exceeding forty shillings for each offence, as may be deemed just.

Application of Act to existing Stores for Gunpowder.

Definition of and continuing certificate for existing stores which are to be subject to this Act.

20. Any magazine established without a license from a local authority in pursuance of the Gunpowder Act, 1860, or of any enactment repealed by that Act, for the use of any mine, quarry, colliery, or factory of safety-fuzes, and in use at the passing of this Act, is in this Act referred to as an existing gunpowder store.

An existing gunpowder store shall not require a continuing certificate as a magazine from the Secretary of State, but shall require a continuing certificate from the local authority, and if such certificate is not applied for and obtained in manner provided by this Act, shall not be deemed to be a lawfully existing store.

The occupier of the store desirous of obtaining a continuing certificate shall, before the expiration of three months after the commencement of this Act, send an application for such certificate to the local authority, stating his name, address, and calling, and the situation and construction of the store, and accompanied by such particulars respecting the store as may be necessary to enable the local authority to make out the certificate.

The local authority upon receiving such application shall, as soon as practicable, on payment of such fee, not exceeding half-a-crown, as may be fixed by that authority, grant the continuing certificate, inserting therein such particulars as appear to them to be sufficient to identify the store, and inserting the maximum amount of gunpowder which the store is to be limited to hold, and such amount shall be the maximum amount which the store was capable of holding on the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, or such less amount as is limited by the regulations below in this section mentioned.

The regulations in Part II. of the first schedule of this Act shall apply to every store to which a continuing certificate is granted, as if they were contained in an Order in Council under this Act relating to stores.

For the purposes of this Act a continuing certificate for a store shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, be deemed to be a license, and the store a store licensed under this Act, and the provisions of this Act shall be construed accordingly.

Provided that—

- (1.) The store shall not be enlarged, or added to, or so altered as to be of a less secure construction, and any breach of this proviso shall be deemed to be a breach of the general rules relating to stores; and
- (2.) The continuing certificate shall not be limited in duration, but if the business carried on in the store is discontinued, and either such discontinuance continues for a period of twelve months or more, or the store is used for another purpose, such store shall cease to be deemed an existing gunpowder store.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the obtaining for any existing gunpowder store of a license from the local authority under this Act, as in the case of a new store, and a store for which such license is obtained shall, whether a continuing certificate has or has not been previously obtained for the same, cease to be deemed an existing gunpowder store.

The occupier of an existing gunpowder store may, until the expiration of the time within which he is required by this section to send to the local authority an application for a continuing certificate, and if he has sent such an application as is required by this section, may, until the expiration of six months after the expiration of the said time, or any earlier date at which he obtains such certificate, carry on his business in such store in like manner as if this Act had not passed. Secs. 20-23.

Retail Dealing with Gunpowder.

Registration and Regulation of Registered Premises.

21. A person desirous of registering with the local authority any premises for the keeping of gunpowder shall register his name and calling, and the said premises (in this Act referred to as his registered premises) in such manner and on payment of such fee, not exceeding one shilling, as may be directed by the local authority. Registration of premises with local authority.

Such registration shall be valid only for the person registered, and shall be annually renewed by sending by post or otherwise notice of such renewal to the local authority, together with such fee, not exceeding one shilling, as may be fixed by that authority.

22. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to registered premises: General rules for registered premises.

- (1.) The gunpowder shall be kept in a house or building, or in a fireproof safe, such safe, if not within a house or building, to be at a safe distance from any highway, street, public thoroughfare, or public place; and
- (2.) The amount of gunpowder on the same registered premises shall not—
 - (a.) If it is kept in a substantially constructed building exclusively appropriated for the purpose and detached from a dwelling-house, or in a fire-proof safe outside a dwelling-house, and detached therefrom, and at a safe distance from any highway, street, public thoroughfare, or public place, exceed two hundred pounds; and
 - (b.) If it is kept inside a dwelling-house, or in any building other than as last aforesaid, exceed fifty pounds, unless it is kept in a fire-proof safe within such house or building, in which case the amount shall not exceed one hundred pounds;
- (3.) An article or substance of an explosive or highly inflammable nature shall not be kept in a fire-proof safe with the gunpowder, and in every case shall be kept a safe distance from the gunpowder or the case containing the same; and
- (4.) Neither the building exclusively appropriated for the purpose of keeping the gunpowder nor the fire-proof safe shall have any exposed iron or steel in the interior thereof; and
- (5.) All gunpowder exceeding one pound in amount shall be kept in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the gunpowder from escaping.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of such general rules in any registered premises,—

- (a.) All or any part of the gunpowder in respect to which, or being in any house, building, place, safe, or receptacle in respect to which, the offence was committed may be forfeited; and
- (b.) The occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two shillings for every pound of gunpowder in respect of which or being on the premises in which the offence was committed.

Supplemental Provisions.

23. The occupier of every factory, magazine, store, and registered premises for gunpowder, and every person employed in or about the same, shall take all due precaution for the prevention of accidents by fire or explosion in the same, and for preventing unauthorised persons having access to the factory, magazine or store, or to the gunpowder therein or in the registered premises, and shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the purpose of the work in such factory, magazine, store, or premises. Precautions against fire or explosion to be taken by occupier in buildings.

24. Where any provisions of this Act limits the quantity of gunpowder or ingredients of gunpowder to be allowed in any building at any one time, all gunpowder and ingredients within the radius of twenty yards from the building and in course either of removal from the building, or of removal to the building for the supply and work thereof, shall be deemed to be in the building :

Provided that, if while the gunpowder or ingredients so in course of removal are within the radius, every machine and manufacturing process in the building is wholly stopped, there may, in addition to the quantity so allowed as aforesaid to be in the building, be within the radius a further quantity of gunpowder and ingredients so in course of removal as aforesaid, not exceeding the quantity specified in that behalf in the license, or in the case of an existing building in a lawfully existing factory for gunpowder ten hundredweight, or any less quantity so allowed as aforesaid to be in the building.

Where any provision of this Act limits the quantity of gunpowder or ingredients of gunpowder to be allowed in any machine at any one time, but does not limit the quantity to be in the building containing such machine, the foregoing provisions of this section shall apply, so far as circumstances admit, as if such machine were a building.

Where the quantity to be allowed in any building is limited to what is required for the immediate supply and work of such building, or by words not specifying the exact quantity, a Government inspector who considers that the quantity in any such building is in excess, may, after hearing the explanation of the occupier, require the occupier to diminish such quantity to the maximum named in the requisition.

The occupier, if he feel aggrieved by such requisition, may require the matter to be referred to arbitration in manner provided by this Act.

The exact quantity to be allowed in such building shall be determined by the requisition, or if the matter is referred to arbitration, by the award.

Regulations
as to arbitration.

25. An occupier authorised by this Act to require any matter to be referred to arbitration may, within one month after receiving the requisition, notice, or document relating to the matter to be so referred, send an objection thereto to the Secretary of State ; and if the cause of such objection is not, within one month after such objection is received by the Secretary of State removed by the Secretary of State waiving or varying the said requisition, notice, document, or matter, or otherwise (which the Secretary of State is hereby authorised to do), such occupier may, by notice sent within seven days after the expiration of the said month to the Secretary of State, require the matter to be referred to arbitration, and the date of the receipt by the Secretary of State of the last-mentioned notice shall be deemed to be the date of the reference.

Arbitrations under this Act shall be conducted in manner provided by the second schedule to this Act.

Fees for licenses.

26. There shall be payable in respect of licenses and continuing certificates granted by the Secretary of State such fees as may be from time to time fixed by him with the consent of the Treasury, not exceeding the fees in the third schedule to this Act, and if no fee is fixed the fees mentioned in the said schedule.

Such fees shall be taken and paid into the receipt of Her Majesty's Exchequer in such manner as the Treasury may from time to time direct, and shall be carried to the Consolidated Fund.

The Secretary of State may also require any applicant for a new license to pay such sum as the Secretary of State may think reasonable for expenses incurred upon any inquiry made by order of the Secretary of State with respect to the grant of such license.

When the local authority do not fix any fee which they are authorised by this Act to fix, the fee payable shall be the maximum fee which such authority are authorised to fix.

The fees payable to the local authority in respect of any license, certificate, or otherwise in pursuance of this Act, shall, where the clerk of the local authority is not wholly paid by fees, be carried to the credit of the local rate, or otherwise disposed of as such local authority may direct, and where such clerk is wholly paid by fees shall, unless the local authority otherwise direct, be paid to such clerk. Secs. 26-32.

27. For the purposes of the provisions of this Act with respect to the manufacture and keeping of gunpowder, all buildings and places adjoining each other and occupied together shall be deemed to be the same factory, magazine, store, or premises, and shall accordingly be included in one license or one registration. Adjoining places occupied together to be one place.

28. The local authority shall cause registers of all store licenses granted by and of all premises registered with them under this Act to be kept in such form and with such particulars as they may direct. Register of store licenses and registered premises to be kept by local authority.

The local authority shall, when so required by the Secretary of State, send to him, within the time fixed by such requisition, a copy of such register or any part thereof, and in default the clerk of such authority, and also the authority if they are in fault, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound for every day during which such default continues.

A ratepayer within the area of the local authority, and a licensee or person registered under this Act, upon payment of a fee of one shilling, and a Government inspector, and an officer appointed by any local authority for the purposes of this Act, and an officer of police, without payment, shall be entitled at all reasonable times to inspect and take copies of or extracts from any register kept in pursuance of this section; and the clerk of the local authority and every other person who fails to allow such inspection or taking copies of or extracts from the same, or demands any unauthorised fee therefor, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound for each offence.

29. If the occupier of a store or registered premises dies or becomes bankrupt, or has his affairs liquidated by arrangement, or becomes mentally incapable or otherwise disabled, the person carrying on the business of such occupier shall not be liable to any penalty or forfeiture under this Act for carrying on the business and acting under the license or registration during such reasonable time as may be necessary to allow him to obtain a store license from or to register with the local authority, so that he otherwise conform with the provisions of this Act. Provision in case of death, &c., of occupier of store or registered premises.

Sale of Gunpowder.

30. Gunpowder shall not be hawked, sold, or exposed for sale upon any highway, street, public thoroughfare, or public place. Restriction on sale of gunpowder in highways, &c.

If any gunpowder is hawked, sold, or exposed for sale in contravention of this section—

- (1.) The person hawking, selling, or exposing for sale the same, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings; and
- (2.) All or any part of the gunpowder which is so hawked or exposed for sale, or is found in the possession of any person convicted under this section, may be forfeited.

31. Gunpowder shall not be sold to any child apparently under the age of thirteen years; and any person selling gunpowder in contravention of this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds. Penalty for sale of gunpowder to children.

32. All gunpowder exceeding one pound in weight, when publicly exposed for sale or sold, shall be in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the gunpowder from escaping, and (except when the same is sold to any person employed by or on the property occupied by the vendor for immediate use in the service of the vendor or on such property,) the outermost receptacle containing such gunpowder shall have affixed the word "gunpowder" in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label, or other mark. Sale of gunpowder to be in closed packages, labelled.

If any gunpowder is sold or exposed for sale in contravention of this section—

1. The person selling or exposing for sale the same shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings; and
2. All or any part of the gunpowder so exposed for sale may be forfeited.

Secs. 33, 34.Conveyance of Gunpowder.

General rules as to packing of gunpowder for conveyance.

33. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the packing of gunpowder for conveyance :

1. The gunpowder, if not exceeding five pounds in amount, shall be contained in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle, made and closed so as to prevent the gunpowder from escaping ; and
2. The gunpowder, if not exceeding five pounds in amount, shall be contained either in a single package or a double package. A single package shall be a box, barrel, or case of such strength, construction, and character as may be for the time being approved by the Government inspector as being of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the gunpowder to escape. If the gunpowder is packed in a double package the inner package shall be a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the gunpowder from escaping, and the outer package shall be in a box, barrel, or case of wood or metal or other solid material, and shall be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the gunpowder to escape ; and
3. The interior of every package, whether single or double, shall be kept free from grit and otherwise clean ; and
4. Every package, whether single or double, when actually used for the package of gunpowder, shall not be used for any other purpose ; and
5. There shall not be any iron or steel in the construction of any such single package or inner or outer package, unless the same is effectually covered with tin, zinc, or other material ; and
6. The amount of gunpowder in any single package, or if there is a double package in any one outer package, shall not exceed one hundred pounds, except with the consent of and under conditions approved by a Government inspector ; and
7. On the outermost package there shall be affixed the word "gunpowder" in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label or other mark.

In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of any general rule in this section, the gunpowder in respect of which the breach is committed may be forfeited, and the person guilty of such breach shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

The Secretary of State may from time to time make, and when made, repeal, alter, and add to, rules for the purpose of rescinding, altering, or adding to the general rules contained in this section, and the rules so made by the Secretary of State shall have the same effect as if they were enacted in this section.

Bye-laws by harbour authority as to conveyance, loading, &c., of gunpowder.

34. Every harbour authority shall, with the sanction of the Board of Trade, make bye-laws for regulating the conveyance, loading, and unloading of gunpowder within the jurisdiction of the said authority, and in particular for declaring or regulating all or any of the following matters within the jurisdiction of the said authority ; namely,

1. Determining the notice to be given by ships and boats conveying, loading, or unloading gunpowder as merchandise within the said jurisdiction ; and
2. Regulating the navigation and place of mooring of such ships and boats ; and
3. Regulating, subject to the general rules with respect to packing in this Act contained, the mode of stowing and keeping gunpowder on board any such ship or boat, and of giving notice by brands, labels, or otherwise of the nature of the package containing the gunpowder ; and
4. Regulating the description, construction, fitting up, and licensing of the ships, boats, or carriages to be used for the conveyance of gunpowder, and the licensing and dress of the persons having charge thereof ; and
5. Prohibiting or subjecting to conditions and restrictions the conveyance of gunpowder with any explosive or any articles or substances, or in passenger ships, boats, trains, or carriages ; and Secs. 34, 35.

6. Prohibiting in cases where the loading or unloading of gunpowder within the jurisdiction of such authority appears to be specially dangerous to the public such loading or unloading, and fixing the places and times at which the gunpowder is to be loaded or unloaded, and the quantity to be loaded or unloaded or conveyed at one time or in one ship, boat, or carriage ; and
7. Regulating the mode of and the precautions to be observed in conveying any gunpowder, and in the loading or unloading any ship, boat, or carriage conveying gunpowder as merchandise, and the time during which gunpowder may be kept during such conveyance, loading, or unloading ; and
8. Fixing the times at which lights or fires are to be allowed or not allowed on board such ships or boats, as before mentioned, or at which a constable or officer of the harbour authority is to be on board them ; and
9. Providing for the publication and supply of copies of the bye-laws ; and
10. Enforcing the observance of this Act both by their own servants and agents and also by other persons when within the said jurisdiction ; and
11. Generally for protecting, whether by means similar to those above mentioned or not, persons and property from danger.

The penalties to be annexed to any breach or attempt to commit any breach of any such bye-laws may be all or any of the following penalties, and may be imposed on such persons and graduated in such manner as may be deemed just, according to the gravity of the offence, and according as it may be a first or second or other subsequent offence, that is to say, pecuniary penalties not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, and ten pounds for each day during which the offence continues, and forfeiture of all or any part of the gunpowder in respect of which, or found in the ship, boat, or carriage in respect of which, the breach of bye-law has taken place.

In the event of any breach of a bye-law under this section in the case of any ship, boat, carriage, or gunpowder, whether there has or has not been any conviction for such breach, it shall be lawful for the harbour-master, or other officer named in the bye-laws, or any person acting under the orders of the harbour authority, to cause such ship, boat, carriage, or gunpowder, at the expense of the owner thereof, to be removed to such place or otherwise dealt with in such manner as may be in conformity with the bye-laws, and all expenses incurred in such removal may be recovered in the same manner as a penalty under this section, and any person resisting such harbour-master or officer or other person in such removal shall be liable to the same penalties as a person is liable to for obstructing the harbour-master in the execution of his duty.

On any part of the coast of the United Kingdom or in any tidal water for which there is no harbour authority, the Board of Trade may, if they think it expedient, make bye-laws under this section for that part or water as if it were a harbour and they were the harbour authority, and such bye-laws shall be deemed to have been made by a harbour authority with the sanction of the Board of Trade ; and they may by such bye-laws define the area within which such bye-laws are to be observed, and the authorities and officers by whom such bye-laws are to be enforced and carried into effect within such area, and every such authority and officer shall for the purposes of this Act, other than making bye-laws or assenting to a site for a new factory or magazine, have the same power within the said area as a harbour authority and an officer of a harbour authority have respectively under this Act in a harbour.

35. Every railway company and every canal company over whose railway or canal any gunpowder is carried, or intended to be carried, shall, with the sanction of the Board of Trade, make bye-laws for regulating the conveyance, loading, and unloading of such gunpowder on the railway or canal of the company making the bye-laws, and in particular for declaring and regulating all or any of the following matters in the case of such railway or canal ; that is to say, Bye-laws by railway and canal company as to conveyance, loading, &c., of gunpowder.

1. Determining the notice to be given of the intention to send gunpowder for conveyance as merchandise on the railway or canal ; and
2. Regulating, subject to the general rules with respect to packing in this Act

Secs. 35, 36.

- contained, the mode of stowing and keeping gunpowder for conveyance and of giving notice by brands, labels, or otherwise of the nature of the package containing the gunpowder; and
3. Regulating the description and construction of carriages, ships, or boats to be used in the conveyance of gunpowder; and
 4. Prohibiting, or subjecting to conditions and restrictions, the conveyance of gunpowder with any explosive, or with any articles or substances, or in passenger trains, carriages, ships, or boats; and
 5. Fixing the places and times at which the gunpowder is to be loaded or unloaded, and the quantity to be loaded or unloaded or conveyed at one time, or in one carriage, ship, or boat; and
 6. Determining the precautions to be observed in conveying gunpowder, and in loading and unloading the carriages, ships, and boats used in such conveyance, and the time during which the gunpowder may be kept during such conveyance, loading, and unloading; and
 7. Providing for the publication and supply of copies of the bye-laws; and
 8. Enforcing the observance of this Act both by their servants and agents, and also by other persons when on the canal or railway of such company; and
 9. Generally for protecting, whether by means similar to those above mentioned or not, persons and property from danger.

Such bye-laws, when confirmed by the Board of Trade, shall apply to the railway, canal, agents, and servants of the company making the same, and to the persons using such railway or canal, or the premises connected therewith and occupied by or under the control of the company.

The penalties to be annexed to any breach or attempt to commit any breach of any such bye-laws may be all or any of the following penalties, and may be imposed on such persons and graduated in such manner as may be deemed just, according to the gravity of the offence, and according as it may be a first, second, or other subsequent offence, that is to say, pecuniary penalties not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, and ten pounds for each day during which the offence continues, and forfeiture of all or any part of the gunpowder in respect of which, or being in the carriage, ship, or boat or train of carriages, ships, or boats in respect of which the breach of bye-law has taken place.

Bye-laws as to wharves in which gunpowder is loaded or unloaded.

36. The occupier of every wharf or dock on or in which gunpowder is loaded or unloaded (if such loading or unloading is not otherwise subject to any bye-laws under this Act) may, and if so required by the Secretary of State shall, from time to time, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, make bye-laws for regulating the loading and unloading of gunpowder on or in such wharf or dock, and in particular for declaring or regulating all or any of the matters which can be declared or regulated in the case of any wharf or dock within the jurisdiction of a harbour authority by bye-laws made by such authority in pursuance of this Act.

The penalties to be annexed to any breach, or attempt to commit any breach, of any such bye-laws, may be all or any of the following penalties, and may be imposed on such persons and graduated in such manner as may be deemed just, according to the gravity of the offence, and according as it may be a first or second or other subsequent offence; that is to say, pecuniary penalties not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, and ten pounds for each day during which the offence continues, and forfeiture of all or any part of the gunpowder in respect of which, or found on the wharf or in the dock or part of the wharf or dock in respect of which, the breach of bye-law has taken place.

Any bye-laws made in pursuance of this section may, and if required by the Secretary of State shall, be rescinded, altered, or added to by bye-laws made by the occupier, with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

If an occupier is required by the Secretary of State to make bye-laws under this section for any matter, and fail within three months after such requisition to comply therewith to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of State may make such bye-laws, which shall have effect as if made by the occupier with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

Where by reason of a wharf being a public wharf or otherwise, there is no occupier thereof, or the occupier thereof is unknown, the Secretary of State may make bye-laws with respect to such wharf in like manner as if the occupier had failed to comply with his requisition: Provided that where such wharf abuts on any harbour, canal, or railway, the harbour authority or canal or railway company shall have the same power, and, if so required by the Secretary of State, shall be under the same obligation to make bye-laws under this section for such wharf as if they were the occupiers thereof.

Secs. 36-38.

37. The Secretary of State may from time to time make, and when made, rescind, alter, or add to, bye-laws for regulating the conveyance, loading, and unloading of gunpowder in any case in which bye-laws made under any other provision of this Act do not apply, and in particular for declaring or regulating all or any of the following matters; that is to say, Bye-laws as to conveyance by road or otherwise, or loading of gunpowder.

1. Regulating the description and construction of carriages to be used in the conveyance of gunpowder or merchandise; and
2. Prohibiting or subjecting to conditions and restrictions the conveyance of gunpowder with any explosive, or with any articles or substances, or in passenger carriages; and
3. Fixing the places and times at which the gunpowder is to be loaded or unloaded, and the quantity to be loaded or unloaded or conveyed at one time or in one carriage; and
4. Determining the precautions to be observed in conveying gunpowder, and in loading and unloading the carriages used in such conveyance, and the time during which the gunpowder may be kept during such conveyance, loading and unloading; and
5. Providing for the publication and supply of copies of the bye-laws; and
6. Generally for protecting, whether by means similar to those above mentioned or not, persons or property from danger; and
7. Adapting, on good cause being shown, the bye-laws in force under this section to the circumstances of any particular locality.

The penalties to be annexed to any breach, or attempt to commit any breach, of any such bye-laws may be all or any of the following penalties, and may be imposed on such persons and graduated in such manner as may be deemed just, according to the gravity of the offence, and according as it may be a first, second, or other subsequent offence; that is to say, pecuniary penalties not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, and ten pounds for each day during which the breach continues, and forfeiture of all or any part of the gunpowder in respect of which, or being in the carriage in respect of which, the breach of bye-law has taken place.

For the purpose of any mode of conveyance which is not a conveyance by land, this section shall be construed as if ship and boat were included in the term carriage.

38. Any recommendation to Her Majesty in Council, any general rules with respect to packing, and any bye-laws which is or are proposed to be made under this Act by a Secretary of State or the Board of Trade shall, before being so made, be published in such manner as the Secretary of State or the Board of Trade, as the case may be, may direct as being in his or their opinion sufficient for giving information thereof to all local authorities, corporations, and persons interested.

Confirmation and publication of bye-laws.

The bye-laws framed by any railway company, canal company, or harbour authority under this Act shall, before being sanctioned by the Board of Trade, be published in such manner as may be directed by the Board of Trade, with a notice of the intention of such company or authority to apply for the confirmation thereof, and may be sanctioned by the Board of Trade with or without any omission, addition, or alteration, or may be disallowed.

Every such bye-law may be from time to time added to, altered, or rescinded by a bye-law made in like manner and with the like sanction as the original bye-law.

The Secretary of State or the Board of Trade, as the case may be, shall receive and consider any objections or suggestions made by any local authority, corporation, or persons interested with respect to any recommendation, general rules, or Secs. 38-40. bye-laws published in pursuance of this section, and may, if it seem fit, amend such recommendation, general rules, or bye-laws with a view of meeting such objections or suggestions without again publishing the same.

PART II.

LAW RELATING TO OTHER EXPLOSIVES.

Application of Part I. to other Explosives.

Part I. relating to gunpowder applied to other explosives.

Modification of Part I. as applied to explosives other than gunpowder.

39. Subject to the provisions hereafter in this part of this Act contained, Part One of this Act relating to gunpowder shall apply to every other description of explosive, in like manner as if those provisions were herein re-enacted with the substitution of that description of explosive for gunpowder.

40. The following modifications and additions shall be made in and to Part One of this Act as applied to explosives other than gunpowder:

- (1.) The draft license for a factory or magazine submitted by an applicant to the Secretary of State shall specify such particulars as the Secretary of State may require; and
- (2.) The prescribed general rules shall be substituted for the general rules in Part One of this Act relating to factories, magazines, stores, and registered premises respectively; but no such general rule shall require the removal of any building or work in use at the date of the Order in Council by which such rule is made;
- (3.) The Secretary of State may from time to time alter the general rules relating to packing contained in Part One of this Act for the purpose of adapting the same to the packing of any explosive other than gunpowder; and
- (4.) For the maximum amount limited by Part One of this Act to be kept for private use and not for sale, or in a store, and for the minimum amount limited by Part One of this Act to be exposed for sale or sold otherwise than in a substantial case, box, canister, or other receptacle as therein mentioned, there shall be substituted in the case of explosives other than gunpowder the following amounts, namely:
 - (a.) Where such explosive consists of safety cartridges ⁽¹⁾ made with gunpowder, an amount containing not more than five times the maximum or minimum amount of gunpowder, as the case may be, above mentioned; and
 - (b.) In the case of any other explosive, the prescribed amount; and
- (5.) Two or more descriptions of explosives shall not be kept in the same store or registered premises, except such descriptions as may be prescribed in that behalf ⁽²⁾, and when so kept, shall be subject to the prescribed conditions and restrictions; and
- (6.) Where any explosive, other than gunpowder, is allowed to be kept in the same store or registered premises with gunpowder, the maximum amount of gunpowder to be kept therein shall be the prescribed amount in lieu of the amount fixed by Part One of this Act; and
- (7.) Where any explosive, other than gunpowder, is allowed to be kept in the same magazine, store, or registered premises with gunpowder, the prescribed general rules shall be observed instead of the general rules in Part One of this Act; and
- (8.) There shall be on the outermost package containing the explosive in lieu of the word "gunpowder" the name of the explosive, with the addition of the word "explosive," and if such name is materially false the person selling or exposing for sale such explosive, and also the owner of the explosive, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds : Secs. 40-43.

(9.) With respect to the importation from any place out of the United Kingdom of either dynamite or gun cotton, or any explosive (other than gunpowder, cartridges made with gunpowder, percussion caps, fireworks, and any prescribed explosive), the following provisions shall have effect; that is to say,

(a.) The owner and master of any ship having on board any such explosive shall not permit the same to be unloaded and delivered to any person who does not hold a license to import the same (in this Act called an importation license) from the Secretary of State, and any transshipment shall for the purpose of this section be deemed to be delivery; and

(b.) The Secretary of State may grant an importation license for any such explosive, and may annex thereto any prohibitions and restrictions with respect to the composition and quality of the explosive, and the unloading, landing, delivery, and conveyance thereof, and such further provisions and restrictions as he may think fit, for the protection of the public from danger; and

(c.) The license shall be of such duration as the Secretary of State may fix, and shall be available only for the person named in the license; and

(d.) In the event of any breach by any act or default of the provisions of this section with respect to the importation of an explosive, or of the provisions of any importation license, all or any part of the explosive with respect to which such breach is committed, or being in any ship or boat in connection with which such breach is committed, may be forfeited, and the owner or master of such ship or boat, and the licensee or person to whom the explosive is delivered, shall each be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding two shillings for every pound of such explosive; and

(e.) The Commissioners of Customs and their officers shall have the same power with respect to any such explosive, and the ship containing the same, as they have for the time being with respect to any article on the importation of which restrictions are for the time being imposed by the law relating to the customs, and the ship containing the same, and the enactments for the time being in force relating to the customs, or any such article or ship shall apply accordingly.

41. Nothing in this Act shall apply to the filling or conveying, for private use and not for sale, of any safety cartridges to the amount allowed by this Act to be kept for private use. Exemption of making and carrying safety cartridges for private use.

42. Section twenty-nine of the Passengers Act, 1855, and section twenty-three to twenty-seven, both inclusive, of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1873, shall apply to every explosive within the meaning of this Act in like manner as they apply to gunpowder. Extension of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 119, s. 29, and 36 & 37 Vict. c. 85, ss. 23-27, to all explosives.

Specially dangerous Explosives.

43. Notwithstanding anything in this Act, Her Majesty from time to time, by Order in Council, may prohibit, either absolutely, or except in pursuance of a license of the Secretary of State under this Act, or may subject to conditions or restrictions the manufacture, keeping, importation from any place out of the United Kingdom, conveyance, and sale, or any of them, of any explosive which is of so dangerous a character that, in the judgment of Her Majesty, it is expedient for the public safety to make such Order. Power to prohibit manufacture, importation, storage, and carriage of specially dangerous explosives.

Provided that such Order shall not actually prohibit anything which may be lawfully done in pursuance of any continuing certificate under this Act.

Any explosive manufactured or kept in contravention of any such Order shall be deemed to be manufactured or kept, as the case may be, in an unauthorised place.

Secs. 43-46. Any explosive conveyed in contravention of any such Order shall be deemed to be conveyed in contravention of a bye-law made under this Act with respect to the conveyance of explosives.

If any explosive is imported or sold in contravention of any such Order,—

1. All or any part of such explosives may be forfeited ; and
2. The owner or master of the ship in which it was imported shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every pound of such explosive brought in the ship ; and
3. The person to whom it was delivered and the person selling the same shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every pound of such explosive delivered or sold or found in his possession.

The Commissioners of Customs and their officers shall have the same power with respect to any such explosive, and the ship containing the same, as they have for the time being with respect to any article prohibited to be imported by the law relating to the customs, and the ship containing the same, and the enactments for the time being in force relating to the customs and any such article or ship shall apply accordingly.

Provisions in favour of certain Manufactures and Dealers.

Provision in favour of makers, &c., of blasting cartridges.

44. The occupier of a factory for any explosive shall not be required by this Act to take out a factory license for making up on such factory the explosive made thereon into cartridges or charges for cannon or blasting not containing within themselves their own means of ignition.

The occupier of any magazine, store, or registered premises for keeping any explosive may keep that explosive when made up into such cartridges or charges as above in this section mentioned, as if it were not so made up, and the provisions of this Act with respect to the keeping of any explosive shall apply to the keeping of that explosive when made up into the said cartridges or charges, in like manner as if the explosive were not so made up.

Provision in favour of makers of new explosive for experiment.

45. The occupier of a factory for any explosive who manufactures a new explosive or new form of explosive similar to the one specified in his license, shall not be deemed to have manufactured the same in an unauthorised place if he manufacture the same on a small scale, and exclusively for the purpose of trial and not for sale, and he send notice of the same, as soon as he has manufactured it, to the Secretary of State, and if he observe the provisions of this Act, so far as they are applicable.

Provision in favour of gunmakers, &c., making cartridges.

46. The occupier of a magazine, store, or registered premises for any explosive shall not be required by this Act to take out a factory license by reason that in connection with such magazine, store, or premises he fills for sale or otherwise any cartridge for small arms with the said explosive, so that he observe the following regulations ; namely,

- (1.) There shall not be in the room in which such filling is being carried on more than five pounds of gunpowder, or the prescribed amount of any other explosive, except it is made up into safety cartridges ; and
- (2.) Any work unconnected with the making of the cartridges shall not be carried on in the room while such filling is being carried on ; and
- (3.) There shall not be in the room while such filling is being carried on any fire nor any artificial light, except a light of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger of fire or explosion ; and
- (4.) In the case of a magazine or store, the room in which the filling is carried on shall be detached from the magazine or store, but in the immediate neighbourhood thereof, and at such distance therefrom as may be specified in the case of a magazine by the license, and in the case of a store by an Order in Council relating to stores ; and
- (5.) The occupier shall give notice in the case of a magazine to the Secretary of State, and in the case of a store or registered premises to the local authority, that he intends to carry on such filling of cartridges as is allowed by this section.

Provided that this section shall not, except with the consent of the Secretary of State, apply to any magazine or store for which a continuing certificate has been obtained under this Act, which consent the Secretary of State, if satisfied that the filling of cartridges in accordance with this section ought (due regard being had to the safety of the public) to be allowed, may grant either absolutely or upon such conditions as he may, under the special circumstances of the case, think expedient to secure the safety of the public. Secs. 46-48.

The regulations in this section and any conditions so made by the Secretary of State as last aforesaid, shall be deemed to be general rules under this Act relating to the magazine, store, and registered premises respectively, and the breach of them shall be punished accordingly.

47. The occupier of any magazine or store for any explosive shall not be required by this Act to take out a factory license by reason that, in connection with such magazine or store, he, by filling cartridges, making charges, drying, sifting, fitting, or otherwise, adapts or prepares the said explosive for use exclusively in his mine or quarry, or in some excavation or work carried on by him or under his control, so that he observe the following regulations; namely, Provision in favour of owners of mines and quarries, as to making charges, &c. for blasting.

- (1.) There shall not be in the workshop in which such adaptation or preparation is carried on more than one hundred pounds of gunpowder or the prescribed amount of any other explosive; and
- (2.) Any work unconnected with such adaptation or preparation shall not be carried on in the said workshop while such adaptation or preparation is being carried on; and
- (3.) The said workshop shall be detached from the magazine or store, but in the immediate neighbourhood thereof, and at such distance therefrom as may be specified, in the case of a magazine by the license, and in the case of a store by an Order in Council relating to stores; and
- (4.) An explosive of one description shall not be converted into an explosive of another description, and shall not be unmade or resolved into its ingredients; and
- (5.) The occupier shall give notice in the case of a magazine to the Secretary of State, and in the case of a store to the local authority, that he intends to carry on such adaptation or preparation as is allowed by this section.

Provided that this section shall not, except with the consent of the Secretary of State, apply to any magazine or store for which a continuing certificate has been obtained under this Act, which consent the Secretary of State, if satisfied that the adaptation or preparation in accordance with this section ought (due regard being had to the safety of the public) to be allowed, may grant either absolutely or upon such conditions as he may, under the special circumstances of the case, think expedient to secure the safety of the public.

The regulations in this section, and any conditions so made by the Secretary of State as last aforesaid, shall be deemed to be general rules under this Act relating to the magazine and store respectively, and the breach of them shall be punished accordingly.

The following general rules shall apply as if the said workshop were a danger building, that is to say, if the adaptation or preparation carried on is of gunpowder only, the general rules with respect to a factory in Part One of this Act, and in any other case the prescribed general rules; and the breach of such general rules shall be punished in like manner as the breach of general rules with respect to a factory.

48. A firework factory shall not be deemed to be a small firework factory for the purposes of this Act if there is upon the same factory at the same time— Provision in favour of small firework manufacturer who may obtain a license from the local authority.

- (a.) More than one hundred pounds of any explosive other than manufactured fireworks and coloured fires and stars; or
- (b.) More than five hundred pounds of manufactured fireworks, either finished or partly finished; or
- (c.) More than twenty-five pounds of coloured fires or stars, not made up into manufactured fireworks.

The occupier of a small firework factory shall not be required to obtain a license

Secs. 48–51. under Part One of this Act for such factory if he has obtained a license from the local authority under this part of this Act.

A person having such license from the local authority who manufactures an explosive (other than nitro-glycerine or any prescribed explosive) for the purpose only of the manufacture of coloured fires or a manufactured firework in accordance with this Act, and does not sell the same except in the form of coloured fires packed in the manner required by this Act, or of a manufactured firework, shall not be deemed to manufacture an explosive in an unauthorised place.

Licensing by local authority and regulation of small firework factories.

49. Any person may apply for a small firework factory license to the local authority at the time and place appointed by such authority, stating his name, address, and calling, and the proposed site and construction of the factory, and the amount and description of explosive he proposes to have therein, and in any building therein; and the local authority shall, as soon as practicable, if the proposed site, construction of the factory, and amount of explosive is in accordance with the Order in Council regulating small firework factories, grant to the applicant, on payment of such fee, not exceeding five shillings, as may be fixed by that authority, the license applied for.

The powers of this Act of making Orders in Council with respect to stores and of prescribing general rules with respect to stores shall extend to making Orders in Council and prescribing general rules with respect to small firework factories and the buildings thereon; and any breach (by any act or default) of any such general rule shall involve the same penalties and forfeitures as a breach of a general rule relating to stores.

A small firework factory license shall be valid only for the person named in it, and the provisions of this Act with respect to the renewal, expiration, and form of store licenses, and fees for such renewal, and to special rules for the regulation of persons managing or employed in or about stores, shall apply in like manner as if they were herein enacted, and in terms made applicable to small firework factory licenses and small firework factories respectively.

Keeping without a license and conveyance of percussion caps, &c.

50. A person shall not be required by this Act to take out a license or to register any premises for the keeping of percussion caps, or safety-fuzes for blasting, or fog-signals kept by any railway company for use on the railway of such company, or any prescribed explosive.

It shall not be obligatory on any harbour authority, railway company, canal company, or occupier of a wharf, to make any bye-laws with respect to the conveyance, loading, or unloading of any explosives to which this section applies.

It shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by Order in Council, to exempt any explosive to which this section applies, or any description thereof, from any other of the provisions of this Act, or to declare that a license shall be required for the keeping of any explosive to which this section applies, or any description thereof, or that bye-laws shall be made with respect to the loading, unloading, and conveyance thereof.

Existing Factories, Magazines, and Stores.

Application of Part I. of the Act to existing factories and magazines.

51. In any continuing certificate for a lawfully existing factory or magazine for any explosive other than gunpowder, the regulations set out in the first schedule to this Act shall not form part of the terms of such certificate, but in lieu thereof the Secretary of State shall insert in the certificate as the terms thereof,—

- (1.) If the factory or magazine is for dynamite or any substance having nitro-glycerine as one of its component parts or ingredients, the conditions contained in the existing license, with such modifications (if any) as the Secretary of State may think necessary in order to bring the same into conformity with this Act, and also any limitation of time for the expiration of the license contained in the existing license, and also the existing power of the Secretary of State to revoke the license; and
- (2.) In any other case, such terms as the Secretary of State may think expedient, having regard to the conditions (if any) contained in the license under which the factory or magazine is established; and such terms shall include any limitation of time contained in such license, but shall not require the removal of any lawfully existing building or work. Secs. 51-55.

If a new license under this Act is obtained for keeping in an existing gunpowder store any explosive other than gunpowder, the continuing certificate of such store shall be determined, and the store shall cease to be deemed to be an existing gunpowder store within the meaning of this Act.

52. Where the license of a factory or magazine for any explosive other than gunpowder will expire within twelve months after the commencement of this Act, the occupier of such factory or magazine shall not require a continuing certificate under this Act, but until such license expires shall be entitled to use such factory or magazine in like manner as if this Act had not passed, without prejudice nevertheless to any application by him for a license under this Act for such factory or magazine, but after a license under this Act is obtained for the same, or after the expiration of the old license, such factory or magazine shall not be deemed to be a lawfully existing factory or magazine within the meaning of this Act. Continuing certificate not required for factory, magazine, or importation license expiring within twelve months, or for stores licensed under Nitro-glycerine Act, 1869.

The occupier of any magazine licensed at the time of the passing of this Act by a general magazine license under the Nitro-glycerine Act, 1869, shall not require a continuing certificate under this Act, but until the expiration of six months after the commencement of this Act shall be entitled to use such magazine in like manner as if this Act had not passed, without prejudice nevertheless to a license under this Act being obtained for the same; but after a license under this Act is obtained for the same, or after the expiration of the said six months, such license shall determine, and such magazine shall not be deemed to be a lawfully existing magazine or store within the meaning of this Act.

The holder of any importation license under the Nitro-glycerine Act, 1869, shall, until the expiration of six months after the commencement of this Act, be entitled to act under such license in like manner as if this Act had not passed, without prejudice nevertheless to any application by him for an importation license under this Act; but after such license under this Act is obtained, or after the expiration of the said six months, such existing license shall determine.

PART III.

ADMINISTRATION OF LAW.

Government Supervision.

Inspection.

53. The Secretary of State may from time to time by order appoint any fit persons to be inspectors for the purposes of this Act, and assign them their duties, and award them such salaries as the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury may approve and remove such inspectors, and any such inspector is referred to in this Act as a Government inspector. Appointment of Government inspectors.

Every order appointing an inspector shall be published in the London Gazette.

54. Any person who practises or acts, or is a partner with any person who practises or acts, as a manufacturer, storer, carrier, importer or exporter of or trader or dealer in an explosive, or holds any patent connected with an explosive, or is otherwise directly or indirectly engaged or interested in any such manufacture, storage, conveyance, importation, exportation, trade, dealing, or patent, shall not act as an inspector under this Act. Disqualification of persons as inspectors.

55. A Government inspector shall have power to make such examination and inquiry as may be necessary to ascertain whether this Act is complied with, and for that purpose,— Powers of Government inspectors.

- (1.) He may enter, inspect, and examine any factory, magazine, or store of any explosive, and every part thereof, at all times by day and night, but so as not to unnecessarily impede or obstruct the work in such factory, magazine, or store, and may make inquiries as to the observance of this Act, and all matters and things relating to the safety of the public or of the persons employed in or about such factory, magazine, or store; and

Secs. 55-58.

- (2.) He may enter, inspect, and examine any premises registered under this Act, and every part thereof, in which any explosive is kept, or is reasonably supposed by him to be kept, at all reasonable times by day; and
- (3.) He may require the occupier of any factory, magazine, store, or premises which he is entitled, under this section, to enter, or a person employed by such occupier therein, to give him samples of any explosive or ingredients of an explosive therein, or of any substance therein, the keeping of which is restricted or regulated by this Act, or of any substance therein which the inspector believes to be an explosive, or such ingredients or substance.

The occupier of every such factory, magazine, store, and registered premises, his agents and servants, shall furnish the means required by the inspector as necessary for every such entry, inspection, examination, and inquiry.

Any person who fails to permit a Government inspector to enter, inspect, examine, or make inquiries in pursuance of this section, or to comply with any requisition of such inspector in pursuance of this section, or who in any manner obstructs such inspector in the execution of his duties under this Act shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds for each offence.

Notice by Government inspector to remedy dangerous practices, &c., and penalty for non-compliance.

56. If in any matter (which is not provided for by any express provision of this Act) an inspector find any factory, magazine, or store for an explosive, or any part thereof, or any thing or practice therein or connected therewith, to be unnecessarily dangerous or defective, so as, in his opinion, to tend to endanger the public safety, or the bodily safety of any person, such inspector may require the occupier of such factory, magazine, or store to remedy the same.

Where the occupier objects to comply with the requisition, he may require the matter to be referred to arbitration in manner provided by this Act.

No person shall be precluded by any contract from doing such acts as may be necessary to comply with a requisition or award under this section; and no person shall be liable under any contract to any penalty or forfeiture for doing those acts if he gave notice of such contract to the inspector at or before the time at which the inspector made the requisition or to the arbitrators before the award was made.

If the occupier fail to comply with the requisition or award within twenty days after the expiration of the time for requiring the matter to be referred to arbitration if there is no reference to arbitration, or if there is such a reference after the date of the award, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every day during which he so fails to comply.

Provided that the Court, if satisfied that the occupier has taken active measures for complying with the requisition or award, but has not, with reasonable diligence, been able to complete the works, may adjourn any proceedings taken before them for punishing such failure, and if the works are completed within a reasonable time in the opinion of the Court, no penalty shall be inflicted.

Annual report of Government inspectors
proceedings.
Inspection
by railway inspectors or inspectors of Board of Trade.

57. A report of the proceedings under this Act shall be made annually to the Secretary of State, by such inspectors and in such manner and form as may be directed by him, and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

58. The Board of Trade may from time to time, by order, direct—

- (a.) Any person acting under the Board as an inspector of railways to inquire into the observance of this Act by any railway company or canal company, and generally to act with respect to any railway or canal as an inspector under this Act; or
- (b.) Any person acting under the Board as an inspector or otherwise for the purposes of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or the Acts amending the same, to inquire into the observance of this Act in any harbour or in the case of any ship, and generally to act in such harbour and with respect to ships as an inspector under this Act.

The Board of Trade may revoke any such order; and each such inspector shall, while such order is in force, have for that purpose the same powers and authorities as he has under the Acts in pursuance of which he was originally appointed inspector, and also the powers and authorities of a Government inspector under this Act. Secs. 58-64.

59. Where a magazine or store is established for the purpose of any mine subject to the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1872, or the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872, by the owner (as defined by such Act) of the mine, the Secretary of State may from time to time by order direct an inspector under either of those Acts to act with respect to such magazine or store as a Government inspector under this Act, and may revoke any such order; and such inspector shall, while such order is in force, have for that purpose the same powers and authorities as he has under the said Acts, and also the powers and authorities of a Government inspector under this Act. Application of 35 & 36 Vict. c. 76, and c. 77. to magazines used for mines.

60. A copy of any license confirmed by the Secretary of State under this Act, and of any special rules under this Act, certified by a Government inspector, shall be evidence of such license and special rules respectively, and of the fact of such license having been duly granted and confirmed, and such special rules duly established under this Act. License and special rules certified by Government inspector to be evidence. 35 & 36 Vict. c. 76, s. 59.

61. A Government inspector, and any other person authorised by him for the purpose, may keep and convey any sample taken for the purposes of this Act by or by authority of such inspector, so that the amount of it do not exceed what is reasonably necessary for the purpose of enabling such inspector to perform his duties under this Act, and be kept and carried with all due precautions to prevent accident; and such inspector or person shall not be liable to any penalty, punishment, or forfeiture under this or any other Act for keeping or conveying such sample. Keeping and carriage of samples by Government inspector.

62. The salaries of the Government inspectors, and the expenses incurred by the Secretary of State or the Government inspectors in carrying this Act into execution, shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament. Salaries of Government inspectors and expenses of Act.

Accidents.

63. Whenever there occurs any accident by explosion or by fire in or about or in connection with any factory, magazine, or store, or any accident by explosion or by fire causing loss of life or personal injury in or about or in connection with any registered premises, the occupier of such factory, magazine, store, or premises shall forthwith send or cause to be sent notice of such accident and of the loss of life or personal injury (if any) occasioned thereby to the Secretary of State. A notice of any accident of which notice is sent in pursuance of this section to a Government inspector need not be sent to any inspector or sub-inspector of factories or any inspector of mines. Notice to be given of accidents connected with explosive.

Where in, about, or in connection with any carriage, ship, or boat, either conveying an explosive, or on or from which an explosive is being loaded or unloaded, there occurs any accident by explosion or by fire causing loss of life or personal injury, or if the amount of explosive conveyed or being so loaded or unloaded exceeds in the case of gunpowder half a ton, and in the case of any other explosive the prescribed amount, any accident by explosion or by fire, the owner or master of such carriage, ship, or boat, and the owner of the explosive conveyed therein or being loaded or unloaded therefrom, or one of them, shall forthwith send or cause to be sent notice of such accident, and of the loss of life or personal injury, if any, occasioned thereby, to the Secretary of State.

Every such occupier, owner, or master as aforesaid who fails to comply with this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

64. Where an accident by explosion or fire has occurred in, and wholly or partly destroyed a factory magazine, or any magazine or store, the factory magazine, magazine or store shall not be reconstructed, and any further supply of an explosive shall not be put therein, except with the permission of the Secretary of State; and any explosive put therein in contravention of this section shall be deemed to be kept in an unauthorised place, and the offence may be punished accordingly: Reconstruction of buildings destroyed by accident.

Secs. 64-66. Provided, that this enactment shall not prevent the reconstruction of a factory magazine in any lawfully existing factory upon such site in the factory, and with such precautions as may seem reasonable to the Secretary of State, due regard being had to the working of the factory as well as to the safety of the public and of the persons employed therein.

Where an accident by explosion or fire in a factory has wholly or partly destroyed any building of such factory as to which a Government inspector has previously to the accident sent to the occupier a notice that the building is unduly near to some building or work outside the factory, such building shall be reconstructed only upon such site in the factory and with such precautions as may seem reasonable to the Secretary of State, due regard being had to the working of the factory as well as to the safety of the public and of the persons employed therein.

Where an accident by explosion or by fire in a factory has wholly or partly destroyed two or more buildings in such factory, not more than one of such buildings shall be reconstructed, except with the permission of the Secretary of State; provided that this enactment shall not apply to any buildings in a lawfully existing factory, if either both or all such buildings are incorporating mills, or if as regards any other buildings a Government inspector has not previously to the accident sent to the occupier a notice that such buildings are unduly near to each other.

Where a building is constructed on a different site in pursuance of this section, the Secretary of State shall cause the necessary alterations to be made in the license, and such alterations shall be deemed to be part of the license.

The reconstruction of any building in contravention of this section shall be deemed to be a breach of the terms of the license, and shall be punished accordingly.

Provisions as to coroners inquests on deaths from accidents connected with explosives.

65. With respect to coroners inquests on the bodies of persons whose death may have been caused by the explosion of any explosive or by any accident in connection with an explosive, the following provisions shall have effect:

- (1.) Where a coroner holds an inquest upon a body of any person whose death may have been caused by any accident of which notice is required by this Act to be given to the Secretary of State, or by the explosion of any explosive, the coroner shall adjourn such inquest unless a Government inspector, or some person on behalf of the Secretary of State, is present to watch the proceedings:
- (2.) The coroner, at least four days before holding the adjourned inquest, shall send to the Secretary of State notice in writing of the time and place of holding the adjourned inquest:
- (3.) The coroner, before the adjournment, may take evidence to identify the body, and may order the interment thereof:
- (4.) If an explosion or accident has not occasioned the death of more than one person, and the coroner has sent to the Secretary of State notice of the time and place of holding the inquest not less than forty-eight hours before the time of holding the same, it shall not be imperative on him to adjourn such inquest in pursuance of this section, if the majority of the jury think it unnecessary so to adjourn:
- (5.) A Government inspector or person employed on behalf of the Secretary of State shall be at liberty at any such inquest to examine any witness, subject nevertheless to the order of the coroner on points of law:
- (6.) Where evidence is given at an inquest at which no Government inspector or person employed on behalf of the Secretary of State is present, of any neglect as having caused or contributed to the explosion or accident, or of any defect in or about or in connection with any factory, magazine, store, or registered premises, or any carriage, ship, or boat carrying an explosive, appearing to the coroner or jury to require a remedy, the coroner shall send to the Secretary of State notice in writing of such neglect or defect.

Inquiry into accidents and

66. The Secretary of State may direct an inquiry to be made by a Government inspector into the cause of any accident which is caused by an explosion or fire either in connection with any explosive, or of which notice is required by this Act to be given to the Secretary of State, and where it appears to the Secretary of State, either before or after the commencement of any such inquiry, that a more formal investigation of the accident, and of the causes thereof, and of the circumstances attending the same, is expedient, the Secretary of State may by order direct such investigation to be held, and with respect to such inquiry and investigation the following provisions shall have effect:

Sec. 66.

formal investigation in serious cases.

- (1.) The Secretary of State may, by the same or any subsequent order, appoint any person or persons possessing legal or special knowledge to assist the Government inspector in holding the formal investigation, or may direct the county court judge, stipendiary magistrate, metropolitan police magistrate, or other person or persons named in the same or any subsequent order, to hold the same with the assistance of a Government inspector or any other assessor or assessors named in the order;
- (2.) The persons holding any such formal investigation (in this section referred to as the court) shall hold the same in open court in such manner and under such conditions as they may think most effectual for ascertaining the causes and circumstances of the accident, and enabling them to make the report in this section mentioned;
- (3.) The court shall have for the purpose of such investigation all the powers of a court of summary jurisdiction when acting as a court in hearing informations for offences against this Act, and all the powers of a Government inspector under this Act, and in addition the following powers; namely,
 - (a.) They may enter and inspect any place or building the entry or inspection whereof appears to them requisite for the said purpose;
 - (b.) They may by summons under their hands require the attendance of all such persons as they think fit to call before them and examine for the said purpose, and may for such purpose require answers or returns to such inquiries as they think fit to make;
 - (c.) They may require the production of all books, papers, and documents which they consider important for the said purpose;
 - (d.) They may administer an oath, and require any person examined to make and sign a declaration of the truth of the statements made by him in his examination;
 - (e.) Persons attending as witnesses before the court shall be allowed such expenses as would be allowed to witnesses attending before a court of record; and in case of dispute as to the amount to be allowed, the same shall be referred by the court to a master of one of the superior courts, who, on request under the hands of the members of the court, shall ascertain and certify the proper amount of such expenses;
- (4.) The Government inspector making an inquiry into any accident and the court holding an investigation of any accident under this section shall make a report to the Secretary of State, stating the causes of the accident and all the circumstances attending the same, and any observations thereon or on the evidence or on any matters arising out of the inquiry or investigation which he or they think right to make to the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of State shall cause every such report to be made public in such manner as he thinks expedient;
- (5.) All expenses incurred in and about an inquiry or investigation under this section shall be deemed to be part of the expenses of the Secretary of State in carrying this Act into execution; and
- (6.) Any person who without reasonable excuse (proof whereof shall lie on him) either fails, after having had the expenses (if any) to which he is entitled tendered to him, to comply with any summons or requisition of a court holding an investigation under this Act, or prevents or impedes such court in the execution of their duty, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and in the case of a failure to comply with a requisition for making any return or producing any document, not exceeding ten pounds during every day that such failure continues.

Local Supervision.

Definition and Powers of Local Authority.

Definition of local authority.

- 67. The local authority, for the purposes of this Act, shall be—
- (1.) In the city of London, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, the court of the Lord Mayor and aldermen of the said city; and
 - (2.) In the metropolis (that is, in places for the time being within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Board of Works under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855), except the city of London, and except as hereafter in this section mentioned, the Metropolitan Board of Works; and
 - (3.) In any borough in England which is not assessed to the county rate of any county by the justices of such county, except as hereafter in this section mentioned, the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses acting by the council; and
 - (4.) In any harbour within the jurisdiction of a harbour authority, whether situate or not within the jurisdiction of any local authority before in this section mentioned, the harbour authority, to the exclusion of any other local authority; and
 - (5.) In any place in which there is no local authority as before in this section defined, the justices in petty sessions assembled.

Power of certain local bodies to become a local authority.

68. The council of any borough which is assessed to the county rate of any county by the justices of such county and the commissioners of any improvement district may by order of a Secretary of State made upon the application of such council or commissioners, and published in the London Gazette, be declared to be a local authority for the purposes of this Act, and thereupon shall become a local authority accordingly for such part of their borough or district as is not included in any harbour, to the exclusion of the justices in petty sessions.

Duty of local authority and power of officer.

69. It shall be the duty of every local authority to carry into effect within their jurisdiction the powers vested in them under this Act.

Any officer authorised by the local authority may, on producing, if demanded, either a copy of his authority purporting to be certified by the clerk or some member of the local authority, or some other sufficient evidence of his authority, require the occupier of any store (not being subject to the inspection under this Act of any inspector of mines) or any registered premises, or any small firework factory, to show him every or any place and all or any of the receptacles in which any explosive or ingredient of an explosive, or any substance the keeping of which is restricted or regulated by this Act, that is in his possession is kept, and to give him samples of such explosive, ingredient, or substance, or of any substance which the officer believes to be an explosive or such ingredient or substance.

Any occupier of a store or registered premises or a small firework factory who refuses to comply with any such requisition of an officer of the local authority, or to give him such assistance as he may require for the purpose of this section, or who wilfully obstructs the local authority, or any officer of the local authority, in the execution of this Act, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Expenses of local authority.

70. All expenses incurred by any local authority in carrying into effect the execution of this Act, including the salary and expenses of any officer directed by them to act under this Act, shall be paid out of the local rate. The local rate shall for the purposes of this Act mean as follows; that is to say,

In the city of London the consolidated rate;

In the metropolis (exclusive of the city of London) the consolidated rate as levied in the metropolis exclusive of the city of London, and without any demand on such city;

In a borough the borough fund or borough rate;

In a harbour any moneys, fund, or rate applicable or leviable by the harbour authority for any harbour purposes;

In any place where the justices in petty sessions are the local authority the county rate; and Secs. 70-72.

In an improvement district any fund, moneys, or rate applicable or leviable by the Improvement Commissioners for any purposes of improvement within their district;

And the local rate or any increase of the local rate may notwithstanding any limitation in any Act be levied for the purposes of this Act.

Power of Local Authority to provide Carriages and Magazines.

71. Every harbour authority and canal company shall, in addition to any other powers they may have for the like purpose, have power to provide carriages, ships, and boats for the conveyance, loading, or unloading of an explosive within the jurisdiction of such authority or company, and may charge a reasonable sum fixed by a bye-law under this Act for the use of such carriage, ship, or boat. Undertaking of carriage by harbour authority and canal company.

72. Where any local authority other than justices in petty sessions satisfy the Secretary of State that the erection of a magazine by such authority, either within or without their jurisdiction, for the keeping of any explosive, would conduce to the safety of the public within their jurisdiction, and would not be injurious to any harbour or urban district out of their jurisdiction, the Secretary of State may grant a license under this Act for such magazine. Provision of magazines by local authority.

Where the magazine is without the jurisdiction of the local authority erecting the same, the assent of the local authority within whose jurisdiction the site is situate shall be applied for in manner provided by this Act, and when the magazine is within the said jurisdiction notice of the application to the Secretary of State for the license shall be given in like manner as notice of the intention to apply for the assent of the local authority to a site is required by this Act to be given.

The local authority may, for the purpose of any such license, acquire any land or right over land, or appropriate any land or right belonging to them, and acquire or build a magazine, and may maintain and manage such magazine, and may charge for the use by persons of any such magazine such reasonable sums as they may from time to time, with the approval of the Secretary of State, fix.

Such sums shall be applied in aid of the local rate, and the expenses incurred for the purposes of this section may be defrayed out of the local rate, and the local authority may borrow on the security of the local rate the amount required for the purpose of acquiring any land or right over land, or acquiring or building a magazine in pursuance of this section.

Any such loan shall be made with the approval, in the case of a council, of the Treasury, and in the case of Improvement Commissioners, of the Local Government Board, and in the case of a harbour authority, of the Board of Trade.

For the purpose of such borrowing the clauses of "The Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847," with respect to the mortgages to be executed by the Commissioners, shall be incorporated with this Act, and in the construction of those clauses for the purpose of this Act, this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the local authority which is borrowing shall be deemed to be the Commissioners.

For the purpose of the purchase of any land or right over land for the purpose of this section "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," and the Acts amending the same, (except so much as relates to the purchase of land otherwise than by agreement,) shall be incorporated with this section, and in construing those Acts for the purposes of this section the special Act shall be construed to mean this Act, and the promoters of the undertaking shall be construed to mean the local authority, and land shall be construed to include any right over land.

Where any offence under this Act is committed in or about any magazine erected in pursuance of this section, such offence may be prosecuted and tried and the penalty and forfeiture therefor recovered either in the county or place in which the magazine is situate, or in any adjoining county or place.

Secs. 73, 74.

General Power of Search.

Search for explosive when in place in contravention of this Act, or offence being committed with respect to it.

73. Where any of the following officers—namely, any Government inspector, or any constable or any officer of the local authority, if such constable or officer is specially authorised either (a) by a warrant of a justice (which warrant such justice may grant upon reasonable ground being assigned on oath), or (b) (where it appears to a superintendent or other officer of police of equal or superior rank, or to a Government inspector, that the case is one of emergency and that the delay in obtaining a warrant would be likely to endanger life,) by a written order from such superintendent, officer, or inspector—has reasonable cause to believe that any offence has been or is being committed with respect to an explosive in any place (whether a building or not, or a carriage, boat, or ship), or that any explosive is in any such place in contravention of this Act, or that the provisions of this Act are not duly observed in any such place, such officer may, on producing, if demanded, in the case of a Government inspector a copy of his appointment, and in the case of any other officer his authority, enter at any time, and if needs be by force, and as well on Sunday as on other days, the said place, and every part thereof, and examine the same, and search for explosives therein, and take samples of any explosive and ingredient of an explosive therein, and any substance reasonably supposed to be an explosive, or such ingredient which may be found therein.

Any person who, by himself or by others, fails to admit into any place occupied by or under the control of such person any officer demanding to enter in pursuance of this section, or in any way obstructs such officer in the execution of his duty under this section, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, and shall also be liable to forfeit all explosives, and ingredients thereof, which are at the time of the offence in his possession or under his control at the said place.

Where a constable or officer of the local authority specially authorised by written authority other than a warrant of a justice of the peace, enters and searches as above provided, a special report in writing of every act done by such constable or officer in pursuance of that authority, and of the grounds on which it is done, shall be forthwith sent by the person by whom or under whose authority it was done to the Secretary of State.

Seizure and detention of explosives liable to forfeiture.

74. Where any of the following officers, namely, any Government inspector, or any constable, or any officer of the local authority, has reasonable cause to believe that any explosive or ingredient of an explosive or substance found by him is liable to be forfeited under this Act, he may seize and detain the same until some court of summary jurisdiction has determined whether the same is or is not so liable to be forfeited, and with respect thereto the following provisions shall have effect:

- (1.) The officer seizing may either require the occupier of the place in which it was seized (whether a building or not, or a carriage, boat, or ship) to detain the same in such place or in any place under the control of such occupier, or may remove it in such manner and to such place as will in his opinion least endanger the public safety, and there detain it, and may, where the matter appears to him to be urgent and fraught with serious public danger, and he is a Government inspector, or is authorised by an order from a Government inspector or a justice of the peace, or from a superintendent or other officer of police of equal or superior rank, cause the same to be destroyed or otherwise rendered harmless; but before destroying or rendering harmless the same he shall take and keep a sample thereof, and shall, if required, give a portion of the sample to the person owning the explosive, or having the same under his control at the time of the seizure; and any such occupier who, by himself or by others, fails to keep the same when he is required in pursuance of this section to detain it, and any such occupier or other person who, except with the authority of the officer seizing the same, or of a Government inspector, or in case of emergency for the purpose of preventing explosion or fire, removes, alters, or in any way tampers or deals with the same while so detained, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, and shall also be liable to forfeit all explosives, and ingredients thereof, which are at the time of the offence in his possession or under his control Secs. 74, 75.

at the said place:

- (2.) The proceedings before a court of summary jurisdiction for determining whether the same is or is not liable to forfeiture shall be commenced as soon as practicable after the seizure; and
- (3.) The receptacles containing the same may be seized, detained, and removed in like manner as the contents thereof; and
- (4.) The officer seizing the same may use for the purposes of the removal and detention thereof any ship, boat, or carriage in which the same was seized, and any tug, tender, engine, tackle, beasts, and accoutrements belonging to or drawing or provided for drawing such ship, boat, or carriage, and shall pay to the owner a reasonable compensation for such use, to be determined, in case of dispute, by a court of summary jurisdiction, and to be recovered in like manner as penalties under this Act; and
- (5.) The same shall, so far as practicable, be kept and conveyed in accordance with this Act, and with all due precaution to prevent accident, but the person seizing, removing, detaining, keeping, or conveying the same shall not be liable to any penalty, punishment, or forfeiture under this or any other Act, or to any damages, for keeping or conveying the same, so that he use all such due precautions as aforesaid; and
- (6.) The officer seizing the same, or dealing with the same in pursuance of this section, shall not be liable to damages or otherwise in respect of such seizure or dealing, or any act incidental to or consequential thereon, unless it is proved that he made such seizure without a reasonable cause, or that he caused damage to the article seized by some wilful neglect or default.

75. Any of the following officers, namely, any Government inspector under this Act, any chief officer of police, and any superior officer appointed for the purposes of this Act where the justices in petty sessions are the local authority, by the court of quarter sessions to which such justices belong, and in the case of any other local authority by the local authority itself, may, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the provisions of this Act with respect to the conveyance, loading, unloading, and importation of an explosive are complied with, enter, inspect, and examine at any time, and as well on Sundays as on other days, the wharf, carriage, ship, or boat of any carrier or other person who conveys goods for hire, or of the occupier of any factory, magazine, or store, or of the importer of any explosive, on or in which wharf, carriage, ship or boat he has reasonable cause to suppose an explosive to be for the purpose of or in course of conveyance, but so as not to unnecessarily obstruct the work or business of any such carrier, person, occupier, or importer.

Inspection
of wharf, carriage, boat
&c., with explosives in transitu.

Any such officer, if he find any offence being committed under this Act in any such wharf, carriage, ship, or boat, or on any public wharf, may seize and detain or remove the said carriage, ship, or boat, or the explosive, in such manner and with such precautions as appear to him to be necessary to remove any danger to the public, and may seize and detain the said explosive, as if it were liable to forfeiture.

Any officer above mentioned in this section, and any officer of police, or officer of the local authority who has reasonable cause to suppose that any offence against this Act is being committed in respect of any carriage (not being on a railway) or any boat conveying, loading, or unloading any explosive, and that the case is one of emergency, and that the delay in obtaining a warrant will be likely to endanger life, may stop, and enter, inspect, and examine, such carriage or boat, and by detention or removal thereof or otherwise take such precautions as may be reasonably necessary for removing such danger, in like manner as if such explosive were liable to forfeiture.

Every officer shall for the purpose of this section have the same powers and be in the same position as if he were authorised by a search warrant granted under this Act, and any person failing to admit or obstructing such officer shall be liable to the same penalty.

Secs. 76-81.

Payment for samples of explosives.

76. When a Government inspector, constable, or officer of the local authority in pursuance of this Act takes samples of any explosive, or ingredient, or substance, he shall pay for or tender payment for the same to such amount as he considers to be the market value thereof, and the occupier of the place in which, or the owner of the bulk from which, the sample was taken, may recover any excess of the real value over the amount so paid or tendered, and any amount so tendered, from the inspector, constable, or officer taking the sample as a debt in the county court of the district within which the sample was taken.

PART IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS, LEGAL PROCEEDINGS, EXEMPTIONS, AND DEFINITIONS.

Supplemental Provisions.

Penalty on and removal of trespassers.

77. Any person who enters without permission or otherwise trespasses upon any factory, magazine, or store, or the land immediately adjoining thereto which is occupied by the occupier of such factory, magazine, or store, or on any wharf for which bye-laws are made by the occupier thereof under this Act, shall for every such offence, if not otherwise punishable, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and may be forthwith removed from such factory, magazine, store, land, or wharf, by any constable, or by the occupier of such factory, magazine, store, or wharf, or any agent or servant of or other person authorised by such occupier.

Any person other than the occupier of or person employed in or about any factory, magazine, or store who is found committing any act which tends to cause explosion or fire in or about such factory, magazine, or store, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

The occupier of any such factory, magazine, store, or wharf shall post up in some conspicuous place or places a notice or notices warning all persons of their liability to penalties under this section; but the absence of any such notice or notices shall not exempt a person from a penalty under this section.

Arrest without warrant of persons committing
offences.

78. Any person who is found committing any act for which he is liable to a penalty under this Act, and which tends to cause explosion or fire in or about any factory, magazine, store, railway, canal, harbour, or wharf, or any carriage, ship, or boat, may be apprehended without a warrant by a constable, or an officer of the local authority, or by the occupier of or the agent or servant of or other person authorised by the occupier of such factory, magazine, store, or wharf, or by any agent or servant of or other person authorised by the railway or canal company or harbour authority, and be removed from the place at which he is arrested, and conveyed as soon as conveniently may be before a court of summary jurisdiction.

Imprisonment
for wilful act or neglect endangering life or limb.

79. Where any person is guilty of any offence which under this Act is punishable by a pecuniary penalty only, and which, in the opinion of the court that tries the case, was reasonably calculated to endanger the safety of or to cause serious personal injury to any of the public or the persons employed in or about any factory, magazine, store, or registered premises, or any harbour, railway, canal, wharf, ship, boat, carriage, or place where such offence is committed, or to cause a dangerous accident, and was committed wilfully by the personal act, personal default, or personal negligence of the person accused, such person shall be liable, if the court is of opinion that a pecuniary penalty will not meet the circumstances of the case, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a period not exceeding six months.

Penalty for throwing fireworks in thoroughfare.

80. If any person throw, cast, or fire any fireworks in or into any highway, street, thoroughfare, or public place, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Forgery and falsification of document.

81. Every person who forges or counterfeits any license, certificate, document, or plan granted or required in pursuance or for the purposes of this Act, or gives or signs any such document or plan which is to his knowledge false in any material particular, or wilfully makes use of any such forged, counterfeit, or false license, certificate, document, or plan, shall be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding two years. Secs. 81-87.

82. Every person who, without due authority, pulls down, injures, or defaces any notice, copy of rules, or document, when affixed in pursuance of this Act, or of the special rules, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds. Punishment for defacing notices.

83. Her Majesty may from time to time make Orders in Council for doing anything which is in this Act expressed to be authorised, directed, regulated, prescribed, or done by Order in Council. Provisions as to Orders in Council and orders of Secretary of State.

Every Order in Council or order of the Secretary of State which purports to be made in pursuance of this Act shall be presumed to have been duly made and to be within the powers of this Act, and no objection to the legality thereof shall be entertained in any legal proceeding whatever.

Every Order in Council made in pursuance of this Act shall take effect as if it were enacted in this Act, and shall be published in the London Gazette, and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within one month after it is made, if Parliament be then sitting, or if not, within one month after the commencement of the then next session of Parliament.

Her Majesty may by Order in Council, and a Secretary of State may by order, from time to time revoke, add to, or alter any previous Orders in Council or orders of the Secretary of State, at the case may be, under this Act.

84. All bye-laws, notices, and documents directed by this Act to be published or advertised shall, save as otherwise provided by this Act, be published in the place which such notices and documents affect, by advertisement in some newspapers circulating generally in such place, or by placards or handbills, or in such manner as the Secretary of State may from time to time direct as being in his opinion sufficient for giving information thereof to all persons interested. Publication of bye-laws, notices, &c.

85. All orders, permissions, notices, and documents issued or given by the Secretary of State for the purposes of this Act, and all notices under this Act, shall be in writing or print, or partly in writing and partly in print, and all notices and documents required by this Act to be served, given, or sent by, on, or to a Government inspector or Secretary of State may be sent by post, by a prepaid letter, and if sent by post shall be deemed to have been served, given, and received respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post; and in proving such service, giving, or sending, it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and prepaid and put into the post. Requisitions, notices, &c., to be in writing, &c., and how to be served.

All notices and documents directed by or required for the purposes of this Act to be given or sent to the Secretary of State shall, if sent to a Government inspector under this Act, be deemed to have been sent to the Secretary of State.

All notices and documents directed by or required for the purposes of this Act to be given or sent to a local authority may be sent, by post or otherwise, to the clerk or office of the local authority, or delivered to some person employed by them for the purposes of this Act.

86. Where any enactment refers to any power of searching for gunpowder, or to any provisions of an Act in the twelfth year of King George the Third, chapter sixty-one, or of any Act repealed by this Act relative to the search for gunpowder, such enactment shall be deemed to refer to the provisions of this Act, with respect to the search for and seizure, detention, and removal of an explosive by a Government inspector. Construction of enactments referring to powers of searching for gunpowder.

Legal Proceedings.

87. Where any offence under this Act for which the occupier of any factory, magazine, store, or registered premises is liable to a penalty or forfeiture has in fact been committed by some other person, such other person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds. Exemption of occupier from penalty upon proof of another being real offender.

Where such occupier is charged with an offence so committed by some other person, the occupier shall be exempt from any penalty and forfeiture upon proving that he had supplied proper means and issued proper orders for the observance and

Secs. 87-91. used due diligence to enforce the observance of this Act, and that the offence in question was actually committed by some other person without his connivance, and if the actual offender be alive, that he has taken all practicable means in his power to prosecute such offender to conviction.

Where a Government inspector, or an officer of the local authority, or the local authority is satisfied, before instituting a proceeding for any offence under this Act against an occupier, that such occupier, if such proceedings were instituted against him, would, under the foregoing provisions of this section, upon taking all practicable means in his power to prosecute the actual offender to conviction, be exempt from any penalty and forfeiture, and the occupier gives all facilities in his power for proceeding against and convicting the person whom the inspector, officer, or local authority believes actually to have committed the offence, the inspector, officer, or local authority shall proceed against that person in the first instance, without first proceeding against the occupier.

The occupier or other defendant, when charged in respect of any offence by another person, may, if he think fit, be sworn and examined as an ordinary witness in the case.

Where any offence under this Act for which any warehouseman, carrier, occupier of a wharf or dock, or owner or master of any ship, boat, or carriage, is liable to a penalty or forfeiture, has in fact been committed by some other person, this section shall apply in like manner as if the warehouseman, carrier, occupier of a wharf or dock, owner, or master were such an occupier as above in this section mentioned.

Exemption of carrier and owner and master of ship where consignee, &c., in fault.

88. Where a carrier, owner, or master of a ship or boat is prevented from complying with this Act by the wilful act, neglect, or default of the consignor or consignee of the explosive, or other person, or by the improper refusal of the consignee or other person to accept delivery of the explosive, such consignor, consignee, or other person who is guilty of such wilful act, neglect, default, or refusal shall be liable to the same penalty to which the carrier, owner, or master is liable for a breach of this Act, and his conviction shall exempt the carrier, owner, or master from any penalty or forfeiture under this Act.

Supplemental provisions as to forfeiture of explosive.

89. Where a court before whom a person is convicted of an offence against this Act has power to forfeit any explosive owned by or found in the possession or under the control of such person, the court may, if it think it just and expedient, in lieu of forfeiting such explosive, impose upon such person, in addition to any other penalty or punishment, a penalty not exceeding such sum as appears to the court to be the value of the explosive so liable to be forfeited.

Where any explosive, or ingredient of an explosive, is alleged to be liable under this Act to be forfeited, any indictment, information, or complaint may be laid against the owner of such explosive or ingredient, for the purpose only of enforcing such forfeiture, and where the owner is unknown, or cannot be found, a court may cause a notice to be advertised, stating that unless cause is shown to the contrary at the time and place the court, after hearing the owner or any person on his behalf (who may be present), may order all or any part of such explosive or ingredient to be forfeited.

Jurisdiction in tidal waters or on boundaries.

90. For all purposes of this Act—

- (1.) Any harbour, tidal water, or inland water which runs between or abuts on or forms the boundary of the jurisdiction of two or more courts shall be deemed to be wholly within the jurisdiction of each of such courts; and
- (2.) Any tidal water not included in the foregoing descriptions, and within the territorial jurisdiction of Her Majesty, and adjacent to or surrounding any part of the shore of the United Kingdom, and any pier, jetty, mole, or work extending into the same, shall be deemed to form part of the shore to which such water or part of the sea is adjacent, or which it surrounds.

Prosecution of offences either summarily or on indictment.

91. Every offence under this Act may be prosecuted and every penalty under this Act may be recovered, and all explosives and ingredients liable to be forfeited under this Act may be forfeited either on indictment or before a court of summary jurisdiction, in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

Provided that the penalty imposed by a court of summary jurisdiction shall not exceed one hundred pounds, exclusive of costs, and exclusive of any forfeiture or penalty in lieu of forfeiture, and the term of imprisonment imposed by any such court shall not exceed one month. Secs. 91-96.

All costs and money directed to be recovered as penalties may be recovered before a court of summary jurisdiction in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

A court of summary jurisdiction may by order prohibit a person from doing any act for doing which such person has twice been convicted under this Act, and may order any person disobeying such summary order to be imprisoned for any period not exceeding six months.

92. Where a person is accused before a court of summary jurisdiction of any offence under this Act, the penalty for which offence, as assigned by this Act, exclusive of forfeiture, exceeds one hundred pounds, the accused may, on appearing before the court of summary jurisdiction, declare that he objects to being tried for such offence by a court of summary jurisdiction, and thereupon the court of summary jurisdiction may deal with the case in all respects as if the accused were charged with an indictable offence and not an offence punishable on summary conviction, and the offence may be prosecuted on indictment accordingly. Power of offender in certain cases to elect to be tried on indictment, and not by summary jurisdiction.

93. If any party feels aggrieved by any summary order made by a court of summary jurisdiction under this Act, or by any order or conviction made by a court of summary jurisdiction in determining any complaint or information under this Act, by which order or conviction the sum adjudged to be paid, including costs, and including the value of any forfeiture, exceeds twenty pounds, the party so aggrieved may appeal therefrom to quarter sessions, [in manner provided with respect to an appeal to quarter sessions by section one hundred and ten of the Act of the session of the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter ninety-six (1).] Appeal to quarter sessions. 24 & 25 Vict. c. 96.

94. The court of summary jurisdiction, when hearing and determining any information or complaint, in respect of any offence under this Act, shall be constituted either of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions sitting at a place appointed for holding petty sessions, or of some magistrate or officer sitting alone or with others at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice, and for the time being empowered by law to do alone any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace. Constitution of court.

95. Where the owner or master of a ship or boat is adjudged to pay a penalty for an offence committed with or in relation to such ship or boat, the court may, in addition to any other power they may have for the purpose of compelling payment of such penalty, direct the same to be levied by distress or arrestment and sale of the said ship or boat and her tackle. Distress of ship.

96. All penalties imposed in pursuance of this Act by a court of summary jurisdiction upon the prosecution of a Government inspector shall, notwithstanding anything in any other Act, be paid into the receipt of Her Majesty's Exchequer, in such manner as the Treasury may from time to time direct, and be carried to the Consolidated Fund. Application of penalties and disposal of forfeitures.

Any explosive or ingredient forfeited in pursuance of this Act may be sold, destroyed, or otherwise disposed of in such manner as the court declaring the forfeiture, or the Secretary of State, may direct, and the proceeds of any such sale or disposal shall be paid, applied, and accounted for in like manner as penalties under this Act.

The receptacle containing any such explosive or ingredient may be forfeited, sold, destroyed, or otherwise disposed of, in like manner as the contents thereof.

The provisions of Part Three of this Act with respect to an explosive, or ingredient of an explosive, seized in pursuance of this Act, and to the officer seizing, removing, detaining, keeping, or conveying, or otherwise dealing with the same, shall apply to any explosive and ingredient declared by any court to be forfeited, and to the officer removing, detaining, keeping, conveying, selling, destroying, or otherwise disposing of the same.

The court declaring the forfeiture, or the Secretary of State directing the sale or

(1) The part within brackets is repealed by Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884 (47 & 48 Vict. c. 43).

Secs. 96, 97. other disposal of any forfeited explosive or ingredient, and the receptacles thereof, may require the owner of such explosive or ingredient to permit the use of any ship, boat, or carriage containing such explosive or ingredient for the purpose of such sale or disposal, upon payment of a reasonable compensation for the same, to be determined in case of dispute by a court of summary jurisdiction; and where the explosive or ingredient is directed to be destroyed, the owner and the person having possession of such explosive or ingredient, and the owner and master of the ship, boat, or carriage containing the same, or some or one of them, shall destroy the same accordingly, and if the court or Secretary of State so order, the ship, boat, or carriage may be detained until the same is so destroyed; and if the Secretary of State is satisfied that default has been made in complying with any such direction by him or by a court, and that the detention of the ship, boat, or carriage will not secure the safety of the public, and that it is impracticable, having regard to the safety of the public or of the persons employed in such destruction, to effect the same without using such ship, boat, or carriage, or otherwise dealing with such ship, boat, or carriage, in like manner as if it were a receptacle for an explosive forfeited under this Act, the Secretary of State may direct such ship, boat, and carriage, or any of them, to be, and the same may accordingly be, so used or dealt with.

Exemptions and Savings.

Exemption of Government
factories, &c., from the Act.

97. This Act shall not apply—

- (1.) To any factory, magazine, store, premises, wharf, place, or explosive under the control of a Secretary of State, the Commissioners of the Admiralty, or other department of the Government, or otherwise held for the service of the Crown, or to the manufacture, keeping, or importation of such explosive; or
- (2.) To any of Her Majesty's ships, boats, or carriages; or
- (3.) To the keeping or making up, or adapting for use of any explosive issued by or by the authority of a Secretary of State for the use of any volunteer corps or administrative regiment, or by the authority of the Commissioners of the Admiralty for the use of any force under the control of those commissioners, so far as such explosive is kept, made up, and adapted for use in accordance with the regulations of the Secretary of State or the said commissioners, as the case may be; or
- (4.) To any storehouse appointed for receiving any such explosive as last above mentioned in pursuance of section twenty-six of the Volunteer Act, 1863, and any Act amending the same, or otherwise, if such storehouse is approved by the Secretary of State or the Commissioners of the Admiralty, as the case may be, as a fit place for the storing of such explosive, and is managed in accordance with the regulations of a Secretary of State or such commissioners for the management of such storehouses, or for the management of the like storehouses appointed for the use of Her Majesty's army or navy; or
- (5.) To the conveyance of any explosive under the control of a Secretary of State, the Commissioners of the Admiralty, or other department of the Government, or to the conveyance of any explosive otherwise held for the service of the Crown when the same is being conveyed in accordance with the regulations of a Secretary of State or the Commissioners of the Admiralty or other department of the Government:

Provided that every person who enters without permission or otherwise trespasses upon any factory, magazine, or storehouse above in this section mentioned or the land immediately adjoining thereto in the occupation of the Crown or of a Secretary of State or the Commissioners of the Admiralty or other department of the Government, or if it adjoin such a storehouse in the occupation of the officer or person in whom such storehouse is vested, and any person found committing any act tending to cause explosion or fire in or about such factory, magazine, or storehouse, shall be liable to the like penalty, and may be removed and arrested in like manner as if this section had not been enacted and this Act applied to such factory, magazine, or storehouse, as above in this section mentioned. Secs. 97—103.

98. This Act shall not apply—

(1.) To the keeping of any rockets for use in any apparatus for saving life, kept under the control of the Commissioners of the Admiralty or the Board of Trade; or Saving for rocket and fog stations.

(2.) To the keeping of any explosive kept for the purpose of signalling at or near a station on the sea coast, under the control of any general light-house authority, as defined by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854.

17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 389. Exemption of magazines in the Mersey.

99. Nothing in this Act with respect to the keeping of gunpowder shall apply to any vessel for the storage of gunpowder moored in the river Mersey at a place appointed either before or after the passing of this Act, in pursuance of the Act of the session of the fourteenth and fifteenth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter sixty-seven, intituled "An Act to repeal so much of an Act of the twelfth year of King George the Third relating to the making, keeping, and carriage of gunpowder, as exempts therefrom certain gunpowder magazines and stores near Liverpool, and to make certain temporary provisions with regard to the said magazines and stores;" nor shall anything in this Act affect the powers of the Commissioners of the Admiralty, or a Secretary of State, or the Commissioners for the Conservancy of the River Mersey under the said Act:

Provided that any explosive other than gunpowder shall not be kept in such vessel except in pursuance of a license under this Act.

100. Nothing in this Act shall render liable to any penalty or forfeiture the owner or master of any ship or boat, or any carrier or warehouseman, or the person having charge of any carriage, for any act done in breach of this Act, if he prove that by reason of stress of weather, inevitable accident, or other emergency, the doing of such act was, under the circumstances, necessary and proper.

Saving for master of ship and carrier in case of emergency.

101. Where any gunpowder, rockets, or other explosive are on board any ship in pursuance of the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the Acts amending the same, or any order or regulation made under any of those Acts, nothing in this Act shall apply to such gunpowder, rockets, or explosive, except that the conveyance and keeping thereof on board the ship or elsewhere while the ship is in harbour shall be subject to the bye-laws under this Act, and bye-laws under this Act may be made for regulating such conveyance and keeping.

Saving for rockets, gunpowder, &c., on board ship in compliance with 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104.

102. This Act shall not, save as is herein expressly provided, exempt any person from any action or suit in respect of any nuisance, tort, or otherwise, which might, but for the provisions of this Act, have been brought against him.

Saving clause as to liability.

This Act shall not exempt any person from any indictment or other proceeding for a nuisance, or for an offence which is indictable at common law, or by any Act of Parliament other than this Act, so that no person be punished twice for the same offence.

When proceedings are taken before any court against any person in respect of any offence under this Act, which is also an offence indictable at common law or by some Act of Parliament other than this Act, the court may direct that, instead of such proceedings being continued, proceedings shall be taken for indicting such person at common law or under some Act of Parliament other than this Act.

A continuing certificate granted under this Act shall not make lawful any factory, magazine, or store, or any part thereof, which immediately before the passing of this Act was unlawful.

103. All powers given by this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers conferred on any local authority by Act of Parliament, but the Secretary of State may, on the application of any local authority, or of any council of a borough, or any urban sanitary authority, or on the application of any persons making, keeping, importing, exporting, or selling any explosive within the jurisdiction of any local authority, council, or urban sanitary authority, after notice to such authority, make an order for repealing, altering, or amending all or any of the provisions of any Act of Parliament, charter, or custom respecting the manufacture, keeping, conveyance, importation, exportation, or sale of an explosive, or the powers of such council or authority for regulating the same, or otherwise in relation to an explosive.

Powers of Act cumulative, with power to make provisional order for repealing local Acts.

Secs. 103— Notice of the draft of every such order shall be advertised not less than one month before the order is made, and the Secretary of State shall consider all objections to such draft order sent to him in writing during the said month, and shall, if it seem to him necessary, direct a local inquiry into the validity of any such objections.

Any such order shall be of no force unless confirmed by Parliament, but when so confirmed shall have effect, with such modifications or alterations as may be therein made by Parliament.

If while a Bill confirming any such order is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against such order, the Bill, so far as it relates to such order, may be referred to a Select Committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose the same as in the case of a Bill for a private Act.

An order under this section may also be made for revoking or altering an order under this section previously made and confirmed by Parliament.

Definitions.

Extension of definition of explosive to other explosive substances.

104. Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, declare that any substance which appears to Her Majesty to be specially dangerous to life or property by reason either of its explosive properties, or of any process in the manufacture thereof being liable to explosion, shall be deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of this Act, and the provisions of this Act (subject to such exceptions, limitations, and restrictions as may be specified in the order) shall accordingly extend to such substance in like manner as if it were included in the term explosive in this Act.

Persons carrying on certain processes to be deemed manufacturers.

105. Any person who carries on any of the following processes, namely, the process of dividing into its component parts or otherwise breaking up or unmaking any explosive, or making fit for use any damaged explosive, or the process of remaking, altering, or repairing any explosive, shall be subject to the provisions of this Act as if he manufactured an explosive, and the expression "manufacture" shall in this Act be construed accordingly.

Definition and classification of explosives by Order in Council.

106. It shall be lawful for Her Majesty from time to time, by Order in Council, to define, for the purposes of this Act, the composition, quality, and character of any explosive, and to classify explosives.

Where the composition, quality, or character of any explosive has been defined by an Order in Council, any article alleged to be such explosive which differs from such definition in composition, quality, or character, whether by reason of deterioration or otherwise, shall not be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be the explosive so defined.

 - (d.) Any investigation, legal proceeding, or remedy in respect of any such right, privilege, obligation, liability, penalty, forfeiture, or punishment as aforesaid; and any such investigation, legal proceeding, and remedy may be carried on as if this Act had not passed; and
- (4.) This repeal shall not revive any enactment, right, privilege, matter, or thing not in force or existing at the commencement of this Act.

SCHEDULES.

Sched. I.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

PART ONE.

Gunpowder Factories.

Regulations which are to form part of the terms of every continuing certificate of a factory for gunpowder.

(1.) The quantity of gunpowder or ingredients to be made into gunpowder to be at one time under any single pair of mill stones or rollers or runners shall not exceed fifty pounds as respects sporting and Government powder, and sixty pounds as respects all inferior powders; and every incorporating mill or group of incorporating mills shall be provided with a charge house for the store of mill charges, properly constructed of stone or brick, and situate at a safe and suitable distance from each incorporating mill or group of incorporating mills.

(2.) The quantity of gunpowder to be subjected to pressure at one time in any press house shall not exceed ten hundredweight.

(3.) The quantity of gunpowder to be corned or granulated at one time in any corning or granulating house shall not exceed twelve hundredweight.

(4.) The quantity of gunpowder to be dried at one time in one stove or place used for the drying of gunpowder shall not exceed fifty hundredweight.

(5.) The respective quantities to be at any one time in any press house or corning or granulating house shall not exceed twice the respective quantities hereby allowed to be subjected to pressure and to be corned or granulated at one time; and the quantity to be at any one time in any drying house or dusting house shall not be more than is necessary for the immediate supply and work of such house; and for the purposes of this provision any building used with any such press house, corning or granulating house, drying house or dusting house, shall be deemed part thereof, save only magazines constructed with stone or brick and situate forty yards at least from every such press house or other house as aforesaid (hereinafter distinguished as expense magazines), and save only the stove in which the powder which has been dried may be cooling.

Sched I.

(6.) Every person keeping or using any mill for the making of gunpowder shall have (in addition to the expense magazines) a good and sufficient factory magazine or magazines, situate (unless otherwise authorised by a certificate of the Secretary of State under the Gunpowder Act, 1860) at least one hundred and forty yards distant from the mill or mills and every press house and other house or place used for or in the making of gunpowder, such magazine or magazines to be well and substantially built with brick or stone, and situate in such place as may have been lawfully used or duly licensed by justices before the commencement of the Gunpowder Act, 1860, and not made unlawful by that Act, or may have been after the commencement of that Act duly licensed under the Gunpowder Act, 1860.

(7.) No maker of gunpowder shall keep or permit to be kept any charcoal within twenty yards of any mill or other engine for making gunpowder, or of any press house, or drying, corning, or dusting house or other place used in or for the making of gunpowder, or any magazine or storehouse thereto belonging.

PART TWO.Gunpowder Stores.

Regulations which are to form part of the terms of every continuing certificate for a gunpowder store.

- (1.) The store shall be exclusively for the use of a mine, quarry, colliery, or factory for safety fuzes.
- (2.) The amount of gunpowder in the store shall not exceed, if the store is well and substantially built of brick or stone, four thousand pounds, and in any other case three hundred pounds:
- (3.) Where the amount of gunpowder in the store exceeds three hundred pounds, such store shall, unless otherwise authorised before the passing of this Act by a certificate of the Secretary of State, be within two hundred yards of the mine, quarry, colliery, or factory for safety fuzes, or one of the mines, quarries, collieries, or factories for safety fuzes for the use of which such gunpowder is kept, and not within two hundred yards of any inhabited house without the consent in writing of the occupier of such house:
- (4.) Where such certificate has been given, the conditions on which it was given shall be duly observed as if they were contained in this schedule:
- (5.) Where the amount of gunpowder does not exceed three hundred pounds, the store shall be within two hundred yards of the mine, quarry, colliery, or factory for the use of which it is erected, and unless it was erected and used for the said purpose before the passing of the Gunpowder Act, 1860, shall not be within two hundred yards from any inhabited house without the consent in writing of the occupier of such house:
- (6.) The store shall not be within the city of London or Westminster or within three miles of either of them, or within any borough or market town or one mile of the same, or within two miles of any palace or house of residence of Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, or within two miles of any gunpowder magazine belonging to the Crown, or within half a mile of any parish church.

Sched. II.SECOND SCHEDULE.*ARBITRATION.

Provisions as to arbitrations. With respect to arbitrations under this Act, the following provisions shall have effect:

- (1.) The parties to the arbitration are in this section deemed to be the occupier of the factory, magazine, or store on the one hand, and on the other the Government inspector (on behalf of the Secretary of State):
- (2.) Each of the parties to the arbitration may, within twenty-one days after the date of the reference, appoint an arbitrator:

Sched. II.

- (3.) No person shall act as arbitrator or umpire under this Act who is employed in or in the management of or is directly or indirectly interested in the manufacture, trade, factory, magazine, store, business, or premises, to which the arbitration relates, or is in any manner interested directly or indirectly in the matter to which the arbitration relates :
- (4.) The appointment of an arbitrator under this section shall be in writing, and notice of the appointment shall be forthwith sent to the other party to the arbitration, and shall not be revoked without the consent of such other party :
- (5.) The death, removal, or other change in any of the parties to the arbitration shall not affect the proceedings under this section :
- (6.) If within the said twenty-one days either of the parties fail to appoint an arbitrator the arbitrator appointed by the other party may proceed to hear and determine the matter in difference, and in such case the award of the single arbitrator shall be final :
- (7.) If before an award has been made any arbitrator appointed by either party die or become incapable to act, or for fourteen days refuse or neglect to act, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed may appoint some other person to act in his place ; and if he fail to do so within fourteen days after notice in writing from the other party for that purpose, the remaining arbitrator may proceed to hear and determine the matters in difference, and in such case the award of such single arbitrator shall be final :
- (8.) In either of the foregoing cases where an arbitrator is empowered to act singly, upon one of the parties failing to appoint, the party so failing may, before the single arbitrator has actually proceeded in the arbitration, appoint an arbitrator, who shall then act as if no failure had been made :
- (9.) If the arbitrators fail to make their award within twenty-one days after the day on which the last of them was appointed, or within such extended time (if any) as may have been appointed for that purpose by both arbitrators under their hands, the matter in difference shall be determined by the umpire appointed as hereinafter mentioned :
- (10.) The arbitrators, before they enter upon the matters referred to them shall appoint by writing under their hands an umpire to decide on points on which they may differ :
- (11.) If the umpire die or become incapable to act before he has made his award, or refuses to make his award within a reasonable time after the matter has been brought within his cognizance, the persons or person who appointed such umpire shall forthwith appoint another umpire in his place :
- (12.) If the arbitrators refuse or fail or for seven days after the request of either party neglect to appoint an umpire, then on the application of either party an umpire shall be appointed by the chairman of the quarter sessions of the peace within the jurisdiction of which the factory, magazine or store is situate :
- (13.) The decision of every umpire on the matters referred to him shall be final :
- (14.) If a single arbitrator fail to make his award within twenty-one days after the day on which he was appointed, the party who appointed him may appoint another arbitrator to act in his place :

The arbitrator and their umpire or any of them may examine the parties and their witnesses on oath, they may also consult any counsel, engineer, or scientific person whom they may think it expedient to consult :

- (15.) The payment, if any, to be made to any arbitrator or umpire for his services shall be fixed by the Secretary of State, and together with the costs of the arbitration and award shall be paid by the parties, or one of them, according as the award may direct. Such costs may be taxed by a master of one of the superior courts, who, on the written application of either of the parties, shall ascertain and certify the proper amount of such costs. The amount, if any, payable by the Secretary of State shall be paid as part of the expenses of inspectors under this Act. The amount, if any, payable by any other party may in the event of nonpayment be recovered in the same manner as penalties under this Act.

THE EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES ACT, 1883.

46 VICT. c. 3.

An Act to amend the Law relating to Explosive Substances ⁽¹⁾.

[10th April, 1883.]

Secs. 1—4.

Short title.

Punishment for causing explosion likely to endanger life or property.

Punishment for attempt to cause explosion, or for making or keeping explosive with intent to endanger life or property.

Punishment for making or possession of explosive under suspicious circumstances.

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Explosive Substances Act, 1883.

2. Any person who unlawfully and maliciously causes by any explosive substance an explosion of a nature likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property shall, whether any injury to person or property has been actually caused or not, be guilty of felony, and on conviction shall be liable to penal servitude for life, or for any less term (not less than the minimum term allowed by law), or to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a term not exceeding two years.

3. Any person who within or (being a subject of Her Majesty) without Her Majesty's dominions unlawfully and maliciously—

(a.) does any act with intent to cause by an explosive substance, or conspires to cause by an explosive substance an explosion in the United Kingdom of a nature likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property; or

(b.) makes or has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance with intent by means thereof to endanger life, or cause serious injury to property in the United Kingdom, or to enable any other person by means thereof to endanger life or cause serious injury to property in the United Kingdom, shall, whether any explosion does or not take place, and whether any injury to person or property has been actually caused or not, be guilty of felony, and on conviction shall be liable to penal servitude for a term not exceeding twenty years, or to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a term not exceeding two years, and the explosive substance shall be forfeited.

4. (1.) Any person who makes or knowingly has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance, under such circumstances as to give rise to a reasonable suspicion that he is not making it or does not have it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, shall, unless he can show that he made it or had it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, be guilty of felony, and, on conviction, shall be liable to penal servitude for a term not exceeding fourteen years, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, with or without hard labour, and the explosive substance shall be forfeited.

(2.) In any proceeding against any person for a crime under this section, such person and his wife, or husband, as the case may be, may, if such person thinks fit, be called, sworn, examined, and cross-examined as an ordinary witness in the case.

(1) This Act was passed through Parliament in an unprecedentedly short period of time, after the attempt to destroy the Government buildings with dynamite, with a view to make provision for dealing more effectually with attempts of a similar nature than the law at that time permitted.

5. Any person who within or (being a subject of Her Majesty) without Her Majesty's dominions, by the supply of or solicitation for money, the providing of premises, the supply of materials, or in any manner whatsoever, procures, counsels, aids, abets, or is accessory to, the commission of any crime under this Act, shall be guilty of felony, and shall be liable to be tried and punished for that crime, as if he had been guilty as a principal.

Secs. 5—8.

Punishment of accessories.

6. (1.) Where the Attorney-General has reasonable ground to believe that any crime under this Act has been committed, he may order an inquiry under this section, and thereupon any justice for the county, borough, or place in which the crime was committed or is suspected to have been committed, who is authorised in that behalf by the Attorney-General, may, although no person may be charged before him with the commission of such crime, sit at a police court, or petty sessional or occasional court-house, or police station in the said county, borough, or place, and examine on oath concerning such crime any witness appearing before him, and may take the deposition of such witness, and, if he see cause, may bind such witness by recognizance to appear and give evidence at the next petty sessions, or when called upon within three months from the date of such recognizance; and the law relating to the compelling of the attendance of a witness before a justice, and to a witness attending before a justice and required to give evidence concerning the matter of an information or complaint, shall apply to compelling the attendance of a witness for examination and to a witness attending under this section.

Inquiry by Attorney-General, and apprehension of absconding witnesses.

(2.) A witness examined under this section shall not be excused from answering any question on the ground that the answer thereto may criminate, or tend to criminate, himself; but any statement made by any person in answer to any question put to him on any examination under this section shall not, except in the case of an indictment or other criminal proceedings for perjury, be admissible in evidence against him in any proceeding, civil or criminal.

(3.) A justice who conducts the examination under this section of a person concerning any crime shall not take part in the committing for trial of such person for such crime.

(4.) Whenever any person is bound by recognizance to give evidence before justices, or any criminal court, in respect of any crime under this Act, any justice, if he sees fit, upon information being made in writing, and on oath, that such person is about to abscond, or has absconded, may issue his warrant for the arrest of such person, and if such person is arrested any justice, upon being satisfied that the ends of justice would otherwise be defeated, may commit such person to prison until the time at which he is bound by such recognizance to give evidence, unless in the meantime he produces sufficient sureties: Provided that any person so arrested shall be entitled on demand to receive a copy of the information upon which the warrant for his arrest was issued.

7. (1.) If any person is charged before a justice with any crime under this Act, no further proceeding shall be taken against such person without the consent of the Attorney-General, except such as the justice may think necessary by remand, or otherwise, to secure the safe custody of such person.

No prosecution except by leave of Attorney-General. Procedure and saving.

(2.) In framing an indictment the same criminal act may be charged in different counts as constituting different crimes under this Act, and upon the trial of any such indictment the prosecutor shall not be put to his election as to the count on which he must proceed.

(3.) For all purposes of and incidental to arrest, trial, and punishment, a crime for which a person is liable to be punished under this Act, when committed out of the United Kingdom, shall be deemed to have been committed in the place in which such person is apprehended or is in custody.

(4.) This Act shall not exempt any person from any indictment or proceeding for a crime or offence which is punishable at common law, or by any Act of Parliament other than this Act, but no person shall be punished twice for the same criminal act.

8. (1.) Sections seventy-three, seventy-four, seventy-five, eighty-nine, and ninety-six of the Explosives Act, 1875 (which sections relate to the search for, seizure, and detention of explosive substances, and the forfeiture thereof, and the Search for and seizure of explosive substances.

Secs. 8, 9. disposal of explosive substances seized or forfeited), shall apply in like manner as if a crime or forfeiture under this Act were an offence or forfeiture under the Explosives Act, 1875.

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 17.

36 & 37 Vict.
c. 85.

(2.) Where the master or owner of any vessel has reasonable cause to suspect that any dangerous goods or goods of a dangerous nature which, if found, he would be entitled to throw overboard in pursuance of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1873, are concealed on board his vessel, he may search any part of such vessel for such goods, and for the purpose of such search may, if necessary, break open any box, package, parcel, or receptacle on board the vessel, and such master or owner, if he finds any such dangerous goods or goods of a dangerous nature shall be entitled to deal with the same in manner provided by the said Act, and if he do not find the same, he shall not be subject to any liability, civil or criminal, if it appears to the tribunal before which the question of his liability is raised that he had reasonable cause to suspect that such goods were so concealed as aforesaid.

unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, have the following meanings assigned to them respectively; that is to say, "parish" shall mean every place maintaining its own poor; "vestry" shall mean the inhabitants of the parish lawfully assembled in vestry, or for any of the purposes for which vestries are holden, except in those parishes in which there is a select vestry elected under the Act of the fifty-ninth year of King George the Third, chapter twelve, or under the Act of the first and second years of King William the Fourth, chapter sixty, or under the provisions of any local Act of Parliament for the government of any parish by vestries, in which parishes it shall mean such select vestry, and shall also mean any body of persons, by whatever name distinguished, acting by virtue of any Act of Parliament, prescription, custom, or otherwise, as or instead of a vestry or select vestry; "Ratepayers" ⁽³⁾ shall mean all persons for the time being assessed to rates for the relief of the poor of the

(1) The Public Libraries Act, 1850, repealed 8 & 9 Vict. c. 43, which was "An Act for encouraging the establishment of museums in large towns." The latter Act, however, authorized town councils to fix the rates of admission to the public, whereas under the former Act admission was to be free, so that the Public Libraries Act, 1850, was in point of fact the first attempt at legislation in respect of free public institutions of this kind.

(2) "The Public Libraries Act, 1855," is referred to in the amendment Act of 1871 as the "principal Act."

(3) There has been a very considerable difference of opinion as to whether the expression "ratepayers" in this Act includes "compound ratepayers." Up to the present time there has been no decided case upon the point. By 34 & 35 Vict. c. 71, it is extended so as to mean all persons assessed to and paying the general district rate.

Secs. 3—6. parish; "Overseers of the Poor" shall mean also any persons authorised and required to make and collect the rate for the relief of the poor of the parish, and acting instead of overseers of the poor; "Board" ⁽¹⁾ shall mean the commissioners, trustees, or other body of persons, by whatever name distinguished, for the time being in office and acting in the execution of any Improvement Act, being an Act for draining, cleansing, paving, lighting, watching, or otherwise improving a place, or for any of those purposes; "Improvement Rates" ⁽²⁾ shall mean the rates, tolls, rents, income, and other moneys whatsoever which under the provisions of any such Improvement Act, shall be applicable for the general purposes of such Act.

Town councils of certain boroughs may adopt this Act if determined by inhabitants.

4. The mayor of any municipal borough the population of which, according to the then last census thereof, shall exceed five thousand persons ⁽³⁾, shall, on the request of the town council ⁽⁴⁾, convene a public meeting of the burgesses of the borough, in order to determine whether this Act shall be adopted for the municipal borough, and ten days notice at least of the time, place, and object of the meeting should be given by affixing the same on or near the door of every church and chapel within the borough, and also by advertising the same in one or more of the newspapers published or circulated within the borough, seven days at least before the day appointed for the meeting; and if at such meeting two-thirds ⁽⁵⁾ of such persons as aforesaid then present shall determine that this Act ought to be adopted for the borough ⁽⁶⁾, the same shall thenceforth take effect and come into operation in such borough, and shall be carried into execution in accordance with the laws for the time being in force relating to the municipal corporation of such borough: Provided always, that the mayor, or, in his absence, the chairman of the meeting, shall cause a minute to be made of the resolutions of the meeting, and shall sign the same; and the resolutions so signed shall be conclusive evidence that the meeting was duly convened, and the vote thereat duly taken, and that the minute contains a true account of the proceedings thereat.

Expenses of carrying Act into execution in a borough to be paid out of the borough fund.

5. The expenses incurred in calling and holding the meeting, whether this Act shall be adopted or not, and the expenses of carrying this Act into execution in such borough, may be paid out of the borough fund, and the council may levy by separate rate, to be called a Library Rate, to be made and recoverable in the manner hereinafter ⁽⁷⁾ provided, all moneys from time to time necessary for defraying such expenses ⁽⁸⁾; and distinct accounts shall be kept of the receipts, payments, and liabilities of the council with reference to the execution of this Act.

Board of any district within limits of any Improvement Act may

6. The board ⁽⁹⁾ of any district, being a place within the limits of any Improvement Act, and having such a population as aforesaid ⁽¹⁰⁾, shall, upon the requisition in writing of at least ten persons assessed to and paying the improvement rate, appoint a time not less than ten days nor more than twenty days from the ⁽¹⁾ By 34 & 35 Vict. c. 71, s. 2, the signification of the word "board" is extended so as to include "every local board under the Public Health Act, 1848, and the Local Government Act, 1858, or either of them." By section 26 of the Public Health Act, 1875, local boards constituted under either of the above Acts are made "urban authorities" under that Act.

⁽²⁾ By 34 & 35 Vict. c. 71, s. 2, "improvement rates" are intended to mean "general district rates."

⁽³⁾ By section 6, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 114, any limit as regards population is taken away.

⁽⁴⁾ Or by section 3, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 114, on the request in writing of the ratepayers.

⁽⁵⁾ By section 5, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 114, a bare majority is all that is necessary for the adoption of the Act: Reg. v. Mayor of Portsmouth—Times, January 25, 1876.

⁽⁶⁾ Any burgess or ratepayer who is dissatisfied with the conclusion arrived at by the meeting is entitled as of right to demand and to have a poll taken of the whole body of burgesses or ratepayers: R. v. St. Matthew, Bethnal Green Vestry, 32 L. T. N. S. 558, and R. v. Wimbledon Local Board, 8 L. R. Q. B. D. 459, 51 L. J. Q. B. 219, 46 L. T. N. S. 47, 30 W. R. 400.

⁽⁸⁾ This section down to the word "expenses" is repealed by 29 & 30 Vict. c. 114, s. 2.

time of receiving such requisition for a public meeting ⁽¹⁾ of the persons assessed to and paying such rate in order to determine whether this Act shall be adopted for such district, and ten days' notice at least of the time, place, and object of such meeting shall be given by affixing the same on or near the door of every church and chapel within the district, and also by advertising the same in one or more of the newspapers published or circulated within the district, seven days at least before the day appointed for the meeting; and if at such meeting two-thirds ⁽²⁾ of such persons as aforesaid then present shall determine that this Act ought to be adopted for the district, the same shall thenceforth take effect, and come into operation in such district, and shall be carried into effect according to the laws for the time being in force relating to such board.

7. The expenses incurred in calling and holding the meeting, whether this Act shall be adopted or not, and the expenses of carrying this Act into execution in any such district, shall be paid out of the improvement rate ⁽³⁾, and the board may levy as part of the improvement rate, or by a separate rate to be assessed and recovered in like manner as an improvement rate, such sums of money as shall be from time to time necessary for defraying such expenses; and the board shall keep distinct accounts of their receipts, payments, credits, and liabilities with reference to the execution of this Act, which accounts shall be audited in the same way as accounts are directed to be audited under the Improvement Act.

8. Upon the requisition in writing of at least ten ratepayers of any parish having such a population as aforesaid, the overseers of the poor ⁽⁴⁾ shall appoint a time, not less than ten days nor more than twenty days from the time of receiving such requisition, for a public meeting of the ratepayers in order to determine whether this Act shall be adopted for the parish; and ten days' notice at least of the time, place, and object of the meeting shall be given by affixing the same on or near the door of every church and chapel within the parish, and also by advertising the same in one or more of the newspapers published or circulated within the parish, seven days at least before the day appointed for the meeting; and if at such meeting two-thirds of the ratepayers then present shall determine that this Act ought to be adopted for such parish, the same shall come into operation in such parish, and the Vestry shall forthwith appoint not less than three nor more than nine ratepayers commissioners for carrying the Act into execution, who shall be a body corporate by the name of "The Commissioners for Public Libraries and Museums for the parish of _____, in the county of _____," and by that name may sue and be sued, and hold and dispose of lands, and use a common seal: Provided always, that in any parish where there shall not be a greater population than eight thousand inhabitants by the then last census, it shall be lawful for any ten ratepayers to deliver a requisition by them signed, and describing their place of residence, to the overseers or one of the overseers of the said parish, requiring the votes of the ratepayers at such meeting to be taken according to the provisions of the Act passed in the fifty-eighth year of the reign of King George the Third, chapter sixty-nine, and the votes at such adopt this Act if determined by inhabitants.

Expenses of carrying Act into execution by improvement commissioners to be charged on improvement rate.

Certain parishes may adopt this Act, with the consent of two-thirds of the ratepayers.

The vestry to appoint commissioners for carrying the Act into execution, who shall be a body corporate.

(1) By 40 & 41 Vict. c. 54, s. 1, the local authority upon receiving the requisition may proceed to ascertain the opinions of the ratepayers by the issue of voting papers instead of by public meeting.

(2) See note (3), ante, p. 718.

(3) See note (2), ante, p. 718. Section 4, 34 & 35 Vict. c. 71, authorises local boards, for the purpose of carrying this Act into execution, to borrow upon mortgage of the general district rate or of any separate rate to be levied under the authority of this section.

(4) This gives an alternative mode of proceeding. The requisition may be sent in to the overseers instead of to the local authority, in which event the meeting is to be summoned by the overseers under the auspices of the vestry, and the vestry becomes the authority for the execution of the Act, if it is adopted by the public meeting so called.

Secs. 8—14. meeting shall thereupon be taken according to the provisions of the said last-mentioned Act of Parliament, and not otherwise ⁽¹⁾.

One-third of such commissioners to go out of office yearly, and others to be appointed, but those retiring may be re-appointed.

General and special meetings of commissioners.

Minutes of proceedings of commissioners to be entered in books.

Distinct accounts to be kept by commissioners, and duly audited.

Expenses of executing Act in any parish to be paid out of poor rate.

Vestries of two or more neighbouring parishes may adopt the Act.

9. At the termination of every year (the year being reckoned from and exclusive of the day of the first appointment of commissioners) a meeting of the vestry shall be held, at which meeting one-third or as nearly as may be one-third of the commissioners, to be determined by ballot, shall go out of office, and the vestry shall appoint other commissioners in their place, but the outgoing commissioners may be re-elected; and the vestry shall fill up every vacancy among the commissioners, whether occurring by death, resignation, or otherwise, as soon as possible after the same occurs.

10. The commissioners shall meet at least once in every calendar month, and at such other times as they think fit, at the public library or museum or some other convenient place; and any one commissioner may summon a special meeting of the commissioners by giving three clear days' notice in writing to each commissioner, specifying therein the purpose for which the meeting is called; and no business shall be transacted at any meeting of the commissioners unless at least two commissioners shall be present.

11. All orders and proceedings of the commissioners shall be entered in books to be kept by them for that purpose, and shall be signed by the commissioners or any two of them; and all such orders and proceedings so entered, and purporting to be so signed, shall be deemed to be original orders and proceedings, and such books may be produced and read as evidence of all such orders and proceedings upon any judicial proceeding whatsoever.

12. The commissioners shall keep distinct and regular accounts of their receipts, payments, credits, and liabilities with reference to the execution of this Act, which accounts shall be audited yearly by the poor law auditor, if the accounts of poor rate expenditure of the parish be audited by a poor law auditor, but if not so audited, then by two auditors not being commissioners, who shall be yearly appointed by the vestry, and the auditor or auditors shall report thereon, and such report shall be laid before the vestry by the commissioners.

13. The expenses of calling and holding the meeting of the ratepayers, whether this Act shall be adopted or not, and the expenses of carrying this Act into execution ⁽²⁾ in any parish, to such amount as shall be from time to time sanctioned by the vestry, shall be paid out of a rate to be made and recovered in like manner as a poor rate, except that every person occupying lands used as arable, meadow, or pasture ground only, or as woodlands or market gardens, or nursery grounds, shall be rated in respect of the same in the proportion of one-third part only of the full net annual value thereof respectively; the vestry to be called for the purpose of sanctioning the amount shall be convened in the manner usual in the parish; the amount for the time being proposed to be raised for such expenses shall be expressed in the notice convening the vestry, and shall be paid, according to the order of the vestry, to such person as shall be appointed by the commissioners to receive the same: Provided always, that in the notices requiring the payment of the rate there shall be stated the proportion which the amount to be thereby raised for the purposes of this Act shall bear to the total amount of the rate.

14. The vestries of any two or more neighbouring parishes having, according to the then last census an aggregate population exceeding five thousand persons may adopt this Act, in like manner as if the population of each of those parishes according to the then last census exceeded five thousand, and may concur in carrying the same into execution in such parishes for such time as they shall mutually agree; and such vestries may decide that a public library or museum, or both, shall be erected in any one of such parishes, and that the expenses of carrying this Act into execution with reference to the same shall be borne by such parishes in such proportions as such vestries shall mutually approve; the proportion for each of such parishes of such expenses shall be paid out of the moneys to be raised for the relief of the poor of the same respective parishes accordingly; but no more than three commissioners shall be appointed for each parish; and the commissioners so appointed for each of such parishes shall in the management of the said public library and museum form one body of commissioners, and shall act accordingly in the execution of this Act; and the accounts of the commissioners shall be examined and reported on by the auditor or auditors of each of such parishes; and the surplus money at the disposal as aforesaid of such commissioners shall be paid to the overseers of such parishes respectively, in the proportion in which such parishes shall be liable to such expenses.

15. The amount of the rate to be levied in any borough, district, or parish in any one year for the purposes of this Act shall not exceed the sum of one penny in the pound⁽¹⁾; and for the purposes of the library rate all the clauses of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to the manner of making rates, to the appeal to be made against any rate, and to the recovery of rates, shall be incorporated with this Act; and whenever the words "special Act" occur in the Act so incorporated they shall mean "The Public Libraries Act, 1855;" the accounts of the said board and commissioners respectively with reference to the execution of this Act shall at all reasonable times be open, without charge, to the inspection of every person rated to the improvement rate or to the rates for the relief of the poor of the parish, as the case may be, who may make copies of or extracts from such accounts, without paying for the same; and in case the board or the commissioners, or any of them respectively, or any of their respective officers or servants having the custody of such accounts, shall not permit the same accounts to be inspected, or copies of or extracts from the same to be made, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Rates levied not to exceed one penny in the pound.

Accounts of board and commissioners to be open to inspection.

16. For carrying this Act into execution, the council, board, or commissioners respectively may, with the approval of Her Majesty's Treasury (and as to the commissioners, with the sanction also of the vestry and the Poor Law Board⁽²⁾), from time to time borrow at interest, on the security of a mortgage or bond of the borough fund, or of the rates levied in pursuance of this Act, such sums of money as may be by them respectively required, and the commissioners for carrying into execution the Act of the ninth and tenth years of Her Majesty, chapter eighty⁽³⁾, may from time to time advance and lend any such sums of money.

Power to council, &c., to borrow on mortgage.

17. The clauses and provisions of "The Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," with respect to the borrowing of money on mortgage or bond⁽⁴⁾, and the accountability of officers⁽⁵⁾, and the recovery of damages and penalties⁽⁶⁾, so far as such provisions may respectively be applicable to the purposes of this Act, shall be respectively incorporated with this Act.

Provisions of 8 & 9 Vict. c. 16, as to borrowing extended to this Act.

⁽¹⁾ A "penny" rate means a penny rate on the nominal rateable property, although part of it is unproductive. A deficiency thus arising cannot be supplied out of the productive part: Reg. v. Liverpool, JJ., 31 L. J. M. C. 108; 6 L. T. N. S. 241.

40 & 41 Vict. c. 54, s. 1, gives the local authority the option of ascertaining the opinion of the ratepayers for or against the adoption of the Acts by the issue of voting papers instead of by public meeting, and section 2 authorises the voter to stipulate that its adoption shall be subject to a limitation of a lower rate than a penny in the pound.

18. The council of any borough and the board of any district respectively may from time to time, with the approval of Her Majesty's Treasury, appropriate for the purposes of this Act any lands vested, as the case may be, in a borough, in the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses, and in a district in the board; and the council, board, and commissioners respectively may also, with such approval, purchase or rent any lands or any suitable buildings; and the council and board and commissioners respectively may, upon any lands so appropriated, purchased, or rented respectively, erect any buildings suitable for public libraries or museums ⁽¹⁾, or both, or for schools for science or art, and may apply, take down, alter, and extend any buildings for such purposes, and rebuild, repair, and improve the same respectively, and fit up, furnish, and supply the same respectively with all requisite furniture, fittings, and conveniences ⁽²⁾.

19. "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," shall be incorporated with this Act; but the council, board, and commissioners respectively shall not purchase or take any lands otherwise than by agreement.

20. The council, board, and commissioners aforesaid respectively may, with the like approval as is required for the purchase of lands ⁽³⁾, sell any lands vested in the mayor, alderman, and burgesses, or board, or commissioners respectively, for the purposes of this Act, or exchange ⁽⁴⁾ the same for any lands better adapted for the purposes; and the moneys to arise from such sale, or to be received for equality of exchange, or a sufficient part thereof, shall be applied in or towards the purchase of other lands better adapted for such purposes.

21. The general management, regulation, and control of such libraries and museums, schools for science and art, shall be, as to any borough, vested in and exercised by the council, and as to any district in and by the board, and as to any parish or parishes in and by the commissioners ⁽⁵⁾, or such committee as such council or board may from time to time appoint, the members whereof need not be members of the council or board or be commissioners, who may from time to time purchase and provide the necessary fuel, lighting, and other similar matters, books, newspapers, maps, and specimens of art and science, for the use of the library or museum, or school, and cause the same to be bound or repaired when necessary, and appoint salaried officers and servants, and dismiss the same, and make rules and regulations for the safety and use of the libraries and museums, and schools, and for the admission of the public.

22. The lands and buildings so to be appropriated, purchased, or rented as aforesaid, and all other real and personal property whatever presented to or purchased for any library or museum established under this Act, or school, shall be vested, in the case of a borough, in the mayor, alderman, and burgesses, in the case of a district, in the board, and in the case of a parish or parishes, in the commissioners.

23. If any meeting called as aforesaid to determine as to the adoption of this Act for any borough, district, or parish shall determine against the adoption, no meeting for a similar purpose shall be held for the space of one year at least from the time of holding the previous meeting ⁽⁶⁾.

24. The Lord Mayor of the city of London shall, on the request of the Lord Mayor, aldermen, and commons of the city of London, in common council assembled, convene a public meeting in manner hereinbefore mentioned of all persons rated and assessed to the consolidated rate in the city of London, in order

25. The admission to all libraries and museums established under this Act shall be open to the public free of all charge ⁽²⁾.

Museums to be free.

26. This Act shall not extend to Ireland or Scotland ⁽³⁾.

Extent of Act.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES AMENDMENT ACT, 1866.

29 & 30 VICT. c. 114.

An Act to amend the Public Libraries Act.

[10th August, 1866.]

1. So much of the section fifteen of the said Public Libraries Act, 1855 ⁽⁴⁾, as incorporates with that Act certain clauses of the "Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847," shall, so far as the same relates to or concerns municipal boroughs, be repealed.

Secs. 1, 2.

Towns Improvement Clauses Act not to apply to boroughs.

2. Section five of the said Act ⁽⁵⁾, except so much thereof as relates to keeping distinct accounts, shall be repealed; and the expenses incurred in calling and holding the meeting, whether the said Act shall be adopted or not, and the expenses of carrying the said Act into execution in any municipal borough, may be paid out of the borough rate of such borough, or by and out of a rate to be made and recovered in such borough, in like manner as a borough rate may be made and recovered therein, but the amount so paid in such borough in any one year shall not exceed the sum of one penny in the pound upon the annual value of the property in such borough rateable to a borough rate: provided always, that nothing in this Act shall interfere with the operation of the Act twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth Victoria, chapter one hundred and eight, so far as it relates to the collection of a rate for a public library in the city of Oxford.

Part of section 5 of recited Act repealed. Expenses of executing Act in boroughs to be paid out of borough fund.

(1) A bare majority instead of "two thirds" now sufficient, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 114, s. 5.

(2) See note, section 1.

(3) The Acts relating to free libraries in Ireland are 18 & 19 Vict. c. 40, 40 & 41 Vict. c. 15, and 40 & 41 Vict. c. 54.

The Acts relating to free libraries in Scotland are 30 & 31 Vict. c. 37, 34 & 35 Vict. c. 59, and 40 & 41 Vict. c. 54.

Secs. 3-11.

In boroughs meeting to be called at the request of ten rate-payers.

Parishes adjoining a borough, &c., may unite in adopting Act.

A majority of one half of the rate-payers may adopt Act.

Act may be adopted whatever amount of population.

If any burgh declines to adopt Act, no fresh meeting to be held for a year.

A library or museum may be established in connection with any museum or library.

Short title.

3. The public meeting mentioned in section four of the said Public Libraries Act, 1855 ⁽¹⁾, shall be called either on the request of the town council, or on the request in writing of ten ratepayers residing in the borough.

4. Any parish, of whatever population, adjoining any borough, district, or parish which shall have adopted or shall contemplate the adoption of the said Public Libraries Act, 1855 ⁽²⁾, may, with the consent of more than one half of the ratepayers thereof present at a meeting to be convened in manner directed by the said Act with reference to meetings of ratepayers, and with the consent also of the town council of such borough, or the board of such district, or the commissioners of such parish, as the case may be, determine that such adjoining parish shall for the purposes of the said Act form part of such borough, district, or parish, and thereupon the vestry of such adjoining parish shall forthwith appoint three rate-payers commissioners for such parish, one third of whom shall go out of office and the vacancies be filled up as provided by the said Act with respect to the commissioners of a parish, and such commissioners for the time being shall for the purposes of the said Act be considered as part of such town council, board, or commissioners, as the case may be; and the expenses of calling the meeting, and the proportion of the expenses of such adjoining parish of carrying the said Act into execution, shall be paid out of the poor rates thereof to such person as the commissioners of the said adjoining parish shall appoint to receive the same.

5. The majority necessary to be obtained for the adoption of the said Act ⁽²⁾ or the Public Libraries Act (Scotland), 1854, shall be more than one half of the persons present at the meeting, instead of two thirds of such persons as now required.

6. The Public Libraries Act (1855) ⁽²⁾ and the Public Libraries Act (Scotland) (1854) shall be applicable to any borough, district, or parish or burgh, of whatever population.

8. If any meeting called as provided by the said last-mentioned Act ⁽²⁾ shall determine against the adoption of the Act in any burgh, no meeting for a similar purpose shall be held for the space of one year at least from the time of holding the previous meeting.

10. Wherever a public museum or library has been established under any Act relating to public libraries or museums, or shall hereafter be established under either of the said before-mentioned Acts, a public library or museum, as the case may be, may at any time be established in connexion therewith without any further proceedings being taken under the said Acts.

11. This Act may be cited as the Public Libraries Amendment Act (England and Scotland), 1866, and shall be taken to be part of the said Public Libraries Act, 1855 ⁽²⁾, and shall be construed accordingly.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT (1855) AMENDMENT ACT, 1871.

34 & 35 VICT. c. 71.

An Act to amend the Public Libraries Act, 1855.

[14th August, 1871.]

Sec. 1.

Local boards to put principal Act into execution.

1. Every local board under the Public Health Act, 1848, and the Local Government Act, 1858, or either of them, is empowered, in like manner as a board under any Improvement Act, to adopt and carry into execution the principal Act.

⁽²⁾ 18 & 19 Vict. c. 70, ante, p. 717.

2. For the purposes aforesaid, the following words in the principal Act shall have the following extended significations; viz., the word "board" shall mean any such local board as aforesaid; the words "improvement rate" shall mean the general district rate levied by any such board; the word "ratepayers" shall mean all persons assessed to and paying such general district rate; the word "district" shall mean the district in which such local board has authority to levy a general district rate; the term "Improvement Act" shall mean the Local Government Act, 1858.

Secs. 2—5.

Interpretation of terms.

3. So much of section fifteen of the principal Act as refers to the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, shall not apply to rates made by local boards under the principal Act; but nothing herein contained shall enable local boards to levy or expend for the purposes of the principal Act any greater sum in any year than one penny in the pound.

Section 15 of recited Act not to apply to rates made by local boards.

4. For carrying into execution the principal Act, every such local board may borrow upon mortgage of the general district rate or any separate rate to be levied under the principal Act; and such borrowing shall be effected in conformity with the provisions as to borrowing contained in the Local Government Act, 1858, and the Acts incorporated therewith, in lieu of the provisions as to borrowing contained in the principal Act.

Provision as to borrowing by local boards for purposes of recited Act.

5. This Act shall not apply to any district the whole or any part of which is within any municipal borough, or within the jurisdiction of commissioners under any Improvement Act.

Not to apply to certain districts.

THE

PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT AMENDMENT
ACT, 1877.

40 & 41 VICT. c. 54.

An Act to amend the Public Libraries Acts.

[14th August, 1877.] Secs. 1—4

Whereas by the Public Libraries Acts, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 40, for Ireland; 29 & 30 Vict. c. 114, for England; and 30 & 31 Vict. c. 37, for Scotland, the mode by which the Act is to be adopted is prescribed to be by public meeting, and it has been found that in many cases a public meeting is a most incorrect and unsatisfactory mode, and fails to indicate the general opinion of the ratepayers, and it is desirable to ascertain these opinions more correctly:

Be it enacted, &c.

1. It shall be competent for the prescribed local authority in any place or community which has the power to adopt one of the above recited Acts, to ascertain the opinions of the majority of the ratepayers either by the prescribed public meeting or by the issue of a voting paper to each ratepayer, and the subsequent collection and scrutiny thereof, and any expense in connection with such voting papers shall be borne in the same way as the expense of a public meeting would be borne, and the decision of the majority so ascertained shall be equally binding.

Ratepayers' opinions may be ascertained by voting papers.

2. In addition to the simple vote "Yes" or "No" to the adoption of the Act, such voting paper may stipulate that its adoption shall be subject to a limitation to some lower rate of assessment than the maximum allowed by Act of Parliament in force at the time, and such lower limit, if once adopted, shall not be subsequently altered except by public vote similarly taken.

Ratepayers may stipulate for modified assessment.

3. "Ratepayer" shall mean every inhabitant who would have to pay the Free Library assessment in event of the Act being adopted.

THE CONTAGIOUS DISEASES (ANIMALS) ACT, 1878.

41 & 42 VICT. c. 74.

An Act for making better provision respecting Contagious and Infectious Diseases of Cattle and other Animals; and for other purposes. [16th August, 1878.] Secs. 1—4.

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

PART I.—GENERAL.

1. This Act may be cited as the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1878. Short title.
- 2.—(1.) This Act shall, except as otherwise expressed, commence and have effect from and immediately after the thirtieth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, which time is in this Act referred to as the commencement of this Act. Commencement of Act.
- (2.) But on and after the passing of this Act any Order of Council and Order in Council necessary or proper for bringing this Act into operation at the commencement thereof, and any order or regulation of a local authority authorised by any such Order of Council or in Council, may be made so that the same do not take effect before the commencement of this Act; and on and after the passing of this Act any committee and any inspector or other officer may be appointed to act under this Act as from the commencement thereof.
3. This Act is divided into Parts, as follows: Division of Act into parts.
 - Part I.—General.
 - Part II.—England.
 - Part III.—Scotland.
 - Part IV.—Ireland.
- 4.—(1.) The enactments described in the First Schedule are hereby repealed, subject to the qualifications and exceptions in this Act mentioned (1). Repeal of enactments in schedule, with savings and other provisions.
- (2.) The repeal of enactments or any other thing in this Act shall not—
- (i.) Affect the past operation of any of those enactments, or any Order of Council or in Council or regulation of a local authority made, or any license granted, or any committee or sub-committee constituted, or any appointment made, or any right, title, obligation, or liability accrued, or any money borrowed, or any market, wharf, lair, landing-place, or other accommodation provided, or any rate or mortgage made, or the validity or invalidity of anything done or suffered, under any of those enactments before the commencement of this Act;
- (ii.) Interfere with the institution or prosecution of any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, in respect of any offence committed against, or penalty or forfeiture incurred or liability accrued under or in consequence of, any of those enactments or any order or regulation made thereunder;
- (iii.) Take away or abridge any protection or benefit given or to be enjoyed in relation thereto.

(1) This section repealed the Contagious Diseases (Animals Act) 1869, except paragraphs 2, 3 and 4 of section 28 (local) and sections 100 and 101 (transitory).

Secs. 4, 5.

(3.) Notwithstanding the repeal of enactments or any other thing in this Act, every Order of Council and in Council and other thing in this section mentioned shall continue and be as if this Act had not been passed; but so that the same may be revoked, altered, or otherwise dealt with under this Act, as if it had been made or done under this Act.

32 & 33 Vict.
c. 70.
40 & 41 Vict.
c. 68.

(4.) This Act, instead of the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, shall be deemed to be referred to in the Destructive Insects Act, 1877; and penalties under the provisions of that Act relating to Great Britain shall be recoverable in manner provided in Parts II. and III. of this Act.

Interpretation and construction.

5.—(1.) In this Act—

- (i.) "Cattle" means bulls, cows, oxen, heifers, and calves;
- (ii.) "Animals" means, except where it is otherwise expressed, cattle, sheep, and goats, and all other ruminating animals, and swine;
- (iii.) "Disease" ⁽¹⁾ means cattle plague (that is to say, rinderpest, or the disease commonly called cattle plague), contagious pleuro-pneumonia of cattle (in this Act called pleuro-pneumonia), foot and mouth disease, sheep pox, or sheep scab;
- (iv.) "Disease" means affected with disease;
- (v.) "Suspected" means suspected of being diseased;
- (vi.) "Carcase" means the carcase of an animal, and includes part of a carcase, and the meat, bones, hide, skin, hoofs, horns, offal, or other part of an animal, separately or otherwise, or any portion thereof;
- (vii.) "Fodder" means hay or other substance commonly used for food of animals;
- (viii.) "Litter" means straw or other substance commonly used for bedding or otherwise for or about animals;
- (ix.) "Foreign," applied to a country, denotes a country out of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and applied to animals and things, means brought to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland from a foreign country;
- (x.) "Inspector of the Privy Council" or "inspector of a local authority" means a person appointed to be an inspector for purposes of this Act, by the Privy Council or by a local authority, as the case may be; and "inspector," used alone, means such a person, by whichever authority appointed;
- (xi.) "Veterinary inspector" means an inspector being a member of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, or any veterinary practitioner qualified as approved by the Privy Council;
- (xii.) "Treasury" means the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury;
- (xiii.) "The Corporation of London" means the mayor and commonalty and citizens of the City of London, acting by the mayor, aldermen, and commons of that city, in Common Council assembled;
- (xiv.) "The Customs Acts" means the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, and any enactment amending or substituted for that Act;
- (xv.) "Justice" means justice of the peace;
- (xvi.) "Court of summary jurisdiction" means two or more justices sitting in petty sessions at a court or other public place appointed in that behalf, or a police, stipendiary, or other magistrate or officer, however designated, having by law power to act for any purpose with the authority of two justices, and sitting at a police court or other place appointed in that behalf;
- (xvii.) "Railway company" includes a company or persons working a railway under lease or otherwise;
- (xviii.) "Person" includes a body corporate or unincorporate;
- (xix.) "Part" means Part of this Act, and "Schedule" means Schedule to this Act;
- (2.) The schedules shall be construed and have effect as part of this Act.
- (3.) In the computation of time for purposes of this Act, a period reckoned by 39 & 40 Vict.

c. 36.

(1) See section 32, sub-section xxxiii, post.

days from the happening of an event or the doing of an act or thing, shall be deemed to be exclusive of the day on which the event happens or the act or thing is done. Secs. 5—9.

PART II.—ENGLAND.

6. Part II. applies to England.

7. In and for purposes of Part II.—

- (i.) “County” does not include a county of a city or a county of a town, but includes a riding or division or parts of a county having a separate commission of the peace; Extent of
Part II.
Definition of county and other districts.
- (ii.) The liberty of the Isle of Ely and the soke of Peterborough are each a county;
- (iii.) Every other liberty or franchise of a county is part of the county by which it is surrounded, or, if partly surrounded, by two or more counties, is part of that county with which it has the longest common boundary;
- (iv.) “Metropolis” has the same meaning as in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855; 18 & 19 Vict.
c. 120.
- (v.) “Borough” means—
- (a.) A place for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporation Act, 1835; or 5 & 6 Will.
IV. c. 76.
- (b.) A place having for the time being under any general or local Act of Parliament, or otherwise, a separate police establishment;
- (vi.) Every place not being a county, borough, part of the metropolis, or named in the Second Schedule, forms part of the county to the county rate whereof it is assessed, or, if it is not so assessed, forms part of the county wherein it is situate.

Privy Council.

8.—(1.) In this Act Her Majesty’s most Honourable Privy Council is referred to as the Privy Council, and an order of the Privy Council under this Act is referred to as an Order of Council. Powers of Privy Council.

(2.) Powers by this Act conferred on the Privy Council may be exercised by the Lords and others of the Privy Council, or two of them; and, as regards the making of orders ⁽¹⁾ and doing of acts affecting only particular local authorities, persons, ports, towns, districts, places, areas, vessels, or things, and as regards the issuing and revocation of licences, and the appointment or removal of inspectors and other officers, may be exercised by the Lord President of the Council or one of Her Majesty’s principal Secretaries of State.

Local Authorities.

9. For the purposes of this Part, the respective districts, authorities, rates, and officers described in the Second Schedule, shall be the district, the local authority ⁽²⁾, the local rate, and the clerk of the local authority, but subject as regards the metropolis to the following provisions: Local authorities described in schedule.

- (i.) The corporation of London shall alone be the local authority in and for the metropolis for purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to foreign animals;
- (ii.) The city of London and the liberties thereof shall contribute for purposes of this Act to the Metropolitan Consolidated Rate;
- (iii.) No part of the expenses of the local authority for a county shall be

Cattle Plague.

Declaration of infected place in cattle plague
by inspector.

10.—(1.) Where it appears to an inspector that cattle plague exists, or has within ten days existed, in a cow-shed, field, or other place, he shall forthwith make and sign a declaration thereof.

(2.) He shall serve a notice, signed by him, of that declaration on the occupier of that cow-shed, field, or other place.

(3.) Thereupon that cow-shed, field, or other place, with all lands and buildings contiguous thereto in the same occupation, shall become and be a place infected with cattle plague, subject to the determination and declaration of the Privy Council.

(4.) The inspector shall serve a like notice, signed by him, unless, in the circumstances, this appears to him not to be expedient, on the occupiers of all lands and buildings, any part whereof lies in his judgment within one mile in any direction from that cow-shed, field, or other place, or on the occupiers of any of those lands and buildings.

(5.) Thereupon, all the lands and buildings aforesaid, on the occupiers whereof the inspector serves such a notice, shall become and be part of the aforesaid place infected with cattle plague, subject to the determination and declaration of the Privy Council.

(6.) The inspector shall, with all practicable speed, inform the Privy Council and the local authority of his declaration and notices, and shall send to the Privy Council his declaration and a copy of his secondly-mentioned notice (if any).

(7.) The Privy Council shall forthwith on receipt of the information inquire into the correctness of the inspector's declaration.

(8.) If the Privy Council are satisfied of the correctness of that declaration as regards the existence or past existence of cattle plague, they shall by order determine and declare accordingly, and prescribe the limits of the place infected with cattle plague.

(9.) If the Privy Council are not satisfied of the correctness of the inspector's declaration as regards the existence or past existence of cattle plague, they shall by order determine and declare accordingly; and thereupon, as from the time specified in the order, the place comprised in the inspector's declaration and notices shall cease to be a place infected with cattle plague.

Declaration of infected place in cattle plague by Privy Council.

11. The Privy Council may at any time, if they think fit, on any evidence satisfactory to them, by order declare any cow-shed, field, or other place, with or without any lands or buildings adjoining or near thereto, to be a place infected with cattle plague.

Declaration of infected area in cattle plague.

12. The Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, by order declare any area, wherein a place infected with cattle plague is situate, to be an area infected with cattle plague.

Alteration of infected place or area in cattle plague.
Declaration of freedom from cattle plague.

13. The Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, by order extend, contract, or otherwise alter the limits of a place or area infected with cattle plague.

14. The Privy Council may at any time, if they think fit, by order declare a place or area infected with cattle plague, or part thereof, to be free from cattle plague.

Slaughter
by Privy Council in cattle plague, and compensation out of public money.

15. (1.)—The Privy Council shall cause to be slaughtered—

(i.) All animals affected with cattle plague:

(ii.) All animals being or having been in the same shed or stable, herd or flock, or in contact with an animal affected with cattle plague.

(2.) The Privy Council may, if they think fit, in any case cause to be slaughtered—

(iii.) All animals suspected of cattle plague, or being in a place infected with cattle plague:

(iv.) All animals being in such parts of an area infected with cattle plague as are not comprised in a place infected with cattle plague (but in this last-mentioned case subject to such regulations as the Treasury from time to time think fit to make). Secs. 15, 16.

(3.) The Privy Council shall, for animals slaughtered under this section, pay compensation as follows, out of money provided by Parliament:

(a.) Where the animal slaughtered was affected with cattle plague, the compensation shall be one half of its value immediately before it became so affected, but so that the compensation do not in any such case exceed twenty pounds:

(b.) In every other case the compensation shall be the value of the animal immediately before it was slaughtered, but so that the compensation do not in any case exceed forty pounds.

Pleuro-Pneumonia.

16.—(1.) Where it appears to an inspector of a local authority that pleuro-pneumonia exists, or has within fifty-six days existed, in a cow-shed, field, or other place, he shall forthwith make and sign a declaration thereof. Declaration of infected place in pleuro-pneumonia by local authority.

(2.) He shall serve a notice, signed by him, of the declaration on the occupier of that cow-shed, field, or other place.

(3.) Thereupon that cow-shed, field, or other place shall become and be a place infected with pleuro-pneumonia, subject to the determination and declaration of the local authority.

(4.) The inspector shall, with all practicable speed, inform the local authority of his declaration and notice, and shall send his declaration and a copy of his notice to the local authority.

(5.) The local authority shall forthwith on receipt of that information inquire into the correctness of the inspector's declaration, with the assistance and advice of a veterinary inspector, or of a person qualified according to this Act to be such.

(6.) If the local authority are satisfied of the correctness of the inspector's declaration as regards the existence or past existence of disease, they shall by order determine and declare accordingly, and prescribe the limits of the place infected with pleuro-pneumonia, and may, if they think fit, include within those limits any lands or buildings adjoining or near to the cow-shed, field, or other place to which the inspector's declaration relates.

(7.) The local authority may include in a place infected with pleuro-pneumonia any adjoining part of the district of another local authority, with the previous consent in writing of that authority, but not otherwise.

(8.) If the local authority are not satisfied of the correctness of the inspector's declaration as regards the existence or past existence of disease, they shall by order determine and declare accordingly; and thereupon, as from the time specified in that behalf in their order, the cow-shed, field, or other place to which the inspector's declaration relates shall cease to be a place infected with pleuro-pneumonia.

(9.) The local authority shall forthwith report to the Privy Council the declaration of the inspector, and the proceedings of the local authority thereon, and shall state whether or not it is, in their opinion, expedient that an infected area, comprising the infected place, shall be declared, and, if so, what should, in their opinion, be the limits of that area, and whether or not there is within that area any place used for the holding of a market, fair, exhibition, or sale of cattle, and, if so, whether or not it is, in their opinion, expedient that the holding in that area, while infected, of a market, fair, exhibition, or sale of cattle, should be prohibited or restricted by Order of Council.

(10.) This section, shall, notwithstanding anything therein contained, be construed and have effect subject to the subsequent section in this Act contained, whereby the Privy Council are required to make, by order, provision respecting the case of cattle found to be affected with pleuro-pneumonia while exposed for sale or exhibited in a market, fair, sale-yard, or place of exhibition, and in other circumstances specified in the same section, and generally while being in a place not in the possession or occupation, or under the control, of the owner of the cattle.

17.—(1.) The Privy Council may at any time, if they think fit, on any evidence satisfactory to them, by order declare any cow-shed, field, or other place, with or without any lands or buildings adjoining or near thereto, to be a place infected with pleuro-pneumonia.

(2.) The Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, by order extend the limits of a place infected with pleuro-pneumonia, declared either by a local authority or by the Privy Council.

18.—(1.) The Privy Council may at any time, if they think fit, on any evidence satisfactory to them, by order declare any area wherein a place infected with pleuro-pneumonia is situate to be an area infected with pleuro-pneumonia, and may from time to time, if they think fit, by order extend the limits of such an area.

(2.) The Privy Council, on making any such order, shall consider whether it is necessary or expedient to prohibit the holding in that area, while infected, of any market, fair, exhibition, or sale of cattle, and shall either prohibit the holding thereof accordingly, or allow the same to be held on such terms and conditions as they think fit to prescribe.

19. The rules set forth in the Third Schedule shall have effect in relation to a place or area infected with pleuro-pneumonia.

20.—(1.) Where a local authority have declared a place to be infected with pleuro-pneumonia, they may, if they think fit, at any time after the expiration of fifty-six days from the date of the cessation therein of that disease, but not sooner, declare by order that place to be free from pleuro-pneumonia.

(2.) Where the Privy Council or a local authority have declared a place to be infected with pleuro-pneumonia, the Privy Council may, if they think fit, at any time after the expiration of fifty-six days from the date of the cessation therein of that disease, but not sooner, declare by order that place to be free from pleuro-pneumonia.

(3.) Where the Privy Council have declared an area to be infected with pleuro-pneumonia, they may, if they think fit, at any time when there is not within that area, or within some particular portion thereof, any place infected with pleuro-pneumonia, declare by order that area, or that portion thereof, to be free from pleuro-pneumonia.

21.—(1.) A local authority shall cause all cattle affected with pleuro-pneumonia to be slaughtered within two days after the existence of the disease is known to them.

(2.) A local authority may, if they think fit, cause any cattle being or having been in the same shed or herd, or in contact, with cattle affected with pleuro-pneumonia to be slaughtered.

(3.) The local authority shall out of the local rate pay compensation as follows for cattle slaughtered under this section :

(i.) Where the animal slaughtered was affected with pleuro-pneumonia, the compensation shall be three-fourths of its value immediately before it became so affected, but so that the compensation do not in any such case exceed thirty pounds :

(ii.) In every other case the compensation shall be the value of the animal immediately before it was slaughtered, but so that the compensation do not in any case exceed forty pounds.

Foot and Mouth Disease.

22.—(1.) Where it appears to an inspector of a local authority that foot and mouth disease exists, or has within ten days existed, in a cow-shed, field, or other place, he shall forthwith make and sign a declaration thereof.

(2.) He shall serve a notice, signed by him, of that declaration on the occupier of that cow-shed, field, or other place, and also on the occupier or occupiers of any lands or buildings contiguous thereto as he shall consider necessary.

(3.) Thereupon that cow-shed, field, or other place shall become and be a place infected with foot and mouth disease, subject to the determination and declaration of the local authority.

(4.) The inspector shall, with all practicable speed, inform the local authority of his declaration and notice, and shall send his declaration and a copy of his notice to the local authority. Secs. 22-26.

(5.) The local authority shall forthwith on receipt of that information inquire into the correctness of the inspector's declaration.

(6.) If the local authority are satisfied of the correctness of the inspector's declaration as regards the existence or past existence of disease, they shall by order determine and declare accordingly, and prescribe the limits of the place infected with foot and mouth disease, and may, if they think fit, include within those limits any lands or buildings adjoining or near to the cow-shed, field, or other place to which the inspector's declaration relates.

(7.) The local authority may include in a place infected with foot and mouth disease any adjoining part of the district of another local authority, with the previous consent in writing of that authority, but not otherwise.

(8.) If the local authority are not satisfied of the correctness of the inspector's declaration as regards the existence or past existence of disease, they shall by order determine and declare accordingly; and thereupon, as from the time specified in that behalf in their order, the cow-shed, field, or other place to which the inspector's declaration relates shall cease to be a place infected with foot and mouth disease.

(9.) The local authority shall forthwith report to the Privy Council the declaration of the inspector, and the proceedings of the local authority thereon, and shall state whether or not it is, in their opinion, expedient that an infected area, comprising the infected place, shall be declared, and, if so, what should, in their opinion, be the limits of that area, and whether or not there is within that area any place used for the holding of a market, fair, exhibition, or sale of animals, and, if so, whether or not it is, in their opinion, expedient that the holding in that area, while infected, of a market, fair, exhibition, or sale of animals should be prohibited or restricted by Order of Council.

(10.) This section shall, notwithstanding anything therein contained, be construed and have effect subject to the subsequent section in this Act contained, whereby the Privy Council are required to make, by order, provision respecting the case of animals found to be affected with foot and mouth disease while exposed for sale or exhibited in a market, fair, sale-yard, or place of exhibition, and in other circumstances specified in the same section, and generally while being in a place not in the possession or occupation, or under the control, of the owner of the animals.

23.—(1.) The Privy Council may at any time, if they think fit, on any evidence satisfactory to them, by order declare any cow-shed, field, or other place, with or without any lands or buildings adjoining or near thereto, to be a place infected with foot and mouth disease. Declaration or extension of infected place in foot and mouth disease by Privy Council.

(2.) The Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, on any evidence satisfactory to them, by order extend the limits of a place infected with foot and mouth disease, declared either by the Privy Council or by a local authority.

24.—(1.) The Privy Council may at any time, if they think fit, on any evidence satisfactory to them, by order declare any area wherein a place infected with foot and mouth disease is situate to be an area infected with foot and mouth disease, and may from time to time, if they think fit, by order extend the limits of such an area. Declaration of infected area in foot and mouth disease by Privy Council.

(2.) The Privy Council, on making any such order, shall consider whether it is necessary or expedient to prohibit the holding in that area, while infected, of any market, fair, exhibition, or sale of animals, and shall either prohibit the holding thereof accordingly or allow the same to be held on such terms and conditions as they think fit to prescribe.

25. The rules set forth in the Fourth Schedule shall have effect in relation to a place or area infected with foot and mouth disease. Rules for foot and mouth disease.

26.—(1.) Where a local authority have declared a place to be infected with foot and mouth disease, they may, if they think fit, at any time after the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the cessation therein of that disease, or of such longer period, not exceeding twenty-eight days from that date, as the Privy Council may think fit, by order declare that place to be free from foot and mouth disease. Declaration of freedom from foot and mouth disease.

Secs. 26–28. Council from time to time by general order direct, but not sooner, declare by order that place to be free from foot and mouth disease.

and mouth disease.

(2.) Where the Privy Council or a local authority have declared a place to be infected with foot and mouth disease, the Privy Council may, if they think fit, at any time after the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the cessation therein of that disease, or of such longer period, not exceeding twenty-eight days from that date, as the Privy Council from time to time by general order direct, but not sooner, declare by order that place to be free from foot and mouth disease.

(3.) Where the Privy Council have declared an area to be infected with foot and mouth disease, they may, if they think fit, at any time when there is not within that area, or within some particular portion thereof, any place infected with foot and mouth disease, declare, by order, that area, or that portion thereof, to be free from foot and mouth disease.

Exceptional Powers for Transit, and other cases.

Privy Council to provide for pleuro-pneumonia and foot and mouth disease during transit, and in other cases.

27.—(1.) The Privy Council shall, as soon as may be after the passing of this Act, and thereafter from time to time, by general order make such further or other provision as they think necessary or expedient respecting the case of animals found to be affected with pleuro-pneumonia or foot and mouth disease—

- (i.) While exposed for sale or exhibited in a market, fair, sale-yard, place of exhibition, or other place; or
- (ii.) While placed in a lair or other place before exposure for sale; or
- (iii.) While in transit or in course of being moved by land or by water; or
- (iv.) While in a foreign animals wharf or foreign animals quarantine station; or
- (v.) While being in a slaughter-house or place where animals are slaughtered or are kept with a view to slaughter; or
- (vi.) While being on common or uninclosed land; or
- (vii.) Generally, while being in a place not in the possession or occupation or under the control of the owner of the animals.

(2.) The Privy Council shall, by general orders under this section, from time to time make such provision as they think fit for the consequences under this Act of animals being so found in the circumstances aforesaid, as well with regard to the animals as with regard to the places where they are when so found and other places, and with regard to animals being or having been in the same shed or stable, herd or flock, or in contact, with animals so found.

(3.) The Privy Council may from time to time, by special orders under this section relating to particular places, make such provision as they think fit for the consequences aforesaid.

(4.) Every order under this section shall have full effect, notwithstanding any provision of this Act requiring the declaration of a place infected by pleuro-pneumonia or foot and mouth disease, or relating to any consequence thereof, or to any matter connected therewith, and notwithstanding any other provision whatsoever of this Act.

Infected Places and Areas generally.

General provisions respecting declaration of infected places and areas.

28.—(1.) The Privy Council may, from time to time, make such general orders as they think fit, subject and according to the provisions of this Act, for prescribing the cases in which places and areas are to be declared to be infected with a disease other than cattle plague, pleuro-pneumonia, or foot and mouth disease, and the authority, mode, and conditions by, in, and on which declarations in that behalf are to be made, and the effect and consequences thereof, and the duration and discontinuance thereof, and other matters connected therewith.

(2.) Every place or area so declared infected, as well as a place or area declared infected with cattle plague, pleuro-pneumonia, or foot and mouth disease, shall be an infected place or area within this Act.

(3.) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, where the Privy Council, on inquiry, and after communication with the local authority, but without prejudice to the powers of the Privy Council as regards cattle plague, are satisfied that a declaration of a place being an infected place, has been made in error respecting the existence or past existence of disease, or respecting the limits of a place, or respecting any other matter of fact whereon the declaration proceeded, the Privy Council may, by order, cancel the declaration as regards the infected place, or as regards any part thereof, as they think fit. Secs. 28-30.

(4.) Where, in accordance with the provisions of this Act, a place or area, or a portion of an area, is declared free from a disease, or a declaration of a place being an infected place is cancelled, as regards the place or as regards any part thereof, then, as from the time specified in that behalf by the Privy Council or a local authority, as the case may be, the place or area, or that portion of the area, or that part of the place shall cease to be, or to be in, an infected place or area.

(5.) An order of the Privy Council or of a local authority declaring a place or area to be an infected place or area, or a place or area, or a portion of an area, to be free from disease, or cancelling a declaration, shall be conclusive evidence to all intents of the existence or past existence or cessation of the disease, or of the error, and of any other matter whereon the order proceeds.

Slaughter in Disease, and Compensation, generally.

29. The Privy Council may from time to time make such orders as they think fit, subject and according to the provisions of this Act, for directing or authorising in case of the existence of any disease other than cattle plague or pleuro-pneumonia, slaughter of animals by local authorities, either generally or in particular instances, and in all or any of such cases payment of compensation for the same by local authorities out of the local rate. Power for Privy Council to provide for slaughter in other diseases.

30.—(1.) The Privy Council may, notwithstanding anything in this Act, reserve for observation and treatment an animal liable to be slaughtered under this Act by order of the Privy Council or of a local authority, but subject to payment of compensation by the Privy Council or the local authority, as the case may be, as in case of actual slaughter. General provisions relative to slaughter and compensation.

(2.) Where an animal is slaughtered under this Act by order of the Privy Council or of a local authority, the carcase of the animal shall belong to the Privy Council or to the local authority, as the case may be, and shall be buried or sold, or otherwise disposed of by them, or as they direct, as the condition of the animal or carcase and other circumstances may require or admit; and any money received by a local authority on any such sale shall be carried by them to the credit of the local rate.

(3.) If, in any case, the sum received by the Privy Council or a local authority on sale of a carcase under this section exceeds the amount paid for compensation to the owner of the animal slaughtered, the Privy Council or local authority, as the case may be, shall pay that excess to the owner, after deduction of reasonable expenses.

(4.) Where an animal is slaughtered under this Act by order of the Privy Council or of a local authority, the Privy Council or local authority, as the case may be, may use for the burial of the carcase any ground in the possession or occupation of the owner of the animal and suitable in that behalf, or any common or uninclosed land, but, as regards the use by a local authority of common or uninclosed land, not without the approval of the Privy Council.

(5.) If the owner of an animal slaughtered under this Act by order of the Privy Council or of a local authority has an insurance on the animal, the amount of the compensation awarded to him under this Act may be deducted by the insurers from the amount of the money payable under the insurance before they make any payment in respect thereof.

(6.) A local authority shall keep, as the Privy Council from time to time by general order direct, a record relative to slaughter, which record shall be admitted in evidence.

(7.) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, the Privy Council or a local authority, as the case may be, may, if they think fit, withhold, either wholly or Secs. 30–32. partially, compensation or other payment in respect of an animal slaughtered under this Act by their respective order, where the owner or the person having charge thereof has, in their respective judgment, been guilty, in relation to the animal, of an offence against this Act, or where the animal, being a foreign animal, was, in their respective judgment, diseased at the time of its landing.

Notice of Disease to Police.

Separation of diseased animals, and notice to constable.

31.—(1.) Every person having in his possession or under his charge an animal affected with disease shall, as far as practicable, keep that animal separate from animals not so affected, and shall, with all practicable speed, give notice of the fact of the animal being so affected to a constable of the police establishment for the police district or area, county, borough, town, or place wherein the animal so affected is ⁽¹⁾.

(2.) The constable to whom notice is given shall forthwith give information thereof to such person or authority as the Privy Council from time to time by general order direct.

(3.) The Privy Council from time to time may make such general orders as they think fit for prescribing and regulating the notice to be given to or by any person or authority in case of any particular disease, or in case of the illness of an animal, and for supplementing or varying for those purposes any of the provisions of this section.

Disease and Movement, generally.

Power for Privy Council to make orders for prevention or checking of disease, and other purposes.

32. The Privy Council may from time to time make such general or special orders as they think fit, subject and according to the provisions of this Act, for the following purposes, or any of them :

- (i.) For prescribing and regulating the publication by placards, handbills, or otherwise, in the immediate neighbourhood of a place or area declared infected, of the fact of such declaration.
- (ii.) For prohibiting or regulating the movement of animals and persons into, in, or out of an infected place or area.
- (iii.) For prescribing and regulating the isolation or separation of animals being in an infected place or area.
- (iv.) For prohibiting or regulating the removal of carcases, fodder, litter, utensils, pens, hurdles, dung, or other things into, in, or out of an infected place or area.
- (v.) For prescribing and regulating the destruction, burial, disposal, or treatment of carcases, fodder, litter, utensils, pens, hurdles, dung, or other things, being in an infected place or area, or removed thereout.
- (vi.) For prescribing and regulating the cleansing and disinfecting of infected places and areas, or parts thereof.
- (vii.) For prescribing and regulating the disinfecting of the clothes of persons coming in contact with or employed about diseased or suspected animals, or being in an infected place, and the use of precautions against the spreading of disease by such persons.
- (viii.) For prohibiting or regulating the digging up of carcases buried.
- (ix.) For prohibiting or regulating the exposure of diseased or suspected animals in markets, or fairs, or sale-yards, or other public or private places, where animals are commonly exposed for sale, and the placing thereof in lairs or other places adjacent to or connected with markets or fairs, or where animals are commonly placed before exposure for sale.
- (x.) For prohibiting or regulating the sending or carrying of diseased or suspected animals, or of dung or other thing likely to spread disease, or

(1) Before a person can be convicted before a magistrate for a breach of the above enactment, it is necessary to prove that the accused was aware that the animal was suffering from a contagious disease. Nicholls v. Hall, L. R. 8 C. P. 322, 42 L. J. 157 C. P. and 105 M. C., and 28 L. T. N. S. 473. See also note to sec. 51, sub-s. 5, post.

- the causing the same to be sent or carried, on railways, canals, rivers, or inland navigations, or in coasting vessels, or otherwise.
- (xi.) For prohibiting or regulating the carrying, leading, or driving of diseased or suspected animals, or the causing them to be carried, led, or driven on highways or thoroughfares, or elsewhere.
 - (xii.) For prohibiting or regulating the placing or keeping of diseased or suspected animals on commons or uninclosed lands, or in fields or other places insufficiently fenced, or on the sides of highways.
 - (xiii.) For prescribing and regulating the seizure, detention, and disposal of a diseased or suspected animal exposed, carried, kept, or otherwise dealt with in contravention of an Order of Council; and for prescribing and regulating the liability of the owner or consignor or consignee of the animal to the expenses connected with the seizure, detention, and disposal thereof.
 - (xiv.) For prescribing the mode of ascertainment of the value of an animal slaughtered, or liable to be slaughtered, by order of the Privy Council or of a local authority.
 - (xv.) For regulating applications for, and the mode of payment of, compensation to be paid out of money provided by Parliament.
 - (xvi.) For prescribing and regulating the destruction, burial, disposal, or treatment of carcases of animals slaughtered by order of the Privy Council or of a local authority, or dying while diseased or suspected.
 - (xvii.) For prohibiting or regulating movement of animals, and the removal of carcases, fodder, litter, dung, and other things, and for prescribing and regulating the isolation of animals newly purchased.
 - (xviii.) For prescribing and regulating the issuing and production of licences respecting movement and removal of animals and things.
 - (xix.) For prohibiting or regulating the holding of markets, fairs, exhibitions, and sales of animals.
 - (xx.) For prescribing and regulating the cleansing and disinfecting of places used for the holding of markets, fairs, exhibitions, and sales of animals, or for lairage of animals, and yards, sheds, stables, and other places used for animals.
 - (xxi.) For prescribing and regulating the cleansing and disinfecting of vessels, vehicles, and pens and other places, used for the carrying of animals for hire or purposes connected therewith.
 - (xxii.) For prescribing modes of cleansing and disinfecting.
 - (xxiii.) For insuring for animals carried by sea a proper supply of food and water and proper ventilation during the passage and on landing.
 - (xxiv.) For protecting them from unnecessary suffering during the passage and on landing.
 - (xxv.) For protecting animals from unnecessary suffering during inland transit.
 - (xxvi.) For securing a proper supply of water and food to animals during any detention thereof.
 - (xxvii.) For prescribing and regulating the marking of animals.
 - (xxviii.) For prohibiting, absolutely or conditionally, the use, for the carrying of animals or for any purpose connected therewith, of a vessel, vehicle, or pen or other place in respect whereof, or of the use whereof, a penalty has been recovered from any person for an offence against this Act.
 - (xxix.) For prescribing and regulating the payment and recovery of expenses in respect of animals.
 - (xxx.) For prescribing and regulating the form and mode of service or delivery of notices and other instruments.
 - (xxxi.) For authorising a local authority to make regulations for purposes of this Act or of an Order of Council, subject to such conditions, if any, as the Privy Council, for the purpose of securing uniformity and the due execution of the provisions of this Act, think fit to prescribe.
 - (xxxii.) For applying all or any of the provisions of this Act to horses, asses, and mules, and to glanders and farcy, and other diseases thereof.

Secs. 32-34.

Provision of water and food at railway stations.

(xxxiii.) For extending, for all or any of the purposes of this Act, the definition of disease in this Act ⁽¹⁾, so that the same shall for those purposes comprise any disease of animals in addition to the diseases mentioned in this Act.

(xxxiv.) Generally, for the better execution of this Act, or for the purpose of in any manner preventing the spreading of disease.

33.—(1.) Every railway company shall make a provision, to the satisfaction of the Privy Council, of water ⁽²⁾ and food, or either of them, at such stations as the Privy Council from time to time, by general or specific description, direct, for animals carried, or about to be or having been carried, on the railway of the company.

(2.) The water and food so provided, or either of them, shall be supplied to any such animal by the company carrying it, on the request of the consignor or of any person in charge thereof.

(3.) As regards water, if, in the case of any animal, such a request is not made, so that the animal remains without a supply of water for twenty-four consecutive hours, the consignor and the person in charge of the animal shall each be guilty of an offence against this Act; and it shall lie on the person charged to prove such a request and the time within which the animal had a supply of water.

(4.) But the Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, by order prescribe any other period, not less than twelve hours, instead of the period of twenty-four hours aforesaid, generally, or in respect of any particular kind of animals.

(5.) The company supplying water or food under this section may make in respect thereof such reasonable charges (if any) as the Privy Council by order approve, in addition to such charges as they are for the time being authorised to make in respect of the carriage of animals. The amount of those additional charges accrued due in respect of any animal shall be a debt from the consignor and from the consignee thereof to the company, and shall be recoverable by the company from either of them, with costs, by proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction. The company shall have a lien for the amount thereof on the animal in respect whereof the same accrued due, and on any other animal at any time consigned by or to the same consignor or consignee to be carried by the company.

Dairies, Cow-sheds, and Milk-shops.

Power for Privy Council to make orders relative to dairies, cow-sheds and milk-shops.

34. The Privy Council may from time to time make such general or special orders as they think fit, subject and according to the provisions of this Act, for the following purposes, or any of them :

- (i.) For the registration with the local authority of all persons carrying on the trade of cowkeepers ⁽³⁾, dairymen, or purveyors of milk.
- (ii.) For the inspection of cattle in dairies, and for prescribing and regulating the lighting, ventilation, cleansing, drainage, and water supply of dairies and cow-sheds in the occupation of persons following the trade of cow-keepers or dairymen.
- (iii.) For securing the cleanliness of milk-stores, milk-shops, and of milk vessels used for containing milk for sale by such persons.
- (iv.) For prescribing precautions to be taken for protecting milk against infection or contamination.
- (v.) For authorising a local authority to make regulations for the purposes aforesaid, or any of them, subject to such conditions, if any, as the Privy Council prescribe.

⁽¹⁾ See section 5, sub-section iii, ante.

Foreign Animals.

Secs. 35, 36.

35.—(1.) The Privy Council may from time to time make such general or special orders as they think fit for prohibiting the landing of animals, or of any specified kind thereof, or of carcases, fodder, litter, dung, or other thing, brought from any specified foreign country, or any specified part thereof. Prohibition of importation; slaughter or quarantine.

(2.) Any such order may be made at any time after the passing of this Act, but shall not take effect before the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine; and until that day Part III., relating to foreign animals, of the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, and all other provisions relating to foreign animals of that Act and of any other Act repealed by this Act, shall, notwithstanding that repeal, or any other thing in this Act, be in force as if this Act had not been passed. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 70.

(3.) On and after the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, the provisions set forth in the Fifth Schedule shall apply to foreign animals, the landing whereof is not for the time being prohibited by Order of Council made under this section (1).

36.—(1.) The Privy Council may from time to time make such general or special orders as they think fit, subject and according to the provisions of this Act, for the following purposes, or any of them: Regulation of ports.

- (i.) For prescribing the ports at which alone foreign animals may be landed.
- (ii.) For defining the limits of ports for purposes of this Act.
- (iii.) For defining parts of ports.
- (iv.) For prohibiting or regulating the movement of animals into, in, or out of a defined part of a port.
- (v.) For prescribing and regulating the inspection and examination, and the mode, time, and conditions of slaughter, of animals in a defined part of a port.
- (vi.) For prescribing and regulating the disposal of animals, not being foreign animals, and being in a defined part of a port.
- (vii.) For regulating the removal of carcases, fodder, litter, utensils, dung, or other things into, in, or out of a defined part of a port, and the disposal thereof, when likely to introduce or spread disease.
- (viii.) For prescribing and regulating the cleansing and disinfecting of a defined part of a port or of parts thereof.
- (ix.) For prescribing and regulating the disinfecting or destruction of things being in a defined part of a port or removed thereout.
- (x.) For regulating the movement of persons into, in, or out of a defined part of a port.
- (xi.) For prescribing and regulating the disinfecting of the clothes of persons employed or being in a defined part of a port, and the use of precautions against the introduction or spreading by them of disease.
- (xii.) For prescribing and regulating the seizure and detention of any foreign animal, carcase, fodder, litter, dung, or other thing whereby disease may be introduced or spread.
- (xiii.) Generally, for the better execution of this Act in relation to foreign animals, carcases, fodder, litter, dung, or other things, or for the purpose of in any manner preventing the introduction or spreading thereby of disease.

(2.) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, a defined part of a port, or any part thereof, shall not be declared to be an infected place, or be made part of an infected place, otherwise than by the Privy Council.

(1) The fifth Schedule makes provision for the slaughter of foreign animals at the place of landing. Nissler v. Corporation of Hull, 5 Q. B. D. 325, 49 L. J. Q. B. 501, 42 L. T. 894, 28 W. R. 700, 44 J. P. 664, decided that under the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 32 & 33 Vict. c. 70, no compensation is payable by local authorities in respect of foreign animals slaughtered after their arrival, but before being landed at a British port; for compensation is only payable where animals have been slaughtered in pursuance of the Act, and the Act does not authorise local authorities to order such animals to be slaughtered.

Secs. 36-40. (3.) Where the district or part of a district of a local authority described in the Second Schedule is or comprises, or is comprised in, a port or part of a port, the Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, in relation to that port or part of a port, by order, make any body, other than the body constituted the local authority by the Second Schedule, the local authority for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to foreign animals, and, in connection with the local authority so made, prescribe the local rate, if any, and the clerk of the local authority.

Powers and Duties of Local Authorities.

Local authorities to be treated as incorporated. 37. A local authority, not being a body corporate, may sue and be sued, and take and hold land, and otherwise act and be dealt with for all purposes of this Act, by the name or title of the local authority under this Act for their district, as if they were incorporated.

Committees of local authorities. 38. The provisions in the Sixth Schedule shall have effect with respect to committees of local authorities.

Provision of places for landing of foreign animals. 39.—(1.) A local authority may provide, erect, and fit up wharves, stations, lairs, sheds, and other places for the landing, reception, keeping, sale, slaughter, or disposal of foreign animals, carcasses, fodder, litter, dung, and other things.

(2.) There shall be incorporated with this Act the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, except sections six to nine and fifty-one to sixty thereof, all inclusive.

10 & 11 Vict. c. 14. (3.) A wharf or other place provided by a local authority under this section shall be a market within that Act; and this Act shall be the special Act; and the prescribed limits shall be the limits of lands acquired or appropriated for purposes of this section; and bye-laws shall be approved by the Privy Council, which approval shall be sufficient without any other approval or allowance, notice of application for approval being given, and proposed bye-laws being published before application, as required by the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847.

10 & 11 Vict. c. 14. (4.) A local authority may charge for the use of a wharf or other place provided by them under this section such sums as bye-laws from time to time appoint, and the same shall be deemed tolls authorised by the special Act.

32 & 33 Vict. c. 70. (5.) All sums so received by the local authority shall be carried to a separate account, and shall be applied in payment of interest on money borrowed by them for purposes of Part III., relating to foreign animals, of the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, or of this section, and in repayment of the principal thereof, and, subject thereto, towards discharge of their expenses under this Act.

(6.) The local authority shall make such periodical returns to the Privy Council of their expenditure and receipts in respect of the wharf or other place as the Privy Council from time to time require.

(7.) The Privy Council, if satisfied on inquiry that the tolls taken by the local authority for the wharf or other place may properly be reduced, regard being had to the expenditure and receipts of the local authority in respect thereof, and to any money secured on the tolls, and to the other circumstances of the case, may require the local authority to submit to the Privy Council, for their approval, a new schedule of tolls, and on failure of the local authority to do so, to the satisfaction of the Privy Council, may, by order, prescribe such tolls as they think fit, in lieu of those before approved by them.

32 & 33 Vict. c. 70. (8.) The provisions of this section shall apply to a wharf or other place provided by a local authority under the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869.

Power for local authority to acquire land. 40.—(1.) A local authority may purchase, or may by agreement take on lease or at a rent, land for wharves or other places, or for use for burial of carcasses in cases where there is not any ground suitable in that behalf in the possession or occupation of the owner of the animal, or any common or uninclosed land suitable, and approved by the Privy Council, in that behalf, or for any other purpose of this Act.

(2.) They may (subject to any agreement) dispose of lands so acquired, but not required for this Act, carrying the money produced thereby to the credit of the local rate.

(3.) The regulations contained in section one hundred and seventy-six of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall be observed with respect to the purchase of land by a local authority for purposes of this Act, as if the local authority were a local board, and purposes of this Act were purposes of that Act; save that the requisite advertisements and notices may be published and served in any two consecutive months, and that the local rate be substituted for the rates therein mentioned.

Secs. 40-45.
38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

(4.) The powers conferred by this section may be exercised by a local authority with respect to land within or without their district.

41.—(1.) Every local authority shall execute and enforce this Act and every Order of Council, as far as the same are to be executed or enforced by local authorities.

Duties of local authorities, and enforcement thereof.

(2.) Where a local authority fail to execute or enforce any of the provisions of this Act, or of an Order of Council, the Privy Council may by order empower a person therein named to execute and enforce those provisions, or to procure the execution and enforcement thereof.

(3.) The expenses incurred thereby by or on behalf of the Privy Council, including compensation for animals slaughtered, shall be expenses of the local authority, and the amount thereof shall be paid to the Privy Council, on demand, by the treasurer or other proper officer of the local authority; and in default of payment the same shall be recoverable from the local authority, with costs, by a person appointed by the Privy Council to sue in that behalf.

(4.) For the purposes of this section an order of the Privy Council shall be conclusive in respect of any default, amount of expenses, or other matter therein stated or appearing.

(5.) The provisions of this section shall be without prejudice to the right or power of the Privy Council, or any other authority or any person, to take any other proceedings for requiring a local authority to execute or enforce any of the provisions of this Act, or of an Order of Council.

42.—(1.) Every local authority shall from time to time appoint so many inspectors and other officers as they think necessary for the execution and enforcement of this Act, and shall assign to those inspectors and officers such duties, and salaries or allowances, and may delegate to any of them such authorities and discretion, as to the local authority seem fit, and may at any time revoke any appointment so made.

Inspectors and other officers of local authority.

(2.) Every local authority shall keep appointed at all times at least one veterinary inspector, and shall appoint and at all times keep appointed so many other veterinary inspectors as the Privy Council, having regard to the extent and circumstances of the district of the local authority, from time to time direct.

(3.) The Privy Council, on being satisfied on inquiry that an inspector of a local authority is incompetent, or has been guilty of misconduct or neglect, may, if they think fit, direct his removal, and thereupon he shall cease to be an inspector.

43. Every local authority and their inspectors and officers shall send and give to the Privy Council such notices, reports, returns, and information as the Privy Council from time to time require.

Reports to Privy Council.

44.—(1.) An order or regulation of a local authority may be proved—

(i.) By the production of a newspaper purporting to contain the order or regulation as an advertisement; or,

(ii.) By the production of a copy of the order or regulation purporting to be certified by the clerk of the local authority as a true copy.

Orders and regulations of local authorities.

(2.) An order or regulation so proved shall be taken to have been duly made, unless and until the contrary is proved.

(3.) An order or regulation of a local authority authorised by this Act or by Order of Council shall alone be deemed for purposes of this Act an order or regulation of a local authority.

45. The provisions of this Act conferring powers on, or otherwise relating to, a local authority, or their inspectors or officers, shall, unless otherwise expressed, be read as having reference to the district of the local authority; and powers thereby conferred shall, unless it is otherwise expressed, be exerciseable and shall operate within and in relation to that district only.

Powers of local authorities to be for their district.

Secs. 46-50.

Expenses of Local Authorities.

Expenses out of local rate.

46. The expenses of a local authority shall be defrayed out of the local rate; and such sums as may be necessary to defray those expenses shall from time to time be levied with and as part of the local rate.

Relief of boroughs from contribution to county expenses.

47.—(1.) The local authority of a borough assessed to the county rate of a county shall be paid by the local authority of the county the proportionate amount paid by the several parishes and parts of parishes in the borough towards the expenses under this Act of the local authority of the county.

5 & 6 Will. 4. c. 76.

(2.) The local authority of a borough having a separate court of quarter sessions shall be exempt from contributing towards the expenses under this Act of the local authority of the county within which the borough is situate; and the treasurer of the county shall, out of the account required by the Municipal Corporation Act, 1835, to be kept by him of money expended out of the county rate for other purposes than those in that Act mentioned, exclude the expenses under this Act of the local authority of the county; and the amount to be paid to the treasurer of the county by the borough shall be varied accordingly.

Outstanding rates.

48. The existence of an order or precept for the making or collection under any former Act of a rate remaining uncollected wholly or in part at the commencement of this Act shall not affect the validity of any rate thereafter made.

Borrowing by Local Authorities.

Power for local authority to borrow.

49.—(1.) Where the amount or proportion of the local rate levied or required for this Act exceeds or would exceed in any financial year sixpence in the pound, a local authority may borrow at interest on the credit of the local rate any money necessary under this Act, and may secure the repayment thereof, with interest, by mortgaging the local rate for any term not exceeding seven years.

(2.) Where the amount or proportion aforesaid exceeds or would exceed in any financial year ninepence in the pound, the Local Government Board may, if they think fit, on application of the local authority, extend the term to any period not exceeding fourteen years.

33 & 39 Vict. c. 83.

(3.) A local authority, borrowing for the purposes of this section, shall borrow subject to the provisions of the Local Loans Act, 1875; and every loan raised under this section shall be discharged in manner prescribed by section thirteen of that Act, for which purpose a sinking fund is hereby prescribed, if in any case the Local Government Board so direct, but not otherwise.

33 & 39 Vict. c. 58.

(4.) The Public Works Loan Commissioners may, on the recommendation of the Local Government Board, advance money to a local authority in manner provided by the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and any enactment amending or substituted for that Act, the same to be repaid, with interest, within the term aforesaid, and the local authority may so borrow accordingly.

(5.) A local authority, borrowing for purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to foreign animals, may, if they think fit, give as security, either with the local rate, if any, or separately therefrom, the charges which they are authorised to make for the use of a wharf or other place provided by them under this Act, and any estates, revenues, or funds belonging to them and not otherwise appropriated by law; and in that case the limitations in this section respecting the amount or proportion of rate and term of years shall not operate.

Police.

Duties and authorities of constables.

50.—(1.) The police of each police district or area, county, borough, town, and place shall execute and enforce this Act and every Order of Council.

(2.) Where a person is seen or found committing, or is reasonably suspected of being engaged in committing, an offence against this Act, a constable may, without warrant, stop and detain him; and, if his name and address are not known to the constable, and he fails to give them to the satisfaction of the constable, the constable may, without warrant, apprehend him; and the constable may, whether so stopping or detaining or apprehending the person or not, stop, detain, and examine an animal, vehicle, boat, or thing to which the offence or suspected offence relates, and require the same to be forthwith taken back to or into any place or district wherefrom or whereout it was unlawfully removed, and execute and enforce that requisition. Secs. 50, 51.

(3.) If any person obstructs or impedes a constable or other officer in the execution of this Act or of an Order of Council or of a regulation of a local authority, or assists in any such obstructing or impeding, the constable or officer may without warrant apprehend the offender.

(4.) A person apprehended under this section shall be taken with all practicable speed before a justice, and shall not be detained without a warrant longer than is necessary for that purpose; and all enactments relating to the release of persons on recognizances taken by an officer of police or a constable shall apply in the case of a person apprehended under this section.

(5.) The foregoing provisions of this section respecting a constable extend and apply to any person called by a constable to his assistance.

(6.) A constable shall forthwith make a report in writing to his superior officer of every case in which he stops any person, animal, vehicle, boat, or thing under this section, and of his proceedings consequent thereon.

(7.) Nothing in this section shall take away or abridge any power or authority that a constable would have had if this section had not been enacted.

General.

51.—(1.) An inspector shall have, for purposes of this Act, all powers which a constable has under this Act or otherwise in the place where the inspector is acting. General powers of inspectors.

(2.) An inspector may at any time enter any land, or dairy or cow-shed to which this Act applies, or milk-stores or milk-shop, or other building or place wherein he has reasonable grounds for supposing—

(a.) That disease exists or has within fifty-six days existed; or

(b.) That the carcase of a diseased or suspected animal is or has been kept, or has been buried, destroyed, or otherwise disposed of; or

(c.) That there is to be found any pen, place, vehicle, or thing in respect whereof any person has on any occasion failed to comply with the provisions of this Act, or of an Order of Council, or of a regulation of a local authority; or

(d.) That this Act or an Order of Council or a regulation of a local authority has not been or is not being complied with.

(3.) An inspector may at any time enter any pen, vehicle, vessel, or boat in which or in respect whereof he has reasonable grounds for supposing that this Act or an Order of Council or a regulation of a local authority has not been or is not being complied with.

(4.) An inspector entering, as in this section authorised, shall, if required by the owner, or occupier, or person in charge of the land, building, place, pen, vehicle, vessel, or boat, state in writing his reasons for entering.

(5.) A certificate of a veterinary inspector to the effect that an animal is or was affected with a disease specified in the certificate shall for the purposes of this Act be conclusive evidence in all courts of justice of the matter certified (1).

(6.) An inspector of the Privy Council shall have all the powers of an inspector throughout England or that part thereof for which he is appointed.

(1) H was summoned for exposing in a public market pigs suffering from typhoid fever. A certificate of the veterinary inspector was produced that the pigs were so suffering. H produced evidence to prove that he did not know and had no means of knowing of the disease. The justices refused to receive such rebutting evidence, and convicted H. Held, that the justices were wrong in rejecting the evidence, though they were to determine whether it amounted to any excuse: Harris v. Smith, 44 J. P. 361 Q. B. D.

service of instruments.

52.—(1.) Where an inspector of the Privy Council is satisfied that this Act or an Order of Council or a regulation of a local authority has not been or is not being complied with on board a vessel in a port, then, on the representation in writing to that effect of the inspector, stating particulars of non-compliance, the vessel may be detained until the Privy Council otherwise direct.

(2.) The officer detaining the vessel shall forthwith deliver to the master or person in charge of the vessel a copy of the representation.

(3.) Section thirty-four of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1876, shall apply in the case of such detention, as if it were effected under an Act in that section mentioned.

53. Where a carcass washed ashore is buried or destroyed under the direction of a receiver of wreck, with authority from the Board of Trade, the expenses thereof shall be the expenses of the local authority, and shall be paid by them to the receiver on demand, and in default of payment shall be recoverable with costs from them by the receiver.

54. A person owning or having charge of animals in a place or area declared infected with any disease may affix, at or near the entrance to a building or inclosure in which the animals are, a notice forbidding persons to enter therein without the permission mentioned in the notice; and thereupon it shall not be lawful for any person, not having by law a right of entry or way into, on, or over that building or inclosure, to enter or go into, on, or over the same without that permission.

55.—(1.) An action, prosecution, or proceeding against a local authority, or an inspector or officer of the Privy Council or of a local authority, or any person, for any act done in pursuance of execution or intended execution of this Act, or of an Order of Council, or regulation of a local authority, or in respect of any alleged neglect or default in the execution of this Act, or of such an order or regulation, shall not lie or be instituted unless it is commenced within four months next after the act, neglect, or default complained of, or, in case of a continuance of injury or damage, within four months next after the ceasing thereof.

(2.) In any such action tender of amends before the action was commenced may, in lieu of or in addition to any other plea, be pleaded. If the action was commenced after such tender, or is proceeded with after payment into court of any money in satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim, and the plaintiff does not recover more than the sum tendered or paid, he shall not recover any costs incurred after such tender or payment, and the defendants shall be entitled to costs, to be taxed as between solicitor and client, as from the time of such tender or payment; but this provision shall not affect costs on any injunction in the action.

(3.) Subject and without prejudice to any other powers, a local authority, where the defendant in any such action, prosecution, or other proceeding is their officer, servant, or agent, may, if they think fit, except so far as the court before whom such action, prosecution, or other proceeding is heard and determined otherwise directs, pay as part of their expenses in the execution of this Act all or any part of any sums payable by such defendant in or in consequence of such action, prosecution, or proceeding, whether in respect of costs, charges, expenses, damages, fine, or otherwise.

56. No stamp duty shall be payable on, and no fee or other charge shall be demanded or made for, any appointment, certificate, declaration, licence, or thing under this Act, or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority, or for any inspection or other act precedent to the granting, making, or doing of a certificate, declaration, licence, or other thing.

57.—(1.) In any proceeding under this Act, no proof shall be required of the appointment or handwriting of an inspector or other officer of the Privy Council, or of the clerk or an inspector or other officer of a local authority.

(2.) Every notice or other instrument under this Act or under an Order of Council or regulation of a local authority may be in writing or print, or partly in writing and partly in print.

(3.) Any such notice or other instrument may be served on the person to be affected thereby, either by the delivery thereof to him personally, or by the leaving thereof for him at his last known place of abode or business, or by the sending thereof through the post in a registered letter addressed to him there.

(4.) A notice or other instrument so sent by post shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing it would be delivered in the ordinary course. Secs. 57-60,

(5.) In order to prove service by letter of a notice or other instrument, it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter was properly addressed, registered, and posted, and contained the notice or other instrument to be served.

(6.) A notice or other instrument to be served on the occupier of any building, land, or place may, except when sent by post, be addressed to him by the designation of the occupier of that building, land, or place, without naming or further describing him; and where it is to be served on the several occupiers of several buildings, lands, or places, may, except when sent by post, be addressed to them collectively by the designation of the occupiers of those several buildings, lands, or places, without further naming or describing them, but separate copies thereof being served on them severally.

58.—(1.) The Privy Council may from time to time alter or revoke any Order of Council. Provisions respecting Orders of Council.

(2.) Every Order of Council shall have effect as if it had been enacted by this Act.

(3.) Every Order of Council shall be published in the London Gazette; save that where an order affects only a particular local authority, person, port, town, district, place, area, vessel, or thing, or is a licence or revocation of a licence, or in the nature thereof, or is an appointment or removal of an inspector or other officer, then the insertion in the London Gazette of a notice of the making of the order shall suffice; and a copy of the London Gazette containing such a notice shall be evidence of the order, as if the notice were the order.

(4.) Every Order of Council, licence, or other instrument issued by the Privy Council shall be published by and at the expense of every local authority to whom it is sent by the Privy Council for publication, in such manner as the Privy Council direct, and, subject to and in the absence of any direction, by advertisement in a newspaper circulating in the district of the local authority.

(5.) The validity or effect of an Order of Council, licence, or other instrument issued by the Privy Council shall not be affected by want of or defect or irregularity in any publication thereof.

(6.) Any act of the Privy Council under this Act, done otherwise than by Order of Council, shall be sufficiently done and signified by an instrument signed by the Clerk of the Council; and every act done and signified by an instrument purporting to be so signed shall be deemed to have been duly done by the Privy Council; and every such instrument shall be received in evidence in all courts and proceedings without proof of the authority or signature of the Clerk of the Council or other proof.

59. A return shall be made and laid before both Houses of Parliament not later than the thirty-first day of March in each year, setting forth every Order of Council made since the date of the last return and every previous Order of Council required to be published in the London Gazette and in force; and stating the proceedings and expenditure under this Act of the Privy Council, and, as far as reasonably may be, of local authorities, in the year ending the thirty-first day of December then last; and showing the number of foreign animals landed and found diseased in that year, specifying separately the different kinds of disease, and the ports of exportation and landing, and the mode of disposal of the animals; and containing such other information respecting the operation of this Act as the Privy Council think fit. Yearly return to be laid before Houses of Parliament.

Offences and Proceedings.

60. If any person is guilty of an offence against this Act he shall for every such offence be liable— Fines for offences.

(i.) To a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds; or

(ii.) If the offence is committed with respect to more than four animals, to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each animal; or

(iii.) Where the offence is committed in relation to carcases, fodder, litter, Secs. 60-62.General

offences.

dung, or other thing (exclusive of animals) to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds in respect of every half ton in weight thereof after one half ton, in addition to the first penalty of not exceeding twenty pounds.

61.—(1.) If any person, without lawful authority or excuse, proof whereof shall lie on him, does any of the following things, he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act:

- (i.) If he does anything in contravention of this Act, or of an Order of Council, or of a regulation of a local authority:
- (ii.) If, where required by this Act to keep an animal separate as far as practicable, or to give notice of disease with all practicable speed, he fails to do so:
- (iii.) If he fails to give, produce, observe, or do any notice, licence, rule, or thing which by this Act, or by an Order of Council, or by a regulation of a local authority, he is required to give, produce, observe, or do:
- (iv.) If he does anything which by this Act or an Order of Council is made or declared to be not lawful:
- (v.) If he does or omits anything, the doing or omission whereof is declared by this Act or by an Order of Council to be an offence by him against this Act:
- (vi.) If he refuses to an inspector or other officer acting in execution of this Act, or of an Order of Council, or of a regulation of a local authority, admission to any land, building, place, vessel, pen, vehicle, or boat which the inspector or officer is entitled to enter or examine, or obstructs or impedes him in so entering or examining, or otherwise in any respect obstructs or impedes an inspector or constable or other officer in the execution of his duty, or assists in any such obstructing or impeding:
- (vii.) If he throws or places, or causes or suffers to be thrown or placed, into or in any river, stream, canal, navigation, or other water, or into or in the sea within three miles of the shore, the carcase of an animal which has died of disease, or been slaughtered as diseased or suspected:

(2.) And on a further conviction within a period of twelve months for a second or subsequent offence against the same sub-section of this section, he shall be liable, in the discretion of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is convicted, to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding one month, with or without hard labour, in lieu of the pecuniary penalty to which he is liable under this Act.

Imprisonment
instead of fine for use of expired licences, digging up of carcases, and other specified offences.

62.—(1.) If any person does any of the following things, he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act:

- (i.) If, with intent to unlawfully evade this Act, or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority, he does anything for which a licence is requisite under this Act, or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority, without having obtained a licence:
- (ii.) If, where such a licence is requisite, having obtained a licence, he, with the like intent, does the thing licensed after the licence has expired:
- (iii.) If he uses or offers, or attempts to use as such a licence, an instrument not being a complete licence, or an instrument untruly purporting or appearing to be a licence, unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is charged that he did not know of that incompleteness or untruth, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained knowledge thereof:
- (iv.) If, with intent to unlawfully evade this Act, or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority, he alters, or falsely makes, or ante-dates, or counterfeits, or offers or utters, knowing the same to be altered, or falsely made, or ante-dated, or counterfeited, a licence, declaration, certificate, or instrument made or issued, or purporting to be made or issued, under or for any purpose of this Act; or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority:
- (v.) If, for the purpose of obtaining such a licence, certificate, or instrument, he makes a declaration or statement false in any material particular, unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is charged that he did not know of that falsity, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained knowledge thereof: Secs. 62-64.

- (vi.) If he obtains or endeavours to obtain such a licence, certificate, or instrument by means of a false pretence, unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is charged that he did not know of that falsity, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained knowledge thereof:
 - (vii.) If he grants or issues such a licence, certificate, or instrument, being false in any date or other material particular, unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is charged that he did not know of that falsity, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained knowledge thereof, or grants or issues such a licence, certificate, or instrument, having, and knowing that he has, no lawful authority to grant or issue the same:
 - (viii.) If, with intent to unlawfully evade or defeat this Act, or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority, he grants or issues an instrument being in form a licence, certificate, or instrument made or issued under this Act, or an Order of Council, or a regulation of a local authority, for permitting or regulating the movement of a particular animal, or the doing of any other particular thing, but being issued in blank, that is to say, not being before the issue thereof so filled up as to specify any particular animal or thing:
 - (ix.) If he uses, or offers, or attempts to use for any purpose of this Act, or of an Order of Council, or of a regulation of a local authority, an instrument so issued in blank, unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is charged that he did not know of it having been so issued in blank, and that he could not with reasonable diligence have obtained knowledge thereof:
 - (x.) If he by means of any fraud or false pretence obtains, or attempts to obtain, compensation from the Privy Council or a local authority in respect of an animal slaughtered, or aids or abets any person in any such fraud or false pretence:
 - (xi.) If, without lawful authority or excuse, proof whereof shall lie on him, he digs up, or causes to be dug up, a carcass buried under the direction of the Privy Council or of a local authority or of a receiver of wreck:
 - (xii.) If, where an Order of Council has prohibited, absolutely or conditionally, the use for the carrying of animals, or for any purpose connected therewith, of a vessel, vehicle, or pen, or other place, he, without lawful authority or excuse, proof whereof shall lie on him, does anything so prohibited.
- (2.) And in every case in this section specified he shall be liable, on conviction, in the discretion of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is convicted, to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding two months, with or without hard labour, in lieu of the pecuniary penalty to which he is liable under this Act.
63. Proceedings and penalties for offences against this Act may be taken and recovered, and expenses and other money by this Act or an Order of Council made recoverable summarily may be recovered with costs, and summary orders under this Act or an Order of Council may be made with costs, by or before a court of summary jurisdiction, under and according to the Act of the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her Majesty's reign (chapter forty-three), "to facilitate the performance of the duties of justices of the peace out of sessions within England and Wales with respect to summary convictions and orders," and any Act amending the same; but nothing in this section shall apply to proceedings under the Customs Acts.

Proceedings in court of summary jurisdiction.

c. 43.
11 & 12 Vict.

64.—(1.) If any person thinks himself aggrieved by the dismissal of a complaint by, or by any determination or adjudication of, a court of summary jurisdiction under this Act, he may appeal therefrom.

(2.) The appeal shall be made to the next practicable court of general or quarter sessions [for the county or place in which the cause of appeal arises, holden not less than twenty-one days after the decision appealed from.

Secs. 64–66.

(3.) The appellant shall, within ten days after the decision, give notice to the clerk of the court whose decision is appealed from of his intention to appeal, and of the grounds thereof, and to the other party.

(4.) The appellant shall, within three days after such notice, enter into a recognizance before a justice, with two sufficient sureties, conditioned personally to try the appeal.

(5.) The court may adjourn the appeal, and may make such order thereon as the court thinks fit.

(6.) Nothing in this section shall affect any enactment relative to appeals in cases of summary convictions or adjudications in the city of London or the metropolitan police district, or apply to proceedings under the Customs Acts ⁽¹⁾].

Proceedings
under Customs Acts for unlawful landing or shipping.

65.—(1.) If any person lands or ships or attempts to land or ship an animal or thing in contravention of this Act or of an Order of Council, he shall be liable, under and according to the Customs Acts, to the penalties imposed on persons importing or exporting or attempting to import or export goods, the importation or exportation whereof is prohibited by or under the Customs Acts, without prejudice to any proceeding against him under this Act for an offence against this Act, but so that he be not punished twice for the same offence.

(2.) The animal or thing in respect whereof the offence is committed shall be forfeited, under and according to the Customs Acts, as goods the importation or exportation whereof is prohibited by or under the Customs Acts, are liable to be forfeited.

General provision as to procedure.

66.—(1.) The description of an offence against this Act in the words of this Act, or of the Order of Council or regulation of a local authority under which the offence arises, or in similar words, shall be sufficient in law.

(2.) Any exception, exemption, excuse, or qualification, whether it does or not accompany the description of the offence in this Act, or in the Order of Council or regulation of a local authority under which the offence arises, may be proved by the defendant, but need not be specified or negatived in the information; and, if it is so specified or negatived, proof in relation to the matter so specified or negatived shall not be required on the part of the informant.

(3.) [A warrant of commitment under this Act shall not be held void by reason of any defect therein, if only there is a valid conviction to sustain the warrant, and it is alleged in the warrant that the person named therein has been convicted ⁽¹⁾.]

(4.) Where the owner or person in charge of an animal is charged with an offence against this Act relative to disease or to any illness of the animal, he shall be presumed to have known of the existence of the disease or illness, unless and until he shows to the satisfaction of the court of summary jurisdiction before which he is charged that he had not knowledge thereof, and could not with reasonable diligence have obtained that knowledge.

(5.) Where a person is charged with an offence against this Act in not having duly cleansed or disinfected any place, vessel, vehicle, or thing belonging to him or under his charge, and a presumption against him on the part of the prosecution is raised, it shall lie on him to prove the due cleansing and disinfecting thereof.

(6.) A person charged with an offence against this Act may, if he thinks fit, tender himself to be examined on his own behalf, and thereupon he may give evidence in the same manner and with the like effect and consequences as any other witness.

(7.) Every offence against this Act shall be deemed to have been committed, and every cause of complaint or matter for summary proceeding under this Act, or an Order of Council, or regulation of a local authority shall be deemed to have arisen, either in any place where the same actually was committed or arose, or in any place where the person charged or complained of or proceeded against happens to be at the time of the institution or commencement of the charge, complaint, or proceeding.

(8.) Notwithstanding anything in any Act relating to the metropolitan police or to municipal corporations or in any other Act, such part not exceeding one-half of every penalty or forfeiture recovered under this Act (except in proceedings under the Customs Acts) as the court of summary jurisdiction before which it is recovered thinks fit, shall be paid to the person who proceeds for the same, and the residue thereof shall be applied as if this section had not been enacted. THE FIFTH SCHEDULE.Sched. V.*Section 35.*FOREIGN ANIMALS.I.—Slaughter at Port of Landing.

1. Foreign animals are to be landed only at a part of a port defined for that purpose by special Order of Council, to be called a foreign animals wharf.

2. They are to be landed in such manner, at such times, and subject to such supervision and control as the Commissioners of Customs from time to time direct.

3. They are not to be moved alive out of the wharf.

II.—Quarantine.

4. The foregoing provisions of this Schedule (under the head of Slaughter at Port of Landing) do not apply to animals intended for exhibition or for other exceptional purposes; and in lieu thereof the subsequent provisions of this Schedule (under the head of Quarantine) apply to those animals.

5. Those animals are to be landed only at a part of a port defined for that purpose by special Order of Council, to be called a foreign animals quarantine station.

6. They are to be landed in such manner, at such times, and subject to such supervision and control as the Commissioners of Customs from time to time direct, and subject to such conditions in respect of the animals, or of the vessel from which they are landed, as the Privy Council from time to time by general Order prescribe.

Sched. V.Section 35.

7. When landed they are to be placed in sheds or other receptacles in the quarantine station, prepared by the local authority or the owners of the quarantine station, or the consignees of animals or other persons, and approved by the Privy Council.

8. Any such animal is not to be moved out of the quarantine station except on conditions prescribed by general or special Order of Council.

9. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this Schedule (under the head of Quarantine), the provisions of this Act relating to slaughter in case of the existence of disease, and to compensation or other payment in respect of animals so slaughtered, and to the ownership of carcases of such animals, shall apply to animals in a foreign animals quarantine station.

III.—Channel Islands and Isle of Man.

10. In relation to animals brought from the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, the Privy Council may from time to time, if they think fit, by general or special Order or by licence, alter or add to the provisions of this Schedule relating to slaughter or to quarantine, as the case may require.

IV.—Other Foreign Countries.

11. In relation to foreign animals other than those brought from the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, if and as long as, from time to time, the Privy Council are satisfied, with respect to any foreign country, that the laws thereof relating to the importation and exportation of animals, and to the prevention of the introduction or spreading of disease, and the general sanitary condition of animals therein, are such as to afford reasonable security against the importation therefrom of diseased animals, then from time to time, the Privy Council, by general or special order, shall allow animals, or any specified kind of animals, brought from that country, to be landed, without being subject, under the provisions of this Schedule, to slaughter or to quarantine, and may for that purpose alter or add to those provisions, as the case may require; but every such order shall forthwith, after the making thereof, if Parliament is then sitting, and if not, then forthwith after the next meeting of Parliament, be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

Sched. VI.THE SIXTH SCHEDULE.*Section 38.*COMMITTEES OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

1. Each local authority shall form and keep up a committee or committees, and may appoint the number of members by whom the powers of a committee may be exercised, and may at any time add to or diminish the number of the members of a committee, or otherwise alter the constitution thereof, and fill up or provide for the filling up of vacancies therein, or revoke the appointment thereof and appoint another committee or committees, and lay down rules for the guidance of a committee, who shall act accordingly.

2. Each committee may consist wholly of members of the local authority, or partly thereof, and partly of other persons, being rated occupiers in the district of the local authority, and otherwise qualified as the local authority think fit.

3. A local authority may delegate all or any of their powers, except the power to make a rate, to a committee, with or without conditions or restrictions.

4. A local authority may revoke or alter any power given by them to a committee.

5. A local authority may, if they think fit, appoint and designate one committee as their executive committee.

6. An executive committee shall have all the powers of the local authority, except the power to make a rate, and may, if they think fit, appoint a sub-committee or sub-committees, and delegate to them all or any of the powers of the executive committee, with or without conditions or restrictions, and from time to time revoke or alter any such delegation, and appoint the number of members by whom the powers of a sub-committee may be exercised, and add to or diminish the number of the members of a sub-committee, or otherwise alter the constitution thereof, and fill up or provide for the filling up of vacancies therein, or revoke the appointment thereof and appoint another sub-committee or other sub-committees, and lay down rules for the guidance of a sub-committee, who shall act accordingly. Sched. VI.

7. Proceedings of a committee or sub-committee shall not be invalidated by any vacancy in the committee or sub-committee, or, in the case of a committee appointed by the local authority for a county, by the termination of the session at which they were appointed. Section 38.

8. In case of the formation of two or more committees, they shall act according to rules laid down for their guidance by the local authority.

9. A committee and a sub-committee of an executive committee, may elect a chairman of their meetings.

10. If no chairman is elected, or if the chairman so elected is not present at the time appointed for a meeting, the members then present shall choose a chairman for that meeting.

11. A committee or sub-committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper.

12. Every question at a meeting of a committee or sub-committee shall be determined by a majority of the votes of the members, including the chairman, present and voting on the question; and in case of equal division, the chairman shall have a second vote.

Sched. VII.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN SCOTLAND.

Section 63.

THE HIGHWAY ACT, 1835.

5 & 6 WILL. IV. c. 50.

An Act to Consolidate and Amend the Laws relating to Highways in that part of Great Britain called England. [31st August, 1835.]

Secs. 1—5. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the laws relating to highways in that part of Great Britain called England, and to consolidate the same in one Act, and to make other provisions respecting highways: Be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, [Repeal of 6 Geo. I. c. 6, in part, viz., so much as relates to the carriage of bricks, except as to London, 18 Geo. II. c. 33, except as to London, 24 Geo. II. c. 43, in part, viz., so much as relates to the preventing mischief occasioned by the drivers riding upon carts, drays, cars, and waggons in the City of London, or within ten miles thereof, except as to London, 30 Geo. II. c. 22, except as to London, 13 Geo. III. c. 78, 34 Geo. III. c. 64, 34 Geo. III. c. 74, part of 42 Geo. III. c. 90, 44 Geo. III. c. 52, 54 Geo. III. c. 109, and 55 Geo. III. c. 68] ⁽¹⁾

2. [Not to revive repealed Acts] ⁽¹⁾.

3. [As to the recovery of penalties incurred for offences against Acts repealed] ⁽²⁾.

4. [Present surveyor to continue until a surveyor is appointed] ⁽²⁾.

Interpretation clause.

5. And be it further enacted, that in the construction of this Act the word "surveyor" shall be understood to mean surveyor of the highways, or waywarden ⁽³⁾; the word "parish" shall be construed to include parish, township, tithing, rape, vill, wapentake, division, city, borough, liberty, market town, franchise, hamlet, precinct, chapelry, or any other place or district maintaining its own highways ⁽⁴⁾; and wherever anything in this Act is prescribed to be done by the ⁽¹⁾ Repealed by the Statute Law Revision Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 35. The Acts repealed by section 1 are, however, not thereby revived.

⁽²⁾ Repealed by the Statute Law Revision Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 35.

⁽³⁾ As to the appointment of surveyor, see sections 6 and 11, post.

In urban sanitary districts the urban authority is the surveyor of highways: see the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 144, ante, p. 113. In highway districts all the powers, rights, duties, &c., of surveyor vest in the highway board: see 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 11, post. As to the election of waywardens in highway districts, see section 10 of this last Act, post.

⁽⁴⁾ As to the interpretation of the word "parish," see further the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, and the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, i.e., 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 3; 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 3; and 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 38, post. As to the meaning of "parish" in the Public Health Act, 1875, see ante, p. 44. "Tithings," "towns," or "vills" are of the same signification in law, and are said to have had, each of them, originally a church and celebration of divine service, sacraments and burials. The word "town" or "vill" is now become a generic term, comprehending under it the several species of cities, boroughs, and common towns. 1 Br. & Had. Com. 136. "City" is a town incorporated, which usually is or has been the see of a bishop. Ib. A "borough" is now understood to be a town, either corporate or not, sending burgesses to inhabitants of any parish in vestry assembled, the same shall be construed to extend to any meeting of inhabitants contributing to the highway rates in places where there shall be no vestry meeting, provided the same notice shall have been given of the said meeting as would be required by law for the assembling of a meeting in vestry (1); and that the word "highways" shall be understood to mean all roads, bridges (not being county bridges), carriageways, cartways, horseways, bridleways, footways, causeways, churchways, and pavements (2); and that the word "justices"

Section 5.

Parliament. Ib. "Rape" is a division of a county similar to that of a hundred, but oftentimes containing in it more hundreds than one. Wharton's Law Lexicon. "Wapentake," a hundred; others think it was ten hundreds or boroughs. Ib. "Hamlet," the same as vill. Ib.; and see R. v. Morris, 4 T. R. 550.

(1) In urban sanitary districts the urban authority have all the powers of vestries. See Public Health Act, 1875, s. 144, ante, p. 113.

By 58 Geo. III. c. 69, s. 1, "No vestry or meeting of the inhabitants in vestry of or for any parish shall be holden until public notice shall have been given of such vestry, and of the place and hour of holding the same, and the special purpose thereof, three days at the least before the day to be appointed for holding such vestry, [by the publication of such notice in the parish church or chapel on some Sunday, during or immediately after divine service, and] by affixing the same, fairly written or printed, on the principal door of such church or chapel." The words in italics are repealed by 7 Will IV. & 1 Vict. c. 45, s. 1. See this statute, post.

As to the publication of notices, see the notes, ante, p. 231. The notices must be published on all the churches in the township, not merely on those where notices were previously given: R. v. Whipp, 4 Q. B. 141, 12 L. J. M. C. 64. It is not necessary to give notice of the adjournments of the original meeting: Scadding v. Lorant, 3 H. L. Cas. 418, 19 L. J. M. C. 5, 17 L. T. 225; Kerr v. Wilkie, 6 Jur. N. S. 383, 1 L. T. N. S. 501, 8 W. R. 286, 24 J. P. 211. In stating the "special purpose" of the meeting, it is sufficient if the notice gives information fairly of the nature and subject of the business to be brought before the meeting, without going too much into detail: R. v. Powell, L. R. 8 Q. B. 403, 42 L. J. M. C. 129, 28 L. T. N. S. 697, 21 W. R. 867, 37 J. P. 372.

It rests with the authority summoning the meeting to determine the hour of meeting, and they cannot be compelled to insert in the notice paper a notice of motion by a ratepayer for changing the hours for holding the meetings of the vestry: R. v. Vicar, &c., of Tottenham, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 367, 48 L. J. Q. B. 407.

As to the meaning of "inhabitant," see post, p. 762.

As to the conduct of the proceedings, &c., at vestry meetings, see post, p. 769.

(2) At common law highways are those public paths which all the subjects of the realm have a right to use; and the term (for some purposes at least) also applies to such ways as are common to the inhabitants of some particular parish or district only—as in the case of church paths: 3 Steph. Black. 130. Churchways which are common to the subjects of the realm, and not merely to the parishioners, are repairable as other highways: Thrower's Case, 1 Ventr. 208, 2 Raym. 1175.

What is a highway at common law.

Highways are of three kinds: (1) footways, called also prime ways; (2) horse or bridle ways, called also pack and prime ways, because they are both footways and ways for pack horses, and sometimes called pack and drift ways, because they may be used for driving cattle; and (3) cart or carriage ways, which include footways and horseways, and generally, though not necessarily, driftways: Ballard v. Dyson, 1 Taunt. 279. See Co. Litt. 56 a. To constitute a highway it is not necessary that the way should be a thoroughfare: Bateman v. Bluck, 18 Q. B. 870, 21 L. J. Q. B. 406; Gwyn v. Hardwicke, 25 L. J. M. C. 97; Vernon v. Vestry of St. James', L. R. 16 Ch. D. 449, 50 L. J. Ch. 81, 44 L. T. N. S. 229, 29 W. R. 222. See, also, Young v. Cuthbertson, 1 Macq. H. L. C. 455; R. v. Hawkhurst, 7 L. T. N. S. 268, 27 J. P. 262. A turnpike road is a highway, and has all the incidents of a highway: R. v. Netherthong, 2 B. & Ald. 179; R. v. Lordsmere, 19 L. J. M. C. 215; R. v. JJ. of St. Albans, 22 L. J. M. C. 142; Bussey v. Storey, 4 B. & Ad. 98. See R. v. French, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 507, 48 L. J. M. C. 175, 41 L. T. N. S. 63 (a case in which all the roads authorised by statute were not completed). And see 37 & 38 Vict. c. 95, s. 10, post.

A way may be established by tracks across a common, sometimes one track being used

Section 5. and sometimes another, as validly as over a formed road: Wimbledon, &c., Conservators v. Dixon, L. R. 1 Ch. D. 362, 45 L. J. Ch. 353, 33 L. T. N. S. 679, 24 W. R. 466. But there must in such case be a dedication by the owner to the public, as in other cases: Evans v. Smith, 38 J. P. 85. See, further, Mackett v. Herne Bay Commissioners, 37 L. T. N. S. 812.

As to "streets," see ante, pp. 45, 46, 117 et seq.

A railroad or tramroad made under the authority of an Act of Parliament may be a highway: R. v. Severn Ry., 2 B. & Ald. 646. See, also, the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 92, post, and the Tramways Act, 1870, s. 19; and a railway carriage is an open and public place within the Vagrant Act: Langrish v. Archer, L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 44, 52 L. J. M. C. 47, 47 L. T. N. S. 548, 31 W. R. 183.

So a bridge may be a common highway: R. v. Sainthill, 2 Ld. Raym. 1174, 1 Salk. 359, 6 Mod. 255; R. v. Yorkshire, 2 East, 342; R. v. Bucks, 12 East, 192; R. v. Salop, 13 East, 95. But a public bridge, repairable by immemorial custom by the inhabitants of a hundred, is not a highway within the meaning of the term in this section, and is not repairable under this Act by the parish where it is situated: R. v. Chart & Longbridge, L. R. 1 C. C. 237, 39 L. J. M. C. 107, 22 L. T. N. S. 416, 18 W. R. 791, 34 J. P. 454, 11 C. C. C. 502. See as to bridges, post.

A ferry connected with a highway and leading to some public place is a highway: Hussey v. Field, 2 C. M. & R. 442; Newton v. Cubitt, 12 C. B. N. S. 58; and see, also, R. v. French, supra. The grantee of a ferry is bound to keep it in an efficient state for the use of the public, and this duty may be enforced by indictment: Letton v. Goodden, L. R. 2 Eq. 123, 35 L. J. Ch. 427, 14 L. T. N. S. 296. As to the property in the soil on either side of a ferry, see Peter v. Kendal, 6 B. & C. 703; Williams v. Jones, 12 East, 346; and as to rating the tolls to the poor rate, see R. v. N. & S. Shields Ferry Co., 1 E. & B. 140, 22 L. J. M. C. 9.

The public have no right at common law to use the banks of an ancient navigable river for the purpose of towing: Ball v. Herbert, 3 T. R. 253. As to duty to keep towing paths in repair, see Winch v. Conservators of the Thames, L. R. 9 C. P. 378, 43 L. J. C. P. 167, 31 L. T. N. S. 128, 22 W. R. 879; and as to the ownership in the soil of a towing path, see Conservators of Lee v. Button, L. R. 6 App. Cas. 685, 51 L. J. Ch. 17, 45 L. T. N. S. 385, 30 W. R. 233.

How created.

Prescription.

At common law, highways may exist by prescription, or they may be created by dedication. Where all persons without distinction have for a considerable period used and enjoyed a way, such way will be presumed to be a highway and to have been granted at some time by the owner of the soil, and a shorter period will suffice to establish a right of way in the public than in a private individual; in one case three or four years was, under special circumstances, held sufficient: Trustees of Rugby Charity v. Merryweather, 11 East, 375; Jarvis v. Dean, 3 Bing. 447; R. v. Hudson, Str. 909. The fact of repair by the parish, or the absence of repair, is a strong circumstance to prove that the way is a highway, or the contrary: R. v. Leake, 5 B. & Ad. 469, per Denman, C.J. But the fact that a highway has been repaired by the inhabitants at large is not conclusive of its being a highway so repairable if there has been only a limited user of it: R. v. Hawkhurst, 7 L. T. N. S. 268, 27 J. P. 262. On the other hand, proof that the way has time out of mind been used as a highway, and that the inhabitants have always repaired their own highway is sufficient without showing the repair of the particular way: R. v. Newbold, 33 J. P. 115. Long user may be proved not only by the testimony of aged persons long acquainted with the way, but also by the declarations of deceased persons made before litigation originated: Drinkwater v. Porter, 7 C. & P. 181, Barracrough v. Johnson, infra, and see generally R. v. Wandsworth, 1 B. & Ald. 63; Davies v. Stephens, 7 C. & P. 570; R. v. Leake, 5 B. & Ad. 469; Austin's case, Ventr. 189; Fowler v. Port, 7 C. & P. 792; R. v. Cotton, 3 Camp. 444.

Dedication.

The owner of land may, if he think fit, dedicate a way over it to the use of the public; and if he for a long period permit strangers to pass over it at their free will and pleasure and without molestation, such a dedication will be presumed: 3 Steph. Com. 130. See R. v. Lloyd, 1 Campb. 260; Lade v. Shepherd, 2 Str. 1004; Barracrough v. Johnson, 8 A. & E. 99; 3 Nev. & P. 233, 2 Jur. 839; R. v. Petrie, 4 E. & B. 737, 24 L. J. Q. B. 167; R. v. Bradfield, L. R. 9 Q. B. 552, 43 L. J. M. C. 155, 30 L. T. N. S. 700, 22 W. R. 693, 38 J. P. 536; Roberts v. Hunt, 15 Q. B. 17. It is a maxim, "once a highway, always a highway," and, therefore, once a way has been dedicated to the public, it cannot afterwards be closed, or diverted or obstructed, except under the statute (post, pp. 812, et seq.): R. v. Loudsmere, 19 L. J. M. C. 215; Dawes v. Hawkins, 8 C. B. N. S. 848, 25 J. P. 502; and see Young v. Cuthbertson, 1 Macq. H. L. Ca. 455. But there must be an intention, express or implied, by the owner to dedicate; the mere laying out of a road is not enough: Poole v. Huskisson, 11 M. & W. 827; R. v. Warde, Cro. Car. 266. But if a man opens his land, so that the public pass over it continually, the public, after a user of a very few years, will be entitled to pass over it and use it as a way, and if the party does not mean to dedicate it as a way, but only to give a licence, he should do some act to show that he gives a licence only; the common course is to shut it up one day in every year: Trustees of British Museum v. Finnis, 5 C. & P. at p. 465, per Patteson, J. See, also, Barracrough v. Johnson, ante, p. 758; R. v. Lloyd, 1 Camp. 260; Thomas v. Williams, 24 J. P. 821; Grand Surrey Canal v. Hall, 1 M. & G. 392. But the existence of a gate is not conclusive to show the way is not public: see Davies v. Stephens, ante, p. 758. On the other hand, mere occupation roads laid out through an estate for the use and convenience of the owners and occupiers are not thereby dedicated to the public: Selby v. Crystal Palace Gas Co., 31 L. J. Ch. 595, 30 Beav. 606; and the fact that such ways have been for many years used by the public does not necessarily amount to a dedication of the ways to them: R. v. St. Benedict, Cambridge, 4 B. & Ald. 447; though use of such a way by the public and other circumstances may be sufficient to establish dedication: R. v. Bradfield, ante, p. 758. There may be an occupation way and a public highway over the same road, so that, though the public right of way may be extinguished, the private way may still remain: Wells v. London, Tilbury, &c., Ry., L. R. 5 Ch. D. 126, 37 L. T. N. S. 302, 25 W. R. 325; Brownlow v. Tomlinson, 1 M. & G. 484, per Denman, C.J.; Duncan v. Louch, 14 L. J. Q. B. 185; but the cesser of user by the private owner may, without any reference to length of time, show an intention to abandon the private right and so destroy it: See R. v. Chorley, 12 Q. B. 515, 3 C. C. C. 262. There must also be an acceptance of the way by user by the public: Cubitt v. Mazse, L. R. 8 C. P. 704, 42 L. J. C. P. 278, 29 L. T. N. S. 244; A.-G. v. Biphosphated Guano Co., L. R. 11 Ch. D. 327, 49 L. J. Ch. 68, 40 L. T. N. S. 201, 27 W. R. 621; and see the cases cited, post, p. 763. But, since this statute, new highways do not become repairable by the inhabitants at large, unless its provisions have been complied with: see section 23, post, p. 776; see, also, the Highway Act, 1862, ss. 11, 42, post; the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 152, ante, p. 125; and R. v. Dukinfield, 4 B. & S. 158, 32 L. J. M. C. 235, per Blackburn, J.

No particular time is necessary for evidence of a dedication: it is not like a grant presumed from length of time. If the act of dedication be unequivocal, it may take place immediately: Woodyer v. Hadden, 5 Taunt. 136, per Chambre, J.

There cannot be a temporary dedication of a way to the public, nor can there be a Limited dedication of highway. dedication to a portion of the public, as to the inhabitants of a particular parish, though the inhabitants of a parish may possess a private property a right of way. So the owner cannot reserve a power of afterwards restricting or interfering with a way dedicated by him to the public: R. v. Charlesworth, 16 Q. B. 1012. But a way may be dedicated to the public for limited purposes only, as for a footway or towing path only: Roberts v. Carr, 1 Camp. 262. And a way may be dedicated subject to an obstruction, as a doorstep or area flap, or to the right of depositing goods thereon, or ploughing over a footway across a field: Fisher v. Prowse, 2 B. & S. 770, 31 L. J. Q. B. 212; Hamilton v. Vestry of St. George's, L. R. 9 Q. B. 42, 43 L. J. M. C. 41, 29 L. T. N. S. 428, 22 W. R. 86; Vestry of St. Mary's v. Jacobs, L. R. 7 Q. B. 47, 41 L. J. M. C. 72, 25 L. T. N. S. 800, 20 W. R. 249; Le Neve v. Mile End Old Town, ante, p. 46; Arnold v. Blaker, L. R. 6 Q. B. 433, 40 L. J. Q. B. 185: or a way may be dedicated subject to a reservation of the right to keep a gate across it to prevent cattle straying, in which case the keeping the gate across the way does not prevent it being a public way: Davies v. Stephens, 7 C. & P. 570; R. v. Bliss, 1 Jur. 960. As to partial dedication of a carriage way, see Mayor of Stafford v. Coyney, 7 B. & C. 257.

No one can dedicate a way to the public, except the owner of the fee. Therefore, acquiescence by a tenant for life or a lessee in acts of user of a way by the public cannot amount to a dedication of the way: Wood v. Veal, 5 B. & Ald. 454; Winterbottom v. E. Derby, L. R. 2 Ex. 316, 36 L. J. Ex. 194, 16 L. T. N. S. 771; Brough v. Ld.

Section 5. Scarsdale, 29 J. P. 740; Rugby Charity v. Merryweather, 11 East, 376n. See, also, R. v. Edmonton, 1 M. & R. 24; Pryor v. Ib., 26 L. T. N. S. 760, and Hall v. Bootle, 44 L. T. N. S. 874, 29 W. R. 862. But if the owner in fee is aware of the use of the way he may be bound, though the land be in the occupation of lessees. And if the user has been for a great length of time he will be presumed to have known of it: R. v. Barr, 4 Camp. 16; Davies v. Stephens, 7 C. & P. 570; Winterbottom v. E. Derby, supra; and see Vernon v. Vestry of St. James, ante, p. 757.

The Crown may dedicate a way to the public, and will be bound by long acquiescence in the use of a way by the public: R. v. Inhabitants of E. Mark, 11 Q. B. 877, 17 L. J. Q. B. 177, 12 Jur. 332, 3 C. C. C. 60; Turner v. Walsh, L. R. 6 App. Cas. 636, 50 L. J. P. C. 55, 45 L. T. N. S. 50.

Highways may be created by statute provided the intention to do so be clear: Sutcliffe v. Greenwood, 8 Price, 535, Harrod v. Worship, 30 L. J. M. C. 165, 25 J. P. 581.

As to the creation of highways under this statute, see sections 84—92, post, and see section 25, post.

As to the powers of urban sanitary authorities under the Public Health Act, see sections 146, 147, 154, 157 and 164 of that Act, ante.

See also the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, sections 57—63, and sections 67 and 135, post.

Various highways exist and are managed under the powers conferred by various Turnpike Acts. See R. v. Netherthong, ante, p. 757.

Highways are also created under the powers conferred upon commissioners under the Inclosure Acts.

Powers of laying out portions of settled estates as public streets, gardens, &c., are given by the Settled Estates Acts, 1877 and 1882, 40 & 41 Vict. c. 18, s. 21, 45 & 46 Vict. c. 38, s. 16.

The freehold of a highway and a public bridge is in the owner of the land over which they pass; he is entitled to the subsoil absolutely and to the surface, subject only to the right of user by the public (i. e., to pass and repass along the road with or without horses, cattle, vehicles, &c.), and all profits such as trees belong to him, 2 Inst. 705, Roll. Abr. tit. Chimin Private (B.) 2: Turner v. Ringwood Board, L. R. 9 Eq. 418, 21 L. T. N. S. 745, 18 W. R. 424; R. v. Pratt, 24 L. J. M. C. 113 (where a man standing on a highway was convicted of trespassing in pursuit of game). And see Lade v. Shepherd, 2 Str. 1004, Dovaston v. Payne, 2 H. Bl. 527; and as to this last case, see Rangeley v. Midland Ry., L. R. 3 Ch. 306, 37 L. J. Ch. 313, 18 L. T. N. S. 69, 16 W. R. 547. As to rights of lord of manor in case of copyholds, see Doe v. Pearsey, post, p. 761. The mines under a highway belong to the owner of the soil: Goodtitle v. Alker, 1 Burr. 143, and he may carry water pipes under the highway. Ib. per Mansfield, C. J. Or make a tunnel under it: Cattle v. Stockton Waterworks Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. 453, 44 L. J. Q. B. 139, 33 L. T. N. S. 475. And where a highway ceases to be such by being legally stopped up, &c., the owner is entitled to the soil discharged from the rights of the public to pass over it: R. v. Wallace, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 644, 40 L. T. N. S. 518, 28 W. R. 149; and see Rolls v. Vestry of St. George's, ante, p. 118. It is the same with regard to a turnpike road: Davidson v. Gill, 1 East, 69. Where the lands on either side belong to different owners the presumption is that the soil of the highway ad medium filum vice (i. e., to the centre of the road), belongs to the owner of the land on each side abutting thereon: Cooke v. Green, 11 Price, 736; Salisbury v. Gt. N. Ry., 5 C. B. N. S. 174, 28 L. J. C. P. 40, 5 Jur. N. S. 70; R. v. Edmonton, 1 M. & R. 24. But this is a presumption only, and may be rebutted by evidence that the ownership is in some one else: Beckett v. Leeds Corporation, L. R. 7 Ch. 421, 26 L. T. N. S. 375, 20 W. R. 454, 36 J. P. 596, and if the presumption is brought in question some other evidence must be given: Headlam v. Hedley, 1 Holt, 463. And when a close is conveyed with a description by measurement and colour on a plan annexed to and forming part of the conveyance, and the close abuts on a highway, and there is nothing to exclude it, the presumption of law is that the soil of the highway usque ad medium filum passes by the conveyance: Berridge v. Ward, 10 C. B. N. S. 400, 30 L. J. C. P. 218, 7 Jur. N. S. 876; Lord v. Sydney Commissioners, 12 Moo. P. C. 473; but see Plumstead Board of Works v. British Land Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. 203, 44 L. J. Q. B. 38, 32 L. T. N. S. 94, 23 W. R. 634.

Waste land adjoining a highway is presumed to belong to the owner of the adjoining inclosed land, whether freeholder, leaseholder, or copyholder, and not to the lord of the highways by statute.

Ownership of highways.

Section 5.

manor: Steel v. Prickett, 2 Stark, N. P. 463; Doe v. Pearsey, 7 B. & C. 304, 9 D. & R. 908. As to when such strips pass under a conveyance of the adjacent inclosed land. See Simpson v. Dendy, 8 C. B. N. S. 433, 7 Jur. N. S. 1058; Tutel v. W. Ham Board, 28 L. T. N. S. 597. But this presumption may be rebutted by evidence of acts of ownership by the lord of the manor, as taking gravel, &c.; Anon., Lofft. 358, and see Beckett v. Leeds Corporation, ante, p. 760; Doe v. Kemp, 7 Bing. 332, 5 M. & P. 173, S. C. in error, 2 Scott, 9; Doe v. Hampson, 4 C. B. 267, 8 L. T. 412; Hadlam v. Hedley, ante, p. 760; Scoones v. Morrell, 1 Beav. 251. So the presumption may be done away with or narrowed if the narrow strip be contiguous to or communicate with open commons: Grose v. West, 7 Taunt. 40. And, in the case of copyholds, if the road existed at the time the copyhold was first granted, viz., from time immemorial, the right of property in the road and the waste adjoining might in that case have remained in the lord: Doe v. Pearsey, supra, at p. 306, per Bayley, J.

But the soil of roads set out under an Inclosure Act is not presumed to belong to the owners of the adjoining land, but generally remains in the lord of the manor: Poole v. Hutchinson, 11 M. & W. at p. 830, per Parke, B.; R. v. Edmonton, 1 Moo. & Rob. 24; R. v. Wright, 3 B. & Ad. 681; and where the herbage of a road becomes vested, by the General Inclosure Act (41 Geo. III. c. 109), section 11, in the proprietor of allotments on each side, no presumption arises that the soil itself belongs to such proprietors: R. v. Inhabitants of Hatfield, 4 A. & E. 156. But the reservation to the lord of the manor of power to work for minerals is subject to the paramount right of the public to have the highways preserved in a fit condition for their free use, by all the Queen's subjects, and if the lord of the manor cause the surface to sink, he is liable to an action to recover the cost of repairing the roads at the suit of the persons whose duty it is to keep them in repair: Benfieldside Board v. Consett Iron Co., L. R. 3 Ex. D. 54, 47 L. J. Ex. 491, 38 L. T. N. S. 530, 26 W. R. 114.

As to the "vesting" of streets, being highways repairable by the inhabitants at large, in urban sanitary authorities, see The Public Health Act, 1875, section 149, and notes thereon, ante, pp. 117 et seq.

Where an ordinary highway runs between hedges, one on each side, the right of passage which the public have along it extends prima facie, and unless there be evidence to the contrary, over the whole space between the fences, the public are entitled to the use of the whole space: R. v. United Kingdom Electric Telegraph Co. (Limited), 31 L. J. M. C. 166, 2 B. & S. 647, 3 F. & F. 73, 6 L. T. N. S. 378, 10 W. R. 538, 9 C. C. C. 137, 174. See also Hutton v. Hamboro, 2 F. & F. 219; R. v. Wright, 3 B. & Ad. 681. And where there is a prescriptive highway there may be a prescriptive right to deviate on adjoining lands, if the way be impassable. So that if the public have a right to go on the adjoining land and the owner inclose both sides, he is bound to keep the way in good repair so long as the inclosure lasts, or if he inclose one side, he is bound to repair half the way, and the proceedings to compel repair must be taken against the occupier: 1 Roll. Abr. tit. Chimin Common (A.) (1), (B.) (1), Absor v. French, 2 Show. 28; Duncombe's case, Cro. Car. 366; Henn's case, Sir W. Jones, 296; and see Arnold v. Holbrook, L. R. 8 Q. B. 96, 42 L. J. Q. B. 80, 28 L. T. N. S. 23, 21 W. R. 330; R. v. Ramsden, El. Bl. & El. 949, 27 L. J. M. C. 296, 5 Jur. N. S. 169; but where there is a limited dedication only, as of a way subject to its being ploughed across, after which the way becomes muddy and foundrous, it would seem there is no right to deviate: Arnold v. Holbrook, supra, though if the way was impassable by reason of an obstruction put on it by the owner of the adjoining land, and not by the action of the elements, there may be a right to deviate: R. v. Oldreeve, 32 J. P. 271, per Willes, J.

As to driving cattle, carriages, &c., over the footpaths on the side of the way, see section 72, post.

As to holding fairs and markets on a public highway, see Elwood v. Bullock, 6 Q. B. 411, 13 L. J. Q. B. 330, 8 Jur. 1044; R. v. Smith, 4 Esp. 110; R. v. Starkey, 7 A. & E. 95. As to races on public highway, see Sowerby v. Wadsworth, 3 F. & F. 734.

The owners of lands forming the boundary of a highway have a right of access to the highway for the purpose of using it at any spot from their own land: Berridge v. Ward, 2 F. & F. 212, per Cockburn, C. J.; Vestry St. Mary, Newington v. Jacobs, ante, p. 759; Mayor, &c., of Manchester v. Chapman, 18 L. T. N. S. 641; Fritz v. Hobson, 42 L. T.

Section 5. shall be understood to mean justices of the peace for the county ⁽¹⁾, riding, division, shire, city, town, borough, liberty, or place in which the highway may be situate or in which the offence may be committed; and that the word "church" shall be understood to include chapel; and that the word "division" shall be understood to include limit; and that the word "owner" shall be understood to include occupier ⁽²⁾; and "inhabitant" to include any person rated to the highway rate ⁽³⁾; and the words "petty session" or "petty sessions" to mean the petty session or petty sessions held for the division or place ⁽⁴⁾; and wherever in this Act, in describing or referring to any person or party, animal, matter, or thing, the word importing the singular number or the masculine gender only is used, the same shall be understood to include and shall be applied to several persons or parties as well as one person or party, and females as well as males, and several animals, matters, or things as well as one animal, matter, or thing, respectively, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction; and all the powers hereby given to, and notices, matters, and things required for, and duties, liabilities, and forfeitures imposed on surveyors, shall be applicable to all persons, bodies politic or corporate, liable to the repair of any highway ⁽⁵⁾.

As to what shall be deemed to be the centre of the highway, see section 63, post, p. 797.

"County bridges."

As to county bridges, see the Statute of Bridges, 22 Hen. 8, c. 5, the Statute of Bridges of Anne, 1 Anne, c. 12, and the County Bridges Acts of 1740, 1803, 1812, 1814, 1815, and 1841, viz., 14 Geo. II. c. 53, 43 Geo. III. c. 59, 52 Geo. III. c. 110, 54 Geo. III. c. 90, 55 Geo. III. c. 143, and 4 & 5 Vict. c. 42, collected post. See, also, the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 22, post, and the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 148, ante, p. 115.

"Causeway."

"Causeway" is from the French, chaussee, a way raised above the rest of the ground and paved. See R. v. Pratt, L. R. 3 Q. B. 64, 37 L. J. M. C. 23.

Churchways.

As to churchways, see, ante, p. 757.

⁽⁴⁾ See the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 38, post.

Liability of the parish to repair highways at common law.

⁽⁵⁾ The inhabitants of a parish are primâ facie and of common right bound to repair all highways lying within the boundaries of their parish, unless by prescription or otherwise they can throw the burden upon particular persons by reason of their tenure, and if it be sought to charge a particular division of a parish, it must be shown how the inhabitants of that division are bound, and, therefore, where no other persons are bound to repair the parish must do so, 1 Hawk. P. C. c. 76, s. 5, Vent. 90: R. v. Shoreditch, March, 26; R. v. Great Broughton, 5 Burr. 2700; R. v. Sheffield, 2 T. R. 111 (as to liability to repair by custom, prescription and ratione tenuræ, see post, pp. 765). This rule of law applies to all highways, whether new or old: R. v. Lordsmere, 15 Q. B. 696, 19 L. J. M. C. 215, 15 Jur. 82, per Campbell, C. J.; R. v. Netherthong, 2 B. & Ald. 179, per Abbott, C. J., but since the present Act the provisions of section 23, post, p. 776, must be complied with before the new highway becomes repairable by the inhabitants at large. This primâ facie liability attaches to the parish only, and not to any township or other district: R. v. Midville, 4 Q. B. 240, 3 G. & D. 522; Aspinall v. Brown, 3 T. R.

Section 5.

265; R. v. Clifton, 5 T. R. 498. If the parish desire to relieve themselves of the burden they must show that it is cast upon some one else: R. v. St. Andrew's, Holborn, 1 Mod. 112; R. v. Eastington, 5 A. & E. 765, 1 N. & P. 193; R. v. St. Giles, Cambridge, 5 M. & S. 260, and see R. v. Ashby Folville, L. R. 1 Q. B. 213, 7 B. & S. 277, 35 L. J. M. C. 154, 12 Jur. N. S. 520, 30 J. P. 116, 10 C. C. C. 269.

As to the meaning of "parish," see note, ante, p. 756, and 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 32, post, and see R. v. Central Wingland, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 349, 46 L. J. M. C. 282, 36 L. T. N. S. 798, 25 W. R. 876.

As to the liability to repair diverted highway without reference to its parochial locality, see section 92, post.

As to the adoption by the parish of a way dedicated to the public in order to render the parish liable to repair. See Cubitt v. Maxse, ante, p. 759; A.-G. v. Biphosphated Guano Co., Ib.; R. v. St. Benedict, 4 B. & Ald. 447; R. v. Mellor, 1 B. & Ad. 32; R. v. Leake, 5 B. & Ad. 469, 5 N. & M. 595; R. v. French, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 507, 48 L. J. M. C., 41 L. T. N. S. 63, per Bramwell, L. J.; R. v. Lyon, 5 D. & R. 497; and now see section 23, post, p. 776, the Highway Act, 1862, ss. 11, 42, post, and the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 152, ante.

The parish cannot by agreement with any person whatever take off the charge which is laid upon them to repair, though as between the parties to the agreement it may be binding, but by prescription or statute the liability may be thrown on individuals or a township or part of the parish, 1 Vent. 90. Burn's Justice, tit. Highways, p. 997, 30th Edn.: R. v. Liverpool, 3 East, 86; R. v. Scarisbrooke, 6 Ad. & E. 509, 6 L. J. M. C. 103; R. v. St. Giles, Cambridge, 5 M. & S. 260; Dawson v. Willoughby, 5 B. & S. 920, 34 L. J. M. C. 37, 11 Jur. N. S. 240, 11 L. T. N. S. 597; sub nom. R. v. Dawson; but quære whether in point of law a parish can be bound by prescription to repair highways in another parish: R. v. Ashby Folville, supra. Where the various townships in a parish have by immemorial custom repaired all roads within their district, it is not necessary to show any consideration for the custom, but each township will be bound to repair in the same way as a parish, and it is not necessary to prove that a particular highway has hitherto been repaired by a township, but the custom may be proved by other evidence: R. v. Ecclesfield, 1 B. & A. 348; R. v. King's Newton, 1 B. & Ad. 826; R. v. Bishop Auckland, 1 Ad. & El. 744; R. v. Scarisbrooke, 6 Ad. & El. 509; R. v. Ardsley, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 255, 47 L. J. M. C. 65, 38 L. T. N. S. 71, 26 W. R. 405, 42 J. P. 262. If, however, the custom be not proved the parish will be liable: R. v. Kingsmoor, 2 B. & C. 190; R. v. Pendyrryn, 2 T. R. 513.

Where the township or tything, &c., by immemorial custom repairs the highways within its own district, it is presumably not liable to contribute to the repair of the highways in the rest of the parish: Freeman v. Reed, 4 B. & S. 174, 32 L. J. M. C. 226, and see R. v. Rollett, L. R. 10 Q. B. 469, 44 L. J. M. C. 190, 24 W. R. 26, 32 L. T. N. S. 769; nom. Rollett v. Corringham. But a township which contains no highways repairable by its inhabitants cannot, it would seem, claim to be exempt from liability to contribute to the repair of the highways in the remainder of the parish. See R. v. Barnoldswick, 4 Q. B. 499, 12 L. J. M. C. 44, 3 G. & D. 545; Great W. Ry. v. Denchworth, 25 J. P. 342; R. v. Freeman, 33 L. T. 220, 7 W. R. 556; Freeman v. Read, R. v. Ardsley, and R. v. Rollett, supra. And see the Highway Act, 1864, s. 15, and the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, s. 25, post.

Although by statute the duty of repairing certain highways is cast upon others, as in the case of paving commissioners, trustees of turnpike roads, &c., still the parish may remain liable: R. v. St. George, Hanover Square, 3 Camp. 223; R. v. Sheffield, 2 T. R. 106; Anon. 1 Ld. Raym. 725; Little Bolton v. R., 12 L. J. M. C. 104; R. v. Lordsmere, ante, p. 762, and see section 94, post. The parish, however, if proceeded against or put to expense has its remedy over against the commissioners or trustees, &c., ibid. And as to the remedy of the parish over against the trustees in the case of a turnpike road, see 3 Geo. IV. c. 126, s. 110, and 4 & 5 Vict. c. 59.

Where a highway forms the boundary between parishes, each parish is bound to repair ad medium filum viae, to the centre of the road: R. v. Landulph, 1 M. & R. 393, 8 El. & Bl. 900, 27 L. J. M. C. 100; Bridgwater Trustees v. Bootle, L. R. 2 Q. B. 4, 36 L. J. Q. B. 41, 7 B. & S. 348; R. v. St. Pancras, 1 Peake N. P. 220. And as to apportionment Section 5. of the highway for the purposes of repair between the parishes, see section 58, post, p. 794.

Extent of repairs.

The parish is bound, with stone or other hard substances, if necessary, to put the road in such repair as to be reasonably passable for the ordinary traffic of the neighbourhood at all seasons of the year : R. v. High Halden, 1 F. & F. 678 per Blackburn, J., and as to the practice of not discharging a parish from an indictment until the road has undergone a winter's wear after the repairs made : see R. v. Witney, 5 Dowl. 728. The parish is not excused from putting the road into good and substantial repair by the circumstance that it has never been repaired with hard materials : R. v. Claxby, 24 L. J. Q. B. 223, 1 Jur. N. S. 710, 24 L. T. 103 ; Hamilton v. St. George, Hanover Square, L. R. 9 Q. B. 42, 43 L. J. M. C. 428, 29 L. T. N. S. 41, 22 W. R. 86. But see R. v. Clurworth, 1 Salk. 358, 6 Mod. 163. But the parish is not bound to widen a road or to clean it from mud : R. v. Stretford, 2 Ld. Raym. 1169, 11 Mod. 56 ; R. v. Walton, 4 Jur. 195, or to do repairs where from the nature of things they must always be ineffectual, as where the road crosses the bed of a river which washes over it at every tide leaving a deposit of mud : R. v. Landulph, and Duke of Bridgewater's Trustees v. Bootle-cum-Linacre, ante, p. 763. So where the site of a highway has been completely destroyed by the sea or a landslip, &c., the parish are not bound to rebuild the site : R. v. Paul, 2 Moo. & Rob. 307 ; R. v. Bamber, 5 Q. B. 279, 13 L. J. M. C. 13, 8 Jur. 309, 1 Dav. & M. 397 ; R. v. Hornsea, 23 L. J. M. C. 59, 18 Jur. 315, 1 Dear. C. C. R. 291, 6 Cox, C. C. 299. Whether the site has been so destroyed as to relieve the parish from liability is a question of fact ; the mere fact that in consequence of a landslip or a flood the surface of a metalled road is filled up or covered over, or a quantity of gravel or débris is thrown from above on a highway, the line of the old road remaining, does not remove the liability to repair : R. v. Greenhow, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 703, 45 L. J. M. C. 141, 35 L. T. N. S. 363, 40 J. P. 324.

Maintenance of fences.

In the absence of prescriptive or statutory obligation, there is no general law imposing upon the owners of land adjoining a public road the duty of maintaining the fences : Potter v. Perry, 23 J. P. 644. As to permitting landowners to erect fences without incurring liability to repair the highway, see 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 46, post. Trustees under a turnpike Act, who have diverted a road and made fences are not bound to repair them, unless the Act requires it : R. v. Llandilo, 2 T. R. 232.

Cleansing ditches.

It seems that he who has land adjoining a highway is bound of common right to cleanse the ditches : 1 Hawk. P. C. c. 32, Brooke's Abr. "Nuisance," 28, Bac. Abr. "Highways," D, Anon, Lofft. 359. As to power of the highway authority to cleanse, &c., ditches, see section 67, post, and Public Health Act, 1875, ss. 48, 91 (2), and 102.

Liability of township or lesser district than parish to repair by custom.

Prima facie, as has been shown, ante, p. 762, the parish is bound to repair the highways within it. But by immemorial custom a township or other district less than a parish may be bound to repair all the highways within such township, &c., and evidence of the custom may be conclusive, though there be no consideration for it, and though, the highway having been in use before this Act, the highway is not proved to have ever been repaired by the particular township, &c. : R. v. Bishop Auckland, 1 Ad. & El. 744 ; R. v. Ecclesfield, 1 B. & A. 348 ; R. v. King's Newton, 1 B. & Ad. 826 ; R. v. Scarisbrooke, ante, p. 763 ; R. v. Newbold, 19 L. T. N. S. 656, 33 J. P. 114 ; R. v. Ardsley, ante, p. 763, 2 Co. Rep. Part IV. 32a note H. There must be some evidence of the custom, otherwise the parish will be liable : R. v. Kingsmoor, ante, p. 763 ; R. v. Freeman, 7 W. R. 556, 33 L. T. 220 ; Freeman v. Read, 32 L. J. M. C. 226, 10 Jur. N. S. 149, 4 B. & S. 174, and see R. v. Rollett, L. R. 10 Q. B. 469, 44 L. J. M. C. 190, 24 W. R. 26, S. C. nom. ; Rollett v. Corringham, 32 L. T. N. S. 769. If the custom be proved the township, &c., will be liable, though there be but one road within it, and that a newly made one : R. v. Barnoldswick, ante, p. 763 ; R. v. Netherthong, 2 B. & Ald. 179, R. v. Hatfield, 4 B. & Ald. 75. And now as to the repair of new roads, see section 23, post.

It seems that a parish or district cannot by prescription be bound to repair a way lying in another parish or district : R. v. Ashby Folville, L. R. 1 Q. B. 213, 35 L. J. M. C. 154, 7 B. & S. 277, 12 Jur. N. S. 520, 30 J. P. 116, 10 C. C. C. 269 ; R. v. Bishop Auckland, 1 A. & E. 744 ; R. v. Denton, 18 Q. B. 761, 21 L. J. M. C. 208 n., 17 Jur. 453, 1 Dear. C. C. 3, and see R. v. Machynleth & Pennegoes, 2 B. & C. 166.

If the immemorial custom be established, the township, &c., may remain liable, although the constitution of the township or district has been altered within living memory: R. v. Oswestry, 6 M. & S. 361.

Section 5.

If the township, &c., be relieved of its liability by Act of Parliament the liability falls upon the parish: R. v. Sheffield, 2 T. R. 106; R. v. St. George, Hanover Square, 3 Camp. 222.

As to extra-parochial places see the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 32, and notes, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 9, post, and R. v. Midville, 4 Q. B. 240, 3 G. & D. 522.

Corporations, temporal or spiritual, may by prescription be liable to repair a highway: 6 Co. Rep. 436, note (B). As to the difference between custom and prescription, see 2 Co. Rep. 369, note (H). It is enough to show that the corporation has always done so, without showing any consideration for it: R. v. St. Giles, 5 M. & S. 260. Nor will the corporation be relieved because its constitution has been altered within living memory: R. v. Oswestry, supra. To render an individual liable, a consideration for his liability must be shown, as by his holding lands subject to the burden: R. v. Ecclesfield, 1 B. & A. 348; R. v. Bucknall, Ld. Raym. 792, 804; R. v. Kerrison, 1 M. & S. 435. And as to a gift of land to a person or persons and their heirs for the reparation of highways, bridges, causeways, &c., see Porter's case, 1 Co. Rep. 26a and Com. Dig. "Uses" N. 4. Proof that the individual and those who held the lands before him have been for a considerable period used to repair the road will be good evidence of the liability: R. v. Skinner, 5 Esp. 220; Chad v. Tilsed, 2 Bro. and B. 403, 5 Moore, 185. It seems that if the tenement in respect of which the liability is sought to be imposed originated within the time of legal memory there can be no liability: R. v. Hayman, 1 Moo. & M. 403; R. v. Middlesex, 3 B. & Ad. 201; 2 Wms. Saund. 158, c. 9, but see R. v. Beeby, 8 L. J. M. C. 38; R. v. Sheffield Canal Co., 13 Q. B. 926. Corporations as well as individuals may be liable to repairs in respect of the tenure of lands, but a number of persons not incorporated cannot be so liable: R. v. Machynlleth & Pennegoes, 2 B. & C. 166; R. v. Ecclesfield, supra. A similar liability to repair may be imposed expressly or impliedly by statute: R. v. Sheffield Canal Co., 19 L. J. M. C. 44; R. v. Kerrison, 1 M. & S. 435; Ib., 3 M. & S. 531; Nicholl v. Allen, 1 B. & S. 916, 31 L. J. Q. B. 43, 283; or by charter: Mayor of Lyme Regis v. Henley, 3 B. & Ad. 77, and see R. v. Sutton, 8 A. & E. 516.

Where the lands charged are occupied by a person not the owner, the occupier is primarily liable to the public for the repairs, but he may demand reimbursement from the owner: Baker v. Greenhill, 3 Q. B. 148, 2 G. & D. 435, 6 Jur. 710; R. v. Sutton, 3 A. & E. 597, 5 N. & M. 353, 1 H. & W. 428; R. v. Watson, 2 Ld. Raym. 856, S. C. nom. R. v. Watts, 1 Salk. 357, and see 2 Will. Saund. 158e (9), and query whether the owner who is not the occupier be indictable for non-repair: R. v. Sutton, supra, and Will Saund. ut supra.

Where the lands charged are conveyed to different persons, each of them being the occupier of any portion is liable to do all the repairs: 1 Hawk. P. C. 707, R. v. Buccleugh, 1 Salk. 358; R. v. Buckeridge, 4 Mod. Rep. 48; R. v. Oxfordshire, 16 East. 224; see 3 Vin. Abr. 5 (9), "apportionment." But he is entitled to contributions from the owners of the other portions. Ibid.

Now, as to converting a highway repairable ratione tenuræ, &c., into a parish highway, see s. 62, post, and the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 35, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 24, post.

Exemption from liability to repair public highways which existed before this Act has not been affected thereby: R. v. Heath, L. R. 1 Q. B. 218, 35 L. J. M. C. 113, 12 Jur. N. S. 355, 13 L. T. N. S. 669, 14 W. R. 388, 30 J. P. 182.

As to enforcing the repair of highways which any body, politic or corporate, or person, is liable to repair by reason of tenure of any land or otherwise, see the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 34, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 23, post.

As to highways in South Wales, see the South Wales Highway Act, 23 & 24 Vict. c. 68, ss. 36, 37, post.

See the last clause of this section as to power, duties, &c., of surveyors being applicable to persons, bodies politic or corporate, liable to the repair of highways.

Where a road is open to the land on either side of it, if the road become impassable or incommodious, the public may have a right to go upon the adjoining lands, and in such case, if the owner of the adjoining lands enclose them so as to deprive the public of their right, he is bound to make a perfect good way so long as the enclosure lasts: Duncomb's case, 4 Cro. Car. 366; Henn's case, Sir W. Jones' Rep. 296; per Roll. C. J. Styles, 364; R. v. Flecknow, 1 Burr. 465; R. v. Hatfield, 4 B. & Ald. 83; R. v. Hillarsden, 1 Keb. 894; 1 Hawk. P. C. 699, 8th ed. by Curwood, 2 Saund. 160, n. 12. Where, however, the way is not immemorial, or the enclosed land has not previously been used for passage by the public, the liability to repair does not attach: R. v. Ramsden, El. Bl. & El. 949, 27 L. J. M. C. 296, 5 Jur. N. S. 169. And the liability attaches only to the occupier of the lands, and not to the owner. Ibid.

If one side only of the way be enclosed, the liability is only to repair half the way to the centre thereof: 1 Hawk. P. C., 8th ed. by Curwood, p. 699; R. v. Stoughton, 1 Sid. 464, 2 Saund. 160.

Now, by the Highway Act, 1862, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 46, post, district highway boards may permit landowners to erect fences without incurring liability to repair.

As to enforcing repairs, see the Highway Acts, 1862, 1864, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 34, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 23, post, and see the last clause of this section.

Compelling repairs of highways.
(1) Statutory provisions.

Where a highway is out of repair proceedings may be taken under ss. 94 and 95 of this Act, post. As to highways within the jurisdiction of a highway board, see the Highway Act, 1862, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, ss. 18 and 19, post. And as to proceedings under the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, see that Act, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 10, post.

And as to highways boards formed under the Highway Act, 1862, proceedings may be taken under ss. 18, 19, of that Act, post. And see also the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 10 post.

It seems that 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 10, does not deprive the parties of their powers under s. 94 of this Act or s. 18 of the Act of 1862. See circular letter of Local Government Board of 18th Sept. 1878, amongst the circulars, &c., post.

As to powers of the Local Government Board with reference to urban sanitary authorities, see the Public Health Act, 1875, ss. 299—302, ante.

The repair of a highway by a person or body liable ratione tenuræ may be enforced under s. 94, post, or under the Highway Acts, 1862, 1864, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, ss. 34, 35, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 23, post.

(2) By indictment at common law.

The statutory provisions do not, however, abrogate the common law and an indictment at common law for neglect of the duty to repair. See 1 Russ. on Crimes, p. 489, 5th ed., 1 Hawk. P. C., p. 700, 8th ed. by Curwood; and R. v. Sandon, 23 L. J. M. C. 129, per Lord Campbell, C. J.

The indictment may be preferred by any person not disqualified by reason that he is incompetent to become a witness: 1 Chitt. Crim. Law, pp. 1, 2.

Indictments against a parish or township for non-repair of a highway, or against a county for non-repair of a bridge, may be laid against the inhabitants of the parish, &c., without naming any individual: 2 Hawk. P. C. 317, 2 Roll. Abr. 79. But an indictment in respect of a road repairable ratione tenuræ, ought to mention the names of the persons bound to repair. See R. v. Birmingham & Gloucester Ry., 3 Q. B., at p. 226, 227. And in the case of a corporation the indictment is against them in their corporate name: R. v. Birmingham & Gloucester Ry., 3 Q. B. 223, 9 Car. & P. 469, 3 Ry. Cas. 148.

As to the form and contents of the indictment, and the rules relating thereto, and as to the pleadings and evidence, see Archbold's Criminal Pleading, 19th ed., pp. 970—985; Crown Circuit Companion, 9th ed., 361; 1 Hawk. P. C., c. 32, 8th ed., by Curwood, pp. 703, et seq.; 1 Russ. on Crimes, p. 493, et seq., 5th ed.; Woolrych Crim. Law, p. 1261, et seq.

Criminal information.

Another mode of compelling the repair of a highway is by criminal information granted by the Queen's Bench Division. But this will only be granted where the grand jury have been guilty of gross misbehaviour in not finding a bill; nor will it be granted where the highway is not much used and there is another convenient highway in good repair: 1 Russ. Crimes, p. 493, 5th ed.

Mandamus.

The courts will not entertain an application for a mandamus to repair a road: R. v. Trustees of Oxford and Witney Turnpike Roads, 12 A. & E. 427, 4 P. & D. 154, 6 Jur.

216 n.; and see R. v. Severn & Wye Ry., 2 B. & A. 646. As to enforcing by mandamus performance of duty by defaulting local authority, see Public Health Act, 1875, s. 299, ante.

As to actions against highway authorities for damages caused by non-repair, &c., of Action. highway, see note to section 109, post.

Generally as to nuisances, see notes at pp. 87, 88, ante.

Nuisances to highways at common law.

In the case of an ordinary highway, although it may be of varying and unequal width, running between fences, one on each side, the right of passage or way, prima facie, and unless there be evidence to the contrary, extends to the whole space between the fences; and the public are entitled to the use of the entire of it as the highway and are not confined to the part which may be metalled or kept in order for the more convenient use of carriages and foot passengers. See R. v. United Kingdom Electric Telegraph Co., ante, p. 761; R. v. Wright, 3 B. & Ad. 681; and any permanent obstruction erected upon it without lawful authority and which renders the way less commodious than before to the public, is a public nuisance at common law: Ib., and 1 Hawk. P. C. Bk. I., Ch. 32, p. 700, 8th ed. by Curwood; R. v. Burney, 31 L. T. N. S. 828, 39 J. P. 599. Thus a telegraph company who permanently erected telegraph posts upon the side of a highway, were held liable to an indictment: R. v. United Kingdom Electric Telegraph Co., supra. But now see the Telegraph Acts, 1863, 1868, 1878, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 112, ss. 9—20, 31 & 32 Vict. c. 110, ss. 2, 4, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 76, ss. 3—5. As to obstruction by leaving an agricultural roller on the side of a road, between the hedge and the metalled part, so that a horse shied at the roller and caused damages, see Wilkins v. Day, L. R. 12 Q. B. D. 110, 49 L. T. N. S. 399, 32 W. R. 123, 48 J. P. 6.

But a merely temporary obstruction, such as unloading carts or putting up hoards during repairs, which acts are necessary for the enjoyment of the adjoining property: Fisher v. Prowse, 31 L. J. Q. B. 212, 2 B. & S. 770, 6 L. T. N. S. 711, 8 Jur. N. S. 1208, 1 Hawk. Bk. I., Ch. 32, p. 701, 8th ed. by Curwood; Bush v. Steinman, 1 B. & P. 407; R. v. Ward, 4 A. & E. 405; but see R. v. Loughton Gas Co., infra, or a merely trivial obstruction, see R. v. Charlesworth, 16 Q. B. 1012, is not a nuisance for which an indictment can be preferred. Nor can an injunction be obtained in such cases: Mott v. Schoolbred, L. R. 20 Eq. 22, 44 L. J. Ch. 380, 23 W. R. 545; A.-G. v. Cambridge Gas Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 71, 38 L. J. Ch. 94, 19 L. T. N. S. 508; Wandsworth Board v. London & S. W. Ry., 31 L. J. Ch. 854. But the obstruction must not be continued an unreasonable time: R. v. Jones, 3 Campb. 230; and see R. v. Cross, 3 Campb. 224, and R. v. Russell, 6 East, 427.

It is an indictable nuisance to obstruct or employ others to obstruct a public highway or footway, by placing earth and bricks thereon, taking up the pavement and opening trenches for the purpose of laying down service pipes for the supply of gas from public mains to private houses, unless under parliamentary powers: R. v. Longton Gas Co., 2 El. & El. 651, 29 L. J. M. C. 118, 2 L. T. N. S. 14, 6 Jur. N. S. 601, 8 Cox C. C. 317, S. C. nom. R. v. Knight, 8 W. R. 293. Such acts cannot be justified by the occupiers of houses as an exercise of the right of every householder to make such a temporary obstruction of a highway or footway as may be necessarily incident to the enjoyment of his property: Ib. And it seems that this is so, even though the permission of the highway board be obtained: A.-G. v. Sheffield Gas Co., 3 De G. M. & G. 311, 22 L. J. Ch. 811, 21 L. T. 49. But an agreement by a highway board with a gas company to permit the latter to open a highway upon condition that they made it good again and paid a certain sum per yard in respect of the highway broken up is not invalid: Edgware Highway Board v. Harrow Gas Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. 92, 44 L. J. Q. B. 1, 31 L. T. N. S. 402. See, however, the provisions of the Water and Gas Clauses Acts, 1847, and the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante.

As to nuisance in obstructing a highway by causing crowds to collect, see R. v. Carlile, 6 C. & P. 636; R. v. Moore, 3 B. & Ad. 184; Walker v. Brewster, L. R. 5 Eq. 25, 37 L. J. Ch. 33, 17 L. T. N. S. 135, 16 W. R. 59 (case of injunction). But where a place has been used for a fair for above twenty years, persons so using the place are not liable to be indicted for a nuisance as for obstructing the highway: R. v. Smith, 4 Esp. 110.

Length of time, however, will not legalise a nuisance. See R. v. Cross, 3 Campb. 224, per Ld. Ellenborough; Gerring v. Barfield, 16 C. B. N. S. 597, 11 L. T. N. S. 270. But Section 5. a way may be dedicated subject to an obstruction, and so an immemorial right to obstruct may be made out: Fisher v. Prowse, ante, p. 767; and see Gerring v. Barfield, supra.

It is no defence to an indictment for a nuisance in obstructing a highway that the inconvenience caused thereby is counterbalanced by superior advantages to the public: R. v. Ward, 4 A. & E. 384. See, also, R. v. Train, 2 B. & S. 640, 31 L. J. M. C. 169, 6 L. T. N. S. 380, 10 W. R. 539, 8 Jur. N. S. 1151, 26 J. P. 469, 9 C. C. C. 180; A.-G. v. Terry, L. R. 9 Ch. 423, 30 L. T. N. S. 215, 22 W. R. 395 (case of an injunction).

As to form, contents, &c., of indictment, see ante, p. 766.

Strictly speaking, at common law there is no such thing as a diversion of a highway, for a highway cannot be diverted, but must always continue in the same place as it was, however it be obstructed, and a new way made in another place; and, therefore, the indictment must be for an obstruction: 1 Hawk. P. C., c. 32, 8th ed. by Curwood, p. 705, s. 16.

As to diversion of a highway upon condition of making another way as convenient as the former, see R. v. Scott, 3 Q. B. 543, 2 G. & D. 729, 6 Jur. 1084, 4 Ry. Cas. 187.

It is a nuisance to suffer ditches adjoining a highway to be foul, by reason of which it is impaired: 1 Hawk. P. C., c. 32, 8th ed. by Curwood, pp. 698, 701. See, also, the Public Health Act, 1875, ss. 48, 91 (2), ante, and see sections 67 and 68 of this Act post.

So, to suffer the boughs of trees growing near a highway to hang over the road in such a manner as thereby to incommode the passage is a nuisance at common law: 1 Hawk. P. C., p. 701, ut supra. See section 65 and note thereto, post.

It is indictable at common law to permit a house adjoining a highway to be so much out of repair as to be ready to fall upon the passers by: R. v. Watson, 2 Ld. Raym. 856, S. C. nom.; R. v. Watts, 1 Salk. 357 (in this case the defendant was only a tenant at will).

As to excavations near a highway, see section 70 and notes thereto, post.

As to nuisances to public rivers or public ferries, see R. v. Ward, supra; A.-G. v. Terry, supra; White v. Phillips, 15 C. B. N. S. 245, 33 L. J. C. P. 33, 9 L. T. N. S. 388, 10 Jur. N. S. 425; R. v. Stephens, 7 B. & S. 710, 35 L. J. Q. B. 251; Payne v. Partidge, Show. 256, 1 Salk. 12, S. C. nom.; Pain v. Patrick, 3 Mod. Rep. 289

Remedies in case of nuisance to highway.

The usual remedy is by indictment; and if the nuisance is continued by further indictment: 1 Russ. on Crimes, pp. 440, 443, 491, 5th ed.; R. v. Stead, 8 T. R. 142; and see Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board, L. R. 1 Ch. D. 220, 45 L. J. Ch. 260, 34 L. T. N. S. 112, 24 W. R. 231, 40 J. P. 197, per Jessel, M. R. As to form, &c., of indictment, see p. 766, ante.

As to criminal information and mandamus, see p. 766, ante.

Abatement of nuisance.
Private individual.

A private person cannot abate a public nuisance unless he can show an absolute necessity for his doing so in order to use the highway: Bateman v. Bluck, 18 Q. B. 870, 21 L. J. Q. B. 406, 17 Jur. 386; Mayor of Colchester v. Broooke, 7 Q. B. 339, 15 L. J. Q. B. 173; Dimes v. Petley, 15 Q. B. 276, 19 L. J. Q. B. 449; Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board, supra. See, also, R. v. Mathias, 2 F. & F. 570; and Roberts v. Rose, L. R. 1 Ex. 82, 4 H. & C. 103, 35 L. J. Ex. 62, 13 L. T. N. S. 471, 12 Jur. N. S. 78.

Surveyor of highways, &c.

But it seems that a person or body, who acts on behalf of the public has a right upon reasonable notice, when the right has been decided, to remove a nuisance, although no special statutory powers have been given for the purpose. See Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board, supra; Turner v. Ringwood Board, L. R. 9 Eq. 418, 21 L. T. N. S. 424, 18 W. R. 745. But see Mill v. Hawker, L. R. 10 Ex. 92, 44 L. J. Ex. 49, 33 L. T. N. S. 177, 23 W. R. 348; and in Denny v. Thwaites, L. R. 2 Ex. D. 21, 46 L. J. M. C. 141, 35 L. T. N. S. 628, 41 J. P. 164, it was held that a surveyor of highways, who bonâ fide removed a drain and brickwork which was a nuisance and obstruction to a highway, could not rightly be convicted of committing malicious damage, &c., to property under 24 & 25 Vict. c. 97, s. 52. See, further, the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 69 and 70, post.

Where a private individual suffers some particular damage by reason of a nuisance upon a highway, he may maintain an action for damages: see Wilkins v. Day, ante, p. 767. But, in order to maintain such an action, the plaintiff must suffer some direct

6. And be it further enacted, that the inhabitants of every parish ⁽¹⁾ maintaining its own highways, at their first meeting in vestry for the nomination of overseers of the poor in every year ⁽²⁾, shall proceed to the election of one or more persons to serve the office of surveyor in the said parish for the year then next ensuing ⁽³⁾: Provided always, that any outgoing surveyor shall continue to and substantial damage peculiar to himself beyond that suffered by the rest of the public who use the way: Winterbottom v. Lord Derby, L. R. 2 Ex. 316, 36 L. J. Ex. 194, 16 L. T. N. S. 771 (where the cases are referred to); Benjamin v. Storr, L. R. 9 C. P. 400, 43 L. J. C. P. 162, 30 L. T. N. S. 362, 22 W. R. 631; and see Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry., ante, p. 212. In Clark v. Chambers, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 327, 47 L. J. Q. B. 427, 38 L. T. N. S. 454, 26 W. R. 613, it was held that the defendant, having unlawfully placed a dangerous instrument (a barrier armed with spikes) in a road, was liable in respect of injuries occasioned by it to the plaintiff, who was lawfully using the road, notwithstanding the fact that the immediate cause of the accident was the intervening act of a third person in removing the dangerous instrument from the carriage-way, where the defendant had placed it, to the footpath. See, further, Addison on Torts, p. 564, et seq., 5th ed. And as to nuisances arising from neglect of statutory duties, as of railway companies to erect and maintain bridges over highways or to properly manage gates placed across public carriage roads, see ibid., pp. 568, 569, et seq. As to negligence on the part of gas works or water works companies in pursuing their statutory powers, see notes, ante, pp. 190, 432, 441.

A reversioner cannot maintain an action for a nuisance unless it is of such a permanent character as to injure his reversion: Mott v. Schoolbred, L. R. 20 Eq. 22, 44 L. J. Ch. 380, 23 W. R. 545; and Cooper v. Crabtree, L. R. 20 Ch. D. 589, 51 L. J. Ch. 544, 47 L. T. N. S. 5, 30 W. R. 649 (case of injunction). See Addison on Torts, p. 375, et seq., 5th ed.

A private individual may have a remedy for a nuisance by obtaining an injunction, but in such cases a plaintiff must show not only that the defendants are committing or intend to commit a wrong, but also that the wrong complained of does or will occasion special loss or damage to him: Mayor of Liverpool v. Chorley Waterworks Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 852; Ware v. Regent's Canal Co., 3 De G. & Jo. 212. Where water-pipes had, without the consent of the owner of the soil, been laid in the soil of a highway, an injunction to restrain the continuance of the pipes was granted, the owner of the soil not being left to his remedy at law and not being required to establish his right at law; and the facts that the soil under the highway was of no value to the owner, and that his motive for applying to the court was not connected with the enjoyment of his land, were held not to be reasons against the granting of an injunction: Goodson v. Richardson, L. R. 9 Ch. App. 221, 43 L. J. Ch. 790, 30 L. T. N. S. 142, 22 W. R. 337, 38 J. P. 436.

A reversioner, in order to obtain an injunction, must show that the injury is of such a permanent character as to affect the reversion: Cooper v. Crabtree, supra.

(2) The appointment of overseers is to be made on the 25th of March, or within fourteen days next after that day. See 43 Eliz. c. 2, s. 1, and 54 Geo. 3, c. 91. But this provision is directory merely and not imperative: R. v. JJ. of Staffordshire, 10 L. J. M. C. 166, S. C. nom. R. v. Sneyd, 9 Dowl. 1001, 5 Jur. 962.

(3) In urban sanitary districts the urban authority has all the powers of vestries: See Public Health Act, 1875, s. 144, ante, p. 115.

By the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 25, post, a surveyor may be appointed for a parish which does not maintain any highways.

If the inhabitants neglect or refuse to nominate and elect a surveyor, the justices at a special sessions may appoint: See section 11, post.

As to the conduct of proceedings at vestries, see 58 Geo. III. c. 69, post, and the amending Act, 59 Geo. III. c. 85, post. 13 & 14 Vict. c. 57, makes provision for preventing the holding of vestry meetings in parish churches or chapels, or the vestry rooms attached thereto in the case of parishes, the population of which exceeds two Secs. 6, 7 act until his successor shall be appointed, and shall be re-eligible, and may be re-elected, and shall in such case continue to act and remain in office, anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding, and in such case notice of such election shall be given by the chairman to the person elected, and to the outgoing surveyor ⁽¹⁾: Provided always, that in any parish where there is no meeting in the year for the nomination of overseers of the poor, the inhabitants contributing ⁽²⁾ to the highway rate shall meet at their usual place of public meeting upon the twenty-fifth day of March, or if that should happen to be a Sunday or Good Friday, then on the day next following, or within fourteen days next after the said twenty-fifth day of March in every year, to elect one or more persons to serve the office of surveyor for the said parish, which surveyor shall repair and keep in repair the several highways in the said parish for which he is appointed and which are now or hereafter may become liable to be repaired by the said parish.

Qualification of surveyor.

7. And be it further enacted, that any person living within the parish or any adjoining parish, and having an estate in houses, lands, tenements, or hereditaments lying within such parish, in his own right or in right of his wife, of the value of ten pounds by the year, or a personal estate of the value of one hundred pounds (such person not living within the parish being willing to serve the office), or being an occupier or tenant of houses, lands, tenements, or hereditaments (whether resident within the parish or within any adjoining parish), of the yearly value of twenty pounds, shall be eligible to be elected a surveyor for the purposes of this Act: Provided nevertheless, that no person who is now exempted by law from serving the office of overseer of the poor shall be compellable to serve the office of surveyor ⁽³⁾: Provided also, that any person who may be chosen and elected to serve the said office of surveyor may provide a sufficient thousand persons, and for holding such meetings in rooms or places to be provided for the purpose.

As to the notices of meetings, see note, ante, p. 757.

The rector or incumbent of the parish has a right to preside at a vestry meeting, and as presiding officer to fix the time and place for taking polls, and for their adjournment, if necessary: R. v. Rector of St. Mary, Lambeth, 9 L. J. M. C. 113, S. C. nom. R. v. D'Oyly, 12 Ad. & El. 139; Wilson v. McMath, 3 Phill. Eccles. Rep. 67, 3 B. & Ald. 244n. There is at common law a right to demand a poll. See R. v. How, post, p. 774, and R. v. Wimbledon Local Board, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 459, 51 L. J. Q. B. 219, 46 L. T. N. S. 47, 30 W. R. 400 (where the cases are cited), and if no poll is taken after it has been duly demanded, the proceedings are void: R. v. Cooper, L. R. 5 Q. B. 457, 39 L. J. Q. B. 273. The poll may be demanded after the chairman has declared the result of the show of hands: Campbell v. Maund, 5 Ad. & El. 865; but the poll must be demanded immediately upon the declaration of the show of hands, and not later: R. v. Thomas, 11 Q. B. D. 282, 52 L. J. Q. B. 671, 47 J. P. 792. All qualified inhabitants, whether present or not at the show of hands, have a right to vote during the poll: R. v. Rector of Lambeth, supra.

By section 30 of the Dentists Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 33, persons registered under the Act are exempt, if they so desire, from serving all corporate, parochial, ward, hundred and township offices.

deputy, such deputy to be approved of by the justices at a special sessions ⁽¹⁾ for Secs. 7—11. the highways, who shall by writing under their hands testify their consent thereto.

8. And be it further enacted, That if any person who shall be so chosen and elected, and who is not exempt as aforesaid from serving the said office, shall refuse or neglect to take upon himself the office of surveyor, or to provide a sufficient deputy, to be approved of as aforesaid, he shall forfeit on conviction before any two justices any sum not exceeding twenty pounds, unless he can show to the said justices good and sufficient cause why he should not be called upon to serve the said office: Provided also, that every deputy so provided and approved of shall have the same powers and authorities, and be subject to the discharge of the same duty, and be liable to the same penalties, as any surveyor appointed under the authority of this Act.

Penalty on surveyor not acting when chosen.

9. Secs. 11-14. such surveyor so neglecting to act, or refusing to carry into operation the duties imposed upon him by this Act, and to appoint any person whom they may think fit to be a surveyor for such parish till the annual meeting then next ensuing for the nomination of overseers, or for the election of surveyors as aforesaid, and with or without such salary as to the said justices shall seem fit and proper ⁽¹⁾, and the said surveyor when so appointed shall be invested with the same powers and be subject to the same duties, forfeitures, and penalties, as any surveyor elected by the inhabitants of any parish as aforesaid would have been.

When parish is situate in more than one county.

12. And be it further enacted, that when a parish is situated in more than one county, division, or liberty, the surveyor so to be appointed as last aforesaid shall be appointed by the justices at a special sessions ⁽²⁾ for the highways assembled in that county, division, or liberty in which the church of the said parish shall be situate.

Parishes may direct application to be made to justices at sessions for forming them into districts.

13. And whereas it is expedient that in many cases parishes should be formed into districts for the purpose of having one sufficient person to be the district surveyor, who should have the superintendence and management of the funds to be raised and levied under the provisions of this Act in each parish forming part of such district: Be it therefore enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the inhabitants of any parish in vestry assembled ⁽³⁾, if they shall think fit, to empower and direct one of the churchwardens of such parish, or the chairman of the said vestry, to make application to the justices assembled at the quarter sessions for the county, or where the parishes to be united shall be situated in the same division, at some special sessions ⁽⁴⁾ for the division in which such parish shall be situate, for the purpose of being united with one or more parishes to form a district for the purposes aforesaid, and at the same time to nominate one fit and proper person to be returned to the said justices to be appointed as such district surveyor, together with the amount of the yearly salary which the said inhabitants in such vestry assembled shall agree to pay to such district surveyor, which application, with the name of such last-mentioned person, shall be forthwith made in writing signed by the churchwardens of the said parish, or by the chairman of the said vestry as aforesaid, and forwarded to the clerk of the peace in and for the said county or to the clerk of the justices in and for the said division, as the case may be, who shall lay the same before the justices at the quarter sessions then next holden in and for the said county or at the special sessions as aforesaid ⁽⁵⁾.

Justices at sessions may unite such parishes into districts, and select and appoint a district surveyor.

14. And be it further enacted, that on such application as aforesaid being made by two or more parishes to the said justices, they are hereby authorised, at the said quarter sessions or at some special sessions as aforesaid, to take the same into their consideration, and to unite such and so many of the parishes so applying as aforesaid as they shall think fit, into a district or districts for the purposes of this Act; and the said justices shall select and appoint out of the persons so nominated as aforesaid by the several parishes so united into one district one fit and competent person to be the surveyor for such district composed as aforesaid, which appointment shall be in writing ⁽⁵⁾.

But highway boards may combine to appoint a district surveyor. See the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 6, post.

15. And be it further enacted, that the names of the said parishes so united, and the name of the person so appointed as district surveyor, shall be reduced into writing, signed by the chairman of the said quarter sessions, or by the majority of the magistrates present at such special sessions, and shall be transmitted by him or them to the clerk of the peace, who shall lay the same before the justices assembled at the quarter sessions in and for the said county, or at some adjournment thereof, who are hereby authorised and required to cause the same to be enrolled with the records of the court; and a copy thereof shall be sent by such clerk of the peace to each of the churchwardens or the surveyor of each of the said parishes so united; and such parishes so united shall continue to form a district for the purposes of this Act for the space of three years then next following, and from thenceforward until the churchwarden of any one of the said parishes so united, or the chairman of the vestry, shall, by direction and in pursuance of a resolution of the inhabitants in vestry assembled, give twelve months' notice to the churchwardens and surveyor of each of the other parishes, and to the said district surveyor appointed by the said justices, and to the clerk of the peace of the county in which the said parishes are situate, of the intention of the said parish to cease to form a part of the said district; in which case, from and after the expiration of the said twelve months' notice, the union of the said parishes into such district as aforesaid, and the appointment of the said district surveyor, shall cease and determine, so far as may concern or be binding on the said parish so giving such notice as aforesaid ⁽¹⁾.

(2) The county is bound at common law to repair its bridges precisely as the parish is bound to repair its highways: R. v. Inhabitants of Oxfordshire, 4 B. & C. 194, 2 Co. Inst. 700, 22 Hen. VIII. c. 5, s. 2, post, and see 43 Geo. III. c. 59, s. 5, post; unless it can be shown that somebody or person is bound to repair ratione tenuræ or by prescription; Ibid., and see note (5), ante, p. 762. And as to what is a public bridge, see R. v. Bucks, 12 East, 202; R. v. Salop, 13 East, 95; R. v. Southampton, 21 L. J. M. C. 205, and R. v. Chart & Longbridge, L. R. 1 C. C. R. 239, 39 L. J. M. C. 107, 22 L. T. N. S. 416, 34 J. P. 454, 11 C. C. C. 502.

As to the power of urban authorities to construct or adopt public bridges, &c., over or under canals, &c. See Public Health Act, 1875, s. 147, and as to their power to enter into agreements for the repair of roads over and approaches to bridges, see ibid., section 148.

As to the construction and maintenance of railway bridges and their approaches when such bridges are carried over or under turnpike roads or highways, see Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, 8 Vict. c. 20, s. 46, and *Newcastle-under-Lyme & Leek Turnpike Trustees v. P. 581, and N. Staffordshire Ry. v. Dale, 8 El. & Bl. 836, 27 L. J. M. C. 147, 4 Jur. N. S. 631. But though a railway company in carrying their railway over a highway by a bridge have altered the level of the highway, they are not bound to keep the slope of the road in repair as being part of the approaches of the bridge: London & N. W. Ry. v. Skerton, 5 B. & S. 559, 33 L. J. M. C. 158, 10 L. T. N. S. 648, 12 W. R. 1102. As to mandamus to compel railway company to repair roadway over bridge: See R. v. S. E. Ry., 32 L. T. N. S. 858, 40 J. P. 200.

As to "causeway," see note, ante, p. 762.

Secs. 22, 23.

Powers for getting materials and preventing nuisances to extend to county bridges and roads at the ends thereof.

When new highways are to be kept in repair by parishes.

22. And be it further enacted, that the several powers and authorities hereby vested in the surveyor of highways, as well for the getting of materials ⁽¹⁾ as the preventing and removing of all nuisances and annoyances, shall be and the same are hereby vested in the surveyor of county bridges ⁽²⁾, and the roads at the ends thereof repairable therewith; and the several penalties, forfeitures, matters, and things in this Act contained relating to highways shall be, and the same are, hereby extended and applied, as far as the same are applicable to such bridges, and the roads at the ends thereof as aforesaid, the said surveyor or surveyors of county bridges, making satisfaction and compensation for all trespass and damage done in the execution of the powers of this Act, in such and the same manner as the surveyors of highways are required to make under the provisions of this Act ⁽³⁾.

23. And be it further enacted, That no road or occupation way made or hereafter to be made ⁽⁴⁾ by and at the expense of any individual or private person, body politic or corporate ⁽⁵⁾, nor any roads already set out or to be hereafter set out as a private driftway or horsepath in any award of commissioners under an inclosure Act, shall be deemed or taken to be a highway which the inhabitants of any parish shall be compellable or liable to repair ⁽⁶⁾, unless the person, body politic or corporate, proposing to dedicate such highway to the use of the public shall give three calendar months previous notice ⁽⁷⁾ in writing to the surveyor of the parish of his intention to dedicate such highway to the use of the public, describing its situation and extent, and shall have made or shall make the same in a substantial manner and of the width required by this Act ⁽⁸⁾, and to the satisfac-

(4) The term "made" here must apply to a road formed or made, but not completely dedicated by user or otherwise at the passing of the Act: R. v. Westmark, 2 Moo. and R. 305, per Maule, J. And so, where before the passing of this Act a new street was formed and dedicated to the public by the owner of the soil in a place where a local improvement Act was in force under which the commissioners, upon certain conditions being fulfilled, might declare new roads to be public highways, it was held that the new street, though it had since its dedication been used as a public highway, was not a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, as it had not been declared such by the commissioners: Wallington v. White, 10 C. B. N. S. 128, 30 L. J. M. C. 209, 4 L. T. N. S. 290, 7 Jur. N. S. 1013, affirmed 13 C. B. N. S. 865, 32 L. J. C. P. 86.

A road cannot be split up into separate parts, and each called a separate highway for the purpose of obtaining the certificate of the justices under this section, and, therefore, where, though a parish had resolved that a road was of sufficient utility, justices refused to grant their certificate, being of opinion that it was but a part of a road which in another part was not of the requisite width, it was held that the justices were right in their decision: R. v. J.I. of Surrey, 3 L. J. N. S. 808, 25 J. P. 134.

tion of the said surveyor ⁽¹⁾ and of any two justices of the peace of the division in which such highway is situate, in petty sessions assembled, who are hereby required, on receiving notice from such person, or body politic or corporate, to view the same, and to certify ⁽²⁾ that such highway has been made in a substantial manner, and of the width required by this Act ⁽³⁾, at the expense of the party requiring such view, which certificate shall be enrolled ⁽⁴⁾ at the quarter sessions holden next after the granting thereof, then and in such case after the said highway shall have been used by the public, and duly repaired and kept in repair by the said person, body politic or corporate, for the space of twelve calendar months, such highway shall for ever thereafter be kept in repair by the parish in which it is situate: Provided nevertheless, that on receipt of such notice as aforesaid the surveyor of the said parish shall call a vestry meeting ⁽⁵⁾ of the inhabitants of such parish; and if such vestry shall deem such highway not to be of sufficient utility to the inhabitants of the said parish to justify its being kept in repair at the expense of the said parish, any one justice of the peace, on the application of the said surveyor, shall summon the party proposing to make the new highway to appear before the justices at the next special sessions for the highways ⁽⁶⁾ to be held in and for the division in which the said intended highway shall be situate; and the question as to the utility as aforesaid of such highway shall be determined at the discretion of such justices ⁽⁷⁾.

24. And be it further enacted, that the surveyor of every parish, other than a parish the whole or part of which is within three miles of the general post office in the City of London, shall, with the consent of the inhabitants of any parish in vestry assembled, or by the direction of the justices at a special sessions ⁽⁸⁾ for the highways, cause (where there are no such stones or posts) to be erected or fixed in the most convenient place where two or more ways meet, a stone or post, with inscriptions thereon in large legible letters, not less than one inch in height and of a proper and proportionate breadth, containing the name of the next market town, village, or other place to which the said highways respectively lead, as well as stones or posts to mark the boundaries of the highway, containing the name of the parish wherein situate; and that the surveyor of every parish shall at the several approaches or entrances to such parts of any highways as are subject to deep or dangerous floods, cause to be erected graduated stones or posts as he shall judge to be necessary for the guiding of travellers in the best and safest tract through the floods, and also to secure horse causeways, and foot causeways ⁽⁹⁾, by Direction posts, where and how to be erected.

⁽⁴⁾ It would seem that the neglect of enrolment does not vacate the proceedings: De Ponthieu v. Pennyfeather, 5 Taunt. 633, 1 Marshall 261.

⁽⁵⁾ As to vestry meetings, see the note, ante, p. 757.

If the surveyor neglects to call a vestry meeting, and to summon the party who seeks to dedicate the road at the next special sessions, a mandamus will not lie to the justices after such sessions have passed, and the three mentioned in the notice have expired: R. v. Bagge, 44 L. J. M. C. 45, 31 L. T. N. S. 585, 23 W. R. 165. But it seems a mandamus would lie to the surveyor to summon the vestry meeting, or the party before the special sessions, and, per Blackburn, J., after the three months had expired. Ibid.

⁽⁷⁾ There is an appeal under section 105, post, to quarter sessions against the decision of the special sessions: R. v. JJ. of Derbyshire, El. Bl. & El. 69, 27 L. J. M. C. 189, 31 L. T. 80, 6 W. R. 444.

⁽⁸⁾ This section contemplates the erection of posts, &c., against footways, causeways and bridleways by the side of carriage ways, for the purpose of protecting them against damage by waggons, &c., but does not require the erection of posts, &c., at the extremities of such ways for the purpose of protecting the causeways, &c., from trespassers:

Secs. 24-27. posts, blocks, or stones fixed in the ground, or by banks of earth cast up or otherwise, from being passed over and spoiled by waggons, wains, carts, or carriages; and the said surveyor shall be re-imbursed, out of the monies which shall be received by him pursuant to the directions of this Act, the expenses of providing and erecting and of keeping in repair such stones, posts, or blocks already erected or fixed, or which may hereafter be erected or fixed.

Power to use adjoining ground as a temporary road.

* 25. And be it further enacted, that it shall be lawful for the surveyor to make a road through the grounds adjoining to any ruinous or narrow part of any highway (not being the site or ground whereon any house stands, not being a garden, lawn, yard, court, park, paddock, plantation, planted walk or avenue to any house or enclosed ground set apart for building ground or as a nursery for trees), to be made use of as a public highway whilst the old road is repairing or widening ⁽¹⁾, making such recompense to the proprietor and occupier of such grounds for the damages they may thereby sustain as the justices at a special sessions ⁽²⁾ for the highways assembled may think reasonable, such sum so awarded as a recompense to be recoverable in the same manner as any fines and forfeitures are recoverable under this Act ⁽³⁾.

Surveyor to remove snow, &c.

26. And be it further enacted, that if any impediment or obstruction shall arise in any highways from accumulation of snow, or from the falling down of the banks on the side of such highways, or from any other cause, the surveyor is required from time to time and within twenty-four hours after notice ⁽⁴⁾ thereof from any justice of the peace of the county in which the parish may be situate, to cause the same to be removed ⁽⁵⁾.

Surveyor to make rate.

⁽⁶⁾ Other sources from which money is derivable for carrying the purposes of the Act into execution, are indicated by sections 62 (concluding proviso), 73, 103, post. Further, by 20 & 21 Vict. c. 31, s. 12, the proceeds arising from the sale of any manure, soil, ashes, rubbish, &c., wilfully deposited upon any town or village greens, not awarded under the "Acts for the Inclosure, &c., of Land," as a place for exercise and recreation, and any penalty imposed under the section shall be applied in aid of the rates for the repair of the public highways in the parish. And by 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 72, it is enacted that "the valuer acting in the matter of any enclosure shall allot to the surveyor of the highways for the time being of the parish in which the land proposed to be inclosed or any part thereof shall be situated, and to his successors for ever, such part of the land proposed to be inclosed, as by the instructions given to such valuer shall have been directed to be appropriated for supplying stone, gravel, or other materials for the repairs of roads and ways, as aforesaid, or in case no such instructions shall have been given in

Act into execution, be it further enacted, that a rate shall be made ⁽¹⁾, assessed, and levied ⁽²⁾ by the surveyor upon all property now liable to be rated and assessed to the relief of the poor ⁽³⁾; provided that the same rate shall also extend Section 27.

this behalf, and the valuer shall think an allotment necessary for the purposes aforesaid, such part as the valuer shall think fit, and such allotments shall be inclosed and fenced as the valuer shall direct, and shall from the confirmation of the award be vested in the surveyor of the highways within the said parish for the time being in trust for the purposes aforesaid; and the grass and herbage of such allotments shall belong to such persons as by the valuer shall be directed, and if he shall make no such direction, then such surveyor shall from time to time let any such allotment, reserving the right to get and take away such stone, gravel, and other materials when and as he shall think fit for the most money that can be obtained for the same, and shall apply the rents and profits towards the repair of the public roads or highways within the said parish, and the said surveyor shall account for such rents and profits in the same manner as he is by law accountable for other monies that shall come to his hands in the capacity of surveyor of the highways, and shall be subject to the like penalties for the neglect thereof.

As to the mode of defraying expenses of highway boards under the Highway Act, 1862, see the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 33, post. And as to defraying the cost of repairs of highways in urban sanitary districts, where the expenses of the authority are defrayed out of the district fund and general district rates, and no other mode is directed by any local Act, see the Public Health Act, 1875, section 216, ante.

⁽¹⁾ As to the form and amount of the rate, see section 29, post, and as to the accounts to be kept by the surveyor, see section 39, post. Rate, how made.

It is a general rule with respect to parish rates that they are not to be made retrospectively: R. v. Dursley, 5 A. & E. 10, at p. 15, per Lord Denman, C. J., and see R. v. Read, 13 Q. B. 524. But this general rule may be modified by statute: Ib. For instance, see 45 & 46 Vict. c. 27, s. 5, post, p. So, also, there are other necessary exceptions, as the costs of litigation, which cannot be taken into an estimate till the suit is over: R. v. Read, supra.

A rate is bad which is made for a period for which a rate has already been made and not quashed: R. v. Fordham, 11 A. & E. 73; but a second rate may be made where a former rate for the same purpose has not been wholly collected, the Court will not presume from rates being co-existent that they are made for the same period of time: R. v. Best, 5 D. & L. 40, 16 L. J. M. C. 102, 2 New Sess. Cas. 655; S. C. nom. R. v. J.J. of Surrey, 11 Jur. 489.

⁽³⁾ The liability to be rated to the relief of the poor depends on 43 Eliz. c. 2, s. 1, which directs the overseers of the poor of the parish "to raise, weekly or otherwise, by taxation of every inhabitant, parson, vicar, and other, and of every occupier of lands, houses, tithes impropriate, or appropriations of tithes, coal mines (or saleable underwood) in the parish in such competent sum and sums of money as they shall think fit," and see 14 Car. II. c. 12, ss. 21, 22. The statute of Elizabeth is repealed as to saleable underwood by the Rating Act, 1874, s. 14, post. "Inhabitant or other" in the above statute means resident within the parish: R. v. Nicholson, 12 East. 330; R. v. North Curry, 4 B. & C. 953, 7 D. & R. 424. It is perfectly immaterial what interest the occupier has in the lands: R. v. Bell, 7 T. R. 598; Bute v. Grindall, 1 T. R. 338, at p. 343, per Buller J. Property liable to be rated to the poor.

Where a person receives, without risk, part of the produce extracted from the bowels of the earth, he is an occupier of land; but where he merely receives a rent or money payment, there the Court has held, as in R. v. Bishop of Rochester, 12 East. 353, that he is not an occupier: R. v. Baptist Mill Co., 1 M. & S. 612, at p. 619, per Le Blanc, J., and see R. v. Skingle, 7 T. R. 549; R. v. Wellbank, 4 M. & S. 222; and R. v. Vanderwall, 2 Burr. 991, 1 W. Bl. 212. A mere right of fishing or way-leave, or right of common, unconnected with any interest in the soil is not rateable: R. v. Ellis, 1 M. & S. 652; R. v. Joliffe 2 T. R. 90; R. v. Churchill, 4 B. & C. 750, 6 D. & R. 635; R. v. Alnwick,

Section 27. to such woods, mines, and quarries of stone, or other hereditaments, as have 9 Ad. & E. 444; but allotments made under inclosure Acts in lieu of rights of common are rateable: Kemp v. Spence, 2 W. Bl. 1245, and so is a waggon-way or towing-path with the right to the exclusive occupation of the ground: R. v. Bell, ante, p. 779.

The right to kill game affects the rateable value of the occupation of land. See R. v. Thurstone, 1 E. & E. 502, and R. v. Williams, ib., at p. 510; but see now The Rating Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 54, s. 3, post.

A person holding property in its nature rateable is not discharged from liability, because he does so at a loss: R. v. Parrot, 5 T. R. 593; R. v. Vange, 3 Q. B. 242; Governors of the Bristol Poor v. Wait, 5 Ad. & E. 1.

Corporations seized in fee for their own profit are liable to the poor rate in their corporate capacity: R. v. Sudbury, 1 B. & C. 389, 2 D. & R. 651; R. v. Gardner, Cowp. 79.

As to cost-book companies, see Kittow v. Liskeard, L. R. 10 Q. B. 7, 44 L. J. M. C. 23, 31 L. T. N. S. 601, 23 W. R. 72.

An exemption from all taxes is an exemption from the poor rate: R. v. London Gas-light Co., 8 B. & C. 54, 2 M. & R. 12. It is not necessary, in order to create a statutory exemption from poor rates, that the Act should in express terms exempt from such particular rates, but it is sufficient if by a fair construction of the words of the Act, the exemption clearly appears: R. v. Barnby Dun, 4 N. & M. 436, 2 Ad. & E. 551.

Now by 59 Geo. III. c. 12, it is enacted as follows:—

Section 19. And whereas in many parishes, and more especially in large and populous towns, the payment of the poor's rates is greatly evaded by reason that great numbers of houses within such parishes are let out in lodgings, or in separate apartments, or for short terms, or are let to tenants who quit their residences, or become insolvent before the rates charged on them can be collected; and it hath been found that in many instances the persons letting such houses do actually charge and receive much higher rents for the same upon the ground and expectation that the occupiers thereof cannot be effectually assessed to the poor's rate, and will not be charged with, or required to pay such rates, and do thus obtain an undue advantage to themselves, and by means of the premises the other inhabitants of such parishes are unjustly compelled to pay much more than their fair and due proportions of the charges of relieving and maintaining the poor; For remedy thereof be it further enacted, that from and after the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and twenty, it shall be lawful for the inhabitants of any parish, in vestry assembled, and they are hereby empowered to resolve and direct that the owner or owners of all houses, apartments, or dwellings in such parishes being the immediate lessor or lessors of the actual occupier or occupiers, which shall respectively be let to the occupiers thereof at any rent or rate not exceeding twenty pounds, nor less than six pounds by the year, for any less term than one year, or on any agreement by which the rent shall be reserved or made payable at any shorter period than three months, shall be assessed to the rates for the relief of the poor for or in respect of such houses, apartments, or dwellings, and the outhouses and curtilages thereof instead of the actual occupiers; and the inhabitants so assembled in vestry may, and they are hereby authorised from time to time to rescind, renew, vary, and amend every such resolution and direction as they shall see occasion, so as no such resolution or direction shall extend to assess or charge the owner of any house, apartment, or dwelling which shall, with the outhouses and curtilages thereof, be let at a greater rent than twenty pounds, or less than six pounds as aforesaid; and the churchwardens and overseers of the poor of every such parish are hereby empowered and required to carry into effect all such resolutions and directions of the inhabitants in vestry assembled, and in pursuance and execution thereof, in all rates to be by them made for the relief of the poor, to assess by a fair and equal pound rate the owner or owners being the immediate lessor or lessors of the actual occupier or occupiers of every house, apartment, or dwelling, to which such resolution and direction shall extend, for or in respect of the same according to the actual rent at which every such house, apartment or dwelling shall be let, after making a reasonable deduction from such rent not exceeding in any case one half of the same; and upon non-payment of the sum or sums so to be assessed, the same may and shall be levied upon and the payment thereof be enforced against such owner and owners, lessor and lessors, so to be assessed, and his and their goods and chattels in like manner, as rates for the relief of the poor may by law be levied and recovered, and the payment thereof enforced, upon and against any actual occupier on whom the same are charged. Section 27.

Section 23. Provided, and be it further enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall extend, or be construed to extend to give any power or authority, to assess the owner (not being the occupier) of any house, apartment, or dwelling, in any city, borough, or town corporate, in which the right of voting for the election of members to serve in Parliament shall depend upon the assessment of the voter to the poor rate, or to vary or affect the manner of assessing and charging any of the inhabitants or occupiers of the houses, lands, or tenements within such city, borough, or town corporate.

By 17 Geo. II. c. 38, s. 12, it is enacted that, whereas persons frequently remove out of parishes and places without paying the rates assessed on them, and other persons do enter and occupy their houses or tenements part of the year, by reason whereof great sums are annually lost to such parishes and places: Be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that where any person or persons shall come into or occupy any house, land, tenement, or hereditaments, or other premises out of or from which any other person assessed shall be removed, or which at the time of making such rate was empty or unoccupied, that then every person so removing from, and every person coming into or occupying the same, shall be liable to pay such rate in proportion to the time that such person occupy the same respectively, in the same manner and under the like penalties of distress as if such person so removing had not removed, or such person so coming in or occupying, had been originally rated and assessed in such rate; which said proportions, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained by any two or more of His Majesty's justices of the peace.

As to rating lands vested in the Secretary of State for War, see 23 & 24 Vict. c. 112, s. 33.

By 6 & 7 Will. IV. c. 71, the Act for the Commutation of Tithes in England and Wales, s. 69, every rent-charge payable instead of tithes is to be liable to parochial and county rates, in like manner as the tithes commuted were before the Act.

A parson is liable as well for tithes in his own occupation as for those he has let out at a certain rent. See R. v. Turner, 1 Bott. P. L. 5th edition, 126; R. v. Shingle, ib. 127. The proprietors of fish titheable by custom are liable to be rated, R. v. Carlyon, 3 T. R. 385. Payments in lieu of tithes settled under a compromise and confirmed by Act of Parliament, and a modus for tithes are rateable: Rann v. Pickin, Cald. 196, Doug. 406, n. But see R. v. Shaw, 12 Q. B. 419.

As to the principle upon which a commutation tithe rent-charge is to be assessed. See R. v. Goodchild, El. Bl. & El. 1, 27 L. J. M. C. 233, 4 Jur. N. S. 1050.

By 7 Will. IV. and 1 Vict. c. 69, s. 8, it is enacted that "all rates and charges to which any rent-charge payable in lieu of tithes shall be liable may be assessed upon the owner of the rent-charge, and the whole or any part thereof may be recovered from any one or more of the occupiers of the lands out of which such rent-charge shall issue, in case the same shall not be sooner paid by the owner of the rent-charge upon whom the same shall be assessed; in like manner as any poor rate assessed on such occupier or occupiers in respect of such lands may be recovered upon giving to such occupier twenty-one days' notice in writing previous to any one of the half-yearly days of payment of the rent-charge, and the collector's receipt for the payment of such rates and charges, or any part thereof, shall be received in satisfaction of so much of the rent-charge by the owner thereof; but no occupier shall be liable to pay at any one time, in respect of such rates and charges, any greater sum than the rent-charge payable in respect of the lands occupied by him in the same parish shall amount to for the current half year in which such notice shall have been given.

As to rating of (1) land used for a plantation, or wood, or growth of saleable under-wood and not subject to rights of common; (2) rights of killing game, &c., fishing, &c.; and (3) mines, see the Rating Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 54, s. 3, post. Woods, rights of shooting, &c., and mines.

It had previously been held that the express mention of coal mines in the 43 Eliz. c. 2, s. 1, excluded all other mines, and that iron and lead mines and their machinery were not rateable: Morgan v. Crawshaw, L. R. 5 H. L. 304, 40 L. J. M. C. 202, 24 L. T. N. S. 889, 20 W. R. 554, where the cases are cited.

Railway companies.

As to the principle upon which railway companies are to be assessed, see R. v. London & S. W. Ry., 1 Q. B. 558, 11 L. J. M. C. 93, 2 G. & D. 49, 6 Jur. 686, 2 Rail. Cas. 629; *S. E. Ry. v. Canals.

The proprietors of a canal or navigation are rateable in respect of the land covered with water in the particular parish in which the land lies: R. v. Trent and Mersey Canal Co., 1 B. & C. 545, 2 D. & R. 752; R. v. Milton, 3 B. & Ald. 112; R. v. Palmer, 1 B. & C. 546; R. v. Lower Mitton, 9 B. & C. 810, 4 M. & R. 711. They are rateable in each parish in proportion to the profits which that part of the land covered with water which lies in the parish produces: R. v. Kingswinford, 7 B. & C. 236; R. v. Woking, 4 Ad. & E. 40, 5 L. J. M. C. 17; R. v. Lower Mitton, supra. If the profit vary in different parishes the rate must also vary: Ibid. As to how the expenses of repairing and maintaining the works are to be ascertained for the purposes of deduction, see R. v. Coventry Canal Co., 1 El. & El. 572, 28 L. J. M. C. 102. As to how the value of the land is to be ascertained, see R. v. Oxford Canal Co., 6 D. & R. 86; *R. v. But where the proprietors of a navigation possess a mere easement in a river they are not rateable: R. v. Mersey Navigation, 9 B. & C. 95, 4 M. & R. 84; R. v. Aire and Calder Navigation, 9 B. & C. 820, 4 M. & R. 728. But see R. v. Chelsea Waterworks, 5 B. & Ad. 156, 2 L. J. M. C. 98; R. v. Thomas, 9 B. & C. 114, S. C. nom. *R. v. Exemptions.

Property in the occupation of the Crown is exempt from rating: see Mersey Docks v. Cameron, and Jones v. Mersey Docks, 11 H. L. Cas. 443, 35 L. J. M. C. 1. So, too, by statute, several descriptions of property are specially exempted, as, personal property, 3 & 4 Vict. c. 89; turnpike tolls, 3 Geo. IV. c. 126, s. 7; churches and chapels, 3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 30; scientific societies, &c., 6 & 7 Vict. c. 36; lunatic asylums, 16 & 17 Vict. c. 97, s. 35, &c.

Generally as to rating, see Castle on Rating.

By section 33, post, certain persons are exempt from the highway rate.

(1) The words "usually rated" refer not to legal rateability, but to the practice of rating in the particular parish: R. v. Rose, 6 Q. B. 153, 13 L. J. M. C. 155, 8 Jur. 777, 1 D. & M. 300. The words "such as" mean "of such description as:" R. v. Randall, 4 El. & Bl., 564, S. C. nom.; R. v. Saunders, 24 L. J. M. C. 57, 1 Jur. N. S. 255.

the peace, and published ⁽¹⁾ in the same way as poor rates are now allowed and Secs. 27-29. published.

28. And in order to enable the surveyor ⁽²⁾ to form a proper judgment of any rate to be made in pursuance of this Act, be it further enacted, that it shall be lawful for the surveyor, and he is hereby authorised and empowered, at all reasonable times ⁽³⁾ to inspect, or by writing signed by him to grant authority to any person appointed by him to inspect, any of the rates made towards the relief of the poor of the parish of which he is surveyor, or the books wherein the assessments thereto shall be entered, without fee or reward ⁽⁴⁾; and the surveyor or person by him authorised as aforesaid shall be allowed to make a copy of such rate or books, or to take any extracts therefrom; and if any person in whose custody or power any of the said rates or books shall be, shall, when thereunto required in manner aforesaid, refuse or neglect to produce the same to the surveyor or person so by him authorised as aforesaid, as the case may be, or to allow such copy or extract to be made or taken, at all reasonable hours in the daytime, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Surveyor may inspect rate book and obtain copies or extracts.

29. And be it further enacted, that every rate shall contain the names of the occupiers, the description of the premises or property they occupy, and the full annual value ⁽⁵⁾ of such premises or property, and shall also specify the sum in the pound at which it is made ⁽⁶⁾; and no rate to be levied or assessed as aforesaid shall exceed at any one time the sum of tenpence in the pound, or the sum of two shillings and sixpence in the pound in the whole in any one year ⁽⁷⁾.

Form and amount of rate.

By 43 Eliz. c. 2, s. 1, the poor rate is to be made by and with the consent of two or more justices of the peace in the same county, whereof one to be of the quorum, dwelling in or near the parish or division. The consent is a mere ministerial act which is to be done by them as a matter of form, without exercising any discretion as to the propriety of the rate: R. v. Edwards, 1 W. Bl. 637; R. v. Kynaston, 2 East, 118; R. v. Yarborough, 12 Ad. & E. 416, 3 P. & D. 491, 4 Jur. 627. A mandamus will lie to compel justices to sign: R. v. Dorchester, 1 Str. 393. In allowing a rate two justices may act separately: R. v. Hamstall Ridware, 3 T. R. 380, at p. 381, per Ld. Kenyon, C.J.

⁽¹⁾ It is sufficient publication of a poor rate if a copy of it be affixed, before divine service on the Sunday next after its allowance, on the principal or most usual door of all the churches and chapels of the established church within the parish in which divine service is performed. See 17 Geo. II. c. 3, s. 1, and 7 Will. IV., and 1 Vict. c. 45, s. 2, post; Ormerod v. Chadwick, ante, p. 167; R. v. Yarborough, supra; and see the note ⁽⁸⁾, ante, p. 167.

The publication may be good, though it does not state the allowance by the justices: Bennett v. Edwards, 7 B. & C. 586.

Errors in rates may be

31. And be it further enacted, that whenever it shall appear to the said surveyor as aforesaid that there has been any omission or error in any rate or assessment made in pursuance of this Act of or in the name of any person, parson, or vicar, or of any house, shop, warehouse, coach-house, stable, cellar, vault, building, workshop, manufactory, garden ground, land, tenement, wood, tithe, mines, pits, or quarries of any mineral, stone, or other matter whatsoever, or hereditament liable to be rated for the purposes of this Act, it shall be lawful for the said surveyor as aforesaid, with the consent and approbation of the justices at a special sessions for the highways, to cause to be added or corrected in the said rate or assessment the name of the person, parson, or vicar omitted or erroneously stated, and a description of the property in respect of which he ought to be rated; and every such addition or correction made in any of the said rates, and signed by such justices, shall be as valid and effectual as if the same had been part of the original rate at the time when it was first made.

Persons may

32. And be it further enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the justices at the special sessions for the highways ⁽³⁾, on application made to them by any person rated to any rate under the authority of this Act to be discharged therefrom, on proof of his inability through poverty to pay such rate, the surveyor having been first summoned to appear on the part of the parish, to order and direct that such person shall be excused from the payment of such rate, and which order of the said justices is hereby declared to be final with respect to such rate ⁽⁴⁾.

Certain persons not payment of highway rate.

33. And be it further enacted, that when property, or the owner or occupier in respect thereof, has, previous to the passing of this Act, been legally exempt from the performance of statute duty, or from the payment of any composition in lieu thereof, or of highway rate, the said property and the owners and occupiers thereof shall be exempt from the payment of the rate hereby imposed ⁽⁵⁾.

After a highway rate has been regularly made and assessed, and the time for appealing has passed, and no appeal has been made, the person so assessed cannot afterwards set up a claim of exemption: R. v. JJ. of Oxfordshire, 18 L. J. M. C. 222, 14 Jur. 575, and a rule may be obtained to compel justices to issue a distress warrant for the amount of the rate: Ib. Where the justices refuse to enforce payment an appeal under 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43, s. 2, is not the proper proceeding: Walker v. Great W. Ry., 29 L. J. M. C. 107

35. And be it further enacted, that it shall be lawful for two ratepayers of any parish, within six days next after the annual appointment of the surveyor, by a notice in writing, to require the said surveyor to call a meeting of the ratepayers of the said parish for the purpose hereafter mentioned, and the said surveyor shall call such meeting within eight days after the receipt of such notice, and shall give six days previous intimation of such meeting; and if at such meeting a majority of the ratepayers then and there assembled shall signify their consent thereto, it shall and may be lawful for the ratepayers keeping a team or teams of two or more horses or beasts of draught to divide among themselves, in proportion to the amount of rate to which they may respectively be assessed, the carrying of the material which may be required by the said surveyor for the repairs of the highways within such parish, and they shall be paid by the said surveyor for such carrying or task-work within one calendar month after having performed such service, after such rate per cubic yard of material per mile, and so in proportion for any less distance than a mile, as shall be fixed by the justices at their first meeting in

required to issue a summons under his hand for the collector so refusing or neglecting to appear before any two justices of the peace; and upon the said collector appearing, or having been so summoned and not appearing, without some sufficient or reasonable excuse, or not being found, it shall be lawful for the said two justices to hear and determine the matter; and if upon confession of the party, or by the testimony of any credible witness on oath, it shall appear to such justices that any moneys remain due from such collector, such justices may and they are hereby authorized and required, upon non-payment thereof, by warrant under their hands to cause such money to be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such collector; and if no goods and chattels of such collector shall be found sufficient to answer and satisfy the said money, and the charges of distraining and selling the said goods and chattels, then and in every such case such justices, shall and they are hereby required to commit such offender to the Common Gaol or House of Correction for the county, city, or place where such offender shall be or reside, there to be kept to hard labour for a period not exceeding six calendar months, or until he shall have paid such moneys as aforesaid or compounded with the surveyor as aforesaid for such money (which composition the said surveyor, with the consent of the inhabitants in vestry ⁽¹⁾, or, in any parish where they do not meet in vestry, with the consent of the inhabitants contributing to the highway rate ⁽²⁾, at a public meeting assembled, is hereby empowered to make and receive); or if it shall appear to such justices that such collector had refused or wilfully neglected to render and give such accounts, or to produce and deliver the list of persons neglecting and refusing to pay their rates as aforesaid, or that any books, papers, or writings relating to the execution of this Act remained in the hands or in the custody or power of such collector, and he refused or wilfully neglected to deliver or give satisfaction respecting the same as aforesaid, then and in every such case such collector shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit for such offence any sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and in default of payment thereof shall be committed to the Common Gaol or House of Correction for the county, city, or place where such offender shall be or reside, there to be kept to hard labour for a period not exceeding four calendar months, or until he shall have given a true and a perfect account as aforesaid, and delivered such list as aforesaid, and delivered up such books, papers, and writings, or given satisfaction in respect thereof to the said surveyor: Provided always, that no conviction or imprisonment of such collector as aforesaid shall exonerate or discharge any security taken from him on his appointment as aforesaid ⁽³⁾.

39. And be it further enacted, that the surveyor in every parish shall keep separate and distinct accounts of the moneys levied for the highway rate; and such accounts shall specify the different sums and the times when and the persons to whom and by whom the same shall have been collected and paid ⁽³⁾.

40. And be it further enacted, that the said surveyor, district surveyor, or assistant surveyor ⁽⁴⁾, as the case may be, shall and he is hereby required from time to time to keep a book, in which shall be entered a just and true and particular account of all money which shall have come to his hands as surveyor, district surveyor, or assistant surveyor of the parish for the purposes of this Act, and to whom, and on what occasion, and for what work, and in what place, and on what day he shall have paid or applied the same, and also an account of all

49. And be it further enacted, that it shall be in the power of tenants for life, ecclesiastical and lay corporations, and the proprietors of entailed estates, and of the trustees and guardians of any person under any legal disability or incapacity, to give up and renounce every claim of damage or compensation for such ground and materials as any highway may occupy on their respective properties, and that such renunciation shall be equally binding on the heirs and successors of such persons: Provided nevertheless, that such renunciation of claim of damage or compensation be in writing, and signed by such tenant for life, proprietor, trustee, or guardian, in the presence of two witnesses, or in the case of corporations in such manner and form as is usually adopted by such corporations respectively; and such renunciation shall be enrolled at the quarter sessions which shall be held next after the signing or execution thereof. Tenant for life, &c., may renounce damages.

50. And be it further enacted, that when any lands or tenements have been or shall be given for maintenance of highways, the profits and proceeds of which are to be applied and disposed of for no other use, intent, or purpose whatsoever, all persons who are or shall be enfeoffed or trusted with any such lands or tenements shall, and they are hereby authorised and required to let them to farm at the most improved yearly value, without fine, for any term not exceeding ninety-nine years: Provided nevertheless, that previous to the granting of such lease the consent of the justices at a special sessions ⁽²⁾ for the highways, neither of such justices being interested therein, by writing under their hands, shall be obtained as to the amount of rent to be received and the duration of the term ⁽³⁾. Persons enfeoffed with lands for maintenance of highways, &c., shall let them to farm at the most improved value, with consent of justices.

51. And be it further enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for every such surveyor in any waste land or common ground, river, or brook, within the parish for which he shall be surveyor, or within any other parish wherein gravel, sand, stone, or other materials are respectively likely to be found (in case sufficient cannot be conveniently had within the parish where the same are to be employed, and sufficient shall be left for the use of the roads in such other parish), to search for, dig, get, and carry away the same ⁽⁴⁾, so that the said surveyor doth not thereby, divert or interrupt the course of such river or brook, or prejudice or damage any building, highway, or ford, nor dig or get the same out of any river or brook within the distance of one hundred and fifty feet above or below any bridge, nor within the like distance of any dam or weir; and likewise to gather stones lying upon any lands or grounds within the parish where such highway shall be, for such service and purpose, and to take and carry away so much of the said materials as by the discretion of the said surveyor shall be thought necessary to be employed in the amendment of the said highways, without making any satisfaction for the said materials, but satisfaction shall be made for all damages done to the lands or grounds of any person or persons by carrying away the same, in the manner hereinafter directed for getting and carrying materials in inclosed lands or grounds ⁽⁵⁾; but no such stones shall be gathered without the consent of the owner of such lands or grounds, or a licence ⁽⁶⁾ for that purpose from two justices at a Materials where and in what manner to be taken by surveyors.

Power to gather stones without making satisfaction, but satisfaction to be made for damages done by carrying them away.

⁽¹⁾ By 8 & 9 Vict. c. 71, s. 1, the provisions of this section are extended to all lands belonging to parishes, or to surveyors of highways, for the purpose of obtaining materials for repair of highways which had been, or should thereafter be used for that purpose as soon as the material shall have been exhausted.

And be it further enacted, that it shall be lawful for every such surveyor, for the use aforesaid, by licence in writing ⁽¹⁾ from the justices at a special sessions ⁽²⁾ for the highways, to search for, dig, and get materials, if sufficient cannot be had conveniently within such waste lands, common grounds, rivers, or brooks, in or through any of the several or inclosed lands or grounds of any person whomsoever ⁽³⁾ (such lands or grounds not being a garden ⁽⁴⁾, yard, avenue to a house, lawn, park, paddock, or inclosed plantation, or inclosed wood not exceeding one hundred acres in extent ⁽⁵⁾), within the parish where the same shall be wanted, or within any other parish adjoining or lying near to the highway for which such materials shall be required, if it shall appear to such justices that sufficient materials cannot be conveniently had in the parish where such highways lie, or in the waste land, or common grounds, rivers, or brooks of such adjacent parish, and that a sufficient quantity of materials will be left for the use of the parish where the same shall be, and to take and carry away so much of the said materials as by the discretion of the said surveyor shall be thought necessary to be employed in the amendment of the said highways, the said surveyor making such satisfaction for the materials which may be got or taken away, and also for the damage done to such lands or grounds by the getting and carrying away the same, as shall be settled and ascertained by order of the justices at a special sessions for the highways ⁽⁶⁾.

55. And be it further enacted, that if any surveyor or person employed by him shall, by reason of the searching for, digging, or getting any materials for repairing any highways, make any pit or hole in lands, common grounds, rivers, or brooks as aforesaid wherein such materials shall be found, he shall forthwith cause the same to be sufficiently fenced off, and such fence supported and repaired during such time as the said pit or hole shall continue open, and within three days after such pit or hole shall be opened or made, where no materials shall be found, cause the same to be forthwith filled up, levelled, and covered with the turf or clod which was dug out of the same, and where any such materials shall be found, within fourteen days after having dug up sufficient materials in such pit or hole, cause the same to be filled up or sloped down and fenced off, if required by the owner of the land or ground, and so continued; and every surveyor shall, within twenty-one days after he shall have been appointed to that office, cause all the said pits and holes which shall then be open and not likely to be further useful to be filled up or sloped down in manner aforesaid, and if they are likely to be further useful he shall secure the same by posts and rails or other fences to prevent accidents to persons or cattle; and in case such surveyor or person shall neglect to fill up, slope down, or fence off such pit or hole in manner and within the time aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of ten shillings for every such default; and in case such surveyor or person shall neglect to fence off such pit or hole, or to slope down the same, as hereinbefore directed, for the space of six days after he shall have received notice for either of those purposes from any justice of the peace, or from the owner or occupier of such several ground, river, or brook, or any person having

If sufficient materials cannot be found in waste lands, &c., surveyor may take them from the several or inclosed lands or grounds, making satisfaction to the owners.

If surveyor shall make pits or holes in getting materials, he shall cause them to be filled up or sloped down and fenced off; and in like manner all those already made.

Penalty on surveyor allowing any heap of stone, &c., to remain on highway at night.

Surveyor damaging mills, dams, &c., by digging materials to forfeit not exceeding £5.

Where a highway lies in two parishes, the justices to determine what parts shall be repaired by each.

56. And be it further enacted, that if any surveyor or district surveyor shall lay or cause to be laid any heap of stone or any other matter or thing whatsoever upon any highway, and allow the same to remain there at night to the danger or personal damage of any person passing thereon, all due and reasonable precaution not having been taken by the said surveyor to guard against the same, he shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds ⁽³⁾.

57. And be it further enacted, that if any surveyor shall dig or cause to be dug materials for the highways, whereby any bridge, mill, building, dam, highway, occupation road, ford, mines, or tin works, or other work may be damaged or endangered, he shall forfeit for every such offence, on conviction, any sum not exceeding five pounds, at the discretion of the justices before whom the complaint thereof shall be made, notwithstanding his liability to any civil action to which he may make himself liable by such act ⁽⁴⁾.

58. And whereas it frequently happens that the boundaries of parishes pass across or through the middle of a common highway, and one side of such highway is situated in one parish and the other side in another parish, whereby great inconveniences often arise in repairing the same: Be it enacted, that the justices at a special sessions ⁽¹⁾ for the highways, on complaint ⁽⁵⁾ of any surveyor of any parish (stating in writing, and on a plan thereunto annexed, that there is such a highway one side whereof ought to be repaired by one parish and the other side by another, and particularly describing the same by metes, bounds, and admeasurement thereof), may issue their summons ⁽⁶⁾, with a copy of such writing and plan thereunto annexed, to the surveyor of such other parish, to appear before them on a day mentioned in such summons; and if the parties appear such justices may then proceed finally to decide the matter, in manner herein mentioned in case all the parties shall consent thereto; but in case the surveyor summoned shall not appear on such first summons, or appearing shall require further time, such justices shall adjourn the further consideration of the matter for any further time, not more than twenty-one days nor less than fourteen days from the date of such adjournment, of which the surveyor not appearing, or appearing shall require further time, shall have notice, on which day the said justices shall proceed to hear the parties and their witnesses, and, whether the party summoned does or does not appear, shall proceed to examine and finally determine the matter in form following; (that is to say) that it shall and may be lawful for such justices and they are hereby required to divide the whole of such common highway, by a transverse line crossing such highway, into equal parts, or into such unequal parts and proportions as, in consideration of the soil, waters, floods, and inequality of such highway, or any other circumstances attending the same, they in their discretion shall think just and right, and to declare, adjudge, and order that the whole of such highway on both sides thereof in any of such parts shall be maintained and repaired by one of such parishes, and that the whole thereof on both sides in the other of such parts shall be maintained and repaired by the other of such parishes, and shall cause such their order ⁽¹⁾, and a plan of such highway, and the allotment thereof, as before mentioned, to be fairly delineated on paper or parchment, and filed with the clerk of the peace of the county in which such highway shall happen to lie, and shall also cause such posts, stones, or other boundaries to be placed and set up in such highway as in their judgment shall be necessary for ascertaining the division and allotment thereof: Provided nevertheless, that in the case of any such last-mentioned highway the repair of any part of which belongs to any body politic or corporate, or to any person by the reason of tenure of any lands or otherwise howsoever, the same proceedings may be adopted, but the said body politic or corporate, or person, or some one on their behalf, may appear before such justices, and object to such last-mentioned proceedings, in which case the said justices shall, before they divide such highway as aforesaid, hear and consider the objection so made, and determine the same ⁽²⁾.

Parishes, &c., bound to repair the part so allotted.

59. And be it further enacted, that from and after such order and plan shall be so filed with the clerk of the peace as aforesaid such parishes and body politic or corporate, or person aforesaid respectively, shall be bound as of common right to maintain and keep in repair such parts of such highways so allotted to them as aforesaid, and shall be liable to be proceeded against for neglect of such duty, and shall in all respects whatsoever be liable and subject to all the provisions, regulations, and penalties contained in this Act, and also shall be discharged from the repair of such part of such highway as shall not be included in their respective allotment ⁽³⁾.

How costs of proceeding shall be defrayed, &c.

60. And be it further enacted, that all costs, charges, and expenses to be incurred by reason of any of the proceedings last mentioned shall be borne and defrayed by such two parishes or body politic or corporate, or person aforesaid, the same being settled and ascertained and duly apportioned between such parishes by such justices; and in case the said parties shall refuse or neglect to pay and discharge their respective share of such costs and expenses, it shall and may be lawful for the justices at a special sessions for the highways ⁽⁴⁾ to levy the same by distress and sale, with costs of such distress, on the goods and chattels of any surveyor of

(1) See the Form in the Schedule to this Act, Form No. 14, post. It should seem that a material variance between the order made and the one filed with the clerk of the peace would be fatal to the whole proceeding: R. v. Washbrook, 7 D. & R. 221, 4 B. & C. 732.

(2) In order to give the justices jurisdiction under this section, the existence of a boundary on the highway to be divided is a condition precedent, and such question appears to be one of fact to be decided by the justices: R. v. Perkins, 14 Q. B. 229, 19 L. J. M. C. 105, 14 Jur. 362.

As to the effect of the Order, see R. v. Inhabitants of Hickling, 7 Q. B. 880, 14 L. J. M. C. 177.

The existence of a boundary is necessary in a case under the proviso, as well as the enacting part, and the proviso only applies to persons liable to repair ratione tenuræ, or under a liability eiusdem generis: R. v. Perkins, supra.

Boundary of counties, &c., not to be changed, except for the purpose aforesaid.

Highway repaired by party ratione tenuræ, &c., may be made a parish highway.

61. And be it further enacted, that nothing herein contained shall extend or be construed to extend to affect, change, or alter in any manner whatsoever any boundaries of counties, lordships, hundreds, manors, or any other division of public or private property, nor the boundaries of any parishes or townships, otherwise than for the purpose of amending and keeping in repair such particular portion of the highway in the manner herein mentioned ⁽²⁾.

62. And be it further enacted, that any body politic or corporate, or any person, liable to repair any highway by reason of tenure of any lands or otherwise howsoever ⁽³⁾, or the surveyor of the parish in which the said highway is situate, may, if he or either party shall think proper, having first obtained the consent of the inhabitants in vestry assembled ⁽⁴⁾, apply to any justice for the purpose of making the said highway a parish highway, and to be repaired by the surveyor of the said parish; and the said justice is hereby authorised and required to issue his summons, requiring the said surveyor, or the party so liable to repair the said highway as aforesaid, to appear before the justices at the next special sessions ⁽⁵⁾ for the highways, and if both parties appear, such justices may then proceed to determine the matter; but in case the surveyor or party summoned shall not appear on such first summons, or appearing shall require further time, such justices shall adjourn the further consideration of the matter to the next special sessions for the highways, of which the said surveyor or party not appearing shall have notice, on which day the justices so assembled at such special sessions shall proceed to hear the parties and their witnesses, and whether the surveyor or party summoned do or do not appear, shall proceed to examine and determine the matter; and in case they decide that the said highway shall become a parish highway, and be thereafter repaired by the surveyor of the said parish, they shall, by an order under their hands, fix the proportion of the expenses of repairing the said highway to be annually paid by such body politic or corporate or person as aforesaid to the surveyor of the said parish; and the order of the said justices shall be binding on the surveyor and the said parish and the said body politic or corporate or person as aforesaid, their heirs, successors, and assigns: Provided nevertheless, that the said justices, instead of fixing the proportion of the expenses of repairing the said highway to be annually paid as aforesaid, may, by an order under their hands, fix a certain sum to be paid by such body politic or corporate or person as aforesaid to the surveyor of the said parish, in full discharge of all claims thereafter in respect of the repairs of such highway; and in default of payment of such last-mentioned sum, or of such annual sum as aforesaid, the said surveyor may proceed for the recovery thereof in the same manner as any penalties and forfeitures are recoverable under this Act: Provided always, that when the sum so fixed to be paid in full discharge of all claims thereafter in respect of the repair of such highways shall exceed the sum of one hundred pounds, the said sum when received shall be vested, in the name of the minister, churchwardens, and surveyors of the highways of the parish within which such highway shall be situate, in some public government securities, and the interest and dividends from time to time arising or accruing therefrom shall be applied towards the repairs of the highways within the said parish; Provided also, that when the sum so fixed to be paid in full discharge of all claims as aforesaid shall not exceed the sum of one hundred pounds, the said last-mentioned sum, or any part thereof, on the application by and with the consent of the inhabitants of the parish in vestry assembled, and of the justices in special sessions assembled, shall and may be paid to the surveyor of the said parish, to be applied towards the repair of the highways within the said parish ⁽⁶⁾.

63. And be it further enacted, that where in this Act any matter or thing is directed or forbidden to be done within a certain distance of the centre of the highway ⁽¹⁾, that portion of ground shall be deemed and taken to be the highway which has been maintained by the surveyor as highway ⁽²⁾, and repaired with stones or other materials used in forming highways for the six months immediately preceding, and the centre of the highway shall be the middle of such highway, where, a line being drawn along the highway or a point marked, an equal number of feet of highway which have been so maintained and repaired as aforesaid for twelve months before shall be found on each side of such line or mark.

Secs. 63-65.

What shall be deemed the centre of the highway.

64. And be it further enacted, that no tree, bush, or shrub, shall hereafter be planted on any carriageway or cartway, or within the distance of fifteen feet from the centre thereof ⁽³⁾, but the same shall respectively be cut down, grubbed up, and carried away by the owner or occupier of the land or soil within twenty-one days after notice to him or his agent by the surveyor, on pain of forfeiting for every neglect the sum of ten shillings ⁽⁴⁾.

No tree, &c., allowed to be planted within 15 feet of the centre of the carriageway.

65. And be it further enacted, that if the surveyor shall think that any carriageway or cartway is prejudiced by the shade of any hedges, or by any trees (except those trees planted for ornament or for shelter to any hop ground, house, building, or court yard of the owner thereof ⁽⁵⁾), growing in or near such hedges or other fences, and that the sun and wind are excluded from such highway, to the damage thereof, or if any obstruction is caused in any carriageway or cartway by any hedge or tree, it shall be lawful for any one justice of the peace, on the application of the said surveyor, to summon the owner ⁽⁶⁾ of the land on which such hedges or trees are growing next adjoining to such carriageway or cartway to appear before the justices at a special sessions ⁽⁷⁾ for the highways, to show cause why the said hedges are not cut, pruned, or plashed, or such trees not pruned or lopped, in such manner that the carriageway or cartway shall not be prejudiced by the shade thereof, and that the sun and wind may not be excluded from such carriageway or cartway to the damage thereof, or why the obstruction caused in such carriageway or cartway should not be removed; and the question as to the cutting, pruning, or plashing such hedges, or the pruning and lopping such trees, or the removal of such obstruction as aforesaid, shall, upon proof of the service of such summons, and whether the said owner attend or not, be determined at the discretion of such last-mentioned justices; and if such justices shall order and direct that such hedges shall be cut, pruned, or plashed, or such trees pruned or lopped, in manner aforesaid, or such obstruction removed, the said owner shall comply therewith within ten days after a copy of such order shall have been left at the usual place of abode of the said owner, or of his steward or agent, and in default thereof shall forfeit, on conviction, a sum not exceeding forty shillings; and the said surveyor, if the order of the said justices is not complied with, shall, and he is hereby Surveyor to make and keep open ditches, &c., and to lay trunks, &c., through lands adjoining highway, paying for damage, if any, incurred.

67. And be it further enacted, that the said surveyor ⁽²⁾, district surveyor ⁽³⁾; or assistant surveyor shall have power to make, scour, cleanse, and keep open all ditches, gutters, drains, or watercourses ⁽⁴⁾, and also to make and lay such trunks, tunnels, plats, or bridges as he shall deem necessary, in and through any lands or grounds adjoining or lying near to any highway ⁽⁵⁾, upon paying the owner or occupier of such lands or grounds, provided they are not waste or common, for the damages which he shall sustain thereby, to be settled and paid in such manner as the damages for getting materials in inclosed lands or grounds are herein directed to be settled and paid ⁽⁶⁾.

An opinion was given in 1865, by the law officers of the Crown, to the effect that at common law a duty exists on the part of the owner of lands adjoining a highway to cleanse and scour his own ditches to such an extent as to prevent nuisances and obstructions to passengers, but that this duty can only be enforced by indictment; further, that the effect of the sections of this Act, and 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, post, is to empower, but not compel, the highway board to cleanse ditches in a more effectual manner than landowners could be compelled to cleanse them; and that if the materials taken out are claimed by the landowner he is entitled thereto. In order, however, to avoid disputes, the law officers think it would be prudent to give the adjoining occupiers notice to cleanse the ditches, and only to resort to the powers of the Act in the event of their not complying with the notice. See "Justice of the Peace," vol. xxix, p. 319.

A surveyor bonâ fide interfering with an obstruction caused by an adjoining landowner to a highway, and thereby injuring the property of the landowner, cannot be convicted of an offence under the Malicious Injury to Property Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 97, s. 52: *Denny v. But taking up a pavement and digging trenches in the roadway and footway of a public thoroughfare in order to lay down pipes for supply of gas from mains to private houses are not acts which can be justified at common law as done in the exercise of the right of every occupier of a house to make such temporary obstruction of the highway as may be necessarily incidental to the enjoyment of his property, and the householder and the persons doing the works without parliamentary powers may be indicted: R. v.

A person encroaching on a highway is still liable to be indicted for a nuisance at common law, though the encroachment be more than fifteen feet from the centre of the road, if the part encroached on be in fact highway, which is a question for the jury: R. v. Johnson, 1 F. & F. 657; R. v. Gregory, and Chapman v. Robinson, ante, p. 799. And no length of time will legitimate a nuisance: R. v. Cross, 3 Camp. 224, at p. 226. But the encroachment must be an appreciable one: R. v. Leprue, 15 L. T. N. S. 158, 30 J. P. 723.

⁽¹⁾ The information must be laid within six months from the time when the encroachment was first made. See 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11. But an indictment will lie at any time: R. v. Cross, supra.

But the owner unless he is present or cognisant of the fact of its being so set up within the prohibited distance of the highway, cannot be convicted under the statute: Harrison v. Leaper, 5 L. T. (3) Repealed by the Statute Law Revision Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 35.

Now by 2 & 3 Vict. c. 45 (An Act to amend the Act 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50), after reciting sections 71 and 113 of this Act, it is enacted that—

Section 1. "Wherever a railroad crosses, or shall hereafter cross, any turnpike road, or any highway, or statute labour road for carts or carriages in Great Britain, the proprietors or directors of the company of proprietors of the said railroad, shall make and maintain good and sufficient gates across each end of such turnpike or other road as aforesaid, at each of the said crossings, and shall employ good and proper persons to open and shut such gates, so that the persons, carts, or carriages passing along such turnpike or highway shall not be exposed to any danger or damage by the passing of any carriages or engines along the said railroad, and any complaint for any neglect in respect of the said gates shall be made within one calendar month after the said neglect to any justice of the peace, or if in Scotland to the sheriff of the county, who may summon the party so complained against to appear before them or him at the next Petty Sessions or Court to be holden for the district or division within which such gates are situate, who shall hear and decide upon the said complaint, and the proprietor or director so offending shall for each and every day of such neglect forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds, together with such costs as to the justices or sheriff depute aforesaid, before whom the conviction shall take place, shall seem fit."

Section 2. "And be it further enacted, that the penalties by this Act imposed, and the costs to be allowed and ordered by the authority of this Act shall in England be recovered and applied in the same manner as any penalties and costs under the said Act, i.e., this Act, 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, and in Scotland shall be recovered and applied to the maintenance of the statute labour roads within the district where the offence is committed."

Section 72.

Penalty on persons committing nuisances by riding on footpaths, &c.;

72. And be it further enacted, that if any person shall wilfully ⁽¹⁾ ride upon any footpath or causeway ⁽²⁾ by the side of any road made or set apart for the use

As to recovery of penalties and forfeitures under this Act, see sections 101, 103, post.

Further, the Regulation of Railways Act, 1842, 5 & 6 Vict. c. 55, s. 9 (after reciting 2 & 3 Vict. c. 45, supra), proceeds as follows: "And whereas by the Acts relating to certain railways it is provided that such gates shall be kept constantly closed across the railways, except during the time when carriages or engines passing along the railway shall have to cross such turnpike or other road, and whereas experience has shown that it is more conducive to safety that such gates should be kept closed across the turnpike or other road, instead of across the railway, be it therefore enacted, that notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any Act of Parliament heretofore passed, such gates shall be kept constantly closed across each end of such turnpike or other roads in lieu of across the railway, except during the time when horses, cattle, carts, or carriages passing along such turnpike or other road shall have to cross such railway, and such gates shall be of such dimensions, and so constructed, as when closed across the ends of such turnpike or other roads to fence in the railway and prevent cattle or horses passing along the road from entering upon the railway while the gates are closed. Provided always that it shall be lawful for the lords of the said committee in any case in which they are satisfied that it will be more conducive for the public safety that the gates at any level crossing over any such turnpike or other road should be kept closed across the railway, to order and direct that such gates shall be kept so closed instead of across the road, and such order of the lords of the said committee shall be a sufficient authority for the directors or proprietors of any railway company to whom such order is addressed for keeping such gates closed in the manner directed by the lords of the said committee."

Section 13. "And whereas in many cases railways have been made to cross turnpike roads, highways, and private roads and tramways on the level, and the companies to whom such railways belong, would in some cases be willing, at their own expense, to carry such roads and tramways over or under such railways, by means of a bridge or archway, for the greater safety of the public, but have no authority so to do. And whereas it would promote the public safety if railway companies were enabled under the sanction and authority of the lords of the said committee to substitute bridges or archways for such level crossings as aforesaid, be it therefore enacted, That in all cases where any railway company shall be willing at their own expense to carry any turnpike road, highway, or private road or tramway, over or under their railway by means of a bridge or arch in lieu of crossing the same on the level, it shall be lawful for the lords of the said committee on the application of the said company, and after hearing the several parties interested, if it shall appear to the lords of the said committee that such level crossing endangers the public safety and that the proposal of the company does not involve any violation of existing rights or interests without adequate compensation, to give the said company full power and authority for removing the danger at their own expense, either by building a bridge, or by such other arrangement as the nature of the case shall require subject to such condition as the lords of the said committee shall direct."

See, further, the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, 8 Vict. c. 20, ss. 46, 47, and 61—67, post, and the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1863, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 92, ss. 5—8, post.

The above enactments do not apply to a private railway on private property made and used exclusively for the proprietor's own purposes, and not for passenger traffic: Matson v. Baird, L. R. 3 App. Cas. 1082, 39 L. T. N. S. 304, 26 W. R. 835, 43 J. P. 90.

A railway company is bound under 5 & 6 Vict. c. 55, s. 9, supra, to keep the gates at level crossings closed against all persons or cattle upon the highway, whether lawfully there or not, and they are liable to an action for any injury arising from the breach of duty: Fawcett v. York and N. Midland Ry., 16 Q. B. 610, 20 L. J. Q. B. 222, 15 Jur. 173.

(5) A footway across a field may be a highway within the meaning of this enactment: Brackenborough v. Thorsby, 19 L. T. N. S. 692, 33 J. P. 565. But a way may be dedicated to and accepted by the public, subject to the inconvenience of being occasionally ploughed up, &c.: Mercer v. Woodgate, 39 L. J. M. C. 21, 21 L. T. N. S. 458. See Harrison v. Danby, 34 J. P. 759, and Vestry of St. Mary, Newington v. Jacobs, ante, p. 759.

It seems that the jurisdiction of the magistrate is not barred merely by a claim of right to do the act complained of: Ex parte Whitaker, 23 J. P. 84. The remedy for a person dissatisfied with the decision of the justices is not certiorari, but by requiring the justices to state a case: Ib.

In Hackins v. Robinson, 37 J. P. 662, the manager of a gas company, not established by statute, was held liable under this enactment for causing injury and damage to a highway by taking up the street to lay pipes, although the company had obtained the consent of the local board: But see Edgware Highway Board v. Harrow District Gas Co., ante, p. 767.

By the Malicious Injuries to Property Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 97, it is provided as follows:—

Section 25. "Whosoever shall unlawfully and maliciously cut, break, throw down, or in anywise destroy any fence of any description whatsoever, or any wall, stile, or gate, or any part thereof respectively, shall, on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace for the first offence, forfeit and pay over and above the amount of the injury done such sum of money not exceeding £5, as to the justices shall seem meet; and whosoever having been convicted of any such offence either against this or any former Act of Parliament, shall afterwards commit any of the said offences in this section before-mentioned, and shall be convicted thereof in like manner, shall be committed to the common gaol or house of correction, there to be kept to hard labour for such term not exceeding twelve months, as the convicting justice shall think fit."

Section 33. "Whosoever shall unlawfully and maliciously pull or throw down, or in anywise destroy any bridge (whether over any stream of water or not), or any viaduct or aqueduct, over or under which bridge, viaduct, or aqueduct any highway, railway, or canal shall pass or do any injury with intent, and so as thereby to render such bridge, viaduct, or aqueduct, or the highway, railway, or canal passing over or under the same, or any part thereof dangerous or impassable, shall be guilty of felony, and, being convicted thereof, shall be liable, at the discretion of the court, to be kept in penal servitude for life, or for any term not less than three years [now five years, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 47, s. 2], or to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding two years, with or without hard labour, and with or without solitary confinement, and if a male under the age of sixteen years, with or without whipping."

Section 34. "Whosoever shall unlawfully and maliciously throw down, level, or otherwise destroy in whole or in part any turnpike gate or toll-bar, or any wall, chain, rail,

Section 72. wilfully obstruct the passage of any footway ⁽¹⁾, or wilfully destroy or injure the surface of any highway; or shall wilfully or wantonly pull up, cut down, remove, or damage the posts, blocks, or stones fixed by the said surveyor as herein directed ⁽²⁾; or dig or cut down the banks which are the securities and defence of the said highways ⁽³⁾; or break, damage, or throw down the stones, bricks, or wood fixed upon the parapets or battlements of bridges, or otherwise injure or post, bar, or other fence belonging to any turnpike gate or toll-bar, or set up or erected to prevent passengers passing by without paying any toll directed to be paid by any Act of Parliament relating thereto, or any house, building, or weighing engine erected for the better collection, ascertainment, or security of any such toll, shall be guilty of a misdemeanour."

Section 51. "Whosoever shall unlawfully and maliciously commit any damage, injury, or spoil to or upon any real or personal property whatsoever, either of a public or private nature, for which no punishment is hereinbefore provided, the damage, injury, or spoil being to an amount exceeding £5, shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, and, being convicted thereof, shall be liable, at the discretion of the court, to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding two years, with or without hard labour; and in case any such offence shall be committed between the hours of nine of the clock in the evening and six of the clock in the next morning, shall be liable, at the discretion of the court, to be kept in penal servitude for any term not exceeding five years [now five years, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 47, s. 2] and not less than three, or be imprisoned for any term not exceeding two years, with or without hard labour."

Section 52. "Whosoever shall wilfully or maliciously commit any damage, injury, or spoil to or upon any real or personal property whatsoever, either of a public or private nature, for which no punishment is hereinbefore provided, shall, on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace at the discretion of the justice, either be committed to the common gaol or house of correction, there to be imprisoned only or to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour for any term not exceeding two months, or else shall forfeit and pay such sum of money not exceeding £5, as to the justice shall seem meet, and also such further sum of money as shall appear to the justice to be a reasonable compensation for the damage, injury, or spoil so committed not exceeding the sum of £5, which last-mentioned sum of money shall, in the case of private property, be paid to the party aggrieved, and in the case of property of a public nature, or wherein any public right is concerned, the money shall be applied in the same manner as every penalty imposed by a justice of the peace under this Act, and if such sum of money, together with costs (if ordered), shall not be paid either immediately after the conviction or within such period as the justice shall, at the time of the conviction, appoint, the justice may commit the offender to the common gaol or house of correction, there to be imprisoned only or to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour, as the justice shall think fit, for any term not exceeding two months, unless such sums and costs be sooner paid: Provided that nothing herein contained shall extend to any case where the party acted under a fair and reasonable supposition that he had a right to do the act complained of, nor to any trespass not being wilful and malicious committed in hunting, fishing, or in the pursuit of game, but that every such trespass shall be punishable in the same manner as if this Act had not been passed."

Section 53. "The provisions in the last preceding section contained shall extend to any person who shall wilfully or maliciously commit any injury to any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, for which no punishment is hereinbefore provided."

In R. v. Towgood, 35 J. P. 791, where defendant removed the top rail of a fence and on being summoned under section 52, supra, claimed the right to destroy the top rail, and that the whole fence was illegal, and called evidence in support of both points, it was held that the magistrate could not rightly convict as the claim was made bonâ fide. As to removing matters laid on or near a highway, see section 73, post.

⁽⁷⁾ In Walker v. Horner, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 4, 45 L. J. M. C. 34, 33 L. T. N. S. 601, 24 W. R. 95, 39 J. P. 773, it was held by Mellor and Quain, J.J. (Cockburn, C.J., dissenting), that the defendant in suffering trees on his land to grow over and across a way so as to be an obstruction, did not "wilfully obstruct" the way within this enactment. But it has been held that it is not necessary that there should be any act of commission, and that an offence may be complete on the part of a person whose duty it is to remove an obstruction to do so after notice: Gully v. Smith, L. R. 12 Q. B. D. 121, 53 L. J. M. C. 35, 48 J. P. 309 (where Walker v. Horner is distinguished).

It is not a "wilful obstruction" to undo the unauthorised and unjustifiable acts of a surveyor which interferes with the rights of the owner: Sutcliffe v. Sowerby, 1 L. T. N. S. 7. See further Smith v. Barnham, 34 L. T. N. S. 774.

The enactment only applies to filth and "offensive matters" of that sort, and does not extend to suffering rain water to flow on to the highway: Croasdill v. Ratcliffe, 5 L. T. N. S. 834, 26 J. P. 165.

Secs. 72-75. shall for each and every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings, over and above the damages occasioned thereby ⁽¹⁾.

Matters laid on or near highway, so as to be a nuisance, to be removed on notice; or on failure, surveyor to dispose of the same by order of a justice.

73. And be it further enacted, that if any timber, stone, hay, straw, dung, manure, lime, soil, ashes, rubbish, or other matter or thing whatsoever shall be laid upon any highway so as to be a nuisance, and shall not, after notice given by the surveyor ⁽²⁾, assistant surveyor, or district surveyor, be forthwith removed, it shall and may be lawful for the surveyor, assistant surveyor, or district surveyor, by order in writing from any one justice, to clear the said highway by removing the said stone, hay, straw, dung, manure, soil, ashes, rubbish, or other matter or thing as aforesaid, and to dispose of the same and to apply the proceeds arising therefrom towards the repairs of the highway within the parish in which such highway may be situated ⁽³⁾: Provided nevertheless, that if any soil, ashes, or rubbish shall be laid on any highway, and such soil, ashes, or rubbish shall not be of sufficient value to defray the expense of removing them, the person who laid or deposited such soil, ashes, or rubbish shall repay to the said surveyor, assistant surveyor, or district surveyor the money which he shall have necessarily expended for the removal thereof, which money, in case the same shall not be forthwith repaid, shall be levied as forfeitures are herein directed to be levied ⁽¹⁾.

Punishing persons guilty of pound-breach.

75. And be it further enacted, that in case any person shall release or attempt to release any horse, ass, sheep, swine, or other beast or cattle which shall be seized for the purpose of being impounded under the authority of this Act, from the pound or place where the same shall be so impounded, or in the way to or from any such pound or place, or shall pull down, damage, or destroy the same pound or place, or any part thereof, or any lock or bolt belonging thereto or with which the same shall be fastened, or shall rescue or release, or attempt to rescue or release, any distress or levy which shall be made under the authority of this Act, until or before such horse, ass, sheep, swine, or other beast or cattle seized or so impounded, or such distress or levy so made, shall be discharged by due course of law, every person so offending shall, upon conviction thereof before any two of His Majesty's justices of the peace, either upon confession of the party or parties offending or upon oath of one credible witness, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds, at

Upon an application to justices for an order under this section, they have jurisdiction to try whether the locus in quo is a highway or only an occupation road: Williams v. Adams, 2 B. & S. 312, 31 L. J. M. C. 109, 5 L. T. N. S. 790, 8 Jur. N. S. 816, 26 J. P. 180. And the order is as against the person whose property is ordered to be removed conclusive that the locus in quo is a highway: Mould v. Williams, 5 Q. B. 469, D. & M. 631; Aldridge v. Haines, 2 B. & Ad. 395.

Where justices direct a surveyor of highways to remove a nuisance from a highway or to fence a dangerous pit, if he neglects to do so, they are not justified in convicting him under this section or section 20, ante, of wilfully neglecting his duty in not removing, &c.: *Morgan v. the discretion of the said justices, and in default thereof be committed by such justices by warrant under their hands and seals, to the house of correction of the county wherein the said offence shall have been committed, there to be kept to hard labour for any time at the discretion of the justices, not exceeding three calendar months ⁽¹⁾.

76. And be it further enacted, that the owner of every waggon, cart, or other such carriage ⁽²⁾ shall paint or cause to be painted in one or more straight line or lines, upon some conspicuous part of the right or off-side of his waggon, cart, or other such carriage, or upon the off-side shafts thereof, before the same shall be used on any highway, his Christian name and surname, or the style and title by which he is commonly designated, and the place of his trade or abode, or the Christian and surname and place of trade or abode of a partner or owner thereof, at full length, in large legible letters in white upon black, or black upon white, not less than one inch in height, and continue the same thereupon so long as such waggon, cart, or other such carriage shall be used upon any highway; and every owner of any waggon, cart, or other such carriage who shall use or allow the same to be used on any highway without the name and descriptions painted thereon as aforesaid, or who shall suffer the same to become illegible, or who shall paint or cause to be painted any false or fictitious name or place of trade or abode on such waggon or cart or other such carriage, shall forfeit and pay, on conviction, for every such offence, a sum not exceeding forty shillings, with or without costs, as to the justices before whom the conviction shall take place shall think fit ⁽³⁾.

Names of owners to be painted on all waggons, &c., in the manner herein mentioned.

77. And be it further enacted, that no person shall act as the driver of more than two carts, waggons, or other such carriages on any highway: Provided always, that it shall and may be lawful for any one person to act as the driver of two carts, waggons, or other such carriages, on any highway, and for such carts to pass and travel on any highway, being only under the care and superintendence of such single person: Provided always, that such carts, waggons, or other carriages, when under the care of only one person, shall not be drawn by more than one horse each, and the horse of the hinder cart, waggon, or other carriage shall be attached by a rein in length not exceeding four feet to the back of the cart, waggon, or other carriage which shall be foremost ⁽⁴⁾; and in case the said horse shall not be so attached the driver of the said carts, waggons, or other carriages shall forfeit, on conviction, the sum of twenty shillings, to be recovered as other penalties are by this Act to be recovered ⁽⁵⁾.

One driver may take charge of two carts, provided they are drawn only by one horse each.

78. And be it further enacted, that if the driver of any waggon, cart, or other carriage of any kind ⁽⁶⁾ shall ride upon any such carriage, or upon any horse or horses drawing the same, on any highway, not having some other person on foot or on horseback to guide the same (such carriages and carts as are driven with Drivers of waggons or carts not to ride thereon unless some other person guide them.

Act, with or without any warrant, be apprehended by any person who shall see such offence committed, and shall be conveyed before any justice of the peace, to be dealt with according to law; and if any such driver in any of the cases aforesaid shall refuse to discover his name ⁽¹⁾, it shall and may be lawful for the said justice of the peace before whom he shall be taken, or to whom any such complaint shall be made, to commit him to the common gaol or house of correction, there to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding three months, or to proceed against him for the penalty aforesaid by a description of his person and the offence only, without adding any name or designation, but expressing in the proceedings that he refused to discover his name ⁽²⁾.

Secs. 78–81.

Proceeding if driver will not discover his name.

79. And whereas offences may be committed against this Act by persons whose names are unknown to the surveyor, assistant surveyor, or district surveyor: Be it therefore enacted, that it shall be lawful for the surveyor, assistant surveyor, or district surveyor, or any person acting under his authority, and such other person as he shall call to his assistance, or any other person witnessing the commission of the offence, without any other authority than this Act to seize and detain such unknown person who shall commit any such offence, and take him forthwith before any justice of the peace, who shall proceed and act with respect to such offence according to the provisions of this Act ⁽³⁾.

For securing unknown offenders.

80. And be it further enacted, that the said surveyor shall and he is hereby required to make, support, and maintain, or cause to be made, supported, and maintained, every public cartway leading to any market town twenty feet wide at the least, and every public horseway eight feet wide at the least, and to support and maintain every public footway by the side of any carriageway or cartway three feet at the least, if the ground between the fences including the same will admit thereof ⁽⁴⁾: Provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall require any surveyor to make or form any public footway without the consent of the inhabitants in vestry assembled ⁽⁵⁾.

Cartways to be twenty feet wide, horseways eight feet, and footways three feet.

81. And be it further enacted, that if any gate across any public cartway shall be less than ten feet wide, or any gate across any public horseway shall be less than five feet wide, clear between the posts thereof, then and in every such case, upon notice in writing from the surveyor to the person to whom such gate shall belong, left at the dwelling house of such person or his steward or agent, requiring him to enlarge the same, if such person shall neglect for the space of twenty-one days after such notice shall have been left as aforesaid to remove or enlarge such gate, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten shillings for every day he shall so neglect to remove or to enlarge such gate as aforesaid ⁽⁶⁾.

Section 82.

Justices may order narrow highways to be widened.

Surveyor to agree with owners of lands for recompence, and if they cannot agree the same may be assessed by a jury at the quarter sessions.

82. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that where it shall appear, upon the view of two justices of the peace, that any highway⁽¹⁾ is not of sufficient breadth, and might be widened and enlarged, such justices shall and they are hereby empowered, within their respective divisions, to order⁽²⁾ such highway respectively to be widened and enlarged in such manner as they shall think fit, so that the said highway, when widened and enlarged, shall not exceed thirty feet in breadth, and that neither of the said powers do extend to pull down any house or building, or to take away the ground of any garden, lawn, yard, court, park, paddock, planted walk, plantation, or avenue to any house, or any inclosed ground set apart for building ground or as a nursery for trees⁽³⁾; and for the satisfaction of the person, body politic or corporate, who is seised or possessed of or interested in their own right or in trust for any other person⁽⁴⁾ in the said ground that shall be laid into the said highway respectively so to be widened and enlarged, the said surveyor, under the direction and with the approbation of the said justices in writing, shall and is hereby empowered to make an agreement with him for the recompence to be made for such ground, and for the making such new ditches and fences as shall be necessary, according and in proportion to their several and respective interests therein, and also with any other person, body politic or corporate, that may be injured by the widening and enlarging such highway, for the satisfaction to be made to him respectively as aforesaid, and if the said surveyor, under the direction and with the approbation of the said justices, cannot agree with the said person, body politic or corporate, or if he cannot be found, or shall refuse to treat or take such recompence or satisfaction as shall be offered to them respectively by such surveyor, then the justices of the peace at any general quarter sessions to be holden for the limit wherein such ground shall lie, upon certificate⁽⁵⁾ in writing signed by the justices making such view as aforesaid of their proceedings in the premises, and upon proof of fourteen days' notice⁽⁶⁾ in writing having been given by the surveyor of such parish to the owner, occupier, or other person, body politic or corporate, interested in such ground, or to his guardian, trustee, clerk, or agent, signifying an intention to apply to such quarter sessions, for the purpose of taking such ground, shall impanel a jury of twelve disinterested men out of the persons returned to serve as jurymen at such quarter sessions; and the said jury shall upon their oaths, to the best of their judgment, assess the damages to be given and recompence to be made to the owners and others interested as aforesaid in the said ground for their respective interests, as they shall think reasonable, not exceeding forty years purchase for the clear yearly value of the ground so laid out, and likewise such recompence as they shall think reasonable for the making of new ditches and fences on the side of the said highway that shall be so widened and enlarged, and also satisfaction to any person, body politic or corporate, that may be otherwise injured by the widening and enlarging the said highways respectively ⁽¹⁾; and upon payment or tender of the money so to be awarded and assessed to the person, body politic or corporate, entitled to receive the same, or leaving it in the hands of the clerk of the peace of such limit, in case such person, body politic or corporate, cannot be found or shall refuse to accept the same, for the use of the owner of or others interested in the said ground, the interest of the said person, body politic or corporate, in the said ground shall be for ever divested out of them; and the said ground, after such agreement or verdict as aforesaid, shall be esteemed and taken to be a public highway to all intents and purposes whatsoever; saving nevertheless to the owner of such ground all mines, minerals, and fossils lying under the same which can or may be got without breaking the surface of the said highway ⁽²⁾, and also all timber and wood growing upon such ground to be felled and taken by such owner within one month after such order shall have been made, or in default thereof to be felled by the said surveyor within the respective months aforesaid ⁽³⁾, and laid upon the land adjoining, for the benefit of the said owner; and where there shall not appear sufficient money in the hands of the surveyor for the purpose aforesaid, then the said two justices, in cases of agreement, or the said court of quarter sessions, after such verdict as aforesaid, shall direct the surveyor to make, collect, and levy an equal rate in the same manner as the rate by this Act authorized to be made ⁽⁴⁾, and to pay the money to the person, body politic or corporate, so interested, in such manner as the said justices or court of quarter sessions respectively shall direct and appoint; and the money thereby raised shall be employed and accounted for, according to the order and direction of the said justices or court of quarter sessions respectively, for and towards the purchasing the land to widen and enlarge the said highway, and for making the said ditches and fences, and also satisfaction for the damages sustained thereby; provided that no such rate to be made in any one year shall exceed one third part of the rate by this Act authorized to be levied, in addition to the rate for the repair of the highways ⁽⁵⁾.

On payment of money assessed, ground to be deemed a public highway.

Where there is not money sufficient, a further rate may be made by order of the justices at their quarter sessions, not exceeding one third of rate.

83. And be it further enacted, That in case such jury shall give in and deliver a verdict for more moneys as a recompence for the right, interest, or property of any person, body politic or corporate, in such lands or grounds, or for the making such fence, or for such damage or injury to be sustained by him as aforesaid, than what shall have been proposed and offered by the said surveyor before such application to the said court of quarter sessions as aforesaid, that then and in such case the costs and expenses attending the said several proceedings shall be borne and paid by the surveyor out of the moneys in his hands, or to be assessed and levied by virtue and under the powers of this Act: but if such jury shall give and deliver a verdict for no more or for less moneys than shall have been so offered and proposed by the said surveyor before such application to the said court of quarter sessions, that then the said costs and expenses shall be borne and paid by the person, body politic or corporate, who shall have refused to accept the recompence and satisfaction so offered to him as aforesaid.

84. And be it further enacted, that when the inhabitants in vestry assembled ⁽¹⁾ shall deem it expedient that any highway should be stopped up, diverted, or turned, either entirely or reserving a bridleway or footway ⁽²⁾ along the whole or any part or parts thereof, the chairman of such meeting shall by an order in writing direct the surveyor to apply to two justices to view ⁽³⁾ the same, and shall authorize him to pay all the expenses attending such view, and the stopping up, diverting, or turning such highway, either entirely or subject to such reservation as aforesaid, out of the money received by him for the purposes of this Act: Provided nevertheless, that if any other party shall be desirous of stopping up, diverting, or turning any highway as aforesaid, he shall by a notice in writing require the surveyor to give notice to the churchwardens ⁽⁴⁾ to assemble the inhabitants in vestry, and to submit to them the wish of such person, and if such inhabitants shall agree to the proposal the said surveyor shall apply to the justices as last aforesaid for the purposes aforesaid; and in such case the expenses aforesaid shall be paid to such surveyor by the said party, or be recoverable in the same manner as any forfeiture is recoverable under this Act ⁽⁵⁾; and the said surveyor is hereby required to make such application as aforesaid ⁽⁶⁾.

⁽²⁾ This removes the doubt expressed in R. v. Winter, 8 B. & C. 785. Subject to this reservation, it would seem that a portion of a highway cannot be stopped up. See R. v. Milverton, 5 A. & E. 841, 1 N. & P. 179. But the whole breadth of a highway may be stopped up to a certain point in its length. See Gwyn v. Hardwicke, 1 H. & N. 49, 25 L. J. M. C. 97, and R. v. Burney, 31 L. T. N. S. 828, 39 J. P. 599.

⁽³⁾ The view must be jointly by both justices: R. v. JJ. of Cambridgeshire, 4 Ad. & E. 111, and R. v. Jones, 12 A. & E. 684.

The provisions of this Act cannot be applied to the diversion of a highway, which by a local Improvement Act is put under the management of Commissioners. See section 113, post; and Wright v. Frant, 4 B. & S. 118, 32 L. J. M. C. 204, 10 Jur. N. S. 39, 27 J. P. 645.

As to declaring unnecessary highways not to be repairable at the public expense, see the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 24, post, and the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 21, post, whereby highways, without ceasing to be such, may be ordered to cease to be repairable by the parish. As to like provisions with regard to South Wales, see the South Wales Highway Act, 1860, 23 & 24 Vict. c. 67, s. 38.

The provisions of this Act as to widening of a highway extend to all highways which persons are bound to repair ratione tenuræ, &c. See section 93, post.

As to temporary diversion of way during repairing, &c., see section 25, ante, p. 778.

And as to temporary diversion of way during divine service, &c., see the Towns Police Clauses Act, 1847, 10 & 11 Vict. c. 89, ss. 21—23, which are incorporated with the Public Health Act, 1875, by section 171 of that Act, ante, as to urban districts.

As to diverting turnpike roads, see the General Turnpike Acts, 1822, 1828, 3 Geo. IV. c. 126, ss. 84—86, and 9 Geo. IV. c. 77, ss. 8, 9.

As to varying and stopping up footpaths over churchyards, see 59 Geo. III. c. 134, s. 39,

85. And be it further enacted, that when it shall appear upon such view of such two justices of the peace ⁽¹⁾, made at the request of the said surveyor as aforesaid, that any public highway may be diverted and turned either entirely or subject as aforesaid, so as to make the same nearer or more commodious ⁽²⁾ to the public, and the owner of the lands or grounds through which such new highway so proposed to be made shall consent thereto by writing under his hand ⁽³⁾, or if it shall appear upon such view that any public highway is unnecessary, the said justices shall direct the surveyor to affix a notice in the form or to the effect ⁽⁴⁾ of Schedule (No. 19) to this Act annexed, in legible characters, at the place and by the side of each end ⁽⁵⁾ of the said highway from whence the same is proposed to be turned, diverted, or stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, and also to insert the same notice in one newspaper published or generally circulated in the county where the highway so proposed to be diverted and turned or stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, (as the case may be,) shall lie, for four successive weeks next after the said justices have viewed such public highway, and to affix a like notice on the door of the church of every parish in which such highway so proposed to be diverted, turned, or stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, or any part thereof, shall lie, on four successive Sundays next after making such view; and the said several notices having been so published, and proof thereof having been given to the satisfaction of the said justices, and a plan having been delivered to them at the same time particularly describing the old and the proposed new highway, by metes, bounds, and admeasurement thereof, which plan shall be verified by some competent surveyor, the said justices shall proceed to certify ⁽⁶⁾ under their hands the fact of their having viewed the said highway as aforesaid, and that the proposed new highway is nearer or more commodious ⁽⁷⁾ to the public; and if nearer, the said certificate shall state the number of yards or feet it is nearer, or if more commodious, the reasons why it is so; and if the highway is proposed to be stopped up as unnecessary, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, then the certificate shall state the reason why it is unnecessary; and the said certificate of the said justices, together with the proof and plan so laid before them as aforesaid, shall, as soon as conveniently may be after the making of the said

Secs. 85-88. certificate, be lodged with the clerk of the peace for the county in which the said highway is situated, and shall (at the quarter sessions which shall be holden for the limit ⁽¹⁾ within which the highway so diverted and turned or stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, shall lie, next after the expiration of four weeks from the day of the said certificate of the said justices having been lodged with the clerk of the peace as aforesaid,) be read by the said clerk of the peace in open court; and the said certificate, together with the proof and plan as aforesaid, as well as the consent in writing of the owner of the land through which the new highway is proposed to be made, shall be enrolled ⁽²⁾ by the clerk of the peace amongst the records of the said court of quarter sessions: Provided always, that any person whatever shall be at liberty, at any time previous to the said quarter sessions, to inspect the said certificate and plan so as aforesaid lodged with the said clerk of the peace, and to have a copy thereof, on payment to the clerk of the peace at the rate of sixpence per folio, and a reasonable compensation for the copy of the plan.

As to stopping up more than one highway connected together. 86. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that in any case where it is proposed to stop up or divert more than one highway, which highways shall be deemed to be so connected together as that one cannot be separately stopped or diverted without interfering one with the other, it shall be lawful to include such different highways in one order or certificate ⁽³⁾.

Court may confirm order for so doing, wholly or in part. 87. Provided also, and be it further enacted, that in the event of any appeal ⁽⁴⁾ being brought against the whole or any part or parts of any order or certificate for diverting more highways than one, it shall be lawful for the court to decide upon the propriety of confirming the whole or any part or parts of such order or certificate, without prejudice to the remaining part or parts thereof ⁽⁵⁾.

Persons who may think themselves aggrieved if such highway should be ordered to be stopped up, &c., may appeal. 88. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that when any such certificate shall have been so given as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful for any person who may think that he would be injured or aggrieved ⁽⁶⁾ if any such highway should be ordered to be diverted and turned or stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, and such new highway set out and appropriated in lieu thereof as aforesaid, or if any unnecessary highway should be ordered to be stopped up as aforesaid, to make his complaint thereof by appeal to the justices of the peace at the said quarter sessions, upon giving to the surveyor ten day's notice in writing ⁽⁷⁾ of such appeal, together with a statement in writing of the

⁽²⁾ It would seem that the provision is directory only: De Ponthieu v. Pennyfeather, 5 Taunt. 634, 1 Marsh. 261. And see Manning v. Eastern Counties Ry., 13 L. J. Ex. 265.

⁽⁴⁾ See the next section.

⁽⁵⁾ On appeal to quarter sessions against a certificate ordering certain roads to be diverted and others to be stopped up, the court may confirm the order as to the stopping up, and quash it as to the diverting: R. v. Midgeley, ante, p. 813.

⁽⁶⁾ "The stopping up or diverting of a public highway affects in a certain degree all His Majesty's subjects, and, therefore, as the statute (55 Geo. III. c. 68, s. 3, the previous enactment) has not given a right of appeal to all persons, but merely to the party aggrieved, we must suppose that the legislature intended to confer that privilege upon those persons alone who have sustained some special and peculiar injury, and not to extend the power of appealing to any captious person whomsoever": R. v. JJ. of Essex, 5 B. & C. 431, at p. 433, per Abbott, C.J. See, also, R. v. Williamson, 7 T. R. 32; R. v. JJ. of Somersetshire, 7 B. & C. 681; R. v. Adey, 4 Nev. & M. 365; R. v. JJ. of W. R. Yorkshire, 4 B. & Ad. 685, 1 N. & M. 427; R. v. Taunton, 3 M. & S. 465; R. v. Incedon, 1 M. & S. 268; R. v. JJ. of Westmoreland, 1 D. & L. 178; R. v. Townsend, 5 B. & Ald. 420.

grounds of such appeal, who is hereby required, within forty-eight hours after the receipt of such notice, to deliver a copy of the same to the party by whom he was required to apply to the justices to view the said highway; provided that in all cases where the said surveyor shall have been directed by the inhabitants in vestry assembled to apply to such justices as aforesaid, then the said surveyor shall not be required to deliver a copy of such notice to any party: Provided also, that it shall not be lawful for the appellant to be heard in support of such appeal unless such notice and statement shall have been so given as aforesaid, nor on the hearing of such appeal to go into or give evidence of any other grounds of appeal than those set forth in such statement as aforesaid.

89. And be it further enacted, that in case of such appeal the justices at the said quarter sessions shall, for the purpose of determining whether the proposed new highway is nearer or more commodious to the public ⁽¹⁾, or whether the public highway so intended to be stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, is unnecessary, or whether the said party appealing would be injured or aggrieved ⁽²⁾, impanel a jury of twelve disinterested men out of the persons returned to serve as jurymen at such quarter sessions; and if, after hearing the evidence produced before them, the said jury shall return a verdict that the proposed new highway is nearer or more commodious to the public, or that the public highway so intended to be stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, is unnecessary, or that the party appealing would not be injured or aggrieved, then the said court of quarter sessions shall dismiss such appeal, and make the order herein mentioned ⁽³⁾ for diverting and turning and stopping up such highway, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, or for diverting, turning, and stopping up of such old highway, and purchasing the ground and soil for such new highway, or for

In case of appeal, jury at sessions to determine whether new highway is nearer, &c.

Maule, 41 L. J. M. C. 47, 23 L. T. N. S. 859, 35 J. P. 956. 12 & 13 Vict. c. 45, s. 1, is as follows:—

“In every case of appeal (except as hereinafter mentioned) to any court of general or quarter sessions of the peace, fourteen clear day's notice of appeal at least shall be given, and such shall be sufficient notice, any Act or Acts or any rule or practice of any court or courts to the contrary notwithstanding; and such notice of appeal shall be in writing, signed by the person or persons giving the same, or by his, her, or their attorney, on his, her, or their behalf, and the grounds of appeal shall be specified in every such notice: Provided always, that it shall not be lawful for the appellant or appellants, on the trial of any such appeal, to go into or give evidence of any other ground of appeal besides those set forth in such notice.”

The fourteen days are to be reckoned, excluding the day of giving the notice and the day when the appeal is to be heard: Pellew v. Wonford, 4 M. & R. 130, 9 B. & C. 134; R. v. JJ. of Shropshire, 8 A. & E. 173, 7 L. J. M. C. 56; R. v. JJ. Herefordshire, 3 B. & Ald. 581. The words of the statute cannot be affected by any rules of sessions. See R. v. JJ. of W. R. Yorkshire, ante, p. 814.

The notice must be given fourteen days before the first day of the general quarter sessions, and not fourteen days before the first day on which the adjourned sessions are appointed to be held for the division in which the appeal is to be tried: R. v. JJ. Lancashire, 8 El. & Bl. 563, 27 L. J. M. C. 161, 4 Jur. N. S. 375; see R. v. JJ. of Suffolk, 4 D. & L. 628, 12 Jur. 480.

In R. v. JJ. Hertfordshire, 3 M. & S. 459, it was held that if justices make an order for diverting a public footway, and afterwards an order for stopping up the old footway, the party aggrieved may appeal against the last order, though too late to appeal against the first.

The appeal must be to the quarter sessions held next after the expiration of four weeks from the day on which the certificate was lodged with the clerk of the peace: R. v. JJ. Staffordshire, 3 East, 151. See section 85, ante.

The notice of appeal must state, or it must sufficiently appear therefrom, that the appellant is injured or aggrieved: R. v. JJ. Essex, 5 B. & C. 431, 7 D. & R. 658; R. v. JJ. of W. R. Yorkshire, ante, p. 814.

(3) See section 91, post.

Secs. 89-91. stopping up such unnecessary highway, either entirely or subject as aforesaid; but if the said jury shall return a verdict that the proposed new highway is not nearer or not more commodious to the public, or that the highway so intended to be stopped up, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, is not unnecessary, or that the party appealing would be injured or aggrieved, then the said court of quarter sessions shall allow such appeal, and shall not make such order as aforesaid ⁽¹⁾.

Costs to be awarded in appeal against stopping up, &c. highway.

90. And be it further enacted, that the court of quarter sessions is hereby authorised and required to award to the party giving or receiving notice of appeal such costs and expenses as shall be incurred in prosecuting or resisting such appeal, whether the same shall be tried or not, and such costs and expenses shall be paid by the surveyor or other party as aforesaid at whose instance the notice for diverting and turning or stopping up the highway, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, shall have been given; and in case the said surveyor or other party as aforesaid shall not appear in support thereof, the said court of quarter sessions shall award the costs of the appellant to be paid by such surveyor or other party as aforesaid, and such costs shall be recoverable in the same manner as any penalties or forfeitures are recoverable under this Act ⁽²⁾.

If no appeal be made, or if dismissed, sessions to make order for diverting &c., and the old ways may be stopped.

91. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that if no such appeal be made, or being made shall be dismissed as aforesaid, then the justices at the said quarter sessions shall ⁽³⁾ make an order to divert and turn and to stop up such highway, either entirely or subject as aforesaid ⁽⁴⁾, or to divert, turn, and stop up such old highway, and to purchase the ground and soil for such new highway, or to stop up such unnecessary highway, either entirely or subject as aforesaid, by such ways and means, and subject to such exceptions and conditions in all respects, as in this Act is mentioned in regard to highways to be widened ⁽⁵⁾, and the proceedings thereupon shall be binding and conclusive on all persons whomsoever; and the new highways so to be appropriated and set out shall be and for ever after continue a public highway to all intents and purposes whatsoever; but no old highway

New highway shall afterwards continue a public highway, &c.

⁽¹⁾ The jurisdiction of quarter sessions is not limited to trying the three questions of fact by the jury; they may decide upon any substantial defect appearing on the face of the certificate, and this even without an appeal: R. v. JJ. Worcestershire, 3 El. & Bl. 477, 23 L. J. M. C. 113, 18 Jur. 424.

As to power to amend certificate upon appeal according to the fact, see R. v. Harvey, L. R. 10 Q. B. 46, at p. 52, per Blackburn, J., 44 L. J. M. C. 1, 31 L. T. N. S. 505.

As to stating special case, see section 108, post.

⁽²⁾ As to recovery of penalties and forfeitures, see sections 101 and 103, post. But see Sellwood v Mount, infra.

The amount of costs ought to be ascertained by the clerk of the peace during the sessions and inserted in the order: Ex parte Holloway, 1 Dowl. 26; Sellwood v. Mount, 1 Q. B. 726, 10 L. J. M. C. 121, 1 G. & D. 358; R. v. Clark, 5 Q. B. 887, 13 L. J. M. C. 91. See R. v. Mortlock, 7 Q. B. 459, as to an order for costs made at an adjourned sessions, and see R. v. JJ. of W. R. Yorkshire, 2 B. & S. 811, 31 L. J. M. C. 271, 6 L. T. N. S. 494, 9 Jur. N. S. 118, as to application for costs after appeal struck out.

The non-payment of costs is not an offence within sections 101, 103, post, but payment may be enforced by distress warrant under section 103, post; Sellwood v. Mount, supra.

12 & 13 Vict. c. 45, s. 5, provides as follows: "upon any appeal to any court of general or quarter sessions of the peace the court before whom the same shall be brought may, if it think fit, order and direct the party or parties against whom the same shall be decided to pay to the other party or parties such costs and charges as may to such court appear just and reasonable, such costs to be recoverable in the manner provided for the recovery of costs upon an appeal against an order or conviction by an Act passed in the twelfth year of Her Majesty's reign intituled an Act to facilitate the performance of the duties of justices of the peace out of sessions within England and Wales with respect to summary convictions and orders."

(except in the case of stopping up of such useless highway as herein is mentioned) shall be stopped until such new highway shall be completed and put into good condition and repair, and so certified ⁽¹⁾ by two justices of the peace upon view thereof, which certificate shall be returned to the clerk of the peace, and by him enrolled amongst the records of the court of quarter sessions next after such order as aforesaid shall have been made, pursuant to the directions hereinbefore contained ⁽²⁾.

92. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that in every case in which a highway shall have been turned or diverted under the provisions of this Act, the parish or other party which was liable to the repair of the old highway shall be liable to the repair of the new highway, without any reference whatever to its parochial locality.

93. And be it further enacted, that the powers and provisions in this Act contained ⁽³⁾ with respect to the widening and enlarging, diverting, turning, or stopping up, any highway shall be applicable to all highways which any person, bodies politic or corporate, is or are bound to repair by reason of any grant, tenure, limitation, or appointment of any charitable gift or otherwise howsoever ⁽⁴⁾; and that when such last-mentioned highways are so widened or enlarged, turned, or diverted, the same shall and may, by an order of the justices at a special sessions ⁽⁵⁾ for the highways, be placed under the control and care of the surveyor of the parish in which such highways may be situate, and shall be from time to time thereafter repaired and kept in repair by the said parish: Provided also, that the said highways so widened, enlarged, diverted, or turned shall be viewed by two justices of the peace, who shall make a report thereof to the justices at a special sessions ⁽⁵⁾ for the highways; and such last-mentioned justices shall, by an order under their hands, fix the proportionate sum which shall be annually paid or shall fix a certain sum to be paid, by such persons, bodies politic or corporate, his or their heirs, successors, or assigns, to the said surveyors of the parish, in lieu of thereafter repairing the said part of the said old highway; and the order of the said last-mentioned justices shall be and continue binding on all such persons, bodies politic or corporate, their heirs, successors, or assigns; and in default of payment thereof the said surveyor shall proceed for the recovery of the same in the manner as any penalties and forfeitures are recoverable under this Act ⁽⁶⁾.

94. And be it further enacted ⁽⁷⁾, that from and after the commencement of this Act, if any highway is out of repair ⁽⁸⁾, or is not well and sufficiently repaired and amended, and information thereof, on the oath of one credible witness, is given to any justice of the peace, it shall and may be lawful for such justice, and he is hereby authorised and required, to issue a summons requiring the Party liable to repair of old highways to repair new highways.

As to highways in South Wales, see the South Wales Highway Act, 23 & 24 Vict. c. 68, s. 40, post.

As to proceeding by indictment, as well as under these special provisions, see R. v. Robinson, 2 Burr. 799.

⁽⁸⁾ Two conditions must be fulfilled before justices can proceed under this section—first, the road must be prima facie shown to be a highway; and, secondly, it must be shown to be out of repair, &c. See R. v. Johnson, and cases cited, post, p. 818.

Secs. 94, 95. surveyor of the parish, or other person or body politic or corporate, chargeable with such repairs, to appear before the justices at some special sessions ⁽¹⁾ for the highways in the said summons mentioned, to be held within the division in which the said highway may be situate; and the said justices shall either appoint some competent person to view the same, and report thereon to the justices in special sessions ⁽¹⁾ assembled, on a certain day and place to be then and there fixed, at which the said surveyor of the highways, or other party as aforesaid, shall be directed to attend, or the said justices shall fix a day whereon they or any two of them shall attend to view the said highway; and if to the justices at such special sessions ⁽¹⁾, on the day and at the place so fixed as aforesaid, it shall appear, either on the report ⁽²⁾ of the said person so appointed by them to view, or on the view of such justices, that the said highway is not in a state of thorough and effectual repair, they the said justices at such last-mentioned special sessions ⁽¹⁾ shall convict the said surveyor or other party liable to the repair of the said highway in any penalty not exceeding five pounds ⁽³⁾, and shall make an order on the said surveyor or other person or bodies politic or corporate liable to repair such highway, by which order they shall limit and appoint a time for the repairing of the same; and in default of such repairs being effectually made within the time so limited, the said surveyor, or such other person or body politic or corporate as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay to some person, to be named and appointed in a second order, a sum of money to be therein stated, and which shall be equal in amount to the sum which the said justices shall, on the evidence produced before them, judge requisite for repairing such highway, which money shall be recoverable in the same manner as any forfeiture is recoverable under this Act ⁽⁴⁾, and such money, when recovered, shall be applied to the repair of such highway; and in case more parties than one are bound to repair any such highway, the said justices shall direct in their said order what proportion shall be paid by each of the said parties: Provided that if the said highway so out of repair is a part of the turnpike road, the said justices shall summon ⁽⁵⁾ the treasurer or surveyor or other officer of such turnpike road, and the order herein directed to be made shall be made on such treasurer or surveyor or other officer as aforesaid, and the money therein stated shall be recoverable as aforesaid ⁽⁶⁾: Provided nevertheless, that the said justices shall not have power to make such order as aforesaid in any case where the duty or obligation of repairing the said highway comes in question ⁽⁷⁾.

In what cases justices cannot interfere.

Mode of proceeding if obligation to repair is disputed.

95. And be it enacted, that if on the hearing of any such summons respecting the repair of any highway the duty or obligation of such repairs is denied by the surveyor on behalf of the inhabitants of the parish, or by any other party charged therewith, it shall then be lawful for such justices and they are hereby required to direct a bill of indictment to be preferred ⁽⁸⁾, and the necessary witnesses in support thereof to be subpoenaed at the next assizes, to be holden in and for the said

⁽³⁾ This is a penalty upon the surveyor as a punishment for his neglect, and does not come out of the highway rate. See R. v. JJ. of Wilts, supra, per Coleridge, J.

⁽⁵⁾ A single justice has no power under this section to summon a surveyor, &c., of turnpike roads: George v. Chambers, 11 M. & W. 149, 12 L. J. M. C. 94, 2 Dowl. N. S. 783, 7 Jur. 836.

⁽⁶⁾ See generally as to proceedings under this section in the case of turnpike roads: R. v. JJ. of St. Albans, 22 L. J. M. C. 142, 17 Jur. 531; and R. v. Hyde, 21 L. J. M. C. 94.

⁽⁷⁾ See the next section and the notes thereto.

⁽⁸⁾ See the preceding section.

Where the road is bond fide denied to be a highway the justices have no power to direct an indictment: R. v. Farrer, L. R. 1 Q. B. 558, 35 L. J. M. C. 210; R. v. Johnson, 5 N. R. 305, 34 L. J. M. C. 85, 11 Jur. N. S. 467; Ex parte Bartlett, 30 L. J. M. C. 65; R. v. Askerton, 11 L. T. N. S. 706, 29 J. P. 516. But where the road is admitted to be a highway and the surveyor simply denies the liability to repair, it is imperative on county, or at the next general quarter sessions of the peace for the county, riding, division; or place wherein such highway shall be, against the inhabitants of the parish or the party to be named in such order for suffering and permitting the said highway to be out of repair; and the costs ⁽¹⁾ of such prosecution shall be directed by the judge of assize before whom the said indictment is tried, or by the justices at such quarter sessions, to be paid out of the rate made and levied in pursuance of this Act in the parish in which such highway shall be situate ⁽²⁾: Provided nevertheless, that it shall be lawful for the party against whom such indictment shall be so preferred at the quarter sessions as aforesaid to remove such indictment by certiorari or otherwise into His Majesty's Court of King's Bench ⁽³⁾.

the justices to direct an indictment: R. v. J.J. of Surrey, 21 L. J. M. C. 195, 16 Jur. 641; R. v. Arnould, 8 Ell. & B. 655, 27 L. J. M. C. 92. But see Ex parte Bennett, 6 Jur. N. S. 1196.

It would seem that the order ought to show that the highway in respect of which the indictment is directed is within the jurisdiction of the justices. See R. v. Hickling, 7 Q. B. 890, 15 L. J. M. C. 23, 1 Cox, C. C. 243; R. v. Martin, 2 Q. B. 1037, 13 L. J. M. C. 45.

As to granting criminal information against a parish for non-repair, where a bill of indictment has been ignored by a grand jury, some of the grand jurors taking part in the discussion being landowners in the parish, see R. v. Upton St. Leonards, 10 Q. B. 627, 16 L. J. M. C. 84.

⁽¹⁾ There is no jurisdiction to direct costs to be paid under this section unless the road be a highway: R. v. Heanor, 6 Q. B. 745, 14 L. J. M. C. 38; R. v. Down Holland, 15 L. J. M. C. 25, 9 Jur. 1077; R. v. Chedworth, 9 C. & P. 285; R. v. Paul, 2 M. & Rob. 307. Where, however, there is jurisdiction to make the order, the statute is imperative, and leaves no discretion to the judge or justices at quarter sessions. See R. v. Yarkhill, 9 C. & P. 218.

Where the defendant pleads guilty, an order for costs may be made: R. v. Haslemere, 3 B. & S. 313, 32 L. J. M. C. 30, 7 L. T. N. S. 382, 27 J. P. 39. But where the jury disagree and are discharged, no costs can be ordered: R. v. Heytesbury, 8 L. T. N. S. 315, 27 J. P. 280. Nor can costs be given where the highway laid in the indictment is not the same as that set out in the order of the justices: R. v. Fifehead, 3 Cox C. C. 59; R. v. Lee, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 198, 45 L. J. M. C. 54, 34 L. T. N. S. 445. See also R. v. Hickling, supra.

⁽²⁾ The order should state out of what fund the costs are to be paid: R. v. Watford, 4 D. & L. 593, 11 Jur. 332; R. v. Clark, 5 Q. B. 887, 13 L. J. M. C. 91, 8 Jur. 489.

At quarter sessions the amount of the costs should be ascertained and inserted in the order before the conclusion of the sessions: R. v. St. Mary, Lambeth, 24 L. T. 145. And so it would seem, where the trial is at assizes, the costs should be ascertained and inserted in the order during the assizes: R. v. Eardisland, 3 E. & B. 960, 23 L. J. M. C. 145, 18 Jur. 876; but see R. v. Clark, supra.

The order under this section extends not only to rates under or levied at the time of the order, but to the highway rate in general, and if there be not sufficient funds in the hands of the surveyors at the time, they must make a rate for the purpose: R. v. Eyton, 3 El. & Bl. 390, S. C. nom. re Surveyors of Tryddyn; Ex parte Harrison, 23 L. J. M. C. 45, 18 Jur. 399. And the order binds not only the surveyors in office at the time, but their successors, until the costs be paid: Ib.

The costs are not penalties or forfeitures within the meaning of section 103, and cannot be levied by distress: Ib. But a mandamus will issue to compel the taking of the proper steps to discharge them: Ib.

Where the indictment has been removed into the Queen's Bench Division by certiorari and is tried at visi prius, the judge has no power to direct the payment of costs under this section: R. v. Ipstones, L. R. 3 Q. B. 216, 9 B. & S. 10, 37 L. J. M. C. 37, 17 L. T. N. S. 497, 16 W. R. 538, 32 J. P. 214. As to costs where the indictment has been removed by certiorari, see 5 & 6 Will. & M. c. 11, s. 3, and R. v. Taunton, St. Mary, 3 M. & S. 465.

⁽³⁾ An indictment preferred at the assizes may be removed by certiorari: R. v. Sandon, 3 El. & Bl. 547, 23 L. J. M. C. 129, 18 Jur. 401.

Secs. 96–98.

Fines, penalties, and forfeitures how to be levied and applied.

96. And be it further enacted, that no fine, issue, penalty, or forfeiture for not repairing the highway, or not appearing to any indictment for not repairing the same, shall hereafter be returned into the Court of Exchequer or other court, but shall be levied by and paid into the hands of such person residing in or near the parish where the road shall lie, as the justices or court imposing such fines, issues, penalties, or forfeitures shall order and direct, to be applied towards the repair and amendment of such highway ⁽¹⁾; and the person so ordered to receive such fine shall, and is hereby required to receive, apply, and account for the same according to the direction of such justices or court, or in default thereof, shall forfeit double the sum received; and if any fine, issue, penalty, or forfeiture to be imposed for not repairing the highway, or not appearing as aforesaid, shall hereafter be levied on any inhabitant of such parish, township, or place, then such inhabitant shall and may make his complaint to the justices at a special sessions ⁽²⁾ for the highways; and the said justices are hereby empowered and authorised by warrant under their hands, to make an order ⁽³⁾ on the surveyor of the parish for payment of the same out of the money receivable by him for the highway rate, and shall within two months next after service of the said order on him pay unto such inhabitant the money therein mentioned.

Justices empowered to award costs to defendant, where information, &c. is withdrawn or dismissed.

97. And be it further enacted, that if any surveyor or other person shall be summoned before any justice (sic) to answer any information or complaint exhibited or made against him touching or concerning any offence committed or alleged to have been committed by such surveyor or other person against the provisions of this Act, or for any supposed neglect of duty, in case such surveyor or other person be convicted thereof, such justice shall be authorised and empowered to order the payment by such surveyor or other person of all costs or (sic) proceedings against him; but in case such information or complaint shall afterwards be withdrawn or quashed or dismissed, or if the defendant shall be acquitted of the offence or neglect of duty charged against him, it shall be lawful for such justices (sic) to order and award that the person exhibiting or making such information or complaint shall pay to the defendant all such costs as to such justice shall seem reasonable; and in default of immediate payment of the sum so awarded, it shall be lawful for such justices to cause the same to be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the person ordered to pay the same, together with the costs of such distress and sale; and if goods and chattels of such person sufficient to answer the sum so awarded with such costs as aforesaid, cannot be found, it shall be lawful for such justices to commit such person to the common gaol or house of correction, there to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding one calendar month, unless the sum so awarded, together with all costs and expenses, shall be sooner paid and satisfied ⁽⁴⁾.

Court may award costs to the prosecutor.

98. And be it further enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the court before whom any indictment shall be preferred for not repairing highways to award costs to the prosecutor, to be paid by the person so indicted, if it shall appear to the said court that the defence made to such indictment was frivolous or vexatious ⁽⁵⁾.

As to removal of indictments by certiorari, see 16 & 17 Vict. c. 30, ss. 4–9; and as to costs, see R. v. Oustler, L. R. 9 Q. B. 132, 43 L. J. 42, 29 L. T. N. S. 830, 22 W. R. 490, 38 J. P. 391, and R. v. Ipstones, and R. v. Taunton, St. Mary, ante, p. 819.

⁽¹⁾ As the fine can only be applied towards the repair and amendment of the highway, if the defendants effectually repair the road before payment of the fine, they are entitled to a stay of further proceedings: R. v. Barnard's Castle, 10 L. J. M. C. 53, 5 Jur. 799. But the repairs must be effectually done: R. v. Claxby, 24 L. J. Q. B. 223, 1 Jur. N. S. 710.

As to apportioning fine, where the road is a turnpike road, see 3 Geo. IV. c. 126, s. 110.

⁽²⁾ See now Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 46.

⁽³⁾ As to proceeding by mandamus within a reasonable time, if the justices refuse, see R. v. JJ. of Lancashire, 12 East. 366; R. v. Townsend, 2 Doug. 420.

⁽⁴⁾ This section is now repealed by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884, 47 & 48 Vict. c. 43, so that the subject is now regulated by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, 1848, 1879.

⁽⁵⁾ Where an indictment is removed by certiorari, the judge at nisi prius, who tries the case, may award costs: R. v. Pembridge, 3 Q. B. 901, 12 L. J. Q. B. 47, 259, 3 G. & D. 603, 7 Jur. 553.

99. And be it further enacted, that from and after the commencement of this Act it shall not be lawful to take or commence any legal proceedings, by presentment against the inhabitants of any parish, or other person, on account of any highway or turnpike road being out of repair ⁽¹⁾.

100. Inhabitants and officers in parishes may give evidence ⁽²⁾.

101. And be it further enacted, that in all cases in which any penalty or forfeiture is recoverable before justices of the peace under this Act it shall and may be lawful for any justice to whom complaint shall be made of any such offence to summon the party complained against before any two justices, and on such summons the said two justices may hear and determine the matter of such complaint, and on proof of the offence convict the offender, and adjudge him to pay the penalty or forfeiture incurred, and proceed to recover the same, although no information in writing shall have been exhibited or taken by or before such justice; and all such proceedings by summons without information shall be as good, valid, and effectual to all intents and purposes as if an information in writing was exhibited ⁽³⁾.

Secs. 99—
101.

No presentment against inhabitants for highway being out of repair.

Justices may proceed by summons in the recovery of penalties.

In such case the judge may also certify for a special jury: Ib. And non-payment of the costs is a contempt for which an attachment may issue: Ib.

Where the defendants plead guilty to an indictment, there is no power to award costs: R. v. Denton, 5 B. & S. 821, 34 L. J. M. C. 13, 11 Jur. N. S. 172, 11 L. T. N. S. 371, 13 W. R. 143, 29 J. P. 151. But the fact that the defendants obtain a rule to arrest judgment does not deprive the prosecutor of his costs: R. v. St. John, Margate, 6 M. & S. 130.

It is not necessary that the judge should in express terms award costs; it is enough if he certify that the defence was frivolous or vexatious: R. v. Clifton, 6 T. R. 344, see also, R. v. St. John, Margate, supra, per Ld. Ellenborough, C.J., and Bayley, J.

⁽¹⁾ As to presentment for non-repair of a highway, see the Highway Act, 13 Geo. III. c. 78, s. 24 (repealed by this Act), and 4 Steph. Com. 8th ed., p. 357. Prosecution by way of presentment is not abolished in the case of a county-bridge, but it has fallen entirely into disuse. See R. v. Brecon, 15 Q. B. 813, 18 L. J. M. C. 123, 13 Jur. 422.

⁽²⁾ Repealed by the Statute Law Revision Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 35.

By the Act for the Amendment of Evidence in certain cases of misdemeanour, 40 & 41 Vict. c. 14, it is enacted as follows:—

“Section 1. On the trial of any indictment or other proceeding for the non-repair of any public highway or bridge, or for a nuisance to any public highway, river or bridge, and of any other indictment or proceeding instituted for the purpose of trying or enforcing a civil right only every defendant to such indictment or proceeding, and the wife or husband of any such defendant shall be admissible witnesses and compellable to give evidence.” See also, 14 & 15 Vict. c. 99, ss. 2, 3.

For Forms, see the Schedule to this Act, Forms 20—25, post.

⁽³⁾ This section and section 102 are now repealed by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884, 47 & 48 Vict. c. 43. Proceedings before justices are now regulated by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, 1848, 1879, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, 42 & 43 Vict. c. 49. By section 11 of the former Act complaint or information must be made or laid within six calendar months from the time when the matter thereof arose, where no time is specially limited.

The jurisdiction of justices, who have to determine whether a road is a highway or not, is not ousted on the ground that the title to land comes in question, because the owner of the land on both sides of the road denies it to be a highway, and claims the soil subject to a private right of way only: Williams v. Adams, 2 B. & S. 312, 31 L. J. M. C. 109, 5 L. T. N. S. 790, 8 Jur. N. S. 816, 26 J. P. 180.

By 40 Vict. c. 11, s. 1, it is provided that “No judge shall be incapable of acting in his judicial office in any proceeding, whether commenced before or after the passing of this Act, by reason of his being as one of several ratepayers, or as one of any other class of persons liable in common with the others, to contribute to or to be benefited by any rate which may be increased, diminished, or in any way affected by such proceeding.” By section 3, “‘Rate’ means any rate, tax, duty, or assessment, whether public, general, or local, and also any fund formed from the proceeds of any such rate, tax, duty or assessment, or applicable to the same or like purposes to which any such rate, tax, duty or assessment might be applied.”

Compelling witnesses to attend and give evidence.

Forfeitures, costs, and charges may be levied by distress and sale.

102. And be it further enacted, that if any person, after having been paid or tendered a reasonable sum of money for his costs, charges, and expenses, shall be summoned as a witness to give evidence before any justices of the peace touching any matter or fact contained in any information or complaint for any offence against this Act, either on the part of the prosecutor or the person accused, and shall refuse or neglect to appear at the time and place for that purpose appointed, without a reasonable excuse for his refusal or neglect, or appearing shall (after having been paid or tendered a reasonable sum for his costs, charges, and expenses) refuse to be examined upon oath and give evidence before such justice of the peace, then and in either of such cases such person shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds ⁽¹⁾.

103. And be it further enacted, that all penalties and forfeitures by this Act inflicted or authorized to be imposed for any offence against the same, and all balances due from a surveyor ⁽²⁾, and all costs and charges to be allowed and ordered by the authority of this Act (the manner of levying, recovering, and applying of which is not hereby otherwise particularly directed) ⁽³⁾, shall, upon proof and conviction of the offences respectively before any two or more justices, either by the confession of the party offending or by the oath of any credible witness or witnesses (which oath such justices are in every case hereby fully authorized to administer), or upon order made as aforesaid, be levied, together with the costs attending the information, summons and conviction, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender or person liable or ordered to pay the same respectively, [by warrant under the hands of two or more justices before whom the party may have been convicted (which warrant such justices are hereby empowered and required to grant); and the overplus (if any), after such penalties, forfeitures, and fines, and the charges of such distress and sale, are deducted, shall be returned, upon demand, unto the owner or owners of such goods and chattels; and in case such fines, penalties, and forfeitures shall not be forthwith paid upon conviction, then it shall be lawful for such justices as aforesaid to order the offender or offenders so convicted to be detained and kept in safe custody until return can be conveniently made to such warrant of distress, unless the offender or offenders shall give sufficient security, to the satisfaction of such justices as aforesaid, for his or their appearance before such justices on such day or days as shall be appointed for the return of such warrant of distress, such day not being later than seven days from the time of taking any such security, and which security the said justices as aforesaid are hereby empowered to take by way of recognizance or otherwise; or in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of such justices, either by the confession of the offender or otherwise, that he hath not goods or chattels within the jurisdiction of such justices sufficient whereon to levy all such penalties and forfeitures, costs and charges, such justices may, at their discretion, without issuing any warrant of distress, commit the offender for such period of time, and in such and like manner, as if a warrant of distress had been issued, and nulla bona returned thereon ⁽⁴⁾]; but if a warrant of distress shall be issued, and upon the return thereof it shall appear that no sufficient distress can be had whereupon to levy the said penalty, forfeiture or fine, and costs and expenses aforesaid, and the same shall not be forthwith paid, or in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of such justices, upon the confession of the offender or otherwise, that he hath not sufficient goods and chattels whereupon such penalty, forfeiture or fine, costs and expenses, could be levied if a warrant of distress were issued, such justices shall not be required to issue such warrant, but in such case such justices are hereby required, by warrant under their hands, to cause such offender or offenders

104. And be it further enacted, that where any distress shall be made for any sum of money to be levied by virtue of this Act, the distress itself shall not be deemed unlawful, nor the party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any default or want of form in any proceedings relating thereto, nor shall the party distraining be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity which shall be afterwards done in making the distress, but the person aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for the special damage in an action on the case: Provided always, that no plaintiff shall recover in any action for any irregularity, trespass, or wrongful proceedings, if tender of sufficient amends shall be made by or on behalf of the party who shall have committed or caused to be committed any such irregularity, trespass, or wrongful proceedings, before such action brought; and in case no such tender shall have been made, it shall and may be lawful for the defendant in any such action, by leave of the Court where such action shall depend, at any time before issue joined, to pay into Court such sum of money as he shall see fit, whereupon such proceedings or orders and judgment shall be had, made, and given in and by such Court as in other actions where the defendant is allowed to pay money into Court ⁽³⁾.

Provisions of 41 Geo. III.
c. 23 applicable to this Act.

106. And be it further enacted, that in all cases of appeal against the rate or assessment made in pursuance of this Act the several provisions and enactments contained in a certain Act made and passed in the forty-first year of the reign of His late Majesty, King George the Third, intituled, "An Act for the better Collection of the Rates made for the Relief of the Poor"⁽³⁾, shall be applicable thereto, as if the same had been repeated and re-enacted in this Act with respect to such appeals.

Rates and proceedings not to be quashed for want of form.

107. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that no rate, nor any proceeding to be had touching the conviction of any offender against this Act, or any order made or any other matter or thing done or transacted in or relative to the execution of this Act, shall be vacated or quashed for want of form, or be removed or removable (except as herein mentioned)⁽⁴⁾ by certiorari, or any other writ or process whatsoever, into any of His Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster⁽⁵⁾.

By the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, 42 & 43 Vict. c. 49, s. 32, it is provided as follows:—

"Where any past Act, so far as unrepealed, prescribes that any appeal from the conviction or order of a court of summary jurisdiction shall be made to the next court of general or quarter sessions, such appeal may be made to the next practicable court of general or quarter sessions having jurisdiction in the county, borough, or place for which the court of summary jurisdiction acted, and held not less than fifteen days after the day on which the decision was given upon which the conviction or order appealed against was founded."

And see R. v. JJ. of Surrey, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 100, 50 L. J. M. C. 10, 43 L. T. N. S. 500, 29 W. R. 260, 45 J. P. 93.

It was held under the Highway Act, 13 Geo. III. c. 78, s. 8 (repealed by this Act), that the time for giving notice of appeal from a warrant of distress might be reckoned from the day of the levy, and not from the day of granting the warrant: R. v. JJ. of Devonshire, 1 M. & S. 411.

It seems that the entering into recognizances before the justices who made the order appealed against will not dispense with the necessity of giving notice.

If the appeal be against the decision of two justices, the notice must be served on each of them, the justices signing the conviction: R. v. JJ. of Bedfordshire, 11 Ad. & E. 134, 9 L. J. M. C. 8, 3 P. & D. 21, 4 Jur. 85.

Delivery of the notice at the dwelling-house, though not to the party personally, is sufficient: R. v. JJ. of Yorkshire, 7 Q. B. 154, 14 L. J. M. C. 91, 9 Jur. 425.

⁽²⁾ The portion between brackets is now, by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884, 47 & 48 Vict. c. 43, repealed, so far as regards an appeal from a conviction or order of a court of summary jurisdiction. Proceedings are now regulated by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, 1848, 1879.

⁽³⁾ See sections 1—8 of this Act, post. Section 9 was repealed by the Statute Law Revision Act, 1872.

⁽⁵⁾ This section does not extend to a case where the justices have acted wholly without jurisdiction: R. v. JJ. of Yorkshire, 5 T. R. 629; R. v. JJ. of Somersetshire, 5 B. & C. 816, 6 D. & R. 469.

108. And be it further enacted, that in any case of appeal the court of quarter sessions before whom the same is heard and determined may, if they think fit, state the facts specially for the determination of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench thereon, in which case it shall be lawful to remove the proceedings, by writ of certiorari or otherwise, into the said Court of King's Bench ⁽¹⁾.

109. And be it further enacted, that no action or suit shall be commenced against any person for anything done in pursuance of or under the authority of this Act, until twenty-one days notice ⁽²⁾ has been given thereof in writing to the justice, surveyor, or person against whom such action is intended to be brought, nor after sufficient satisfaction or tender of satisfaction has been made to the party aggrieved, nor after three calendar months next after the fact committed for which such action or suit shall be so brought ⁽³⁾; and every such action shall be brought, laid, and tried where the cause of action shall have arisen, and not in any other county or place ⁽⁴⁾; and the defendant in such action or suit may plead the general issue, and give this Act and every special matter in evidence, at any trial which shall be had thereupon ⁽⁵⁾; and if the matter or thing shall appear to have been done under or by virtue of this Act, or if it shall appear that such action or suit was brought before twenty-one days notice thereof given as aforesaid ⁽⁶⁾, or that sufficient satis-

As to granting special case see the next section.

⁽¹⁾ As to practice of stating a special case, such as that here referred to, see Overseers of Walsall v. London and N. W. Railway, L. R. 4 App. Cas. 30, 48 L. J. M. C. 64, 41 L. T. N. S. 106. A writ of certiorari is not now necessary, see the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, 42 & 43 Vict. c. 49, s. 40.

It is, also, provided by 12 & 13 Vict. c. 45, s. 11, as follows: "At any time after notice given of appeal to any court of general or quarter sessions of the peace against any judgment, order, rate, or other matter (except an order in bastardy or a proceeding under or by virtue of any of the statutes relating to Her Majesty's revenue of excise or customs, stamps, taxes, or post-office), for which the remedy is by such appeal, it shall be lawful for the parties by consent and by order of any judge of one of the superior courts of common law at Westminster, to state the facts of the case in the form of a special case for the opinion of such superior court, and to agree that a judgment in conformity with the decision of such court and for such costs as such court shall adjudge may be entered on motion by either party at the sessions next or next but one after such decision shall have been given; and such judgment shall and may be entered accordingly, and shall be of the same effect in all respects as if the same had been given by the court of general or quarter sessions upon an appeal duly entered and continued."

In Corporation of Peterborough v. Overseers of Wiltshire, L. R. 12 Q. B. D. 1, 50 L. T. N. S. 189, it has been held that an appeal will lie to the Court of Appeal from the decision of the Queen's Bench Division upon a case stated under this section in an appeal against a poor rate; for the decision of the Queen's Bench Division is an order within the meaning of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1873, s. 19.

By the "Rules of the Supreme Court, 1863," it is provided: Order xix., r. 12, "Nothing in these rules contained shall affect the right of any defendant to plead not guilty by statute, and every defence of not guilty by statute shall have the same effect as a plea of not guilty by statute has heretofore had. But if the defendant so plead he shall not plead any other defence to the same cause of action without the leave of the court or a judge." Order xxi., r. 19, "In every case in which a party shall plead the general issue intending to give the special matter in evidence by virtue of an Act of Parliament, he shall insert in the margin of his pleading the words 'by statute,' together with the year of the reign in which the Act of Parliament on which he relies was passed, and also the chapter and section of such Act, and shall specify whether such Act is public or otherwise; otherwise such defence shall be taken not to have been pleaded by virtue of any Act of Parliament."

110. And be it further enacted, that the several fees hereafter limited and expressed, and no others, shall be taken by the clerk of the peace, clerk to the justices, or others for their several respective services in the execution of this Act; (that is to say,) the sum of sixpence for every information; the sum of one shilling for every summons or warrant, and sixpence for the service thereof; the sum of sixpence for every notice, and sixpence for the service thereof; the sum of one shilling for every order, and sixpence for the service thereof; the sum of two shillings for every warrant of distress; the sum of one shilling for every appointment; and the sum of two shillings for every conviction: Provided always, that in no place regulated by a local Act of Parliament, when the amount of the fees to be taken by the clerk to the justices or others, in any proceeding for the recovery of any rate, shall be less than the fees hereinbefore-mentioned, shall it be lawful for such clerk to the justices or others to demand or take a greater fee for any similar proceeding under this Act than the fee which may be mentioned or directed to be taken by such local Act ⁽³⁾.

Where a highway board, believing a certain road to be a highway, ordered their surveyor to open it to the public by removing an obstruction, it was held in an action of trespass that the surveyor and members of the board having acted bonâ fide were entitled to notice of action: Smith v. Hopper, 16 L. J. Q. B. 93, 11 Jur. 302.

Where a surveyor failed to remove an obstruction to a highway, after having had notice to do so, and injury was caused by the obstruction, it was held that the surveyor was entitled to notice of an action against him for damages in respect of his negligence: Davis v. Curling, 8 Q. B. 287, 15 L. J. Q. B. 56, 10 Jur. 69; see, further, Mason v. Birkenhead Commissioners, 6 H. & N. 72, 29 L. J. Ex. 407, 24 J. P. 791.

lawful for the surveyor of such parish to charge in his account the reasonable expenses incurred in defending such prosecution, or prosecuting or defending such appeal, after the same shall have been agreed to by such inhabitants at a vestry or public meeting as aforesaid, and ⁽¹⁾ allowed by two justices of the peace within the division where such highway shall be; which expenses, when so agreed to or allowed, shall be paid by such parish out of the fines, forfeitures, payments and rates authorized to be collected and raised by virtue of this Act ⁽²⁾: Provided nevertheless, that if the money so collected and raised is not sufficient to defray the expenses of repairing the highways in the said parish, as well as of defending such prosecution or prosecuting or defending such appeal, as aforesaid, the said surveyor is hereby authorized to make, collect, and levy an additional rate in the same manner as the rate by this Act is authorized to be made for the repair of the highway ⁽³⁾.

112. And be it further enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to abridge, repeal, alter, amend, or interfere with the powers and provisions contained in an Act passed in the fifty-seventh year of the reign of King George the Third, intituled "An Act for better paving, improving, and regulating the streets of the metropolis, and removing and preventing obstructions therein," or the powers and provisions contained in any Act relating to any particular parish or place for any of the purposes in this Act mentioned ⁽⁴⁾.

Limiting powers of 57 Geo. III. c. 29.

Not to extend to turnpike roads, or to roads under local Acts.

(3) As to making of highway rate, see sections 27, et seq., ante.

It seems that the limitation upon the amount of the rate imposed by section 29, ante, does not apply to the additional rate authorized by this section, the words "in the same manner" not applying to the amount of the rate: R. v. Uttermere, 26 L. T. 94, 4 W. R. 205, 20 J. P. 36.

This section does not exempt property paved, repaired, &c., under a local Act from being rated under this Act: R. v. Paynter, 13 Q. B. 399, 18 L. J. M. C. 169, 13 Jur. 281, 3 New Sess. Cas. 465.

THE HIGHWAY ACT, 1862.

25 & 26 VICT. c. 61.

An Act for the better Management of Highways in England.

[29th July, 1862.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to highways in England: Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows: Secs. 1—4.

Preliminary.

1. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

2. The word "county" in this Act shall not include a "county of a city" or "a county of a town," but where a county, as hereinbefore defined, is divided into ridings or other divisions having a separate court of quarter sessions of the peace, it shall mean each such division or riding, and not the entire county⁽¹⁾; and for the purposes of this Act all liberties and franchises, except the liberty of Saint Albans, which shall be considered a county, and except boroughs as hereinafter defined⁽²⁾ shall be considered as forming part of that county by which they are surrounded, or if partly surrounded by two or more counties, then as forming part of that county with which they have the longest common boundary; the word "borough" shall mean a borough as defined by the Act of the session holden in the fifth and sixth years of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, "for the regulation of municipal corporations in England and Wales," or any place to which the provisions of the said Act have been or shall hereafter have been extended⁽³⁾.

Limits of Act.

Definition of
"county" and
"borough."

3. The word "parish" shall include any place maintaining its own highways; the expressions "highway district" and "highway board" shall refer only to highway districts formed and highway boards constituted in pursuance of this Act⁽⁴⁾.

Definition of "parish,"

"highway district," and "highway

board."

4. The Act passed in the session holden in the fifth and sixth years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, chapter fifty, and intitled "An Act to consolidate and amend the Laws relating to Highways in that Part of Great Britain called England," is hereinafter distinguished as the 'principal Act';

Definition of "principal Act" and

⁽⁴⁾ See, further, the Highway Act, 1835, s. 5, and notes, ante, p. 756, s. 32 of this Act, post, and the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, ss. 3, 5, 8, 9, and the Highway and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 25, post.

Secs. 4, 5. and this Act and the principal Act, and the other Acts amending the principal Act, are hereinafter included under the expression "the Highway Acts" ⁽¹⁾.

"Highway Acts."

Formation of Highway Districts.

Power to justices, in general or quarter sessions assembled, to issue provisional orders for forming highway districts.

5. Any five or more justices of a county may by writing under their hands require the clerk of the peace to add to or send with the notice ⁽²⁾ required by law to be given of the holding of courts of general or quarter sessions a notice in the Form marked (A.) in the Schedule, or as near thereto as circumstances admit, that at the court therein mentioned a proposal will be made to the justices to divide the county ⁽³⁾ or some part thereof into highway districts, or to constitute the whole or some part thereof a highway district ⁽⁴⁾, and also require the clerk of the peace to send by post in a prepaid letter notices in the aforesaid form to the churchwardens or overseers of every parish ⁽⁵⁾ mentioned in the said notice; and upon such requisition being complied with the justices assembled at the court of general or quarter sessions mentioned in the notice may entertain such proposal, and make a provisional order dividing their county or some part thereof into highway districts, or constituting the whole or some part of their county a highway district, for the more convenient management of highways, but such order shall not be of any validity unless it is confirmed by a final order ⁽⁶⁾ of the justices assembled at some subsequent court ⁽⁷⁾ of general or quarter sessions ⁽⁸⁾: [Provided that when it is proposed that only a part of a county shall be divided into a highway district not less than two out of the five justices making such proposal shall be resident in the said district ⁽⁹⁾.]

⁽²⁾ County sessions are commenced by issuing a precept under the hands and seals of justices of the county, or of the custos rotulorum and one justice, addressed to the sheriff requiring him to summon the proposed sessions at some day not less than fifteen days from the date of the precept; to return a grand and petit jury; and give notice throughout his bailiwick to jurors, coroners, gaolers, stewards, constables, and bailiffs of liberties, whose attendance is requisite. Smith's Quarter Sessions Practice, p. 16.

The times for the holding of the county quarter sessions are fixed by 11 Geo. IV. & 1 Will. IV. c. 70, s. 35, as follows, namely:—

In the first week after the	{ 11th of October.
	{ 28th of December.
	{ 31st of March.
	{ 24th of June.

By 4 & 5 Will. IV. c. 47, the April Quarter Sessions may be appointed and held not earlier than the 7th March, nor later than the 22nd April, so that they may not interfere with the holding the Spring Assizes. Ibid., p. 15. The "first week after" means the first full week, so that should any of the above days fall on a Sunday the sessions could not be held before the Monday week following. 2 Hale, P.C. 49. As to these times being directory only, see R. v. JJ. of Leicester, 7 B. & C. 6; 2 Hale, P.C. 50.

⁽³⁾ See section 2, ante.

⁽⁴⁾ See the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, ss. 7 and 17, post. And see the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 3, post.

⁽⁵⁾ If any parish is omitted the order cannot be made: R. v. JJ. of Sussex, 28 J. P. 469.

As to union of parishes in different counties, see the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 13, post.

⁽⁶⁾ See the next section.

⁽⁷⁾ See section 6 (1) (3), post.

⁽⁸⁾ As to alteration or dissolution of highway district, see section 39, post. And as to the costs of parishes applying to be removed from one district to another, see the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 15, post.

⁽⁹⁾ This portion within brackets is repealed, and provision made in lieu thereof by section 6 of the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, post.

6. The following regulations shall be enacted as to the making, confirmation, and approval of the orders of justice for forming highway districts: Secs. 6, 7.

1. The justices making a provisional order under this Act shall appoint some subsequent court of general or quarter sessions, to be held within a period of not more than six months, for the taking into consideration the confirmation of the provisional order by a final order: Regulations as to the making, &c., of orders of justices.

2. The clerk of the peace shall add to or send with the notice required by law to be given of the holding of courts of general or quarter sessions a notice in the form marked (B.) in the schedule hereto or as near thereto as circumstances admit, of the appointment so made by the justices in relation to the confirmation of the provisional order:

3. The justices assembled at the appointed court of general or quarter sessions may make a further order quashing the provisional order, or confirming it with or without variations, or respiting the consideration of such provisional order to some subsequent court of general or quarter sessions, provided—

Firstly, that where the variations made extend to altering the parishes constituting any highway district or districts as formed in the provisional order, the order shall be deemed to be provisional only, and shall be dealt with accordingly:

Secondly, that where a respite is made to any subsequent general or quarter sessions, the clerk of the peace shall give notice of such respite in manner in which he is required to give notice in respect of sessions at which a provisional or final order is proposed to be made:

4. The provisional order shall state the parishes to be united in each district, the name by which the district is to be known, and the number of waywardens (such number to be at least one) which each parish is to elect ⁽¹⁾:

[5. In addition to the foregoing matters, the provisional order may and the final order shall state the time, not being more than seven days after the first election of waywardens in pursuance of this Act, and the place at which the first meeting of the highway board is to be held in the district ⁽²⁾:]

6. Notice of the provisional and final orders shall as soon as possible after the making thereof be given by the clerk of the peace, by publishing a copy in the London Gazette and in one or more newspapers circulating in the county, or if the whole county is not affected by such order in one or more newspapers circulating in the district affected by such orders, and by sending a copy by post in a prepaid letter to the overseers of every parish within the proposed highway district, and there shall be added to the notice of the provisional order the date of the sessions at which the confirmation of such order will be considered ⁽³⁾.

7. The following restrictions shall be imposed with respect to the formation of highway districts in pursuance of this Act ⁽⁴⁾: Restrictions on formation of highway districts.

Firstly, there shall not be included in any highway district formed in pursuance of this Act any of the following places; that is to say,

Any part of a county to which the Act passed in the session holden in the twenty-third and twenty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty,

(1) Where a parish is divided into hamlets, each maintaining its own highways, the provisional order must state whether any and what waywardens are to be elected for the separate hamlets: R. v. JJ. of W. Riding of Yorkshire, 34 L. J. M. C. 227, 12 L. T. N. S. 580, 29 J. P. 440.

(2) This paragraph is repealed and provision made in lieu thereof by sections 10 and 11 of the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, post.

(3) See now the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 12, post.

See, further, in reference to cases where more highway districts than one are comprised in an order of justices, the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 4, post. And as to union of parishes in different counties, see section 13 of that Act, post.

(4) By the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 3, highway districts are required to be made so far as possible coincident with rural sanitary districts.

Section 7.

chapter sixty-eight, and intituled "An Act for the better Management and Control of the Highways in South Wales" ⁽¹⁾, extends :

The Isle of Wight ⁽²⁾.

Any district constituted under the Public Health Act, 1848, and the Local Government Act, 1858, or either of such Acts ⁽³⁾.

[Any parish or place the highways of which are at the time of the passing of this Act, or may be within six months afterwards, under the superintendence of a board established in pursuance of section eighteen of the principal Act, unless with the consent of such board ⁽⁴⁾.]

Any parish or place within the limits of the metropolis as defined by the Act passed in the session holden in the eighteenth and nineteenth years of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and twenty, and intituled "An Act for the better Local Management of the Metropolis" :

Any parish or place, or part of a parish or place, the highways whereof are maintained under the provisions of any Local Act of Parliament ⁽⁵⁾ :

Secondly, there shall not be included in any highway district formed in pursuance of this Act any parish or place, or part of a parish or place, within the limits of a borough ⁽⁶⁾, without the consent, firstly, of the council of such borough, and, secondly, of the vestry of the parish which, or part of which, is proposed to be included ⁽⁷⁾.

Thirdly, where any parish separately maintaining its own highways is situate in more than one county, the whole of such parish shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be within the county within which the church of such parish, or (if there be no church) the greater part of such parish, is situate ⁽⁸⁾.

Lastly, where a parish separately maintaining its own poor is divided into town-

⁽⁵⁾ This does not apply to a Turnpike Act. The Annual Turnpike Acts Continuation Act, 1863, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 94, enacts as follows:—

Sect. 1. "Whereas doubts are entertained whether highway boards established under the Act 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, are liable to contribute to the repair of turnpike roads in pursuance of the Act 4 & 5 Vict. c. 59, and the Acts continuing the same: It is enacted that where any turnpike road is situate in a parish that is included in a highway district an order may be made on the highway board of the district to contribute to the repair of that road, under the same circumstances under which an order for the same purpose may be made on the parish surveyor, in pursuance of the said Act, the 4 & 5 Vict. c. 59, as continued as aforesaid, and for the purposes of the said last-mentioned Act the highway board shall be deemed to be substituted for the parish surveyor; and 'parish,' as used in this section, shall mean any place in a highway district that returns a waywarden or waywardens to the board of that district; and it is hereby declared that 'local Act' as used in the 7th section of the said Act 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, does not include turnpike Acts." And by 34 & 35 Vict. c. 115, s. 15, any moneys paid by the board in pursuance of such order shall be deemed to be expenses incurred for the common use or benefit of the several parishes within such district, and shall be charged accordingly to the district fund; and by s. 16, where trustees of a turnpike road pay any moneys on expiration of their trust to treasurer of highway district, such moneys shall be placed to credit of district fund.

Legal Objections to Formation of District.

8. No objection shall be made at any trial or in any legal proceeding to the validity of any orders or proceedings relating to the formation of a highway district, after the expiration of three calendar months ⁽²⁾ from the date of the publication in the Gazette of the order under which the district is formed ⁽³⁾; and the production of a copy of the London Gazette, containing a copy of the order of justices forming a highway district shall be receivable in all courts of justice, and in all legal proceedings, as evidence of the formation of the district and of the matters in the said Order mentioned ⁽⁴⁾.

Rules as to objections and evidence.

Highway Board.

9. There shall be enacted, with respect to the constitution of the highway board in each highway district, the provisions following; (that is to say,)

Constitution of highway board.

- (1.) The highway board shall consist of the waywardens elected in the several places within the district, in manner hereinafter mentioned ⁽⁵⁾, and of the justices acting for the county and residing within the district ⁽⁶⁾:
- (2.) The board shall be a body corporate, by the name of the highway board of the district to which it belongs ⁽⁷⁾, having a perpetual succession and a common seal, with a power to acquire and hold lands for the purposes of the Highway Acts, without any licence in mortmain ⁽⁸⁾:
- (3.) No act or proceeding of the board shall be questioned on account of any vacancy or vacancies in their body ⁽⁹⁾:

Secs. 9, 10.

- (4.) No defect in the qualification or election of any person or persons acting as members or member of the board or committee of a board shall be deemed to vitiate any proceedings of such board in which he or they have taken part in cases where the majority of members parties to such proceedings are duly entitled to act :
- (5.) Any minute made of proceedings at meetings of the board or of committees of the board, if signed by any person purporting to be the chairman of the board or committee of the board, either at the meeting of the board or committee of the board at which such proceedings took place, or at the next ensuing meeting of the board or committee of the board, shall be receivable in evidence in all legal proceedings without further proof ; and until the contrary is proved every meeting of the board or committee of the board in respect of the proceedings of which minutes have been so made shall be deemed to have been duly convened and held, and all the members thereof to have been duly qualified ⁽¹⁾ :
- (6.) No member of a board, by being party to, or executing in his capacity of member, any contract or other instrument on behalf of the board, or otherwise lawfully exercising any of the powers given to the board, shall be subject to be tried or prosecuted, either individually or with others, by any person whomsoever ⁽²⁾ ; and the bodies or goods or lands of the members shall not be liable to execution of any legal process by reason of any contract or other instrument so entered into, tried, or executed by them, or by reason of any other lawful act done by them in execution of any of the powers of the board ; and the members of the board may apply any moneys in their hands for the purpose of indemnifying themselves against any losses, costs, or damages they may incur in execution of the powers granted to them :
- [(7.) The rules contained in the schedule hereto with respect to the proceedings of highway boards, and the other matters therein contained, shall be observed in the same manner as if such rules were enacted in the body of this Act ⁽³⁾.]

Election of Waywardens.

Election of waywardens.

10. The following regulations shall be observed with respect to the election of waywardens in highway districts ⁽⁴⁾.

In every parish ⁽⁵⁾ forming part of a highway district there shall be elected every year for the year next ensuing a waywarden or such number of waywardens as may be determined by order of the justices ⁽⁶⁾ :

⁽³⁾ Repealed by Statute Law Revision Act, 1875, 38 & 39 Vict. c. 66. See now the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 27, and the First Schedule thereto, post.

⁽⁴⁾ Where a rural sanitary authority exercise the powers of a highway board, there is no election of waywardens : Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 4, post.

⁽⁵⁾ See the definition, ante, section 3 ; and see R. v. JJ. of Yorkshire, ante, p. 841.

⁽⁶⁾ See section 6 (4), ante. A waywarden may sit for more places than one, but is entitled to one vote only : Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 19.

As to proceedings at election of waywardens, see R. v. Thomas, or Vicar of St. Asaph, ante.

By the Highway Amendment Act, 1863, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 61, it is provided as follows :

"Section 1. No such waywarden (i.e., waywarden appointed under the above Act) shall directly or indirectly, in his own name or in the name of any other person or persons, contract for the repair of any road or for any other work to be executed under the provisions of the said recited Act within the parish for which he is elected waywarden,

Such waywarden or waywardens shall be elected in every parish forming part of a highway district at the meeting and time ⁽¹⁾ and in the manner and subject to the same qualification and the same power of appointment in the justices, in the event of no election taking place, or in the event of a vacancy, at, in, and subject to which a person or persons to serve the office of surveyor would have been chosen or appointed if this Act had not passed ⁽²⁾:

The justices shall in their provisional order make provision for the election of a waywarden or waywardens in places where no surveyor or surveyors were elected previously to the place forming part of a highway district ⁽³⁾:

A waywarden shall continue to act until his successor is appointed, and shall be re-eligible ⁽⁴⁾:

Consequences of Formation of Highway District.

11. At and after the first meeting ⁽⁵⁾ in any highway district of the board of such district, the following consequences shall ensue:

Consequences of establishment of highway board.

All such property, real and personal, including all interests, easements, and rights in, to, and out of property, real and personal, and including things in action, as belong to or are vested in, or would but for this Act have belonged to or been vested in, any surveyor or surveyors of any parish forming part of the district, shall pass to and vest in the highway board of that district for all the estate and interest of such surveyor or surveyors as aforesaid, but subject to all debts and liabilities affecting the same ⁽⁶⁾:

All debts and liabilities incurred in respect of any property transferred to the highway board may be enforced against the board to the extent of the property transferred:

All such powers, rights, duties, liabilities, capacities, and incapacities (except or within any other parish in the same district under the pain of forfeiting the sum of £10, with full costs of suit to any person or persons who shall sue for the same by action for debt in any county court within the jurisdiction of which the parish in which the roads to be repaired or the other work so contracted for is situate."

"2. It shall not be lawful for any highway board to pay knowingly for any repair or work so contracted for, and any money paid by any board under any such contract shall be recoverable by them with full costs from the person or persons to whom the same shall have been paid by action of debt in any of Her Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster if the same shall amount to above £50, or in any county court as aforesaid if below that amount, and the balance so recovered after paying all expenses shall be placed to the credit of the district fund."

"3. This Act shall be construed with and held to be part of the said recited Act (i.e., the above Act) for the better management of highways in England."

But waywardens may contract for supply, &c., of materials: Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 20, post. As to waywardens appointing collector of rates, see Ibid., section 31, post.

Secs. 11-15.

the power of making, assessing, and levying highway rates ⁽¹⁾, as are vested in or attached to, or would but for this Act have become vested in or attached to any surveyor or surveyors of any parish forming part of the district, shall vest in and attach to the highway board ⁽²⁾:

All property by this Act transferred to the board shall be held by them upon trust for the several parishes or places now maintaining their own highways within their district to which such property belongs, or for the benefit of which it was held previously to the formation of the district.

Appointment of Officers.

Power to highway board to appoint officers.

12. The highway board of a district shall, at their first meeting or at some adjournment thereof, by writing under their seal ⁽³⁾ appoint a treasurer, clerk, and district surveyor ⁽⁴⁾; they may also at any meeting, if they think fit, appoint an assistant surveyor; they may from time to time remove any of such officers, and appoint others in the room of such as may be so removed, or as may die or resign; they may also, out of any moneys in their hands, pay such salaries as they think reasonable to the clerk and district and assistant surveyor, and to the treasurer, if they think necessary: Provided that before the treasurer enter upon his office the board shall take sufficient security from him for the due performance of the duties of his office; but no appointment, except the first, to any of the offices specified in this section, shall be made unless notice in writing has been sent to every member of the board.

Two offices not to be held by the same person.

13. Not more than one office of treasurer, clerk, and district or assistant surveyor of the same highway board shall be held by the same person, or by persons in partnership with each other, or by persons in the relation of employer and clerk, agent, or servant, one of the other, or of the partner of either of them; and if any person accepts or holds the office of treasurer, clerk, or district or assistant surveyor, contrary to this provision, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

Duties of treasurer.

14. The treasurer of each highway board shall receive, and hold to the account of such board, all monies paid to or for the use of such board, and shall make payments thereout under orders of such board, and shall once in every three months, on or at such days or times as the board may direct, or oftener if required by the board, make up an account of all moneys received and paid by him, and deliver the same to the clerk of the board ⁽⁵⁾.

Duties of clerk.

15. The clerk of every highway board shall in person, or by such deputy as may be allowed by such board, attend all meetings of the board, and shall conduct the correspondence thereof, and enter and keep in books to be provided for the purpose, notes, minutes, or copies, as the case may require, of the meetings, acts, orders, resolutions, proceedings, and correspondence of such board, and shall keep all books, papers, and documents committed to his charge, and shall perform all such other duties as the board may direct ⁽⁶⁾.

⁽⁴⁾ The Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 45, post, makes provision in case of default of highway board appointing officers.

The appointment is now not chargeable with stamp duty: 38 Vict. c. 23, s. 14.

Highway boards may combine to appoint a district surveyor. See the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 6, post.

The surveyor for the time being of every parish within the district continues in office until seven days after the appointment of the district surveyor: Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 10, post.

As to the relative duties of the treasurer, clerk, and district surveyor, see sections 14, 15 and 16 respectively, post.

⁽⁶⁾ See further sections 18 and 42 ⁽⁶⁾, post. As to the appointment of clerk, see section 12, ante.

16. The district surveyor shall act as the agent of the board in carrying into effect all the works and performing all the duties by this Act required to be carried into effect or to be performed by the board, and he shall in all respects conform to the orders of the board in the execution of his duties ⁽¹⁾, and the assistant surveyor, if any, shall perform such duties as the board may require, under the direction of the district surveyor ⁽²⁾.

Secs. 16-18.

Duties of district surveyor.

Works and Duties of Board.

17. The highway board shall maintain in good repair the highways within their district, and shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, as respects the highways in each parish within their district, perform the same duties, have the same powers, and be liable to the same legal proceedings as the surveyor of such parish would have performed, had, and been liable to if this Act had not passed ⁽³⁾. It shall be the duty of the district surveyor to submit to the board at their first meeting in every year an estimate of the expenses likely to be incurred during the ensuing year for maintaining and keeping in repair the highways in each parish within the district of the board, and to deliver a copy of such estimate as approved or modified by the board so far as the same relates to each parish to the waywarden of such parish ⁽⁴⁾.

Board to maintain highways.

18. Where complaint is made to any justice of the peace that any highway within the jurisdiction of the highway board is out of repair, the justice shall issue two summonses, the one addressed to the highway board and the other to the waywarden of the parish liable to the repair of such highway, requiring such board and waywarden to appear before the justices at some petty sessions, in the summons mentioned, to be held in the division where such highway is situate; and at such petty sessions, unless the board undertake to repair the road to the satisfaction of the justices, or unless the waywarden deny the liability of the parish to repair, the justices shall direct the board to appear at some subsequent petty sessions to be then named, and shall either appoint some competent person to view the highway, and report to them on its state at such other petty sessions, or fix a day, previous to such petty sessions, at which two or more of such justices will themselves attend to view the highway ⁽⁵⁾.

Proceedings where roads are out of repair.

At such last-mentioned petty sessions, if the justices are satisfied either by the report of the person so appointed, or by such view as aforesaid, that the highway

(3) See further section 11, ante, and section 43, post. But see sections 42 (2), (3), (5) and (8), post.

(4) As to the mode of defraying the expenses of the highway board, see the Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 33, post, and the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, ss. 7, 9, post.

(5) As to procedure under the Highway Act, 1835, see sections 94 and 95 of that Act, and notes thereto, ante, pp. 817-819.

Further as to power of county authority to enforce performance of duty by defaulting highway authority, see the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77, s. 10, post.

No justice is disabled from acting as such merely on the ground that he is by virtue of his office a member of a highway board complaining, &c., or has acted at any meeting of the board: Highway Act, 1864, 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 46, post.

The justices have no jurisdiction if the waywarden bonâ fide denies the fact that the road is a highway, but the decision of the justices that the denial is not bonâ fide may be reviewed by the Queen's Bench Division: R. v. Odell, 21 L. T. N. S. 556, 34 J. P. 534. The justices are not bound by the report of the person appointed to view the highway: R. v. JJ. of Wilts, ante, p. 818.

As to appeal to quarter sessions, see Illingworth v. Bulmer East Board, 52 L. J. Q. B. 680, 48 J. P. 37.

Secs. 18, 19. complained of is not in a state of complete repair, it shall be their duty to make an order on the board limiting a time for the repair of the highway complained of; and if such highway is not put in complete and effectual repair by the time limited in the order, the justices in petty sessions shall appoint some person to put the highway into repair, and shall by order direct that the expenses of making such repairs, together with a reasonable remuneration to the person appointed for superintending such repairs, and amounting to a sum specified in the order, together with the costs of the proceedings, shall be paid by the board; and any order made for the payment of such costs and expenses may be removed into the Court of Queen's Bench, in the same manner as if it were an order of general or quarter sessions, and be enforced accordingly ⁽¹⁾.

All expenses so directed to be paid by the board in respect of the repairs of any highway shall be deemed to be expenses incurred by the board in repairing such highway, and shall be recovered accordingly.

The highway board may appear before the justices at petty sessions by their district surveyor or clerk, or any member of the board.

When obligation to repair is disputed.

19. When on the hearing of any such summons respecting the repair of any highway, the liability to repair is denied by the waywarden on behalf of his parish, or by any party charged therewith, the justices shall direct a bill of indictment to be preferred, and the necessary witnesses in support thereof to be subpoenaed, at the next assizes to be holden in and for the said county, or at the next general quarter sessions of the peace, for the county, riding, division, or place wherein such highway is situate, against the inhabitants of the parish, or the party charged therewith, for suffering and permitting the said highway to be out of repair; and the costs of such prosecution shall be paid by such party to the proceedings as the court before whom the case is tried shall direct, and if directed to be paid by the parish shall be deemed to be expenses incurred by such parish in keeping its highways in repair, and shall be paid accordingly ⁽²⁾.

⁽¹⁾ By 12 & 13 Vict. c. 45, s. 18, it is provided that "in all cases where any order shall be made by any court of general or quarter sessions of the peace it shall be lawful for the Court of Queen's Bench (now the Queen's Bench Division, 36 & 37 Vict. c. 66, ss. 16, 34) or for any judge of that court at chambers, either in term or vacation, upon the application of any person entitled to enforce such order, and upon the production of a copy of such order under the hand of the clerk of the peace or his deputy and upon proof of refusal or neglect to obey such order to order and direct such order of the court of general or quarter sessions to be removed into the said Court of Queen's Bench, and thereupon such order shall be of the same force and effect and may be enforced in the same manner as a rule made by the said Court of Queen's Bench, and all the reasonable costs and charges attendant upon such application and removal shall be recoverable in like manner as if the same were part of such order."

⁽²⁾ See the preceding section and the notes thereto. As to indictments, see note, ante, p. 766.

The jurisdiction of justices under this section is limited to admitted highways; they have no jurisdiction to order an indictment to be preferred where it is bonâ fide denied by the parties charged that the road is a highway, and the liability to repair the road, if it is a highway, is not denied: R. v. Farrer, L. R. 1 Q. B. 558, 7 B. & S. 554, 35 L. J. M. C. 210, 14 L. T. N. S. 515, 12 Jur. N. S. 622, 14 W. R. 777, 30 J. P. 469.

The court cannot order costs to be paid by the inhabitants of a parish where on the trial of an indictment under this section the jury have found a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the road was not a highway: R. v. Buckland, 6 B. & S. 397, 34 L. J. M. C. 178, 12 L. T. N. S. 380, 11 Jur. N. S. 821, 13 W. R. 715, 29 J. P. 596.

Secs. 31–34. gaol of the county where such offender is or resides, there to remain without bail until he gives a true and perfect account and verifies the same in manner aforesaid, and produces and delivers up the vouchers relating thereto, and pays the money (if any) remaining in his hands as aforesaid according to the direction of the Board, or has compounded with the Board for such money and paid such composition (which composition the Board are hereby empowered to make and receive), or until he delivers up such books, papers, and writings, tools, matters, and things as aforesaid, or has given satisfaction to the Board concerning the same; but no officer who may be committed on account of his not having sufficient goods and chattels as aforesaid shall be detained in prison by virtue of this Act for any longer time than six calendar months ⁽¹⁾.

Supplemental Provisions.

Provision as to extra-parochial places.

32. Where in pursuance of an Act passed in the twentieth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter nineteen, and intituled “An Act for the Relief of the Poor in Extra-parochial Places,” any place is declared to be a parish, or where overseers of the poor are appointed for any place, such place shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be a parish separately maintaining its own highways; and where in pursuance of the same Act any place is annexed to any adjoining parish, or to any district in which the relief of the poor is administered under a local Act, such place shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be annexed to such parish or district for the purposes of the maintenance of the highways, as well as for the purposes in the said Act mentioned ⁽²⁾.

Provision for outlying part of parishes.

33. Where part of a parish is not contiguous to the parish of which it is a part, such outlying part may at the discretion of the justices be annexed to a district, and, when so annexed, it shall, for all the purposes of the Highway Acts, be deemed to be a parish separately maintaining its own highways ⁽³⁾.

Expenses of repair of highways may be recovered from party liable to repair ratione tenuræ.

34. Where any highway which any body politic or corporate or person is liable to repair by reason of tenure of any land ⁽⁴⁾, or otherwise howsoever, [shall be adjudged in the manner provided by the principal Act to be out of repair ⁽⁵⁾], the Highway Board of the district in which such highway is situate may, if they see fit, direct their surveyor to repair the same, and the expenses to be incurred in such repair shall be paid by the party liable to repair as aforesaid; and it shall be lawful for any justice, upon the application of any person authorized in this behalf by the Highway Board, to summon the party liable to pay such expenses to appear before two justices at a time and place to be named in such summons, and upon the appearance of the parties, or in the absence of either of them, it shall be lawful for such justices to hear and determine the matter, and make such order, as well as to costs or otherwise, as to them may seem just.

35. Where any person or corporation is liable, by reason of tenure of lands ⁽¹⁾ Secs. 35-37. or otherwise, to repair any highway situate in a highway district, the person or corporation ⁽²⁾ so liable may apply to any justice of the peace for the purpose of making such highway a highway to be repaired and maintained by the parish in which the same is situate; and such justice shall thereupon issue summonses requiring the waywarden of such parish, the district surveyor, and the party so liable to repair such highway as aforesaid, to appear before two or more justices in petty sessions assembled, and the justices at such petty sessions shall proceed to examine and determine the matter, and shall, if they think fit, make an order under their hands that such highway shall thereafter be a highway to be thereafter repaired and maintained by the parish, and shall in such order fix a certain sum to be paid by such person or corporation to the highway board of the district, in full discharge of all claims thereafter in respect of the repair and maintenance of such highway; and in default of payment of such sum the board may proceed for the recovery thereof in the same manner as for the recovery of penalties or forfeitures recoverable under this Act ⁽³⁾: Provided always, that when the sum so fixed to be paid in full discharge of all claims thereafter in respect of the repair and maintenance of such highway exceeds fifty pounds, the same, when received, shall be invested in the name of the highway board of the district in some public Government securities, and the interest and dividends arising therefrom shall be applied by such board towards the repair and maintenance of the highways within the parish in which such highway is situate; but when such sum does not exceed fifty pounds the same or any part thereof, at the discretion of such highway board, shall from time to time be applied by such board towards the repair and maintenance of the highways within such parish: Provided that any person aggrieved by any order of justices made in pursuance of this section may appeal to a court of general or quarter sessions holden within four months from the date of such order; but no such appeal shall be entertained unless the appellant has given to the other party to the case a notice in writing of such appeal, and of the matter thereof, within fourteen days after such order, and seven clear days at the least before such sessions, and has entered into a recognizance, with two sufficient sureties, before a justice of the peace, conditioned to appear at the said sessions, and to try such appeal, and to abide the judgment of the court thereupon, and to pay such costs as may be by the court awarded; and upon such notice being given, and such recognizance being entered into, the court at such sessions shall hear and determine the matter of the appeal, and shall make such order thereon, with or without costs to either party, as to the court may seem meet ⁽⁴⁾:

From and after the making of such order by the justices, or by the court on appeal, as the case may require, such highway shall be repaired in like manner and at the like expense as highways which a parish is liable to repair ⁽⁵⁾.

36. Where the inhabitants of any parish are desirous of undertaking the repair and maintenance of any driftway ⁽⁶⁾, or any private carriage or occupation road, within their parish, in return for the use thereof, the district surveyor may, at the request of the inhabitants of such parish assembled in a vestry duly convened for the purpose, and with the consent in writing of the owner and occupier of every part thereof, apply to the justices in petty sessions to declare such driftway or road to be a public highway to be repaired at the expense of the parish; and upon such application being made it shall be lawful for the justices to declare the same to be a public carriage road to be repaired at the expense of the parish ⁽⁵⁾.

Section 37. board exempted from turnpike
tolls. pike road from the surveyor of a highway board when executing or proceeding to execute his duties as such surveyor, and all provisions applicable to the exemptions in the Act of the third year of King George the Fourth, chapter one hundred and twenty-six, shall apply to the case of the exemptions conferred by this enactment ⁽¹⁾.

(1) I. e., the General Turnpike Act, 1822, by which it is enacted as follows:—

Section 32. “No toll shall be demanded or taken by virtue of this or any other Act or Acts of Parliament on any turnpike road for any horses or carriages attending his Majesty, or any of the royal family, or returning therefrom, or of or from any person or persons, for any horse or horses, or other beast or cattle, or for any waggon, wain, cart or other carriage employed in carrying or conveying, or going empty to fetch, carry, or convey, or returning empty from carrying or conveying, having been employed only in carrying or conveying, on the same day, any stones, bricks, timber, wood, gravel, or other materials for making or repairing any turnpike road or public highway, or for building, rebuilding, or repairing any present or any future bridge or bridges on any such road or public highway, or of or from the surveyor of any turnpike road when engaged in executing or proceeding to execute within the limits of his own or any adjoining trust the powers of this or any other Act or Acts of Parliament for repairing, maintaining, or relating to any turnpike road.”

Section 26. “In every case in which under any Act or Acts of Parliament relating to any turnpike road there is an exemption from toll or duty in respect of any horse, mule, ass, ox, waggon, cart, or other carriage, drawing or carrying any dung, mould, marl, or compost of any nature or kind soever for improving or manuring the land, or hay, straw, or any other fodder for cattle, or materials for repairing any turnpike road or highway, such exemption shall be deemed to extend in respect of every such waggon, cart, or other carriage, and also in respect to the cattle drawing the same going empty, or loaded only with implements necessary for more convenient carriage, or loading or unloading such lading, or returning empty, or with such implements as aforesaid, having been so laden, notwithstanding the said waggon, cart, or other carriage shall for the purpose aforesaid go to or return from any parish or place in which the said turnpike does not lie.”

Section 27. “Provided always, and be it further enacted, that for the preventing of frauds on toll collectors by waggons, carts, or other carriages passing empty, or loaded only with implements necessary for the more convenient carriage of, or for loading or unloading manure or materials for the repair of any turnpike road, or highway through turnpike gates, under the pretence of going for such manure or materials the owner or driver of every such empty waggon, cart, or carriage claiming the same exemptions, or any of them shall in all cases pay the toll in respect of such waggon, cart, or other carriage before the same shall be permitted to pass through such turnpike gate, and the collector of such toll shall thereupon deliver to such owner or driver a ticket to be marked “manure exemption,” or “road materials” (as the case may be), with the name of the gate, and the date when delivered, and the amount of the toll so paid, all which sum or sums so paid shall be repaid to the owner or driver of such waggon, cart, or other carriage upon his or their returning with such waggon, cart, or other carriage so laden as aforesaid, and producing such ticket, and every collector of such toll refusing to give such ticket on receiving the toll, or refusing or neglecting to return the same toll upon the return of such waggon, cart, or other carriage so laden, and redelivery of the “manure exemption” or “road materials” ticket, as the case may be, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay to the owner of such waggon, cart, or other carriage, a penalty of not more than £5 upon conviction thereof before one or more justice or justices of the peace for the county, riding, division, or place where such offence shall be committed upon the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses.”

Section 28. “The owner or driver of any waggon, cart, or other carriage laden with manure for land, or materials for any turnpike road or highway, passing through any turnpike gate or otherwise passing on or across any turnpike road, shall not be liable to pay any toll, nor shall any toll be demanded for such carriage so laden or the cattle drawing the same, by reason only of any basket or baskets, empty sack or sacks, or spade, shovel, or fork necessary for loading or unloading such manure or materials being

38. No justice of the peace shall act as such in any matter in which he has already acted as a member of the highway board, and in which the decision of such board is appealed against⁽¹⁾. Secs. 38, 39.

39. Any highway district formed under this Act may from time to time be altered by the addition of any parishes in the same or in any adjoining county, or the subtraction therefrom of any parishes, and new highway districts may be formed by the union of any existing highway districts in the same or in any adjoining county, or any parishes forming part of any existing highway districts, or any highway district may be dissolved; but any such alteration of existing districts, or formation of new districts, or dissolution of any district, shall be made by provisional and final orders of the justices; and all the provisions of this Act with respect to the formation of highway districts and provisional and final orders of justices⁽²⁾, and the notices to be given of and previously to the making of such orders, and all other proceedings relating to the formation of highway districts, shall, in so far as the same are applicable, extend to such alteration of existing or formation of new districts, or dissolution of districts, as is mentioned in this section; and in addition thereto provision shall be made, if necessary, in any orders of justices made under this section for the adjustment of any matters of account arising between parishes or parts of districts in consequence of the exercise of the powers given by this section. Where any parish is added to or any district united with any district in another county, the final order of the justices of the county in which such parish or district is situate shall not be confirmed by them until they in or upon any such waggon, cart, or other carriage, in addition to such manure or materials, if the loading thereof is substantially manure for land, or materials for the repair of any turnpike road or highway as aforesaid, anything in any Act contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding."

And by 4 Geo. IV. c. 95, it is provided:—

Section 10. "No person shall by virtue of the said recited Act (i. e., the preceding Act, 3 Geo. IV. c. 126), or this or any other Act or Acts of Parliament, have, claim, or take the benefit or advantage of any exemption from toll or part of tolls, or penalties for overweight, or to pay less toll for or in respect of any waggon, wain, cart, or other carriage, or the horses or beasts drawing the same, and carrying any particular kind of goods than other carriages of the like nature carrying other goods ought to pay, unless such waggon, wain, cart, or other carriage in respect of which the exemption shall be claimed shall have the sole of the bottom of the fellies of the wheels thereof of the breadth or gauge of four and a half inches or upwards (other than and except carts and carriages employed in carrying corn or grain in the straw, hay, straw, fodder, dung, or lime for the improvement of land, or other manure, or any plough, harrow, or implements of husbandry only), but that the tolls imposed by any Act, together with the additional tolls required to be taken for or in respect of every such waggon, wain, cart, or other carriage having the sole or bottom of the fellies of the wheels thereof of less breadth or gauge than four and half inches as aforesaid, and for or in respect of horses or beasts of draught drawing the same, and the additional tolls or penalties for overweight (except as before excepted), shall be paid in the same manner to all intents and purposes as if no exemption or less toll had been enacted or allowed, and as fully as all other waggons, wains, carts, and carriages and horses drawing the same ought respectively to pay which are not entitled to any exemption from toll in the whole or part, or to pay a less toll than other waggons, wains, carts and carriages, any law or statute to the contrary notwithstanding."

Section 25. "So much of the said recited Act (i. e., the preceding Act, 3 Geo. IV. c. 126), as directs that the surveyor of any turnpike road when engaged in executing, or proceeding to execute within the limits of any adjoining trust the powers of the said Act, or any Act, for repairing or maintaining any turnpike road shall be exempt from the payment of toll shall be and the same is hereby repealed."

(2) See sections 5 and 6, ante, p. 840.

Secs. 39–42. shall have received the approval of their provisional order for such addition or union from the justices of the county in which the district is situate to or with which such addition or union is to be made. Where any highway district is dissolved, or where any parish is excluded from any highway district, the highways in such district or parish shall be maintained, and the provisions of the principal Act in relation to the election of surveyors and to all other matters shall apply to the said highways, in the same manner as if such highways had never been included within the limits of a highway district ⁽¹⁾.

Provision in case of failure of board to hold first meeting.

40. If any highway board make default in holding its first meeting in pursuance of this Act, such board shall not thereupon become disqualified from acting, but the justices in general or quarter sessions shall, on the application of any persons liable to pay highway rates within the district, make such order as they think fit for the holding of such board at some other time, and any order so made shall be deemed to be an order capable of being removed into the Court of Queen's Bench, in pursuance of the Act passed in the session holden in the twelfth and thirteenth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter forty-five, and may be enforced accordingly, and the costs of any application to the court of quarter sessions in pursuance of this section shall be defrayed out of the district fund of the board ⁽²⁾.

Reservation of right to adopt Local Government Act.

41. Any parish or part of a parish included in a highway district may adopt the Local Government Act in the same manner and under the same circumstances in and under which it might have adopted the same if it had not been included in such district; and upon such adoption being made such parish or part of a parish shall cease to form part of such district, subject nevertheless to the payment of any contributions that may at the time of such adoption be due from such parish or part of a parish to the highway board ⁽³⁾.

Application of Principal Act.

Construction of principal Act and this Act.

42. The following regulations shall be observed with respect to the construction of the principal Act ⁽⁴⁾ and this Act:—

1. This Act shall be construed as one with the principal Act ⁽⁴⁾ so far as is consistent with the provisions of this Act ⁽⁵⁾:
2. The ninth section of the principal Act ⁽⁴⁾, whereby it is enacted that a surveyor may be appointed by the inhabitants of a parish with a salary, shall not apply to any parish within any district formed under this Act:
3. The tenth section of the principal Act ⁽⁴⁾, whereby it is enacted that the surveyor or surveyors at the time of passing his or their accounts as therein mentioned, shall deliver to the justices a statement in writing of the name and residence of the person or persons appointed to succeed him or them as a surveyor or surveyors, shall not apply to any parish within any district formed under this Act:
4. The thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, and seventeenth sections of the principal Act ⁽⁴⁾, providing for the formation of parishes into districts, and the eighteenth and nineteenth sections of the principal Act, providing for the appointment of a board in large parishes, shall not apply to any parish within any district formed under this Act: Secs. 42-44.

5. The penalty imposed by section twenty of the principal Act ⁽¹⁾ on the surveyor for neglect of duty shall not apply to a highway board constituted under this Act ⁽²⁾:
6. Any summons or notice, or any writ or any proceeding, at law or in equity, requiring to be served upon the board, may be served by the same being left at or transmitted through the post in a pre-paid letter directed to the office of the board, or being given personally to the district surveyor or clerk of the board ⁽³⁾:
7. The thirty-fifth section of the principal Act ⁽¹⁾, whereby it is provided that the ratepayers of any parish may divide amongst themselves the carriage of materials in manner therein mentioned, shall not apply to any parish within any district formed under this Act ⁽⁴⁾:
8. The thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-third, forty-fourth, and forty-fifth sections of the principal Act ⁽¹⁾, relating to the accounts of surveyors, shall not apply to the highway board of any district formed under this Act ⁽⁵⁾.
43. On the formation of a highway district the following regulations shall be enacted with respect to the surveyors and the highway board:—
 1. No surveyor shall be appointed under the principal Act ⁽¹⁾ for any parish within such district ⁽⁶⁾:
 2. The outgoing surveyor of every parish within the district shall continue in office until seven days after the appointment of the district surveyor by the highway board of the district of such outgoing surveyor, and no longer; and he may recover any highway rate made and then remaining unpaid ⁽⁷⁾ in the same manner as if this Act had not been passed, and the money so recovered shall be applied, in the first place, in reimbursing any expenses incurred by him as such surveyor, and in discharging any debts legally owing by him on account of the highways within his jurisdiction, and the surplus (if any) shall be paid by him to the treasurer of the highway board; and he shall be entitled to receive from the highway board any sum [not exceeding five pounds ⁽⁸⁾], which on the allowance of his account shall be found to be due to him as such surveyor after the collection and expenditure of the whole of the highway rate made in such parish during the last year ⁽⁹⁾:
 3. The highway board shall, for all the purposes of the principal Act, except that of levying highway rates, be deemed to be the successor in office of the surveyor of every parish within the district.
44. All the provisions of the principal Act ⁽¹⁾ for widening, diverting, and stopping up ⁽¹⁰⁾ highways shall be applicable to all highways which now are or may

Secr. 44-17. hereafter be paved, repaired, or cleansed under or by virtue of any local or personal Act or Acts of Parliament, or which may be situate within the limits of any such Act or Acts, except highways which any railway company, or the owners, conservators, commissioners, trustees, or undertakers of any canal, river, or inland navigation, are liable by virtue of any Act of Parliament relating to such railway, canal, river, or inland navigation to make, maintain, repair, or cleanse.

to be applicable to highways under local or personal Acts.
Enabling councils of certain boroughs to adopt parish roads and highways and to apply rates for their repair.

45. Whereas there are in certain boroughs in England and Wales roads and highways that are now and have heretofore been repaired by the inhabitants of the several parishes or townships within which such roads and highways are situated, and who also contribute and pay to the general rates levied for the repair of the public streets, roads and highways maintained and kept in repair by the council of such boroughs, by reason whereof a great burthen is imposed upon the ratepayers of the said parishes and townships; and it being doubtful whether the council of such boroughs have the power to adopt such parish roads and highways, or to apply the rates collected in such boroughs in repairing the same: Be it enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the council of every such borough in England and Wales, upon the petition of the majority of the ratepayers of such parishes or townships present at a public meeting duly convened, to adopt all or any of such parish roads and highways as the council shall in its discretion consider advisable, and to apply the rates levied and collected by the said council for the repair of the public streets, roads, and highways within such borough in repairing and maintaining such parish roads and highways: Provided always, that it shall be competent for such council, previous to adopting such parish roads and highways, to require the provisions contained in any local Act applying to the public streets, roads, and highways of such borough to be complied with ⁽¹⁾.

District highway boards may permit landowners to erect fences without incurring liability to repair highways.
Recovery of penalties.

46. No person through whose land a highway passes, which is to be repaired by the parish, shall become liable for the repair of such highway by erecting fences between such highway and the adjoining land, if such fences are erected with the consent in writing of the highway board of the district within which such highway is situate in the case of a place within the jurisdiction of a highway board, and in the case of any other place with the consent of the surveyor or other authority having jurisdiction over the highway ⁽²⁾.

47. All penalties under this Act, and all moneys recoverable as penalties, may be recovered summarily before any two or more justices in the manner directed by the Act of the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her present Majesty, chapter forty-three, and any Act amending the same ⁽³⁾; but where any sum adjudged to be paid under this Act in respect of such penalties or moneys exceeds five pounds, an appeal may be had by any person aggrieved to a court of general or quarter sessions [in manner provided by the one hundred and tenth section of the Act passed in the session holden in the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter ninety-six, intituled "An Act to consolidate and amend the Statute Law of England and Ireland relating to Larceny and other similar Offences" ⁽⁴⁾.]

HIGHWAY ACT, 1864.

27 & 28 VICT. c. 101.

An Act to amend the Act for the better Management of Highways in England.

[29th July, 1864.]

Secs. 1—4. Whereas it is expedient to amend an Act passed in the session holden in the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter sixty-one, and intituled “An Act for the better Management of Highways in England:” Be it enacted by the Queen’s most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

25 & 26 Vict.
c. 61.

Preliminary.

Short titles of Highway
Acts.

1. The Acts hereinafter mentioned may be cited for all purposes by the short titles following ; (that is to say,)

The Act passed in the session of the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter fifty, and intituled “An Act to consolidate and amend the Laws relating to Highways in that part of Great Britain called England,” by the short title of the “Highway Act, 1835:”

The said Act passed in the session of the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter sixty-one, by the short title of the “Highway Act, 1862:”

This Act by the short title of the “Highway Act, 1864.”

All the above-mentioned Acts, and any Acts passed or to be passed amending the same, shall be included in the short title of “The Highway Acts.”

This Act shall be construed with 25 & 26 Vict.
c. 61.

2. This Act, so far as is consistent with the tenor thereof, shall be construed as one with the “Highway Act, 1862” (1).

3. “Poor law parish” shall mean a place that separately maintains its own poor :

Definition of “poor law parish,” “highway parish,” “highway rate,” and “county.”

“Highway parish” shall mean a place that after the constitution of a highway district separately maintains its own highways (2), and is entitled to return a waywarden or waywardens to the highway board of the district (3):

“Highway rate” shall include any rate, whether poor rate or not, out of the produce of which moneys are payable in satisfaction of precepts of a highway board (4):

“County” shall include any division of a county that has a separate county treasurer (5).

Amendments as to Orders of Justices.

Amendment
of section 6

4. Where more highway districts than one are comprised in any order of justices, whether provisional or final, and whether made before or after the passing of this Act, the formation of each of such districts is to be deemed independent of the formation of any other district, and the order shall for all purposes be construed and take effect as if a separate order had been made in respect of each district; and any variation in a provisional order altering the parishes in any one or more districts comprised in that order shall make that order provisional only as to the particular district or districts in which the alterations are made, and not as to any other district or districts included in the same order⁽¹⁾.

Secs. 4—7.

of Highway
Act of 1862.

5. Any parish, township, tithing, hamlet, or other place having a known legal boundary in which there are no highways repairable at the expense of the place, or in which the highways are repaired at the expense of any person, body politic or corporate, by reason of any grant, tenure, limitation, or appointment of any charitable gift, or otherwise howsoever than out of a highway rate or other general rate, shall, for the purposes of the Highway Acts, be deemed to be a place separately maintaining its own highways⁽²⁾.

Certain places to be deemed places separately maintaining their own highways.

Where part of a parish is, in pursuance of the Local Government Act, 1858, Amendment Act, 1861, section 9⁽³⁾, treated as forming part of a district constituted under the Local Government Act, 1858, for all purposes connected with the repair of highways and the payment of highway rates, but for no other purpose, such part shall, for the purposes of the Highway Act, 1862, and this Act, be deemed to be a place separately maintaining its own highways, and capable of being included in a highway district, without requiring the consent of the local board to be given.

Where the highways of one part of a parish are, in pursuance of a private Act of Parliament, repairable out of a different rate from that out of which the highways of the other part are repairable, each of such parts shall, for the purposes of the Highway Acts, be deemed to be a place separately maintaining its own highways.

6. [There shall be repealed so much of the fifth section of the Highway Act, 1862, as provides that, "when it is proposed that only part of a county shall be divided into a highway district, not less than two out of the five justices making such proposal shall be resident in the said district;" and in lieu thereof be it enacted, that⁽⁴⁾] when it is proposed that only part of a county is to be constituted a highway district, not less than two out of the five justices making such proposal shall be resident in the said district, or acting in the petty sessional division in which such district or some part thereof is situate.

Part of section 5 of Highway Act, 1862, repealed, and other provisions enacted.

7. The power given by the seventh section of the "Highway Act, 1862"⁽⁵⁾, of combining townships, tithings, hamlets, or places separately maintaining their own highways, and situate in a poor law parish, shall extend to combining any two or more of such townships, tithings, hamlets, or places, and any combination so formed shall for all the purposes of the Highway Acts be deemed to a highway parish.

Amendment of section 7 of Highway Act of 1862 as to combination of townships,
&c.

Where a township, tithing, hamlet or other place separately maintaining its own highways is situate in two or more poor law parishes, each part of such township, tithing, hamlet, or other place may be combined with the parish in which that part is situate.

The justices may, by their provisional and final order, declare that any poor law parish within their jurisdiction, or residue of a poor law parish, after excluding such part, if any, as is prohibited by the "Highway Act, 1862," either wholly or without the consent of the governing body, from being included in the highway district, shall henceforward become a highway parish⁽⁶⁾; and upon such declaration being made such poor law parish, or residue of a poor law parish, shall thereafter be a highway parish entitled to return a waywarden or waywardens to the Secs. 7—10. highway board of the district in which it is included; and no rate shall be separately levied for the maintenance of the highways, and no separate waywardens be elected in any township, tithing, hamlet, or other sub-division of such poor law parish or residue of a poor law parish ⁽¹⁾.

Where, previously to the passing of the provisional order forming a highway district, no surveyors or waywardens have been elected within any highway parish in that district, and where the mode of electing a waywarden or waywardens in such parish is not provided by this Act or the "Highway Act, 1862," the justices shall, by their provisional and final orders constituting the district, or by any subsequent provisional and final orders, make provisions for the annual election of a waywarden or waywardens for such parish.

Provision for places partly within and partly without a borough.

8. Where a parish or place separately maintaining its own highways is situate partly within and partly without the limits of a borough, the justices may by their provisional and final orders include in a highway district the outlying part of such parish or place; and where the outlying part of a parish or place situate as aforesaid has been, previously to the passing of this Act, or may be hereafter, included in a highway district, each part of such parish or place shall for all the purposes of the Highway Acts be deemed to be a place separately maintaining its own highways; and a waywarden or waywardens shall be elected by the ratepayers in each such part at such time and in such manner as may be provided by the said justices ⁽²⁾.

Power of justices as to extra-parochial places.

9. The justices in petty sessions may appoint overseers or otherwise deal with any extra-parochial place with a view to constituting it a highway parish or part of a highway parish, in the same manner as the justices may deal with such place for the purpose of constituting it a place or part of a place maintaining its own poor, in pursuance of the powers for that purpose given by the Act of the twentieth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter nineteen ⁽³⁾.

Part of section 6 of Highway Act of 1862 as to meetings of Board repealed, and other provisions enacted.

10. [The paragraph No. 5 in the sixth section of the "Highway Act, 1862," shall be repealed, and in lieu thereof be it enacted ⁽⁴⁾].

The first meeting of the highway board after the formation of a district shall be held at such time as may be appointed by the provisional or final order of the justices, so that the time appointed be not more than seven days after the expiration of the time limited by law for the election of waywardens ⁽⁵⁾, or, in the case of a special day being appointed for such election as hereinafter mentioned ⁽⁶⁾, be not more than twenty-one days after that day.

The day appointed for the first meeting of the Board shall for all the purposes of the Highway Acts be deemed to be the day of the formation of the district; and the surveyor for the time being of every parish within the district shall continue in office until seven days after the appointment of the district surveyor, and no longer ⁽¹⁾.

11. In forming a highway district under the "Highway Act, 1862," the justices may, for the purpose of avoiding delay in bringing the Act into operation, appoint by their final order a day on which the first election of waywardens as members of the highway board is to take place in the district.

Power to justices to bring Highway Act into operation on a particular day.

On the day appointed for the election waywardens shall be elected in every parish in the district entitled to elect such officers by the same persons and in the same manner by and in which waywardens are elected under the "Highway Act, 1862" ⁽²⁾, and all the provisions of the Highway Acts relating to the qualifications of surveyors or waywardens, and to the appointment of surveyors and waywardens by justices in the event of no election taking place, shall apply accordingly ⁽³⁾; but the waywardens elected under this section shall continue in office only until the time at which the next annual election of surveyors would have taken place in the several parishes of the district if the same had not been constituted a highway district, and at that time new waywardens shall be elected in manner provided by the Highway Acts ⁽⁴⁾.

12. No order of the justices forming a highway district shall be invalidated by reason of its not being published in the London Gazette; and where any reference is made in any section of the "Highway Act, 1862," to the date of the publication in the Gazette of the order, such section shall be construed as if the date of the making of the final order under which the district is formed were substituted for "the date of the publication in the Gazette of the order under which the district is formed;" and any copy of the provisional or final order of the justices forming a highway district, certified under the hand of the clerk of the peace to be a true copy, shall be receivable in all courts of justice and in all legal proceedings as evidence of the formation of the district and of the matters in the said order mentioned ⁽⁵⁾.

Publication of orders in Gazette made permissive.

13. Contiguous places situate in different counties and places situate partly in one county and partly in another county or counties ⁽⁶⁾ shall, for the purpose of being united in one highway district, be deemed to be subject to the jurisdiction of the justices of any county, who may make a provisional and final order ⁽⁷⁾ constituting them an highway district, in the same manner as if all such places or parts of places were situate in such last mentioned county; subject to this proviso, that the provisional and final orders of the justices of the said county shall be of no validity unless provisional and final orders to the same effect are passed either concurrently with or subsequently to the first-mentioned provisional and final orders by the justices of every other county in which any of the said places or parts of places are situate.

As to union of parishes in different counties.

14. The approval of the justices of any county to any provisional order made by the justices of another county affecting any place in such first-mentioned county, in pursuance of the thirty-ninth section of the "Highway Act, 1862" ⁽⁸⁾, shall be testified by provisional and final orders ⁽⁹⁾ of the justices of the said first-mentioned county.

Amendment of section 39 of Highway Act, 1862.

The powers conferred on justices by the thirty-ninth section of the "Highway Act, 1862" ⁽⁸⁾, shall be deemed to extend to the separation of any townships, tithings, hamlets, or places separately maintaining their own highways which may Secs. 14-20. have been consolidated by any previous order of the justices, and to an alteration in the number of waywardens of any parish.

As to the costs of parishes applying to be removed from one district to another.

15. Where, after the formation of an highway district, an application is made by any parish in that district to any court of general or quarter sessions, praying that the said parish may be removed from that district, all costs incidental to or consequential on such application and the removal of the said parish shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be paid by the parish that has made the application in such manner as the said Court may direct. The amount of such costs shall be raised in the same manner as if they were expenses incurred in maintaining and keeping in repair the highways of that parish ⁽¹⁾.

As to validity of order of justices.

16. No order of the justices forming a highway district, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, shall be void by reason that it includes in such district a place which the justices are not entitled to include under the provisions of this Act or the "Highways Act, 1862," or one of such Acts; and any order containing such prohibited place shall be construed and take effect as if that place had not been mentioned therein.

All expenses properly incurred by the justices of any county in maintaining the validity of any provisional or final order made by them shall be payable out of the county rate of that county.

Extent of powers of justices.

17. All powers and jurisdictions vested in justices by the "Highway Act, 1862," and this Act ⁽²⁾, or either of such Acts, may from time to time be exercised in relation to highway districts, highway boards, and highway parishes already formed, as well as upon the occasion of forming new highway districts, boards, or parishes; and where an alteration is made in part only of a highway district, the residue of that district shall not be affected thereby, but shall continue subject to the Highway Acts in the same manner as if no such alteration had been made.

Definition of "Provisional and Final Orders."

18. The expression "provisional and final order," ⁽³⁾ as used in this Act, shall mean a provisional and final order passed and published in manner provided by this Act and the "Highway Act, 1862," with the necessary variations as to notices and otherwise.

Miscellaneous Amendments.

Appointment and vote of waywardens.

19. Every waywarden, before taking his seat as a member of a highway board, shall produce a certificate of his having been duly elected or appointed a waywarden, and such certificate shall, in the case of an elected waywarden, be signed by the chairman of the vestry or other meeting at which he was elected; and in the case of a waywarden appointed by justices, be signed by the justices making the appointment.

A waywarden may sit as such for more places than one, but he shall be entitled to one vote only as waywarden ⁽⁴⁾.

Power to waywardens to contract for supply or cartage of materials.

20. Whereas doubts are entertained whether the forty-sixth section of the Highway Act of 1835 applies to a highway district: Be it enacted, that that section shall not apply to the highway board of any highway district or to any parish within any highway district.

Notwithstanding anything contained in the Act of the session of the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter sixty-one ⁽¹⁾, or in any other Act, any waywarden may contract for the supply or cartage of materials within the parish for which he is waywarden, with the licence of two justices assembled at petty sessions, such licence to be granted on the application of the clerk of the highway board, who must be authorised to make such application by a resolution of his board assembled at a meeting, of which notice has been given. Secs. 20-22.

21. When any highway board consider any highway unnecessary for public use, they may direct the district surveyor to apply to two justices to view the same, and thereupon the like proceedings shall be had as where application is made under the "Highway Act, 1835," ⁽²⁾ to procure the stopping up any highway, save only that the order to be made thereupon, instead of directing the highway to be stopped up, shall direct that the same shall cease to be a highway which the parish is liable to repair, and the liability of the parish shall cease accordingly ⁽³⁾; and for the purpose of such proceedings under this enactment, such variation shall be made in any notice, certificate, or other matter preliminary to the making of such order as the nature of the case may require: Provided that if at any time thereafter, upon application of any person interested in the maintenance of such highway, after one month's previous notice in writing thereof to the clerk of the highway board for the district in which such highway is situated, it appear to any court of general or quarter sessions of the peace that from any change of circumstances since the time of the making of any such order as aforesaid under which the liability of the parish to repair such highway has ceased the same has become of public use and ought to be kept in repair by the parish, they may direct that the liability of the parish to repair the same shall revive from and after such day as they may name in their order, and such liability shall revive accordingly as if the first-mentioned order had not been made; and the said court may by their order direct the expenses of and incident to such application to be paid as they may see fit. Provisions for discontinuance of maintenance of unnecessary highways.

22. The highway board of any district may from time to time contract for any time not exceeding three years with any person or body of persons, corporate or unincorporate, to repair any highways, turnpike roads, or roads over county or other bridges, or any part thereof, for the repairing of which such persons or body of persons are liable; and any persons or body of persons liable to repair any roads may contract with the highway board for the repairing any highways, inclusive as aforesaid, or any part thereof, which the highway board is liable to make or repair; and the money payable under any contract made in pursuance of this section shall be raised in the same manner and be paid out of the same rates as would have been applicable to defray the expenses of the repair of such highways if no contract had been made in respect thereto ⁽⁴⁾. Highway Board may contract to repair highways for the repair of which other parties are liable.

24. The highway board may apply, under section thirty-five of the "Highway Act of 1862," for the purpose of making any highway to which that section refers a highway to be repaired and maintained by the parish in which the same is situate, and upon such application being made the same proceedings may be had as upon the application of the person or corporation liable to repair the same ⁽¹⁾.

25. The seventy-fourth section of the "Highway Act, 1835," shall be repealed, and instead thereof be it enacted, if any horse, mare, gelding, bull, ox, cow, heifer, steer, calf, mule, ass, sheep, lamb, goat, kid, or swine is at any time found straying on or lying about any highway, or across any part thereof or by the sides thereof ⁽²⁾ (except on such parts of any highway as pass over any common or waste or uninclosed ground) ⁽³⁾, the owner or owners thereof shall, for every animal so found straying or lying, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five shillings, to be recovered in a summary manner, together with the reasonable expense of removing such animal from the happen, be a charge on the common fund of such highway district, and shall be annually provided for in the same manner as is enacted in the thirty-second section of the Highway Act, 1864, in respect to the salaries of the officers appointed for the district."

Section 11. "It shall be lawful for any surveyor of any highway district to raise stone or other material within any highway district for the repair of any turnpike road which may be thrown upon any highway district by the preceding clause of this bill in the same manner and with the like powers and on payment of such compensation for the same as the trustees of a turnpike road are now empowered by law to do."

Section 12. "Where a turnpike road shall have become an ordinary highway, all bridges which were previously repaired by the trustees of such turnpike road shall become county bridges, and shall be kept in repair accordingly: Provided that, for the purposes of this Act, such bridges shall be treated as if they were bridges built subsequently to the passing of the Act of the fifth and sixth years of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, chapter 50, intituled 'An Act to consolidate and amend the laws relating to Highways in that part of Great Britain called England.'"

Section 13. "Where a turnpike road extending into two or more counties shall become an ordinary highway, in lieu of the certificate required by the seventh section of the 'Annual Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1868,' to be given by two justices before the trustees can award compensation to their officers, there shall be required a certificate by two justices of each county into which such turnpike road may extend, and each of such certificates shall certify that such part of the road that lies within the county for which the justices giving the certificate are acting was at the time at which it became an ordinary highway in complete and effectual repair."

By the Annual Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 85, it is provided:—

Section 14. "A highway board may, if they think fit, either repair, or contribute to the repair, of a turnpike road within their district, notwithstanding that no order of contribution may have been made upon the board in pursuance of the first section of the Annual Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1863, and all moneys so expended by the board shall be deemed to be expenses incurred for the common use or benefit of the several parishes within such district, and shall be charged accordingly on the district fund, and this section shall be deemed to take effect from the 1st of January, 1872."

Qualification of ex officio waywardens.

Secs. 30-33.

Appointment of officers of board.

Power to appoint paid collectors of highway rates.

30. The appointment of any officer of a highway board may be made by a minute of the board, signed by the chairman and countersigned by the clerk of the board, and any appointment so made shall be as valid as if it were made under the seal of the board ⁽¹⁾.

31. The power of appointing paid collectors of highway rates with the consent of the inhabitants in vestry assembled, which is vested in a surveyor by the "Highway Act, 1835" ⁽²⁾, and all the provisions of that Act relating to such appointment, shall be vested in and extend to any waywarden required to levy rates in pursuance of the "Highway Act, 1862," and this Act, or either of such Acts; and for the purposes of this Act any meeting of ratepayers entitled to elect a waywarden or waywardens ⁽³⁾ shall be deemed to be included under the expression "inhabitants in vestry assembled" ⁽⁴⁾, as used in this section, and the Highway Acts.

As to Expenses of Board.

Expenses how to be charged.

32. [Repeal of sections 20, 21, 22, 23, and 24 of Highway Act, 1862 ⁽⁵⁾.]
The salaries of the officers appointed for each district, and any other expenses incurred by any highway board for the common use or benefit of the several parishes within such district, shall be annually charged to a district fund to be contributed by and charged upon the several highway parishes within such district in proportion to the rateable value of the property in each parish, but the expenses of maintaining and keeping in repair the highways of each highway parish within the district, and all other expenses legally payable by the highway board in relation to such parish, including any sums of money that would have been payable out of the highway rates of such parish if the same had not become part of a highway district, except such expenses as are in this Act authorised to be charged to the district fund, shall be a separate charge on each parish ⁽⁶⁾.

The rateable value of the property in each parish shall be ascertained according to the valuation list ⁽⁷⁾ or other estimate for the time being in force in such parish for the purposes of the poor rate, or if no such valuation list or estimate be in force, then in such manner as may be determined by the justices in petty sessions, subject to an appeal by any person aggrieved to the next general or quarter sessions.

Mode of defraying expenses of the highway
board.

33. For the purpose of obtaining payment from the several highway parishes within their district of the sums to be contributed by them, the highway board shall order precepts to be issued to the waywardens or overseers of the said parishes according to the provisions hereinafter contained, stating the sum to be contributed by each parish, and requiring the officer to whom the precept is addressed, within a time to be limited by the precept, to pay the sum therein mentioned to the treasurer of the board ⁽⁸⁾.

Where a highway parish is not a parish separately maintaining its own poor, or where in any highway parish it has, for a period of not less than seven years immediately preceding the passing of the "Highway Act, 1862," been the custom of the surveyor of highways for such parish to levy a highway rate in respect of property not subject by law to be assessed to poor rates, the precept of the highway board shall be addressed to the waywarden of the parish, and in all other cases it shall be addressed to the overseers. Secs. 33-35.

Where the precept is addressed to a waywarden he shall pay the sum thereby required out of a separate rate, and such separate rate shall, in the case of a parish in which for such period aforesaid it has been the custom of the surveyor of highways to levy a highway rate in respect of property not subject by law to be assessed to poor rate, be assessed on and levied from the persons and in respect of the property on, from, and in respect of which the same has been assessed and levied during such period as aforesaid, and in all other cases such rate shall be assessed on and levied from the persons and in respect of the property on, from, and in respect of which a poor rate would be assessable and leviable if the parish of which he is a waywarden were a place separately maintaining its own poor ⁽¹⁾.

No rate leviable by a waywarden under this Act shall be payable until the same has been published in manner in which rates for the relief of the poor are by law required to be published ⁽²⁾.

A waywarden shall account to the highway board for the amount of all rates levied by him, and at the expiration of his term of office shall pay any surplus in his hands arising from any rate so levied, above the amount for which the rate was made, to the treasurer of the highway board, to the credit of the parish within which such rate was made, and such surplus shall go in reduction of the next highway rate that may be leviable in such parish ⁽³⁾.

Where the precept is addressed to the overseers they shall pay the sum thereby required out of a poor rate to be levied by them, or out of any moneys in their hands applicable to the relief of the poor.

No contribution required to be paid by any parish at any one time in respect of highway rates shall exceed the sum of tenpence in the pound, and the aggregate of contributions required to be paid by any parish in any one year in respect of highway rates shall not exceed the sum of two shillings and sixpence in the pound, except with the consent of four-fifths of the ratepayers of the parish in which such excess may be levied present at a meeting specially called for the purpose, of which ten days' previous notice has been given by the waywarden of such parish, and then only to such extent as may be determined by such meeting ⁽⁴⁾.

All sums of money payable in pursuance of the precepts of a highway board shall, whether they are or not payable by the overseers of the poor, be subject to all charges to which ordinary highway rates are subject by law.

34. All waywardens and overseers to whom precepts of a highway board are hereby directed or authorised to be issued shall within their respective parishes have the same powers, remedies, and privileges, for and in respect of assessing and levying any rates required to be levied for making payments to a highway board, in the case of overseers, as they have in assessing and levying ordinary rates for the relief of the poor, and in the case of waywardens as they would have if the parish of which they are waywardens were a place separately maintaining its own poor, and they were overseers thereof, and the rate to be levied by them were a duly authorised poor rate ⁽⁵⁾.

35. If any payment required to be made by the overseers or waywardens of any parish of monies due to a highway board is in arrear, it shall be lawful for any justice, on application under the hand of the chairman for the time being or by Accounts of Board.

36. [Sections 25, 26, and 30 of Highway Act, 1862, repealed, and other provisions substituted ⁽¹⁾].

Within thirty days after the signature ⁽²⁾ of the accounts by the chairman the board shall cause a statement showing the receipt and expenditure in respect of each parish, and the apportioned part of expenditure chargeable thereto in respect of the district fund, and such other particulars and in such form as the Secretary of State ⁽³⁾ may direct, to be printed, and sent by post or otherwise to each member of the board, and to the overseers of every parish within the district having overseers; and the clerk of the board shall furnish a copy of such statement to any ratepayer or owner of property situate within the district, on his application, and on the payment of a sum not exceeding one penny.

The books of account of the board shall at all seasonable times be open to the inspection of any ratepayer of any highway parish within the district of the board.

Persons aggrieved by rates levied may appeal in manner provided by 6 &
7 Will. IV., c.
96.

37. If any person feels aggrieved by any rate levied on him for the purpose of raising monies payable under a precept of a highway board, on the ground of incorrectness in the valuation of any property included in such rate, or of any person being put on or left out of such rate, or of the inequality or unfairness of the sum charged on any person or persons therein, he may appeal to the justices in special sessions in manner provided by the Act of the session of the sixth and seventh years of the reign of his Majesty, King William the Fourth, chapter ninety-six, sections six and seven, and all the provisions of the said section shall be applicable to such appeal ⁽⁴⁾.

⁽⁴⁾ The provisions are as follows:—

Section 6. "The justices acting in and for every petty sessions division shall, four times at least in every year, hold a special sessions for hearing appeals against the rates of the several parishes within their respective divisions, and shall cause public notice of the time and place when and where such special sessions will be holden to be affixed to or near to the door of the parish church of the said parishes twenty-eight days at the least before the holding of the same, and such special sessions shall and may be adjourned from time to time by the justices there present as they may think fit, and at such special or adjourned sessions the justices there present shall hear and determine all objections to any such rate on the ground of inequality, unfairness, or incorrectness in the valuation of any hereditaments included therein, which decision shall be binding and conclusive on the parties unless the person or persons impugning such decision shall within fourteen days after the same shall have been made cause notice to be given in writing of his, her, or their intention of appealing against such decision and of the matter or cause of such appeal to the person or persons in whose favour such decision shall have been made, and within five days after giving such notice shall enter into a recognizance before some justice of the peace, with sufficient securities, conditioned to

38. Where any waywarden of a highway parish of a district, or any ratepayer of such parish, feels aggrieved in respect of the matters following:—

- (1.) In respect of any order of the highway board for the repair of any highway in his parish on the ground that such highway is not legally repairable by the parish, or in respect of any other order of the board on the ground that the matter to which such order relates is one in regard to which the board have no jurisdiction to make an order;
- (2.) In respect of any item of expense charged to the separate account of his parish on the ground that such item of expense has not in fact been incurred or has been incurred in respect of a matter upon which the board have no authority by law to make any expenditure whatever;
- (3.) In respect of any item of expenditure charged to the district fund on the ground that such item of expense has not in fact been incurred, or has been incurred in respect of a matter upon which the board has no authority by law to make any expenditure whatever;
- (4.) In respect of the contribution required to be made by each parish to the district fund on the ground that such amount, when compared with the contribution of other parishes in the district, is not according to the proportion required by this Act ⁽¹⁾;

Power to appeal to quarter sessions against items of expense and expenditure, &c.

he may, upon complying with the conditions hereinafter-mentioned, appeal to the court of general or quarter sessions having jurisdiction in the district; but no appeal shall be had in respect of any exercise of the discretion of the board in matters within their discretion; and no appeal shall be had except in respect of the matters and upon the grounds hereinbefore mentioned.

39. No appeal shall be entertained by any court of general or quarter sessions in pursuance of this Act, unless the following conditions have been complied with:—

Conditions of appeal to general or quarter sessions.

- (1.) Notice of the intention of appeal must be served by the appellant on the clerk of the highway board in the case of an appeal against an order try such appeal at the then next general sessions or quarter sessions of the peace which shall first happen, and to abide the order of, and pay such costs as shall be awarded by the justices at such quarter sessions, or any adjournment thereof, and such justices upon hearing and finally determining such matter of appeal shall and may, according to their discretion award such costs to the party or parties appealing or appealed against as they shall think proper, and their determination in or concerning the premises shall be conclusive and binding on all parties to all intents and purposes whatsoever. Provided always that no such objection shall be inquired into by the said justices in special sessions, unless notice of such objection in writing under the hand of the complainant shall have been given seven days at least before the day appointed for such special session to the collector, overseers, or other persons by whom such rate was made. Provided also that the said justices in special session shall not be authorized to inquire into the liability of any hereditaments to be rated, but only into the true value thereof, and into the fairness of the amount at which the same shall have been rated."

Section 7. "The justices present at any such special or adjourned session shall for the aforesaid purpose have all the powers of amending or quashing any such rate so objected to of any parish or other district within their division, and likewise of awarding costs to be paid by or to any of the parties, and of recovering such costs which any court of quarter sessions of the peace has upon appeals from any such rate, except as herein excepted. Provided always that no order of the said justices shall be removed by certiorari or otherwise into any of his Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster. Provided also that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to deprive any person or persons of the right to appeal against any rate to any court of general or quarter sessions. Provided, also, that no order of the said justices in special session shall be of any force pending any appeal touching the same subject-matter to the court of general or quarter sessions of the peace having jurisdiction to try such appeal, or in opposition to the order of any such Court upon such appeal."

(1) See section 32, ante.

Secs. 39-43.

within two months after the order, and in the case of an appeal in respect of any item of expense or contribution within one month after the statement of the account of the board has been sent to each member of the board as hereinbefore mentioned ⁽¹⁾:

- (2.) The notice must state the matter appealed against, and the ground of the appeal:

On the receipt of the notice the board may serve a counter notice on the appellant, requiring him to appear in person or by his agent at the next meeting of the board, and support his appeal. On hearing the appellant the board may rectify the matter complained of, and if they do so to a reasonable extent, and tender to the appellant a reasonable sum for the costs of his attendance, it shall not be lawful for the appellant to proceed with his appeal. In any other case the appellant may proceed with his appeal, and the reasonable costs of his attendance on the board shall be deemed part of the costs of the appeal.

Power to refer case to arbitration.

40. If at any time after notice of appeal has been given it appears to the court of general or quarter sessions, on the application of either party in the presence of or after notice has been given to the other party, that the matter in question in such appeal consists only or in part of matters of mere account which cannot be satisfactorily tried by the court, it shall be lawful for such court to order that such matters, either wholly or in part, be referred to the arbitration of one or more persons, to be appointed by the parties, or, in case of disagreement, by the court; and the award made on such arbitration shall be enforceable by the same process as the order of the court of quarter sessions ⁽²⁾.

Provisions of 17 & 18 Vict. c. 125, incorporated.

41. The provisions of the "Common Law Procedure Act, 1854," relating to compulsory references, shall be deemed to extend to arbitrations directed by the court of quarter sessions; and the word "court" in the said Act shall be deemed to include the court of quarter sessions.

Proceedings on appeal.

42. If upon the hearing of the appeal it appears to the court that the question in dispute involves an inquiry as to whether a road is or is not a highway repairable by the public, or an inquiry as to any other important matter of fact, the court may either themselves decide such question, or may empanel a jury of twelve disinterested men out of the persons returned to serve as jurymen at such quarter sessions, and submit to such jury such questions in relation to the matters of fact in dispute as the court think fit; and the verdict of such jury, after hearing the evidence adduced, shall be conclusive as to the questions submitted to them.

The questions so submitted shall be in the form and shall be tried as nearly as may be in the manner in which feigned issues are ordinarily tried, and the court shall decide the parties to be plaintiffs and defendants in such trials ⁽³⁾.

Subject as aforesaid, the court may, upon the hearing of any appeal under this Act, confirm, reverse, or modify any order of the highway board, or rectify any account appealed against.

Costs of appeal.

43. If the appellant is successful, the costs shall, unless the court otherwise orders, be paid by the board, and shall be charged to the parishes within the jurisdiction of the board other than the parish to which the appellant belongs in the same proportions in which such parishes contribute to the common fund of the board. Secs. 43-46.

If the appellant is unsuccessful, the board, if the waywarden be the appellant, may charge the costs of the appeal to the parish to which the appellant belongs, in the same manner as if they were expenses incurred in repairing the roads in such parish, and may levy the sum accordingly, and may carry the sum so levied to the account of the several parishes within the jurisdiction of the board, other than the parish to which the appellant waywarden belongs, in the same manner as if they were expenses contributed by such parishes to the common fund of the board, but if some ratepayer other than the waywarden is the appellant, the court may order the costs of the appeal to be paid by such appellant; and such costs shall be recoverable in the same manner as a penalty is recovered under the "Highway Act, 1862" (1).

44. Places situate in different counties, and places situate partly in one county and partly in another county, when united in one highway district (2), shall, for all matters connected with the provisions of this Act relating to appeals to quarter sessions against accounts, be deemed to be subject to the jurisdiction of the justices of the county in which the district is situate to which such places shall have been united by any provisional and final order or orders, or to which after the passing of this Act any such district shall be declared to be subject by the orders constituting the same, in the same manner as if all such places or parts of places were situate in such county.

ing officers.

46. The justices assembled in petty sessions at their usual place of meeting may exercise any jurisdiction which they are authorised under the Highway Acts or any of them to exercise in special sessions; and no justice of the peace shall be disabled from acting as such at any petty or special or general quarter sessions in any matter merely on the ground that he is by virtue of his office a member of any highway board complaining, interested, or concerned in such matter, or has acted as such at any meeting of such board (4).

Section 47.

Power of highway board to make improvements and borrow money for the same, but previously to cause an estimate to be made.

47. A highway board may make such improvements as are hereinafter mentioned ⁽¹⁾ in the highways within their jurisdiction, and may, with the approval of the justices in general or quarter sessions assembled, borrow money for the purpose of defraying the expenses of such improvements:

Previously to applying for the approval of the justices the highway board shall cause an estimate of the expenses of the improvements to be made, and two months at the least before making their application shall give notice of their intention so to do.

The notice shall state the following particulars:

- (1.) The nature of the work, the estimated amount of expense to be incurred, and the sum proposed to be borrowed:
- (2.) The parish or parishes within the district by which the sum borrowed and the interest thereon is to be paid, and in case of more parishes than one within their respective jurisdictions to make, do, and execute all and every act or acts, matter or matters, thing or things, appertaining to their office as justice or justices of the peace, so far as the same relates to the laws for the relief, maintenance, and settlement of poor persons, for passing and punishing vagrants, for repair of the highways, or to any other laws concerning parochial taxes, levies, or rates, notwithstanding any such justice or justices of the peace is or are rated to or chargeable with the taxes, levies, or rates within any such parish, township, or place affected by any such act or acts of such justice or justices as aforesaid."

Section 3. "Provided always—that this Act or anything therein contained shall not authorise or empower any justice or justices of the peace for any county or riding at large to act in the determination of any appeal to the quarter sessions for any such county or riding from any order, matter, or thing relating to any such parish, township, or place where such justice or justices of the peace is or are so charged, taxed, or chargeable as aforesaid, anything herein contained to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding."

Abolition of tolls on turnpike roads an improvement.

Now by the Annual Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 85, it is provided as follows:—

Section 15. "For the purpose of facilitating the abolition of tolls on any turnpike road within or passing through a highway district, the highway board and the trustees of the turnpike road may mutually agree that the highway board shall take upon themselves the maintenance and repair of such turnpike road, or so much thereof as is within their district, and thereupon the highway board shall pay off and discharge, where the turnpike is wholly within the highway district, the debt that may remain and be subsisting on the trusts of such turnpike road, or such sum by way of composition, but in full discharge of such debt, as the Local Government Board may after inquiry determine, and where the turnpike is not wholly within such district, such sum as the Local Government Board may in like manner determine as an equitable proportion of such debt or composition for the same.

"The abolition of such tolls shall be deemed to be an improvement of highways within the meaning of sections 47, 48, and 50 of 'The Highway Act, 1864,' and for such purpose the highway board may borrow money in accordance with the provisions of those sections, subject to the following provisions, viz.: 'That the improvement shall be deemed to be on behalf of all the parishes within the district, and each parish shall contribute thereto in the same proportion as it contributes to the district fund.'"

And by the Annual Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1873, 36 & 37 Vict. c. 90, it is provided that—

Section 16. "The abolition of the tolls on a turnpike road in consequence of any such order as aforesaid (i.e., order of Local Government Board under section 15), shall in the case of a highway district be deemed to be an improvement of highways within the meaning of sections 47, 48, and 50 of 'The Highway Act, 1864,' and for such purpose the highway board may borrow money in accordance with the provisions of those sections, subject to the following provisions, viz.: 'That the improvement shall be deemed to be on behalf of all the parishes within the district, and each parish shall contribute thereto in the same proportion as it contributes to the district fund.'" being made liable to pay the principal and interest the annual amounts to be contributed by each parish towards the payment thereof : Secs. 47-50.

(3.) The number of years within which the principal moneys borrowed are to be paid off, not exceeding twenty years, and the amount to be set apart in each year for paying off the same:

(4.) The sessions at which the application is to be made.

Notice shall be given as follows:—

(1.) By transmitting a copy to the clerk of the peace for the county or division:

(2.) By placing a copy of such notice for three successive Sundays on the church door of every church of the parish or parishes on behalf of which such works are to be done, or, in the case of any place not having a church, in some conspicuous position in such place.

Upon the hearing of the application any person or persons may oppose the approval of the justices being given, and it shall be lawful for the justices to give or withhold their approval, with or without modification, as they think just.

All moneys borrowed in pursuance of this Act, together with the interest thereon, shall be a first charge on the highway rates of each parish liable to contribute to the payment thereof, after paying the sums due to the highway board on account of the district fund, in the same manner, so far as the creditor is concerned, as if the money had been borrowed on account of each parish alone; and the sums necessary to repay the said borrowed moneys, with interest, shall in each such parish be recoverable in the same manner as if they were expenses incurred by the board in keeping in repair the highways of that parish ⁽¹⁾.

But it shall be the duty of the highway board, in case of any one parish paying more than its share of such borrowed money, or of the interest thereon, to make good to that parish the excess so paid out of the rates of the other parishes liable to contribute thereto.

The justices may from time to time make general orders in relation to the mode in which applications are to be made to them for their consent under this Act to the borrowing of any moneys.

48. The following works shall be deemed to be improvements of highways:

(1.) The conversion of any road that has not been stoned into a stoned road:

(2.) The widening of any road, the cutting off the corners in any road where land is required to be purchased for that purpose, the levelling roads, the the making any new road, and the building or enlarging bridges:

(3.) The doing of any other work in respect of highways beyond ordinary repairs essential to placing any existing highway in a proper state of repair ⁽²⁾.

49. Any parish may, with the consent of its waywarden, contribute to any improvements ⁽³⁾ made in another parish, whether situate or not in the same district, if such first mentioned parish consider such improvements to be for its benefit; and any highway board may contribute to any improvements ⁽³⁾ made in another district if such improvements are, in the opinion of the highway board of the first-mentioned district, for the benefit of their district. The contribution to be made by one parish to another shall be payable in the same manner as if such contributions were moneys due from the contributing parish in respect of expenses incurred in keeping in repair the highways of that parish, and moneys contributed by one district to another district shall be payable out of the common fund of the contributing district.

50. The clauses of "The Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847," with respect to mortgages ⁽⁴⁾ to be created by the commissioners, shall form part of and be incorporated with this Act, and any mortgagee or assignee may enforce payment of his principal and interest by appointment of a receiver.

Definition of improvements.

Power for parishes and districts to contribute to improvements.

Certain clauses of 10 & 11 Vict. c. 16 incorporated.

⁽²⁾ Now as to the abolition of tolls on turnpike roads, see note, ante, p. 872.

⁽³⁾ See the preceding section.

⁽⁴⁾ I.e., sections 75-88. The Act will be found, post.

Secs. 50-53. In the construction of the said clauses "the commissioners" shall mean "the highway board."

Mortgages and transfers of mortgages shall be valid if made in the forms prescribed by the last-mentioned Act, or in the forms appearing in the second schedule annexed to this Act, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

As to encroachment on highways.

51. From and after the passing of this Act if any person shall encroach by making or causing to be made any building, or pit, or hedge, ditch, or other fence, or by placing any dung, compost, or other materials for dressing land, or any rubbish, on the side or sides of any carriageway or cartway within fifteen feet of the centre thereof, or by removing any soil or turf from the side or sides of any carriageway or cartway, except for the purpose of improving the road, and by order of the highway board, or, where there is no highway board, of the surveyor, he shall be subject on conviction for every such offence to any sum not exceeding forty shillings, notwithstanding that the whole space of fifteen feet from the centre of such carriageway or cartway has not been maintained with stones for other materials used in forming highways ⁽¹⁾; and it shall be lawful for the justices assembled at petty sessions, upon proof to them made upon oath, to levy the expenses of taking down such building, hedge, or fence, or filling up such ditch or pit, and removing such dung, compost, materials, or rubbish as aforesaid, or restoring the injury caused by the removal of such soil or turf upon the person offending: Provided always, that where any carriageway or cartway is fenced on both sides no encroachment as aforesaid shall be allowed whereby such carriageway or cartway shall be reduced in width to less than thirty feet between the fences on each side.

Power to contract for materials for repairing highways.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18 and 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106 incorporated.

52. The highway board may and is hereby authorised to contract for purchasing, getting, and carrying the materials required for the repair of the highways, and for maintaining and keeping in repair all or any part of the highways of any parish within their highway district, for any period not exceeding three years ⁽²⁾.

53. A highway board for the purpose of improving the highways within their district may purchase such lands or easements relating to lands as they may require; and "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," and the Act amending the same passed in the session of the twenty-third and twenty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter one hundred and six, shall be incorporated with this Act ⁽³⁾, with the exception of the clauses relating to the purchase of land otherwise than by agreement.

In the construction of this Act and the said incorporated Acts this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the board shall be deemed to be the promoters of the undertaking, and the word "land" or "lands" shall include any easement in or out of lands.

⁽¹⁾ The words "sides of any carriage or cartway" mean any land forming part of the highway, though not part of the metalled road, but they do not extend to land which, though by the side of the road, has not been dedicated as highway to the use of the public: Easton v. Richmond Board, L. R. 7 Q. B. 69, 41 L. J. M. C. 25, 25 L. T. N. S. 586, 20 W. R. 203, 36 J. P. 485; Field v. Thorne, 20 L. T. N. S. 563, S. C. nom. Thorne v. Field, 33 J. P. 727.

Proceedings must be taken within six months, as limited by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11, after the committing of the act complained of, for the encroachment is not a continuing offence: Coggins v. Bennett, L. R. 2 C. P. D. 568; Ranking v. Forbes, 34 J. P. 486.

As to soil, rubbish, &c., laid on highway so as to be a nuisance, see the Highway Act, 1835, section 73, ante, p. 806.

⁽²⁾ See section 22, and note thereto, ante, p. 863.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

Proceedings of Highway Boards.

- (1.) The board shall meet for the despatch of business, and shall from time to time make such regulations with respect to the summoning, notice, place, management, and adjournment of such meetings, and generally with respect to the transaction and management of business, including the quorum at meetings of the board, as they think fit, subject to the following conditions:
 - (a.) The first meeting after the formation of the district shall be held at the time and place fixed by the order of the justices in that behalf;
 - (b.) One ordinary meeting shall be held in each period of four months, and of such meetings one shall be held on some day between the seventh and fourteenth days of April;
 - (c.) An extraordinary meeting may be summoned at any time on the requisition of three members of the board addressed to the clerk of the board;
 - (d.) The quorum to be fixed by the board shall consist of not less than three members;
 - (e.) Every question shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members voting on that question;
 - (f.) The names of the members present at a meeting shall be recorded.
- (2.) The board shall at the first meeting, and afterwards from time to time at their first meeting after each annual appointment of members of the board as hereafter mentioned, appoint one of their members to be chairman, and one other of their members to be a vice-chairman, for the year following such choice.
- (3.) If any casual vacancy occur in the office of chairman or vice-chairman, the board shall, as soon as they conveniently can after the occurrence of such vacancy, choose some member of their number to fill such vacancy; and every such chairman or vice-chairman so elected as last aforesaid shall continue in office so long only as the person in whose place he may be so elected would have been entitled to continue if such vacancy had not happened.
- (4.) If at any meeting the chairman is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the vice-chairman shall be the chairman of the meeting; and if neither the chairman nor vice-chairman shall be present, then the members present shall choose some one of their number to be a chairman of such meeting.
- (5.) In case of an equality of votes at any meeting, the chairman for the time being of such meeting shall have a second or casting vote.
- (6.) All orders of the board for payment of money, and all precepts issued by the board, shall be deemed to be duly executed if signed by two or more members of the board authorised to sign them by a resolution of the board, and countersigned by the clerk; but it shall not be necessary in any legal proceeding to prove that the members signing any such order or precept were authorised to sign them, and such authority shall be presumed until the contrary is proved.

HIGHWAYS AND LOCOMOTIVES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1878.

41 & 42 VICT. c. 77.

An Act to amend the Law relating to Highways in England and the Acts relating to Locomotives on Roads; and for other purposes. [16th August, 1878.]

Whereas it is expedient to amend the law relating to highways in England, and to amend the Locomotive Acts, 1861 and 1865 ⁽¹⁾: Sees. 1—4.

Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows: 24 & 25 Vict. c. 70.
28 & 29 Vict. c. 83.

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be cited as the "Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878." Short title.

2. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland; and, save as is by this Act expressly provided, Part I. of this Act shall not apply to the Isle of Wight ⁽²⁾; nor to any part of the metropolis; nor to any part of a county to which the Act passed in the session of the twenty-third and twenty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter sixty-eight, intituled "An Act for the better Management and Control of the Highways in South Wales" ⁽³⁾, extends. Application of Act.

PART I.

AMENDMENT OF HIGHWAY LAW.

Highway Districts.

3. In forming any highway districts, or in altering the boundaries of any highway districts ⁽⁴⁾, the county authority shall have regard to the boundaries of the rural sanitary districts ⁽⁵⁾ in their county, and shall, so far as may be found practicable, form highway districts so as to be coincident in area with rural sanitary districts, or wholly contained within rural sanitary districts. Highway districts to be made so far as possible coincident with rural sanitary districts.

4. Where a highway district, whether formed before or after the passing of this Act, is or becomes coincident in area with a rural sanitary district ⁽⁶⁾, the rural sanitary authority ⁽⁶⁾ of such district may apply to the county authority ⁽⁶⁾, stating that they are desirous to exercise the powers of a highway board under the Highway Acts ⁽⁷⁾ within their district. Power for rural sanitary authority of district coincident with highway district to become highway board.

On such application the county authority may, if they see fit, by order declare that from and after a day to be named in the order (in this Act called the commencement of the order) such rural sanitary authority shall exercise all the powers of a highway board under the Highway Acts ⁽⁷⁾; and as from the commencement of the order the existing highway board (if any) for the district shall be dissolved, and waywardens or surveyors shall not hold office or be elected for any parish in the district.

⁽³⁾ This Act will be found post.

⁽⁴⁾ See the Highway Act, 1862, sections 5, 6, 39, ante, pp. 840, 841, 853.

⁽⁵⁾ See section 38, post, and the Public Health Act, 1875, section 9, ante, p. 50.

Secs. 4—7. An order made under this section may be amended, altered, or rescinded by a subsequent order of the county authority.

Where a highway district, being coincident in area with a rural sanitary district, is situate in more than one county, an order under this section may be made by the county authority of any county in which any part of such district is situate, but such order, and any order amending, altering, or rescinding the same, shall not be of any force or effect until it has been approved by the county authority or authorities of the other county or counties in which any part of such district is situate.

Consequences of rural sanitary authority becoming highway
board.

5.—(1.) From and after the commencement of the order declaring a rural sanitary authority ⁽¹⁾ entitled to exercise the powers of a highway board within their district, the following consequences shall ensue :

All such property, real or personal, including all interests, easements, and rights in, to, and out of property real and personal, and including things in action, as belongs to or is vested in, or would but for such order have belonged to or been vested in the highway board, or any surveyor or surveyors of any parish forming part of the district, shall pass to and vest in the rural sanitary authority for all the estate and interest of the highway board, or of such surveyor or surveyors, but subject to all debts and liabilities affecting the same :

All debts and liabilities incurred in respect of any property transferred to the rural sanitary authority may be enforced against that authority to the extent of the property transferred :

All such powers, rights, duties, liabilities, capacities, and incapacities (except the power of obtaining payment of their expenses by the issue of precepts in manner provided by the Highway Acts ⁽²⁾), or the powers of making, assessing, and levying highway rates) as are vested in or attached to, or would but for such order have become vested in or attached to, the highway board, or any surveyor or surveyors of any parish forming part of the district, shall vest in and attach to the rural sanitary authority :

All property by this Act transferred to the rural sanitary authority shall be held by them on trust for the several parishes for the benefit of which it was held previously to such transfer.

(2.) If at any time after a rural sanitary authority has become invested with the powers of a highway board in pursuance of this Act, the boundaries of the district of such authority are altered, the powers and jurisdiction of such authority in their capacity of highway board shall be exercised within such altered district ; and on the application of any authority or person interested the Local Government Board may by order provide for the adjustment of any accounts, or the settlement of any doubt or difference so far as relates to highways consequent on the alteration of the boundaries of such rural sanitary district.

(3.) All expenses incurred by a rural sanitary authority in the performance of their duties as a highway board shall be deemed to be general expenses of such authority within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽³⁾.

6. Any two or more highway boards may unite in appointing and paying the salary of a district surveyor, who shall in relation to the district of each of the boards by whom he is appointed have all the powers and duties of a district surveyor under the Highway Acts ⁽²⁾.

7. All expenses incurred by any highway board in maintaining and keeping in repair the highways of each parish within their district, and all other expenses legally incurred by such board, shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Highway Acts ⁽²⁾, on and after the twenty-fifth day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, be deemed to have been incurred for the common use or benefit of the several parishes within their district, and shall be charged on the district fund : Provided, that if a highway board think it just, by reason of natural differences of soil or locality, or other exceptional circumstances, that any parish or parishes within their district should bear the expenses of maintaining its or their own highways, they may (with the approval of the county authority⁽¹⁾ or authorities of the county or counties within which their district, or any part thereof, is situate) divide their district into two or more parts, and charge exclusively on each of such parts the expenses payable by such highway board in respect of maintaining and keeping in repair the highways situate in each such part; so, nevertheless, that each such part shall consist of one or more highway parish or highway parishes.

Secs. 7—10.

8. All moneys borrowed by a highway board after the twenty-fifth day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, under the Highway Acts, shall be charged on the district fund, but nothing in this Act shall affect the security, chargeability, or repayment of any moneys borrowed before the twenty-fifth day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine⁽²⁾.

Charge of moneys to be hereafter borrowed.

9. The accounts of the highway authority of every highway district and highway parish shall be made up in such form as the Local Government Board shall from time to time prescribe, and shall be balanced to the twenty-fifth day of March in each year, and as soon as conveniently may be after such day the said accounts shall be audited and examined by the auditor of accounts relating to the relief of the poor [for the audit district in which the highway district or highway parish, or the greater part thereof in rateable value, is situate⁽³⁾.]

Audit of accounts of highway districts and parishes.

Every such auditor shall (as nearly as may be) have, in relation to the accounts of the highway authority of a highway district or highway parish, and of their officers, the same powers and duties as he has in the case of accounts relating to the relief of the poor⁽⁴⁾; and any person aggrieved by the decision of the auditor shall have the same rights and remedies as in the case of such last-mentioned audit⁽⁵⁾.

[The auditor shall receive such remuneration as the Local Government Board direct; and such remuneration, together with the expenses incident to the audit, shall be paid by the highway authority of the highway district or highway parish out of the fund or rate applicable to the repair of highways within such district or parish; and such remuneration and expenses may, in default of payment, be recovered in a summary manner⁽³⁾.]

Section forty-four of the Highway Act, 1835, is hereby repealed, and section thirty-six of the Highway Act, 1864, is hereby repealed down to the words "to be paid out of the district fund," and the statement of receipt and expenditure by the said section directed to be furnished by every highway board within thirty days after the signature of the accounts by the chairman shall be furnished within thirty days after the completion of the audit under this section.

5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50.
27 & 28 Vict. c. 101.

Nothing in this section shall affect any proceeding commenced before the passing of this Act.

10. Where complaint is made to the county authority that the highway authority of any highway area within their jurisdiction has made default in maintaining or repairing all or any of the highways within their jurisdiction, the county authority, if satisfied after due inquiry and report by their surveyor that the authority has been guilty of the alleged default, shall make an order limiting a time for the performance of the duty of the highway authority in the matter of such complaint.

Secs. 10-13. If such duty is not performed by the time limited in the order, and the highway authority ⁽¹⁾ fail to show to the county authority sufficient cause why the order has not been complied with, the county authority ⁽¹⁾ may appoint some person to perform such duty, and shall by order direct that the expenses of performing the same, together with the reasonable remuneration of the person appointed for superintending such performance, shall be paid by the authority in default, and any order made for payment of such expenses and costs may be removed into the High Court of Justice, and be enforced in the same manner as if the same were an order of such court ⁽²⁾.

Any person appointed under this section to perform the duty of a defaulting highway authority shall, in the performance and for the purpose of such duty, be invested with all the powers of such authority other than the powers of making rates or levying contributions by precept, and the county authority may from time to time, by order, change any person so appointed.

Where an order has been made by a county authority for the repair of a highway on a highway authority alleged to be in default, if such authority, within ten days after service on them of the order of the county authority, give notice to the clerk of the peace that they decline to comply with the requisitions of such order until their liability to repair the highway in respect to which they are alleged to have made default has been determined by a jury, it shall be the duty of the county authority either to satisfy the defaulting authority by cancelling or modifying in such manner as the authority may desire the order of the county authority, or else to submit to a jury the question of the liability of the defaulting authority to repair the highway.

If the county authority decide to submit the question to a jury they shall direct a bill of indictment to be preferred to the next practicable assizes to be holden in and for their county, with a view to try the liability of the defaulting authority to repair the highway ⁽³⁾. Until the trial of the indictment is concluded the order of the county authority shall be suspended. On the conclusion of the trial, if the jury find the defendants guilty, the order of the county authority shall forthwith be deemed to come into force; but if the jury acquit the defendants the order of the county authority shall forthwith become void.

The costs of the indictment, and of the proceedings consequent thereon, shall be paid by such parties to the proceedings as the court before whom the case is tried may direct. Any costs directed to be paid by the county authority shall be deemed to be expenses properly incurred by such authority, and shall be paid accordingly out of the county rate; and any costs directed to be paid by the highway authority shall be deemed to be expenses properly incurred by such authority in maintenance of the roads within their jurisdiction, and shall be paid out of the funds ⁽⁴⁾ applicable to the maintenance of such roads.

11. Notwithstanding anything in the Highway Acts, waywardens shall continue in office till the thirtieth day of April in the year following the year in which they were elected, and on that day their successors shall come into office ⁽⁵⁾.

12. So much of section seven of the Highway Act, 1862, as prohibits the inclusion in a highway district of any parish or place the highways of which were, at the time of the passing of that Act, or within six months afterwards, under the superintendence of a board established in pursuance of section eighteen of the principal Act, unless with the consent of such board, is hereby repealed.

Provided that no part of such expenses shall be included in—

- (1.) Any precept or warrant for the levying or collection of county rate within the metropolis, subject and without prejudice to any provision to be hereafter made; or
- (2.) Any order made on the council of any borough having a separate court of quarter sessions under section one hundred and seventeen of the Municipal Corporation Act, 1835 (6).

The term “expenses” (7) in this section shall mean the cost of repairs defrayed out of current rates, and shall not include any repayment of principal moneys borrowed, or of interest payable thereon.

(1) Where by the enlargement of the boundaries of a borough by a local Act, portions of turnpike roads entering the borough were by the operation of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 34, ss. 47—50, post, taken out of the turnpike trusts, such portions are not to be deemed main roads within this section, which applies only to the cesser or extinguishment and winding up of turnpike trusts whereby the entirety of the turnpike roads ceases to be such: JJ. of Lancashire v. Mayor of Rochdale, L. R. 8 App. Cas. 494, 53 L. J. M. C. 5, 49 L. T. N. S. 368, 32 W. R. 65, 48 J. P. 20 H. L.

A provision in Turnpike Acts coming into operation before the 31st of December, 1870, that turnpike trustees shall not spend money or levy toll upon certain portions of turnpike roads does not prevent such portions of the roads from being turnpike roads within this section: JJ. of West Riding v. R., L. R. 8 App. Cas. 781, 53 L. J. M. C. 41; S.C. nom. JJ. of W. Riding v. Mayor of Sheffield, 32 W. R. 253, 49 L. T. N. S. 786. So also where there was an agreement under the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 41 (see now Public Health Act, 1875, s. 148, ante, p. 115), made before the 31st December, 1870, between turnpike trustees and a corporation, under which the turnpikes upon certain portions of turnpike roads were removed, and the repair of such portions undertaken by the corporation: Id.

It is enacted by 44 & 45 Vict. c. 72 that from and after its passing (27th August, 1881) this section shall be read and construed as though the following words were inserted therein :

“Provided further, that no part of such expenses incurred from and after the 29th day of September, 1881, shall be included in any precept or warrant issued by the county authority for the county of Southampton for the levying or collection within the Isle of Wight of the county rate for the said county.”

(7) The cost of removing snow which rendered a main road impassable is an expense within the section: Amesbury Guardians v. JJ. of Wilts, L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 480, 52 L. J. M. C. 64, 31 W. R. 521, 47 J. P. 184.

c. 55.

14. The following areas shall be deemed to be highway areas for the purposes of this Act; (that is to say,)

(1.) Urban sanitary districts:

(2.) Highway districts:

(3.) Highway parishes not included within any highway district or any urban sanitary district ⁽¹⁾.

15. Where it appears to any highway authority that any highway within their district ought to become a main road by reason of its being a medium of communication between great towns, or a thoroughfare to a railway station, or otherwise, such highway authority may apply to the county authority for an order declaring such road, as to such parts as aforesaid, to be a main road; and the county authority, if of opinion that there is probable cause for the application, shall cause the road to be inspected, and, if satisfied that it ought to be a main road, shall make an order accordingly.

A copy of the order so made shall be forthwith deposited at the office of the clerk of the peace of the county, and shall be open to the inspection of persons interested at all reasonable hours; and the order so made shall not be of any validity unless and until it is confirmed by a further order of the county authority made within a period of not more than six months after the making of the first-mentioned order.

16. If it appears to a county authority that any road within their county which, within the period between the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy and the date of the passing of this Act, ceased to be a turnpike road ought not to become a main road in pursuance of this Act, such authority shall, before the first day of February one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, make application to the Local Government Board for a provisional order declaring that such road ought not to become a main road.

Subject as aforesaid, where it appears to a county authority that any road within their county which has become a main road in pursuance of this Act ought to cease to be a main road and become an ordinary highway, such authority may apply to the Local Government Board for a provisional order declaring that such road has ceased to be a main road and become an ordinary highway.

The Local Government Board, if of opinion that there is probable cause for an application under this section, shall cause the road to be inspected, and if satisfied that it ought not to become or ought to cease to be a main road and become an ordinary highway shall make a provisional order accordingly, to be confirmed as hereinafter mentioned ⁽²⁾.

All expenses incurred in or incidental to the making or confirmation of any order under this section shall be defrayed by the county authority applying for such order.

17. Where a turnpike road subject to one trust extends into divers counties, such road, for the purposes of this Act, shall be treated as a separate turnpike road in each county through which it passes ⁽³⁾.

18. Every highway authority ⁽¹⁾ shall keep, in such form as may be directed by the county authority ⁽¹⁾, a separate account of the expenses of the maintenance of the main roads within their jurisdiction, and shall forward copies thereof to the county authority at such time or times in every year as may be required by the county authority, and the accounts so kept shall, where the accounts of the highway authority are audited under this Act ⁽⁴⁾ or under section two hundred and forty-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽⁵⁾, be audited in the same manner as the other accounts of such authority, and where the accounts of the highway authority are not so audited shall be subject to such audit as the county authority may direct.

If any highway authority makes default in complying with the provisions of this section, or with any directions given in pursuance thereof by the county authority, the county authority may withhold all or any part of the contribution payable by them under this Act towards the expenses of the maintenance of main roads by such highway authority for the year in which such default occurs. Secs. 18-23.

19. Where a highway district ⁽¹⁾ is situate in more than one county, the provisions of this Act, with respect to the maintenance of main roads, shall apply as if the portion of such district situate in each county were a separate highway district in that county. Highway district situate in more than one county.

20. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act, in the case of any county in which certain of the bridges within the county are repairable by the county at large, and others are repairable by the several hundreds within the county in which they are situate, it shall be lawful for the county authority ⁽¹⁾ from time to time, by order, to declare any main road or part of a main road within their county to be repairable to the extent only and in manner provided by section thirteen of this Act, either by the county or by the hundred in which such main road or part is situate, as they think fit; and where a main road or part thereof is declared to be repairable by a hundred, the expense of repairing the same shall, to the extent to which but for this section the expense or any contribution towards the expense of repairing the same would be repayable out of the county rate, be repayable out of a separate rate which shall be raised and charged in the like manner as the expenses of repairing the hundred bridges in the same hundred would have been raised and charged. Repair of main roads in certain cases.

Bridges.

21. Any bridge erected before the passing of this Act in any county without such superintendence as is provided in section five of the statute of the forty-third year of King George the Third, chapter fifty-nine, and which is certified by the county surveyor or other person appointed in that behalf by the county authority to be in good repair and condition, shall, if the county authority see fit so to order, become and be deemed to be a bridge which the inhabitants of the county shall be liable to maintain and repair. Certain existing bridges may be accepted by county authority.

22. The county authority may make such contribution as it sees fit out of the county rates towards the cost of any bridge to be hereafter erected, after the same has been certified in accordance with the provisions of section five of the statute of the forty third year of King George the Third, chapter fifty-nine, as a proper bridge to be maintained by the inhabitants of the county; so always that such contribution shall not exceed one half the cost of erecting such bridge ⁽²⁾. Contribution out of county rates towards erecting bridges.

Extraordinary Traffic.

23. Where by a certificate of their surveyor it appears to the authority which is liable or has undertaken to repair any highway, whether a main road or not, that, having regard to the average expense of repairing highways in the neighbourhood, extraordinary expenses have been incurred by such authority in repairing such Power of road authority to recover expenses of extraordinary traffic.

⁽²⁾ By the County Bridges Loans Extension Act, 1880, 43 & 44 Vict. c. 5, it is provided as follows:—

Section 2. "Where, under section 22 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, the county authority, as defined by that Act, see fit to make a contribution towards the cost of a bridge erected as therein mentioned, they may borrow on mortgage of the county rate all or any part of the amount of such contribution in the same manner in every respect as if the amount to be borrowed had been the amount of an estimate made and approved in the manner mentioned in the Act of the 4th and 5th years of the reign of her Majesty, c. 49, hereinafter termed the principal Act, and all the powers, directions, and provisions of the principal Act shall extend and apply to the moneys borrowed under this Act, provided that the sum required for or towards any such contribution as aforesaid may be borrowed in exercise of the powers hereby conferred, although the same shall not exceed one-fourth of the amount of the ordinary annual assessment in the principal Act referred to."

Sec. 23. highway by reason of the damage caused by excessive weight passing along the same, or extraordinary traffic thereon, such authority may recover in a summary manner from any person by whose order such weight or traffic has been conducted the amount of such expenses as may be proved to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance of the case to have been incurred by such authority by reason of the damage arising from such weight or traffic as aforesaid ⁽¹⁾.

Provided that any person against whom expenses are or may be recoverable under this section may enter into an agreement with such authority as is mentioned in this section for the payment to them of a composition in respect of such weight or traffic, and thereupon the persons so paying the same shall not be subject to any proceedings under this section.

⁽¹⁾ "Excessive weight" and "extraordinary traffic" mean excessive and extraordinary with reference to the road itself and the ordinary uses of the road, and not with reference to the weight which by section 28, post, may lawfully be imposed upon it: Lord Aveland v. Lucas, L. R. 5 C. P. D. 211, 351, 49 L. J. C. P. 643, 28 W. R. 571, 42 L. T. N. S. 788, 44 J. P. 360. So, where stone was conveyed in heavy loads from quarries (in the district) so as to make the cost of repairing the roads much greater than if they had been subject to ordinary agricultural traffic, but stone traffic was a recognised business in the neighbourhood and the waggon loads of the usual weight in such traffic, it was held that the cost of repairing the roads was not extraordinary expenses within the meaning of the section: Wallington v. Hoskins, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 206, 50 L. J. M. C. 19, 43 L. T. N. S. 597, 45 J. P. 173, 29 W. R. 152. "I think nothing can be more to the point than the observation of my brother Lindley (in Lord Aveland v. Lucas, supra), which I adopt as my own. There the question related to extraordinary traffic and excessive weight, but I apply his expression to the words excessive weight and extraordinary expenses. He says, 'it appears to me that those words must mean excessive and extraordinary with reference to the ordinary use and traffic upon and over the road. If anything is done of an unusual and extraordinary kind the person doing it must pay for the damage thereby occasioned. It is the ordinary nature of the traffic over the road which is to be the standard.'" Ib. per Lord Coleridge, C. J. See also, Raglan Highway Board v. Monmouth Steam Co., 46 J. P. 598. Therefore, where materials for building a house were carried over a highway, so that the traffic was in aggregate weight and in quantity excessive compared with the ordinary traffic along the highway, which was light agricultural traffic, but did not materially differ in character from that to be expected on the highway, it was held that though the amount expended on the highway by reason thereof was in excess of the average expense of repairing highways in the neighbourhood, this was not extraordinary traffic within the section: Pickering Lythe East Highway Board v. Barry, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 59, 51 L. J. M. C. 17, 45 L. T. N. S. 655, 30 W. R. 246, 46 J. P. 215. The use of a large number of carts and their passage to and fro upon the highway more frequently than usual, is not extraordinary traffic within the section: R. v. Williamson, 45 J. P. 505. But the use of traction engines for the carriage of agricultural materials and produce upon a road not prepared or adapted for such use, and not generally so used, is extraordinary traffic upon the particular road: R. v. Ellis, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 466, 30 W. R. 613, S. C., nom. Ellis v. Maidstone Rural Authority, 46 J. P. 295.

A person, who hires a contractor by whom the traffic is carried on, is liable: Williams v. Davies, 44 J. P. 347. But see Barnett v. Hoo Board, 46 J. P. 805 (where the person actually doing the injury to the road was held liable).

The average expenses of repairing highways in the neighbourhood is not the sole test of the extraordinary expenses, though it is an element to be taken into consideration in estimating such expenses: Lord Aveland v. Lucas, supra.

As to recovery of expenses, see section 36, post.

The six months within which summary proceedings for the recovery of the expenses are to be taken must be computed from the certificate of the surveyor: Poole and Fordon Board v. Gunning, 51 L. J. M. C. 49, 46 L. T. N. S. 163, 31 W. R. 30, 46 J. P. 708. But see White v. Colson, 46 J. P. 565.

Sec. 24.

Discontinuance of unnecessary Highways.

Unnecessary highways may be declared not repairable at the public expense.

24. If any authority liable to keep any highway in repair is of opinion that so much of such highway as lies within any parish situate in a petty sessional division is unnecessary for public use, and therefore ought not to be maintained at the public expense, such authority (in this section referred to "as the applicant authority") may apply to the court of summary jurisdiction⁽¹⁾ of such petty sessional division to view by two or more justices, being members of the court, the highway to which such application relates, and on such view being had, if the court of summary jurisdiction is of opinion that the application ought to be proceeded with, it shall by notice in writing to the owners or reputed owners and occupiers of all lands abutting upon such highway, and by public notice, appoint a time and place, not earlier than one month from the date of such notice, at which it will be prepared to hear all persons objecting to such highway being declared unnecessary for public use, and not repairable at the expense of the public.

On the day and at the place appointed, the court shall hear any persons objecting to an order being made by the court that such highway is unnecessary for public use and ought not to be repairable at the public expense, and shall make an order either dismissing the application or declaring such highway unnecessary for public use, and that it ought not to be repaired at the public expense.

If the court make such last-mentioned order as aforesaid, the expenses of repairing such highway shall cease to be defrayed out of any public rate.

Public notice of the time and place appointed for hearing a case under this section shall be given by the applicant authority as follows; that is to say,

- (1.) By advertising a notice of the time and place appointed for the hearing and the object of the hearing, with a description of the highway to which it refers in some local newspaper circulating in the district in which such highway is situate once at least in each of the four weeks preceding the hearing; and
- (2.) By causing a copy of such notice to be affixed, at least fourteen days before the hearing, to the principal doors of every such church and chapel in the parish in which such highway is situate, or in some conspicuous position near such highway.

And the application shall not be entertained by the court until the fact of such public notice having been given is proved to its satisfaction.

If at any time after an order has been made by a court of summary jurisdiction under this section, upon application of any person interested in the maintenance of the highway in respect of which such order has been made, after one month's previous notice in writing thereof to the applicant authority, it appears to the court of quarter sessions that from any change of circumstances since the time of the making of any such order as aforesaid such highway has become of public use, and ought to be maintained at the public expense, the court of quarter sessions may direct that the liability of such highway to be maintained at the public expense shall revive from and after such day as they may name in their order, and such highway shall thenceforth be maintained out of the rate applicable to payment of the expenses of repairing other highways repairable by the applicant authority; and the said court of quarter sessions may by their order direct the expenses of and incident to such application to be paid as they may see fit⁽²⁾.

Any order of a court of summary jurisdiction under this section shall be deemed to be an order from which an appeal lies to a court of quarter sessions⁽³⁾.

IV. c. 50.

25. Whereas doubts have arisen whether a surveyor of highways can be appointed, in pursuance of the Highway Act, 1835 ⁽¹⁾, for a parish which does not maintain any highway: Be it therefore enacted, that it shall be lawful for the inhabitants in vestry assembled of any parish or place having a known legal boundary (notwithstanding that the inhabitants at large are not for the time being liable to maintain any highway or to contribute to any rate applicable to the maintenance of highways), or, on the neglect or refusal of such inhabitants, for justices at a special sessions for the highways or in petty sessions assembled, at any time to exercise all the powers of the Highway Acts with respect to the election or appointment of a surveyor of highways with or without a salary for such parish or place; and any surveyor so elected or appointed shall have all the powers and duties (including the power of making, assessing, and levying of highway rates) of a surveyor under the Highway Acts.

Bye-laws by County Authority.

Power of county authority to make bye-laws.

26. A county authority ⁽²⁾ may from time to time make, with respect to all or any main roads or other highways within any highway area ⁽³⁾ in their county, and when made alter or repeal, bye-laws for all or any of the purposes following ⁽⁴⁾; that is to say,

- (1.) For prohibiting or regulating the use of any waggon, wain, cart, or carriage drawn by animal power and having wheels of which the fellys or tires are not of such width in proportion to the weight carried by, or to the size of, or to the number of wheels of such waggon, wain, cart, or carriage, as may be specified in such bye-laws; and
- (2.) For prohibiting or regulating the use of any waggon, wain, cart, or other carriage drawn by animal power not having the nails on its wheels countersunk in such manner as may be specified in such bye-laws, or having on its wheels bars or other projections forbidden by such bye-laws; and
- (3.) For prohibiting or regulating the locking of the wheel of any waggon, wain, cart, or carriage drawn by animal power when descending a hill, unless there is placed at the bottom of such wheel during the whole time of its being locked a skidpan, slipper, or shoe in such manner as to prevent the road from being destroyed or injured by the locking of such wheel; and
- (4.) For prohibiting or regulating the erection of gates across highways, and prohibiting gates opening outwards on highways; and
- (5.) For regulating the use of bicycles.

Fines to be recovered summarily ⁽⁵⁾ may be imposed by any such bye-laws on persons breaking any bye-law made under this section, provided that no fine exceeds for any one offence the sum of two pounds, and that the bye-laws are so framed as to allow of the recovery of any sum less than the full amount of the fine.

This section shall extend to the Isle of Wight and to South Wales, as defined by the said Act of the twenty-third and twenty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter sixty-eight, intituled "An Act for the better management and control of the highways in South Wales" ⁽²⁾.

c. 70.
28 & 29 Vict.
c. 83.

- (1.) A locomotive ⁽⁴⁾ not drawing any carriage, and not exceeding in weight three tons, shall have the tires of the wheels thereof not less than three inches in width, with an additional inch for every ton or fraction of a ton above the first three tons; and
- (2.) A locomotive ⁽⁴⁾ drawing any waggon or carriage shall have the tires of the driving wheels thereof not less than two inches in width for every ton in weight of the locomotive, unless the diameter of such wheels shall exceed five feet, when the width of the tires may be reduced in the same proportion as the diameter of the wheels is increased, but in such case the width of such tires shall not be less than fourteen inches; and
- (3.) A locomotive shall ⁽⁴⁾ not exceed nine feet in width or fourteen tons in weight, except as in hereinafter provided; and
- (4.) The driving wheels of a locomotive ⁽⁴⁾ shall be cylindrical and smooth-soled, or shod with diagonal cross-bars of not less than three inches in width nor more than three-quarters of an inch in thickness, extending the full breadth of the tire, and the space intervening between each such cross-bar shall not exceed three inches ⁽⁵⁾.

The owner of any locomotive ⁽⁴⁾ used contrary to the foregoing provisions shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the mayor, aldermen, and commons in the city of London, and the Metropolitan Board of Works in the metropolis, exclusive of the city of London, and the council of any borough which has a separate court of quarter sessions, and the county authority of any county may, on the application of the owner of any locomotive exceeding nine feet in width or fourteen tons in weight, authorise such locomotive to be used on any turnpike road or highway within the areas

Provided also, that the owner of a locomotive used contrary to the provisions of sub-section two of this section shall not be deemed guilty of an offence under this section if he proves to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance of the case that such locomotive was constructed before the passing of this Act, and that the tires of the wheels thereof are not less than nine inches in width.

Amendment
of 28 & 29
Vict. c. 83,
s. 3.

29. The paragraph numbered "secondly" of section three of the Locomotive Act, 1865, is hereby repealed, so far as relates to England, and in lieu thereof the following paragraph is hereby substituted; namely,

"Secondly, one of such persons, while the locomotive ⁽¹⁾ is in motion, shall precede by at least twenty yards the locomotive on foot, and shall in case of need assist horses, and carriages drawn by horses, passing the same" ⁽²⁾.

Steam locomotives to be constructed so as to consume their smoke.
24 & 25 Vict.
c. 70.

30. Section eight of the Locomotive Act, 1861, is hereby repealed, so far as relates to England; and in lieu thereof, be it enacted that every locomotive ⁽¹⁾ used on any turnpike road or highway shall be constructed on the principle of consuming its own smoke; and any person using any locomotive not so constructed, or not consuming, so far as practicable, its own smoke, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which such locomotive is used on any such turnpike road or highway.

Power to local authorities to make orders as to hours during which locomotives may pass over roads.
28 & 29 Vict.
c. 83.

31. Section eight of the Locomotive Act, 1865, is hereby repealed, so far as relates to England; and in lieu thereof, be it enacted that the mayor, aldermen, and commons in the city of London, and the Metropolitan Board of Works in the metropolis, exclusive of the city of London, and the council of any borough which has a separate court of quarter sessions, and the county authority of any county, may make bye-laws as to the hours during which locomotives are not to pass over the turnpike roads or highways situate within the areas respectively above-mentioned, the hours being in all cases consecutive hours and no more than eight out of the twenty-four, and for regulating the use of locomotives upon any highway, or preventing such use upon every bridge ⁽³⁾ where such authority is satisfied that such use would be attended with danger to the public; and any person in charge of a locomotive acting contrary to such bye-laws shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds ⁽⁴⁾.

Power of
county authority to license
locomotives.

32. A county authority ⁽¹⁾ may from time to time make, alter, and repeal bye-laws for granting annual licenses to locomotives used within their county, and the fee (not exceeding ten pounds) to be paid in respect of each license; and the owner of any locomotive for which a license is required under any bye-law so made who uses or permits the same to be used in contravention of any such bye-law shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings for every day on which the same is so used ⁽³⁾.

All fees received under this section shall be carried to and applied as part of the county rate.

This section shall not apply to any locomotive used solely for agricultural purposes.

Duration of Part II. of Act.
28 & 29 Vict.

PART III.

PROCEDURE AND DEFINITIONS.

34. It shall be lawful for the Local Government Board to submit any provisional order made by them under this Act to Parliament for confirmation, and without such confirmation a provisional order shall not be of any validity ⁽¹⁾. Confirmation of provisional order.

35. A bye-law made under this Act, and any alteration made therein and any repeal of a bye-law, shall not be of any validity until it has been submitted to and confirmed by the Local Government Board. Confirmation of bye-laws.

A bye-law made under this Act shall not, nor shall any alteration therein or addition thereto or repeal thereof, be confirmed until the expiration of one month after notice of the intention to apply for confirmation of the same has been given by the authority making the same in one or more local newspapers circulating in their county or district.

36. All offences, fines, and expenses under this Act, or any bye-law made in pursuance of this Act, may be prosecuted, enforced, and recovered before a court of summary jurisdiction in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts. Recovery of penalties and expenses.

The expression "the Summary Jurisdiction Acts" means the Act of the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter forty-three, intituled "An Act to facilitate the performance of the duties of justices of the peace out of sessions within England and Wales with respect to summary convictions and orders," inclusive of any Acts amending the same.

The expression "court of summary jurisdiction" means and includes any justice or justices of the peace, metropolitan police magistrate, stipendiary or other magistrate, or officer, by whatever name called, to whom jurisdiction is given by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts: Provided that the court, when hearing and determining an information or complaint under this Act, shall be constituted either of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions, sitting at a place appointed for holding petty session, or of some magistrate or officer sitting alone or with others at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice, and for the time being empowered by law to do alone any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace.

37. If any party thinks himself aggrieved by any conviction or order made by a court of summary jurisdiction on determining any information or complaint under this Act, the party so aggrieved may appeal therefrom, subject to the conditions and regulations following: Form of appeal to quarter sessions.

- (1.) The appeal shall be made to the next practicable court of quarter sessions for the county or place where the decision appealed from was given holden not less than twenty-one days after the decision of the court from which the appeal is made; and
- (2.) The appellant shall, within ten days after the pronouncing by the court of the decision appealed from, give notice to the other party and to the court of summary jurisdiction of his intention to appeal and of the ground thereof; such notice of appeal shall be in writing signed by the person or persons giving the same, or by his, her, or their solicitor on his, her, or their behalf; and
- (3.) The appellant shall, within three days after such notice, enter into a recognizance before a justice of the peace, with two sufficient sureties, conditioned personally to try such appeal, and to abide the judgment of the court thereon and to pay such costs as may be awarded by the court, or give such other security by deposit of money or otherwise as the justice may allow; and
- (4.) Where the appellant is in custody the justice may, if he think fit, on the appellant entering into such recognizance or giving such other security as aforesaid, release him from custody:

(1) See section 16, ante.

Secs. 37, 38.

- (5.) The court of appeal may adjourn the appeal, and upon the hearing thereof they may confirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the court of summary jurisdiction, or remit the matter to the court of summary jurisdiction with the opinion of the court of appeal thereon, or make such other order in the matter as the court thinks just, and if the matter be remitted to the court of summary jurisdiction the said last-mentioned court shall thereupon re-hear and decide the information or complaint in accordance with the opinion of the said court of appeal. The court of appeal may also make such order as to costs to be paid by either party as the court thinks just ⁽¹⁾.

Interpretation.
25 & 26 Vict.
c. 61.
27 & 28 Vict.
c. 101.

“County” has the same meaning as it has in the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, except that every liberty not being assessable to the county rate of the county or counties within which it is locally situate shall, for the purposes of this Act other than those relating to the formation and alteration of highway districts, and the transfer of the powers of a highway board, be deemed to be a separate county :

“County authority” means the justices of a county in general or quarter sessions assembled :

“Borough” means any place for the time being subject to the Act of the session of the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, intituled “An Act to provide for the regulation of municipal corporations in England and Wales,” and the Acts amending the same ⁽²⁾ :

25 & 26 Vict.
c. 61.
27 & 28 Vict.
c. 101.

“Highway district” means a district constituted in pursuance of the Highway Act, 1862, and the Highway Act, 1864, or one of such Acts :

“Highway board” means the highway board having jurisdiction within a highway district :

25 & 26 Vict.
c. 61.
27 & 28 Vict.
c. 101.

“Highway parish” means a parish or place included or capable of being included in a highway district in pursuance of the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, or one of such Acts :

“Highway authority” means as respects an urban sanitary district the urban sanitary authority, and as respects a highway district the highway board, and as respects a highway parish the surveyor or surveyors or other officers performing similar duties :

“Rural sanitary district” and “rural sanitary authority” mean respectively the districts and authorities declared to be rural sanitary districts and authorities by the Public Health Act, 1875 :

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

“Urban sanitary district” and “urban sanitary authority” mean respectively the districts and authorities declared to be urban sanitary districts and authorities by the Public Health Act, 1875, except that for the purposes of this Act no borough having a separate court of quarter sessions, and no part of any such borough, shall be deemed to be or to be included in any such district, and where part of a parish is included in such district for the purpose only of the repairs of the highways such part shall be deemed to be included in the district for the purposes of this Act :

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

“The metropolis” means the parishes and places mentioned in the Schedules A., B., and C., annexed to the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and any parish to which such Act may be extended by Order in Council in manner in the said Act provided; also the city of London and the liberties of the said city :

18 & 19 Vict.
c. 120.

“Quarter sessions” includes general sessions :

“Petty sessional division” means any division for the holding a special sessions formed or to be formed under the provisions of the Act of the ninth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, chapter forty-three, or any Act amending the same; also any division of a county, or of a riding, division, parts, or liberty of a county, having a separate commission of the peace, in and for which petty sessions or special sessions are usually held, whether in one or more place or places, in accordance with any custom, or otherwise than under the said last-mentioned Act; but does not include any city, borough, town corporate, or district constituted a petty sessional division by the Act of the session of the twelfth and thirteenth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter eighteen, intituled "An Act for the holding of petty sessions of the peace in boroughs, and for providing places for the holding of such petty session in counties and boroughs:"

"Locomotive" means a locomotive propelled by steam or by other than animal power: ⁽¹⁾.

"Person" includes a body of persons corporate or unincorporate.

(1) A tricycle capable of being propelled by steam, was held to be a locomotive within this definition: Parkyns v. Preist, L. R. 7 Q. B. D. 313, 50 L. J. M. C. 148, 30 W. R. 13, 45, J. P. 751.

LANDS CLAUSES CONSOLIDATION ACT, 1845.

8 VICT. c. 18.

An Act for consolidating in one Act certain provisions usually inserted in Acts authorising the taking of lands for undertakings of a public nature ⁽¹⁾.

[8th May, 1845.]

Secs. 1, 2.

Whereas it is expedient to comprise in one general Act sundry provisions usually introduced into Acts of Parliament relative to the acquisition of lands required for undertakings or works of a public nature, and to the compensation to be made for the same, and that as well for the purpose of avoiding the necessity of repeating such provisions in each of the several Acts relating to such undertakings as for ensuring greater uniformity in the provisions themselves: May it therefore please your Majesty that it may be enacted; and be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that this Act shall apply ⁽²⁾ to every undertaking authorised by any Act which shall hereafter be passed, and which shall authorise the purchase or taking of lands for such undertaking, and this Act shall be incorporated with such Act ⁽²⁾; and all the clauses and provisions of this Act, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by any such Act, shall apply to the undertaking authorised thereby, so far as the same shall be applicable to such undertaking, and shall, as well as the clauses and provisions of every other Act which shall be incorporated with such Act, form part of such Act, and be construed, together therewith, as forming one Act.

Act to apply to all undertakings authorised by Acts hereafter to be passed.

Interpretations in this Act.
"Special Act;"

And with respect to the construction of this Act and of Acts to be incorporated therewith, be it enacted as follows:

2. The expression "the special Act," used in this Act, shall be construed to mean any Act which shall be hereafter passed, which shall authorise the taking of lands for the undertaking to which the same relates, and with which this Act shall be so incorporated as aforesaid; and the word "prescribed," used in this Act in reference to any matter herein stated, shall be construed to refer to such matter as the same shall be prescribed or provided for in the special Act, and the sentence in which such word shall occur shall be construed as if instead of the word "prescribed," the expression "prescribed for that purpose in the special Act" had been used; and the expression "the works" or "the undertaking" ⁽¹⁾ shall mean the works or undertaking, of whatever nature, which shall by the special Act be authorised to be executed; and the expression "the promoters of the undertaking" shall mean the parties, whether company, undertakers, commissioners, trustees, corporations, or private persons, by the special Act empowered to execute such works or undertaking.

"prescribed;"

and the Special Act.

The word "lands" ⁽²⁾ shall extend to messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments of any tenure:

"Lands."

The word "lease" shall include an agreement for a lease:

"Lease"

The word "month" shall mean calendar month:

"Month."

The expression "superior courts" shall mean Her Majesty's Superior Courts of Record at Westminster or Dublin, as the case may require:

The word "oath" shall include affirmation in the case of Quakers or other declaration lawfully substituted for an oath in the case of any other persons exempted by law from the necessity of taking an oath:

"Oath."

The word "county" shall include any riding or other like division of a county, and shall also include county of a city or county of a town:

"County."

The word "sheriff" shall include under-sheriff, or other legally competent deputy; and where any matter in relation to any lands is required to be done by any sheriff or by any clerk of the peace, the expression "the sheriff," or the expression "the clerk of the peace," shall in such case be construed to mean the sheriff or the clerk of the peace of the county, city, borough, liberty, cinque ports, or place where such lands shall be situate; and if the lands in question, being the property of one and the same party, be situate not wholly in one county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place, the same expression shall be construed to mean the sheriff or clerk of the peace of any county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place where any part of such lands shall be situate:

"the Sheriff;"

"the clerk of the peace."

The word "justices" shall mean justices of the peace acting for the county, city, liberty, cinque port, or place where the matter requiring the cognizance of any such justice shall arise, and who shall not be interested in the matter; and where such matter shall arise in respect of lands being the property of one and the same party, situate not wholly in any one county, city, borough, liberty, cinque port, or place, the same shall mean a justice acting for the "Justices."

(1) The sale of a railway as an "undertaking" means the sale of the lands on which it is constructed, as well as the whole line, with its tolls, &c.: Ex parte Smith, 16 L. T. N. S. 615. See also, as to the meaning of the word "undertaking," King v. Marshall, 10 L. T. N. S. 557, 12 W. R. 971, 4 N. R. 258, 10 Jur. N. S. 921; Gardner v. London, Chatham & Dover Ry. Co., L. R. 2 Ch. at p. 216, 36 L. J. Ch. 323, 15 L. T. N. S. 552, 15 W. R. 325.

(2) It would seem that an easement is not included in the word "lands" as here defined. In Pinchin v. London & Blackwall Ry. Co., 1 Kay & J. 34, 5 De G. M. & G. 551, 24 L. J. Ch. 417, Wood, V.-C., held that an easement was included in the word "lands," but on appeal Lord Cranworth (Lord Chancellor) held that it was not, though the decision was affirmed on other grounds. But see Eagle v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., cited post, p. 930, and R. v. Cambrian Ry. Co., L. R. 6 Q. B. 422. In The Great Western Ry. Co. v. The Swindon & Cheltenham Ry. Co., 47 L. T. N. S. 709, it was held that the acquisition by the S. & C. Co. of the right or easement of crossing the G. W. Co.'s railway by a bridge and tunnel was not included in the word "lands." An annuity charged on land, being a hereditament, is within the word "lands" in this section: In re Brewer, 1 Ch. D. 409, 34 L. T. N. S. 466, 24 W. R. 465. Where under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, any notice shall be required to be given to the owner of any lands, or where any Act shall be authorised or required to be done with the consent of any such owner, the word "owner" shall be understood to mean any person or corporation who, under the provisions of this or the special Act, would be enabled to sell and convey lands to the promoters of the undertaking:

The expression "the bank" shall mean the Bank of England where the same shall relate to moneys to be paid or deposited in respect of lands situate in England, and shall mean the Bank of Ireland where the same shall relate to moneys to be paid or deposited in respect of lands situate in Ireland.

4. And be it enacted, that in citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be sufficient to use the expression "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845."

5. And whereas it may be convenient in some cases to incorporate with Acts of Parliament hereafter to be passed some portion only of the provisions of this Act: Be it therefore enacted, that, for the purpose of making any such incorporation, it shall be sufficient in any such Act to enact that the clauses of this Act with respect to the matter so proposed to be incorporated (describing such matter as it is described in this Act in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter), shall be incorporated with such Act, and thereupon all the clauses and provisions of this Act with respect to the matter so incorporated shall, save so far as they shall be expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if the substance of such clauses and provisions were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act shall relate ⁽²⁾.

And with respect to the purchase of lands by agreement, be it enacted as follows:—

6. Subject to the provisions of this and the special Act, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to agree with the owners of any lands ⁽³⁾ by the special Act authorised to be taken, and which shall be required for the purposes of such Act ⁽⁴⁾, and with all parties having any estate or interest in such lands, or by this or the special Act enabled to sell and convey the same, for the absolute purchase, for a consideration in money, of any such lands, or such parts thereof as they shall think proper, and of all estates and interests in such lands of what kind soever.

(2) When land was limited in remainder after a life estate to a husband and wife in fee, it was held that the wife could convey under this section: Cooper v. Gostling, 9 Jur. N. S. 1006, 4 Giff. 499, 11 W. R. 931.

(3) See In re Brewer, 1 Ch. D. 409, 34 L. T. N. S. 466, 24 W. R. 465. A person of unsound mind cannot sell under this section, which only authorises the committee of a lunatic to sell: Re Tugwell, L. R. 27 Ch. D. 309.

(4) Trustees for femes covertes, who are absolutely entitled for their separate use, are not persons competent to contract for the sale of land under this section: Peters v. Leves and East Grinstead Ry. Co., 18 Ch. D. 429, 50 L. J. Ch. 839, 45 L. T. N. S. 234, 29 W. R. 875.

(5) Compare Slipper v. Tottenham and Hampstead Junction Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 112, 36 L. J. Ch. 841, 16 L. T. N. S. 446, 15 W. R. 861.

(6) Compulsory clauses in public Acts of Parliament will authorise the taking of lands, though the same are inalienably settled upon a family by Act of Parliament, and the person having the present interest may sell and convey such lands. But no interest in the Crown can be effected without its being named in the particular Act: In re Cuckfield Burial Board, 24 L. J. Ch. 585, 19 Beav. 153, 3 W. R. 142.

Secs. 9—11. to sell or convey such lands except under the provisions of this or the special Act, and the compensation to be paid for any permanent damage or injury to any such lands ⁽¹⁾, shall not, except where the same shall have been determined by the verdict of a jury, or by arbitration, or by the valuation of a surveyor appointed by two justices under the provision hereinafter contained, be less than shall be determined by the valuation of two able practical surveyors, one of whom shall be nominated by the promoters of the undertaking, and the other by the other party ⁽²⁾, and if such two surveyors cannot agree in the valuation, then by such third surveyor as any two justices shall upon application of either party, after notice to the other party, for that purpose nominate; and each of such two surveyors if they agree ⁽³⁾, or if not then the surveyor nominated by the said justices, shall annex to the valuation a declaration in writing, subscribed by them or him, of the correctness thereof; and all such purchase money or compensation shall be deposited in the bank for the benefit of the parties interested, in manner hereinafter mentioned.

parties under disability to be ascertained by valuation and paid into the bank.

Where vendor absolutely entitled, lands may be sold on chief rents.

10 ⁽⁴⁾. It shall be lawful for any person seised in fee of, or entitled to dispose of absolutely for his own benefit, any lands authorised to be purchased for the purposes of the special Act, to sell and convey such lands or any part thereof unto the promoters of the undertaking in consideration of an annual rent-charge payable by the promoters of the undertaking, but, except as aforesaid, the consideration to be paid for the purchase of any such lands, or for any damage done thereto, shall be in a gross sum.

Payment of rents to be charged on tolls.

11. The yearly rents reserved by any such conveyance shall be charged on the tolls or rates, if any, payable under the special Act, and shall be otherwise secured in such manner as shall be agreed between the parties ⁽⁵⁾, and shall be paid by the promoters of the undertaking as such rents become payable; and if at any time any such rents be not paid within thirty days after they so become payable, and after demand thereof in writing, the person to whom any such rent shall be payable may either recover the same from the promoters of the undertaking, with costs of suit, by action of debt in any of the Superior Courts, or it shall be lawful for him to levy the same by distress ⁽⁶⁾ of the goods and chattels of the promoters of the undertaking.

⁽¹⁾ The words "injury to any such lands" mean injury to lands held by persons under disability. This section applies to compensation for injuriously affecting land not taken by the promoters, as well as to compensation for taking land: Stone v. Mayor of Yeovil, 2 C. P. D. 99, 46 L. J. C. P. 137, 36 L. T. N. S. 279, 25 W. R. 240.

⁽²⁾ "The other party" must not nominate himself: he must nominate a person who has no interest in the property: Peters v. Lewes, &c., Ry. Co., 18 Ch. D. 429, 50 L. J. Ch. 839, 45 L. T. N. S. 234, 29 W. R. 875.

⁽³⁾ The provisions of this section, as to the purchase of lands from persons under disability, must be strictly complied with: Wycombe Ry. Co. v. Donnington Hospital, L. R. 1 Ch. 268, 12 Jur. N. S. 347, 14 L. T. N. S. 179, 14 W. R. 359.

⁽⁵⁾ When lands are sold in consideration of a rent-charge, the parties may agree for its being secured by a power of entry: Forster v. Manchester, &c., Ry. Co., 49 L. J. Ch. 454; and by a power of distress: Eyton v. Denbigh, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 14, 16 W. R. 1005; Eyton v. Denbigh, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 488, 38 L. J. Ch. 74.

⁽⁶⁾ The owner of a rent-charge, granted under section 10, has no power of distress other than that given by section 11: Eyton v. Denbigh, &c., Ry. Co., 38 L. J. Ch. 74; but he has a first charge on the lands of the company comprised in the deed of charge, and he is entitled to have his rent-charge paid out of the net earnings of the undertaking, in priority to debenture holders: S. C., L. R. 7 Eq. 439, 20 L. T. N. S. 388, 17 W. R. 546; but see E. Jersey v. Briton Ferry, &c., Dock, L. R. 7 Eq. 409.

12. In case the promoters of the undertaking shall be empowered by the special Act to purchase lands for extraordinary purposes, it shall be lawful for all parties who, under the provisions hereinbefore contained, would be enabled to sell and convey lands, to sell and convey the lands so authorised to be purchased for extraordinary purposes.

Secs. 12-16.

Power to purchase lands required for additional accommodation.

13. It shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to sell the lands which they have so acquired for extraordinary purposes, or any part thereof, in such manner, and for such considerations, and to such persons, as the promoters of the undertaking may think fit, and again to purchase other lands for the like purposes, and afterwards sell the same, and so from time to time; but the total quantity of land to be held at any one time by the promoters of the undertaking, for the purposes aforesaid, shall not exceed the prescribed quantity.

Authority to sell and re-purchase such lands.

14. The promoters of the undertaking shall not, by virtue of the power to purchase land for extraordinary purposes, purchase more than the prescribed quantity from any party under legal disability, or who would not be able to sell and convey such lands except under the powers of this and the special Act; and if the promoters of the undertaking purchase the said quantity of land from any party under such legal disability, and afterwards sell the whole or any part of the land so purchased, it shall not be lawful for any party being under legal disability to sell to the promoters of the undertaking any other lands in lieu of the land so sold or disposed of by them.

Restraint on purchase from incapacitated persons.

15. Nothing in this or the special Act contained shall enable any municipal corporation to sell for the purposes of the special Act, without the approbation of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or any three of them, any lands which they could not have sold without such approbation before the passing of the special Act, other than such lands as the company are by the powers of this or the special Act empowered to purchase or take compulsorily.

Municipal corporations not to sell without the approbation of the Treasury.

And with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, be it enacted as follows:

16. Where the undertaking is intended to be carried into effect by means of a capital to be subscribed by the promoters of the undertaking, the whole of the capital or estimated sum for defraying the expenses of the undertaking shall be subscribed under contract binding the parties thereto, their heirs, executors, and administrators, for the payment of the several sums by them respectively subscribed, before it shall be lawful to put in force any of the powers of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, in relation to the compulsory taking of land ⁽¹⁾ for the purposes of the undertaking ⁽²⁾.

Capital to be subscribed before compulsory powers of purchase put in force.

⁽¹⁾ As to the compulsory taking of land within the meaning of this section, see the Great Western Ry. Co. v. The Swindon, &c., Ry. Co., 47 L. T. N. S. 709.

⁽²⁾ The 16th and 17th sections requiring the whole capital to be subscribed, and a certificate obtained from the justices to that effect before proceeding to take lands compulsorily, do not apply to the case of a branch railway authorised to be made by an already existing company: Weld v. South Western Ry. Co., 9 Jur. N. S. 510, 33 L. J. Ch. 142, 1 N. R. 415, 8 L. T. N. S. 13, 11 W. R. 448, following R. v. Great Western Ry. Co., 17 Jur. 85, 1 E. & B. 253, 22 L. J. Q. B. 65. In this latter case it was held, that even if section 16 did apply to the case, and if a mandamus ordered the company to make the extension line, a return alleging that the capital required for making it had not been subscribed under any contract as required by this section, and that the line could not be made without exercising the compulsory powers of purchase, is no answer to the writ, as it does not show any inability to obtain such a subscription, or any incapacity to obey the writ.

It is no answer to an action against a railway company for not issuing their warrant under section 39 of this Act for the assessment of compensation for land which they have given notice of their intention to purchase, that the undertaking was intended to be carried into effect by means of a certain capital, and that the whole amount has not been subscribed as required by this section: Guest v. Poole, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 5 C. P. 553, 39 L. J. C. P. 329, 22 L. T. N. S. 589.

Secs. 17, 18.

A certificate of two justices to be evidence that the capital has been subscribed. Notice of intention to take lands.

17. A certificate under the hands of two justices, certifying that the whole of the prescribed sum has been subscribed, shall be sufficient evidence thereof, and on the application of the promoters of the undertaking, and the production of such evidence as such justices think proper and sufficient, such justices shall grant such certificate accordingly ⁽¹⁾.

18. When the promoters of the undertaking shall require to purchase or take ⁽²⁾ any of the lands which by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, they are authorised to purchase or take, they shall give notice ⁽³⁾ thereof to

⁽²⁾ As to the meaning of the word "take," see Spencer v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 22 Ch. D. 142, 47 L. T. N. S. 459, 31 W. R. 347. It would seem from this case that the word "take" as used in this and special Acts, ought not to be confined to the taking actual possession, but that there is a "taking" of lands, when we take either from the landlord what the landlord has got, viz., his title, or from the tenant and occupier what the tenant and occupier has got, viz., possession. It would seem also that proceedings for the purchase, prior to the conveyance, are not a "taking" of lands, but the getting a conveyance from the landlord is.

⁽³⁾ This notice, called a "notice to treat," should state accurately the full particulars of the land proposed to be taken: Stone v. Commercial Ry. Co., 4 My. & Cr. 122, 1 Rail. Cas. 375; Sims v. Commercial Ry. Co., 1 Rail. Cas. 431. A diagram or plan showing the quantity and particulars of the land proposed to be taken, is generally sent with the notice (ib.); and the notice will be sufficient, though this plan bears no scale of admeasurement (ib.)

Where a special Act provided that before the company entered upon or took any tenement, they should give to the occupier of such tenement six months' notice of their intention to take, it was held that a six months' notice given to the occupier was a good notice, binding on the company, although the notice did not comply with the requirements of this section: Morgan v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 97, 38 L. J. C. P. 87, 19 L. T. N. S. 655, 17 W. R. 261. See further, as to the sufficiency of the notice to treat: Wood v. Epsom & Leatherhead Ry. Co., 8 C. B. N. S. 731, 30 L. J. C. P. 82; Harrington v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 13 L. T. N. S. 658.

A notice including lands which the company are not authorised to take, is bad and the company may be restrained by injunction from proceeding on it: Wrigley v. Lancashire & Yorkshire Ry. Co., 4 Giff. 352, 9 Jur. N. S. 710, 8 L. T. N. S. 267. See also Dowling v. Pontypool, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 18 Eq. 714, 43 L. J. Ch. 761. Lands within the limits of deviation, although not shown to be bounded on all the four sides, may be taken by the company up to the line of deviation (ib.) And see In re Corporation of Huddersfield and Jacomb, L. R. 10 Ch. 92, 44 L. J. Ch. 96.

A variance in the description of lands in the notice to treat and in the precept, is an irregularity merely, and is waived by proceeding before the jury: Ex parte Bailey, 1 B. C. C. 66.

This notice need not be given where both parties agree to refer the matter to arbitration: Collins v. South Staffordshire Ry. Co., 7 Exch. 5, 16 Jur. 843, 21 L. J. Ex. 247, 18 L. T. 26.

It would seem that a notice to treat for the purchase of a right or easement over lands, such as a right of way, is not a notice warranted by this section: Pinchin v. London & Blackwall Ry. Co., 5 De G. M. & G. 851, 24 L. J. Ch. 417. So a notice to treat is not necessary where the special Act gives a company power to take easements and rights over lands, the owner's remedy being, under section 68, as for lands injuriously affected: Macey v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 33 L. J. Ch. 377, 10 L. T. N. S. 66, 12 W. R. 619.

Mortgages are "parties interested" within this section, and entitled to a notice to treat: Martin v. London, Chatham & Dover Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 501, 12 Jur. N. S. 775, 35 L. J. Ch. 795, 14 L. T. N. S. 814, 14 W. R. 880. But a tenant from year to year, who has received from his landlord a notice to quit, is not entitled to a notice to treat, when his land is required after the end of his tenancy: Ec parte Nadin, 17 L. J. Ch. 421. See also Syers v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 36 L. T. N. S. 277. Section 18.

Where a railway company, after the compulsory powers of their original Act had expired and the railway was opened for traffic, obtained another Act enabling them to widen their line and take additional pieces of land, it was held that the company could not proceed to take a piece of land, subject to the compulsory powers of both Acts, under a notice to treat given under their original Act, and that a second notice was necessary: Richmond v. North London Ry. Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 679, 37 L. J. Ch. 886.

A company, authorised to construct a line of railway under a public street, is not bound to give notice to treat or pay compensation to the owner of the land adjoining the street, in respect of any part of the soil of such public street: Souch v. East London Ry. Co., L. R. 16 Eq. 108, 42 L. J. Ch. 477, 21 W. R. 590; but see S. C. 22 W. R. 566.

A notice to treat constitutes the relative situation of vendor and purchaser as between a company and the owner of property: Doo v. London & Croydon Ry. Co., 1 Rail. Cas. 257; Stone v. Commercial Ry. Co., 4 My. & Cr. 122, 1 Rail. Cas. 375, 3 Jur. 946. But only to a certain extent and for certain purposes, as fixing the lands to be taken, &c., but not to such an extent as to entitle either party to enforce specific performance in equity: Adams v. London & Blackwall Ry. Co., 2 Mac. & G. 118, 6 Rail. Cas. 271, 14 Jur. 679, 19 L. J. Ch. 557, 16 L. T. 277. And this is so, whether the notice is given by trustees under an Act of Parliament for a public purpose, or by a company formed for a private speculation: Steele v. Mayor of Liverpool, 7 B. & S. 261. But this does not apply to a notice given by commissioners appointed under a public Act to do, on behalf of the executive government, things for the benefit of the public: R. v. Commissioners of Woods and Forests, 15 Jur. 35, 15 Q. B. 761, 19 L. J. Q. B. 497. And where a notice to treat has been given, and the price has been fixed, though not paid, a contract is established which is enforceable in equity, and on which an action for specific performance can be maintained: In re Pigott and The Great Western Ry. Co., 18 Ch. D. 146, 50 L. J. Ch. 679, 44 L. T. N. S. 792, 29 W. R. 727; and in such case, such an action can be maintained either by the vendor: Adams v. London & Blackwall Ry. Co., 2 Macq. Ry. Cas. 271; Mason v. Stokes Bay Pier and Ry. Co., 32 L. J. Ch. 110, 11 W. R. 80; Harding v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Ch. 154, 41 L. J. Ch. 371, 26 L. T. N. S. 109, 20 W. R. 321; or by the company: Regent's Canal Co. v. Ware, 23 Beav. 575, 5 W. R. 617; but until the price is fixed, there is no binding contract capable of being specifically enforced: Ec parte Arnold, 9 Jur. N. S. 883, 8 L. T. N. S. 623, 11 W. R. 793. So a notice to treat constitutes the company equitable owner of the land: Bristol & North Somerset Ry. Co. v. Somerset & Dorset Ry. Co., 22 W. R. 399; and after the notice the landowner will be restrained by injunction from selling the land: Metropolitan Ry. Co. v. Wodehouse, 34 L. J. Ch. 297, 11 Jur. N. S. 296, 12 L. T. N. S. 113, 13 W. R. 516. A mere notice to treat, on which nothing has been done, does not constitute "a debt owing or accruing," which can be attached under Order XLV., r. 1: Richardson v. Elmit, 2 C. P. D. 9, 36 L. T. N. S. 58; nor in such case does it constitute a contract by the owner for the sale of his property, so as to cause a conversion of it into personality in case of his death: Haynes v. Haynes, 1 Dr. & Sm. 426, 30 L. J. Ch. 578; Ec parte Arnold, supra. But, if the price has been fixed, there will be a conversion: In re Wootton's Trusts, 1 N. R. 193, 7 L. T. N. S. 620.

Lessees, who have received a notice to treat, remain liable to the lessors for breaches of covenant committed by them after the notice to treat, and until the company take possession under an assignment to them by the lessees: Mills v. East London Union, L. R. 8 C. P. 79, 42 L. J. C. P. 46, 27 L. T. N. S. 557, 21 W. R. 142. A notice to treat under this section is not equivalent to requiring possession under section 121: R. v. Stone, L. R. 1 Q. B. 529, 35 L. J. M. C. 208, 14 L. T. N. S. 552, 14 W. R. 791.

When a notice has once been given, the company cannot withdraw it without the consent of the landowner, even though they offer to pay all costs incurred in consequence of such notice: R. v. Hungerford Market Co., 4 B. & Ad. 327, 1 N. & M. 112; Tawney v. Lynn & Ely Ry. Co., 4 Rail. Cas. 615, 16 L. J. Ch. 282. But if the company be required by a counter-notice to take the whole, under section 92, they can abandon their notice and refuse to take any part: King v. Wycombe Ry. Co., 28 Beav. 104, 29 L. J. Ch. 462; Grierson v. Cheshire Lines Committee, L. R. 19 Eq. 83, 44 L. J. Ch. 35, 31 L. T. N. S. 428,

Section 18. 23 W. R. 68. Commissioners, acting under a statute in a public capacity and for the executive government, can withdraw their notice: R. v. Commissioners of Woods and Forests, ante, p. 901; but this power of rescinding a notice is confined to commissioners acting on behalf of the executive government, and does not extend to all trustees for public purposes: Steele v. Mayor of Liverpool, 14 W. R. 311. If a company give a tenant from year to year notice of their intention to take his premises at the expiration of six months, and afterwards withdraw the notice, they are bound to pay the tenant's expenses: R. v. Rochdale Improvement Act (Commissioners), 2 Jur. N. S. 861. A notice to treat will be considered as abandoned if there be great delay in proceeding upon it, and the company are not entitled to proceed under it: Hedges v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 28 Beav. 109, 6 Jur. N. S. 1275, 3 L. T. N. S. 643; Stretton v. Great Western and Brentford Ry. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 751, 40 L. J. Ch. 50, 23 L. T. N. S. 379, 18 W. R. 1078. But a notice to treat, once given, cannot be said to be abandoned so long as the company have power to execute the works: Ystalyfera Iron Co. v. Neath & Brecon Ry. Co., L. R. 17 Eq. 142, 43 L. J. Ch. 476, 29 L. T. N. S. 662, 22 W. R. 149. See also, Richmond v. North London Ry. Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 679, 37 L. J. Ch. 886; Bentley v. Rotherham and Kimberworth Local Board of Health, 4 Ch. D. 588, 46 L. J. Ch. 284.

A company is not restricted to one notice, but may give a further notice for taking other lands within the prescribed limits, such additional lands being necessary for the works: Stamps v. Birmingham, Wolverhampton and Stour Valley Ry. Co., 2 Ph. 673, 17 L. J. Ch. 431; Simpson v. Lancaster, &c., Ry. Co., 4 Rail. Cas. 625, 15 Sim. 580, 11 Jur. 879.

A corporation served the usual notice on a landowner, before applying to Parliament for power to take his land. The Act, when obtained, gave them power to take more of his land than was described in the notice, it was held that the corporation was not prevented from taking more land than was described in the notice: In re Corporation of Huddersfield and Jacomb, L. R. 10 Ch. 92, 44 L. J. Ch. 96, 31 L. T. N. S. 466, 23 W. R. 100. In such a case the corporation are not obliged to take the mines and minerals under the land taken by them (ib.) A corporation requiring property for the improvement of a town, and not acting for their own profit, are not confined, like railway companies, to the property actually required for the purpose specified, but can take all the property specified in the Schedule of the Act: Quinton v. Corporation of Bristol, L. R. 17 Eq. 524, 43 L. J. Ch. 783, 30 L. T. N. S. 112, 22 W. R. 434.

An interest in property, created by an agreement entered into by the owner, after a notice to treat has been served on him, is not a subject for compensation: Ex parte Edwards, L. R. 12 Eq. 389, 40 L. J. Ch. 697, 25 L. T. N. S. 149, 19 W. R. 1047. And if the company incur costs in resisting such interests, they are not entitled to deduct these costs from the compensation money due to the owner; nor can the court order the owner to pay costs, but they can deprive him of his costs: Ex parte Topple, 25 L. T. N. S. 407, 19 W. R. 1058. So the point of time with reference to which the owner's interest is to be determined and for which he is to be compensated is the date of the notice to treat: Tyson v. Mayor of London, L. R. 7 C. P. 18, 41 L. J. C. P. 6, 25 L. T. N. S. 640, 20 W. R. 112.

In a suit for specific performance of a contract founded on a notice to treat, the notice does not require to be stamped as an agreement: Rawlings v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 37 L. J. Ch. 824, 18 L. T. N. S. 871.

Notice to treat having been served, surveyors appointed by the owner and the company, but not in writing, settled the value of the property, and the owner verbally agreed to accept the sum named. It was held that the notice to treat, followed by the valuation of the surveyors was, notwithstanding the Statute of Frauds, a valid contract: Watts v. Watts, L. R. 17 Eq. 217, 43 L. J. Ch. 77, 29 L. T. N. S. 671, 22 W. R. 105. See also, as to the effect of the Statute of Frauds in such cases: Inge v. Birmingham, Wolverhampton & Stour Valley Ry. Co., 3 De G. M. & G. 658.

For enforcing the contract created by the notice to treat, the owner can, after the notice, apply at once for a mandamus to compel the company to complete the purchase: Per the Lord Chancellor in Pinchin v. London and Blackwall Railway Co., ante, p. 900.

As to the effect of delay in applying for a mandamus, see Ex parte Quicke, 12 L. T. N. S. 580, 13 W. R. 924. So, though there may be a disagreement as to the amount of the compensation, the company cannot countermand the notice, but the owner is entitled to all the parties interested in such lands ⁽¹⁾, or to the parties enabled by this Act to sell and convey or release the same, or such of the said parties as shall, after diligent inquiry, be known to the promoters of the undertaking, and by such notice shall demand from such parties the particulars of their estate and interest in such lands, and of the claims made by them in respect thereof; and every such notice ⁽²⁾ shall state the particulars of the lands so required, and that the promoters of the undertaking are willing to treat for the purchase thereof, and as to the compensation to be made to all parties for the damage that may be sustained by them by reason of the execution of the works ⁽³⁾.

Secs. 18, 19.

19. All notices required to be served by the promoters of the undertaking upon Service of a mandamus to compel the company to issue their warrant to summon a jury: R. v. Hungerford Market Co., 1 N. & M. 112, 4 B. & Ad. 327; Lind v. Isle of Wight Ferry Co. 7 L. T. N. S. 416, and in such cases the issue of such warrant may be enforced by an action for a mandamus, under the 68th section of the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854: Fotherby v. Metropolitan Railway Co., L. R. 2 C. P. 188, 36 L. J. C. P. 88, 12 Jur. N. S. 1005, 15 L. T. N. S. 243, 15 W. R. 112. See Guest v. Poole and Bournemouth Railway Co., L. R. 5 C. P. 553, 39 L. J. C. P. 329, 22 L. T. N. S. 589, 18 W. R. 836. Where a company give an occupier six months' notice of their intention to take the lands, the occupier is entitled, after the expiration of the six months, to a mandamus to compel the company to serve a notice to treat and complete the purchase: Morgan v. Metropolitan Railway Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 97, 37 L. J. C. P. 265, 19 L. T. N. S. 655, 17 W. R. 261.

But if, after a notice to treat, the price has been fixed, then the remedy for enforcing the contract is by a suit in equity for specific performance: Regent's Canal Co. v. Ware, 23 Beav. 575, 26 L. J. Ch. 566; Mason v. Stokes Bay Pier and Railway Co., 32 L. J. Ch. 110, 11 W. R. 80; Harding v. Metropolitan Railway Co., L. R. 7 Ch. 154, 41 L. J. Ch. 371, 26 L. T. N. S. 109, 20 W. R. 321; Hill v. Great Northern Railway Co., 23 L. J. Ch. 524, 2 Eq. Rep. 1069; Haynes v. Haynes, 1 Dr. & Sm. 426, 30 L. J. Ch. 587; Adams v. London and Blackwall Railway Co., ante, p. 901. These cases may be considered as having overruled Walker v. Eastern Counties Railway Co., 6 Hare, 594, 5 Rail. Cas. 469, 12 Jur. 787, where it was held, that the mere service of the notice to treat, without more, was sufficient to entitle the owner to maintain a suit for specific performance.

In Earl St. Germans v. Crystal Palace Railway Co., L. R. 11 Eq. 568, 24 L. T. N. S. 288, 19 W. R. 584, it was held that an unpaid vendor was entitled, upon petition, to have the amount due for principal, interest, and costs, raised by a sale of the lands, and in the meantime to have an injunction restraining the company from continuing in possession of the lands, and a receiver. But an injunction was refused in Munns v. Isle of Wight Railway Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 414, 39 L. J. Ch. 522, 23 L. T. N. S. 96. See Lycett v. Stafford and Uttoxeter Railway Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 261, 41 L. J. Ch. 474, 25 L. T. N. S. 870, where it was held that the Court would not, for the enforcing of the lien of an unpaid vendor, grant an injunction restraining the company from running trains or engines over the land until the sale. See also, Williams v. Aylesbury and Buckingham Railway Co., 28 L. T. N. S. 547, 21 W. R. 819; Ware v. Aylesbury and Buckingham Railway Co., 28 L. T. N. S. 893, 21 W. R. 819.

⁽³⁾ As to damage caused by the execution of the works, see Clout v. Metropolitan and District Railways Joint Committee, 48 L. T. N. S. 257. An owner of land had a right of pre-emption over a piece of land adjoining, a company gave him notice to treat for the land of which he was owner, saying nothing as to the right of pre-emption, it was held that the owner was not entitled to compensation for his right of pre-emption, it being a merely personal right, as he had suffered no damage within the meaning of section 21: Ib.

Secs. 19-23. the parties interested in or entitled to sell any such lands, shall either be served personally on such parties or left at their last usual place of abode, if any such can, after diligent inquiry, be found, and in case any such parties shall be absent from the United Kingdom, or cannot be found after diligent inquiry, shall also be left with the occupier of such lands, or, if there be no such occupier, shall be affixed upon some conspicuous part of such lands.

Service of notice on a corporation aggregate.

20. If any such party be a corporation aggregate such notice shall be left at the principal office of business of such corporation, or, if no such office can, after diligent inquiry, be found, shall be served on some principal member, if any, of such corporation, and such notice shall also be left with the occupier of such lands, or, if there be no such occupier, shall be affixed upon some conspicuous part of such lands.

If parties fail to treat, or in case of dispute, question to be settled as after mentioned.

21. If for twenty-one days after the service of such notice ⁽¹⁾ any such party shall fail to state the particulars ⁽²⁾ of his claim in respect of any such land, or to treat with the promoters of the undertaking in respect thereof, or if such party and the promoters of the undertaking shall not agree as to the amount of the compensation to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking for the interest in such lands belonging to such party, or which he is by this or the special Act enabled to sell, or for any damage that may be sustained by him by reason of the execution of the works ⁽³⁾, the amount of such compensation shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for settling cases of disputed compensation.

Dispute as to compensation where the amount claimed does not exceed £50 to be settled by two justices.
Compensation exceeding £50

22. If no agreement be come to between the promoters of the undertaking and the owners of or parties by this Act enabled to sell and convey or release any lands taken or required for or injuriously affected ⁽⁴⁾ by the execution of the undertaking, or any interest in such lands, as to the value of such lands or of any interest therein, or as to the compensation to be made in respect thereof, and if in any such case the compensation claimed shall not exceed fifty pounds, the same shall be settled by two justices ⁽⁵⁾.

23. If the compensation claimed or offered in any such case shall exceed fifty ⁽¹⁾ This term of twenty-one days does not apply to the case of a counter-notice, under section 92, in which case it is not necessary that there should be a second formal notice by the company under section 18, but under this section the company must give a reasonable opportunity to the landowner to agree with them before causing a jury to be summoned: Schwinge v. London and Blackwall Railway Co., 3 Sm. & G. 30, 1 Jur. N. S. 368, 24 L. J. Ch. 405, 25 L. T. 124.

⁽²⁾ As to what particulars it is necessary for the claimant to state, see note ⁽¹⁾, post, p. 933.

⁽⁴⁾ As to the meaning of the words "lands taken or injuriously affected," see note ⁽¹⁾, post, p. 928.

⁽⁵⁾ Or one metropolitan police magistrate by section 14 of 2 & 3 Vict. c. 71, and one stipendiary magistrate by section 1 of 21 & 22 Vict. c. 73. Where justices make an order under this section (that is when the sum does not exceed £50), with regard to lands "injuriously affected," such order is an "order for the payment of money or otherwise" within section 1 of Jervis's Act (11 & 12 Vict. c. 43), and is bad under section 11 of that Act, if the complaint, on which the order is founded, be made more than six months after the cause of complaint arose: In re Edmundson, 17 Q. B. 67, 17 L. T. 93, on return to certiorari, reported as R. v. Leeds and Bradford Railway Co., 18 Q. B. 343, 16 Jur. 817, 21 L. J. M. C. 193, 19 L. T. 86. But it has since been held that an adjudication by two justices is not an order for the payment of money within section 1 of the above Act, and that the six months limitation does not apply: R. v. Hannay, 44 L. J. M. C. 27, disapproving of, In re Edmundson, supra, but distinguishing it on the ground that it referred to lands "injuriously affected," not taken. But now it has been held that justices have power to determine the compensation for lands injuriously affected, though the application is made more than six months after the lands have been so injuriously affected: R. v. Edwards, L. R. 13 Q. B. D. 586, 53 L. J. M. C. 149 (overruling re Edmundson, supra).

pounds, and if the party claiming compensation desire to have the same settled by arbitration and signify such desire by notice in writing ⁽¹⁾ to the promoters of the undertaking, before they have issued their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury in respect of such lands, under the provisions hereinafter contained, stating in such notice the nature of the interest in respect of which such party claims compensation ⁽²⁾, and the amount of the compensation so claimed, the same shall be so settled accordingly; but unless the party claiming compensation shall as aforesaid signify his desire to have the question of such compensation settled by arbitration, or if when the matter shall have been referred to arbitration the arbitrators or their umpire shall for three months have failed to make their or his award, or if no final award shall be made, the question of such compensation shall be settled by the verdict of a jury, as hereinafter provided ⁽³⁾.

to be settled by arbitration or jury, at the option of the party claiming compensation.

(1) Where both parties agree to refer the amount of compensation to arbitration, it is not necessary to go through the form of giving this notice: Collins v. South Staffordshire Railway Co., 7 Exch. 5, 16 Jur. 843, 21 L. J. Exch. 247. In every such case, the submission by writing under the hand of the clerk or secretary is sufficient by section 25: Ib.

(2) It is not sufficient for an owner to state in this notice that he has an estate and interest in the lands; he must state what his interest in the lands is. In re North Staffordshire Railway Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 17, 2 Exch. 235, 17 L. J. Exch. 350. So in the award, the umpire must find the nature and value of the interest of the owner, otherwise the award will be bad: Ib.

(3) This section, which provides that if, when a matter has been referred to arbitration, the arbitrators fail for three months to make their award, the question of compensation shall be settled by a jury, applies to a case of reference under section 68, of the amount of compensation in respect of land already taken or injuriously affected, as well as to arbitrations in respect of lands intended to be taken: Evans v. Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Co., 1 E. & B. 754, 22 L. J. Q. B. 254, 17 Jur. 878, 21 L. T. 87, 1 C. L. R. 82. It would seem that all arbitrations contemplated by the Act fall under this section: Ib.

The mode of computing the time within which the award is to be made is as follows:—"The arbitrators have twenty-one days in the first instance; they may enlarge it for themselves to the expiration of the three months; they have no longer time allowed for themselves to do that, but whenever it happens either at the expiration of the twenty-one days, or the expiration of the enlarged time, that the duty of the umpire commences, then the umpire has three months to perform his duty." Per Lord Cottenham, L.C., in Skerratt v. North Staffordshire Railway Co., 2 Ph. 475, 5 Rail. Cas. 166, 17 L. J. Ch. 161, 12 Jur. 46, 11 L. T. 23. See also, In re Bradshaw's Arbitration, 12 Q. B. 562, 5 Rail. Cas. 527, 17 L. J. Q. B. 362, 12 Jur. 998, 12 L. T. 268; Harding v. Watts, 15 East, 556; In re South Yorkshire, Doncaster and Goole Railway Co., 18 L. J. Q. B. 333, and in a recent case it was held, that the three months allowed by this section, for an umpire to make his award, is to be calculated from the date of his appointment, and not from the time when the awarding power of the arbitrators comes to an end: In re Pullen and the Corporation of Liverpool, 51 L. J. Q. B. 285, 46 L. T. N. S. 391, 46 J. P. 468.

An award made by an arbitrator after the expiration of the statutory period is out of time and no action lies upon it: Evans v. Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Co., ante, but the parties can consent to extend the time beyond the statutable term of three months, and the court will not set aside the award on the ground that it is made beyond the prescribed time, and that the parties cannot by consent dispense with the provisions of the statute: Palmer v. Metropolitan Railway Co., 31 L. J. Q. B. 259, 10 W. R. 714; Caledonian Railway Co. v. Lockhart, 3 Macq. H. L. Cas. 808, 6 Jur. N. S. 1311; in this latter case both parties concurred in appointing a single arbitrator, who, from time to time, enlarged the period for making his award, and the parties also by consent enlarged the time, and it was held by the House of Lords that the award was valid, though not made within three months. So a party, though not expressly consenting to an extension of the time, may by his conduct, as by continuing

Secs. 24, 25.

Method of proceeding for settling dispute as to compensation by justices.

Appointment of arbitrator when questions are to be determined by arbitration.

24. It shall be lawful for any justice, upon the application of either party with respect to any question of disputed compensation by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, authorised to be settled by two justices, to summon the other party to appear before two justices, at a time and place to be named in the summons, and upon the appearance of such parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, it shall be lawful for such justices to hear and determine such question, and for that purpose to examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, upon oath, and the costs of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of such justices, and they shall settle the amount thereof ⁽¹⁾.

25. When any question of disputed compensation by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, authorised or required to be settled by arbitration, shall have arisen, then, unless both parties shall concur in the appointment of a single arbitrator ⁽²⁾, each party, on the request of the other party, shall nominate and appoint an arbitrator ⁽³⁾, to whom such dispute shall be referred; and every appointment of an arbitrator shall be made on the part of the promoters of the undertaking under the hands of the said promoters or any two of them, or of their

to attend before the arbitrator after the time, estop himself from afterwards alleging that there had been no extension of time by consent: Tyerman v. Smith, 6 E. & B. 719, 25 L. J. Q. B. 359. The Court may extend the time for making the award: Re Dare Valley Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 554, 20 L. T. N. S. 717, 17 W. R. 717; Dare Valley Ry. Co. v. Rhys, 38 L. J. Ch. 417.

An action for the compensation fixed by the award cannot be maintained until a conveyance of the land has been executed: Guardians of East London Union v. Metropolitan Railway Co., L. R. 4 Ex. 309, 38 L. J. Ex. 225. "An arbitrator does not order, or at least ought not to order, the payment of money; he only finds what is the proper amount of compensation, which does not become due until the claimant has done his part, that is to say, has executed a conveyance." Per Bramwell, L.J., in Bidder v. North Staffordshire Railway Co., 4 Q. B. D. at p. 424, 48 L. J. Q. B. 248, 40 L. T. N. S. 801, 27 W. R. 540.

Where proceedings by arbitration under this and the following sections have proved abortive in consequence of the non-appointment of an umpire within the time limited by the statute, the owner is not bound to proceed anew under section 68, but in the event of a refusal by the company, he is entitled to a mandamus to compel them to issue their warrant to summon a jury: In re South Yorkshire, Doncaster and Goole Ry. Co., 7 D. & L. 36, 18 L. J. Q. B. 333, compare R. v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 13 L. T. N. S. 444.

⁽¹⁾ As to the time within which the order of the justices must be made, see note ⁽⁵⁾, ante, p. 904.

When justices determine the amount of compensation to be paid to a tenant from year to year, under section 121, they need not put their decision into writing, but may give it verbally: R. v. Combe, 32 L. J. M. C. 67, 11 W. R. 441.

⁽²⁾ Where the amount claimed for compensation is not paid or agreed to be paid within twenty-one days, as provided by section 68, it is the duty of the claimant before nominating an arbitrator on his behalf, to attempt to procure the appointment of a single arbitrator: Yates v. Mayor of Blackburn, 29 L. J. Ex. 447, 6 H. & N. 61, but an omission to attempt to settle a claim by a single arbitrator is no objection to an umpire's award under this section: Eagle v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 36 L. J. C. P. 297, 16 L. T. N. S. 593.

⁽³⁾ If an improper appointment of an arbitrator be made, as by appointing an interested person, the party objecting ought to retire from the arbitration, as by proceeding with the arbitration, though protesting against the appointment, he waives the objection: In re Elliot and South Devon Ry. Co., 2 D. G. & S. 17.

And if an arbitrator is unfit or incompetent to act, any judge of the Court can now (since the Judicature Act, 1873, section 25, sub-section 8) restrain him by injunction from acting: Beddow v. Beddow, 9 Ch. D. 89, 47 L. J. Ch. 588, 26 W. R. 570; Malmesbury Ry. Co. v. Budd, 2 Ch. D. 113, 45 L. J. Ch. 271.

secretary or clerk, and on the part of any other party under the hand of such party, Secs. 25, 26. or if such party be a corporation aggregate under the common seal of such corporation; and such appointment shall be delivered to the arbitrator ⁽¹⁾, and shall be deemed a submission to arbitration on the part of the party by whom the same shall be made ⁽²⁾; and after any such appointment shall have been made neither party shall have power to revoke the same without the consent of the other, nor shall the death of either party operate as a revocation ⁽³⁾; and if for the space of fourteen days after any such dispute shall have arisen, and after a request in writing, which shall be stated the matter so required to be referred to arbitration, shall have been served by the one party on the other party to appoint an arbitrator, such last-mentioned party fail to appoint such arbitrator, then upon such failure the party making the request, and having himself appointed an arbitrator, may appoint such arbitrator to act on behalf of both parties ⁽⁴⁾, and such arbitrator may proceed to hear and determine the matters which shall be in dispute, and in such case the award or determination of such single arbitrator shall be final ⁽⁵⁾.

26. If, before the matters so referred shall be determined, any arbitrator appointed by either party die, or become incapable, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed may nominate and appoint in writing some other person to act in his place, and if, for the space of seven days after notice in writing from the other party for that purpose, he fail to do so, the remaining or other arbitrator may proceed ex parte; and every arbitrator so to be substituted as aforesaid shall be supplied.

⁽¹⁾ "This section seems to enact, first, that an endeavour should be made by the parties to concur in choosing a single arbitrator; and that in the event of this failing a request should be made by the one to the other that the latter should nominate an arbitrator; that then each should make appointments in writing and deliver them to their respective arbitrators, which are to be deemed the submission and irrevocable." Per Martin, B., in Yates v. Mayor of Blackburn, 6 H. & N. at pp. 70, 71, 29 L. J. Ex. 447.

⁽²⁾ It would seem that the submission to arbitration by a party takes place, not when he appoints his arbitrator, but when he delivers his appointment to the arbitrator, and a tender made before such submission is a good tender, so as to relieve the party making it from costs: Yates v. Mayor of Blackburn, ante. The appointment of an arbitrator, being by this section a submission to arbitration on the part of the party by whom it is made, the arbitration is an arbitration by consent within section 5 of the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854 (17 & 18 Vict. c. 125): Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, 1 C. P. D. 402, 45 L. J. C. P. 861, 35 L. T. N. S. 46, 24 W. R. 1053 (reversing the decision of the court below, and overruling, In re Harper and Great Western Ry. Co., L. R. 20 Eq. 39, 44 L. J. Ch. 507, 32 L. T. N. S. 214, 23 W. R. 371): Ex parte Harper, L. R. 18 Eq. 539, 22 W. R. 942. See also Bidder v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 4 Q. B. D. 412, 48 L. J. Q. B. 248, 40 L. T. N. S. 801, 27 W. R. 540; In re Dare Valley Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 554, 20 L. T. N. S. 717.

⁽³⁾ See Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Lockhart, 3 Macq. H. L. Cas. 808, 6 Jur. N. S. 1311, 3 L. T. N. S. 65, where it was held that the submission did not expire on the death of the landowner.

⁽⁵⁾ As to the extent of an arbitrator's powers, see In re Ware and Regent's Canal Co., 9 Exch. 395; 23 L. J. Ex. 145, 7 Rail. Cas. 780. In re Byles, 11 Exch. 464, 25 L. J. Ex. 53.

Secs. 26-31. have the same powers and authorities as were vested in the former arbitrator at the time of such his death or disability as aforesaid.

Appointment of umpire.

27. Where more than one arbitrator shall have been appointed such arbitrators shall, before they enter upon the matters referred to them, nominate and appoint, by writing under their hands, an umpire to decide on any such matters on which they shall differ ⁽¹⁾, or which shall be referred to him under the provisions of this or the special Act, and if such umpire shall die, or become incapable to act, they shall, forthwith after such death or incapacity appoint another umpire in his place, and the decision of every such umpire on the matters so referred to him shall be final.

Board of Trade empowered to appoint an umpire on neglect of the arbitrators, in case of railway companies.

28. If in either of the cases aforesaid the said arbitrators shall refuse, or shall for seven days after request of either party to such arbitration, neglect to appoint an umpire ⁽²⁾, the Board of Trade in any case in which a railway company shall be one party to the arbitration, and two justices in any other case ⁽³⁾ shall, on the application of either party to such arbitration, appoint an umpire, and the decision of such umpire on the matters on which the arbitrators shall differ, or which shall be referred to him under this or the special Act, shall be final.

In case of death of single arbitrator the matter to begin de novo.

29. If, when a single arbitrator shall have been appointed, such arbitrator shall die or become incapable to act before he shall have made his award, the matters referred to him shall be determined by arbitration under the provisions of this or the special Act in the same manner as if such arbitrator had not been appointed.

If either arbitrator refuse to act the other to proceed ex parte.

30. If, where more than one arbitrator shall have been appointed, either of the arbitrators refuse or for seven days neglect to act, the other arbitrator may proceed ex parte ⁽⁴⁾, and the decision of such other arbitrator shall be as effectual as if he had been the single arbitrator appointed by both parties.

If arbitrators fail to make their award

31. If, where more than one arbitrator shall have been appointed, and where neither of them shall refuse or neglect to act as aforesaid, such arbitrators shall fail to make their award within twenty-one days after the day on which the last of such arbitrators shall have been appointed, or within such extended time (if any) as shall have been appointed for that purpose by both such arbitrators under their

In this case the company appointed an arbitrator on the 23rd of March; the claimant another on the 6th of April. The arbitrators, having neglected for seven days after request by the company to appoint an umpire, the Board of Trade, on the application of the company, appointed an umpire on the 17th of May. Held that such appointment was in time. See, further, as to the appointment of an umpire, Ex parte Fooks, 3 Exch. 728; Holds-worth v. Barsham, 31 L. J. Q. B. 145, 8 Jur. N. S. 672, 6 L. T. N. And such declaration shall be annexed to the award when made; and if any arbitrator or umpire having made such declaration shall wilfully act contrary thereto he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

34. All the costs of any such arbitration ⁽⁴⁾, and incident thereto, to be settled by the arbitrators ⁽⁵⁾, shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking, unless Costs of arbitration, how to be borne.

⁽¹⁾ Where two arbitrators have been appointed by the parties, the appointment of an umpire by the Board of Trade more than twenty-one days after the appointment of the last arbitrator, is valid. In re Bradshaw's Arbitration, 12 Q. B. 562; 5 Rail. Cas. 527; 17 L. J. Q. B. 362.

As to the extension of time by the arbitrators and the time within which the arbitrators and umpire must make their award, see note ⁽³⁾ to section 23, ante, p. 905.

⁽²⁾ The evidence before an arbitrator ought to be taken on oath; and if taken otherwise both parties must waive its being taken on oath: Wakefield v. Llanelly Ry. and Dock Co., 34 Beav. 245; Bottomley v. Ambler, W. N. 1877, p. 245.

⁽³⁾ Arbitrators and an umpire may make this declaration before a justice of the peace for any county, they are not limited to make it before a justice of the county where the matter in dispute arose: Davies v. South Staffordshire Ry. Co., 21 L. J. M. C. 52; 2 L. M. & P. 599.

An umpire, appointed on the 17th of May, made his declaration on the 27th of May, before he entered on the matters referred, held, that this declaration was made in time. In re Bradshaw's Arbitration, cited above. When a submission contained other matters than the question of compensation, and was therefore extra the 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, and it did not distinctly appear that the party applying was ignorant that the declaration required to be made by the arbitrator, the Court refused to set the award aside on that ground: Lexick v. Epsom and Leatherhead Ry. Co., 1 L. T. N. S. 60. It seems the declaration may be dispensed with by consent: Palmer v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 31 L. J. Q. B. 259.

⁽⁴⁾ As to the meaning of the words "any such arbitration," see Metropolitan District Ry. Co. v. Sharpe, post, p. 910.

⁽⁵⁾ The costs so settled need not be incorporated in the award, but may be ascertained at a subsequent time by the persons who made the award: Gould v. Staffordshire Potteries Waterworks Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 568, 5 Exch. 214 (not following London and North Western Ry. Co. v. Quick, 5 Rail. Cas. 520, 5 D. & L. 685).

Such adjudication of the costs need not be within three months after the time of reference (ib.). The term "arbitrators" means either the arbitrator or the umpire, according as the award was made by the one or the other (ib.).

Where a party claiming compensation by agreement submitted the matter to arbitration instead of taking the verdict of a jury, and the deed of reference and the award were silent as to costs, the provisions of the Act under which claim made with regard to costs were held not to apply, though the award was in favour of the claimant: Ex parte Reynal, 5 Rail. Cas. 60, 16 L. J. Q. B. 304.

As to the power of an arbitrator over costs when by consent he is to determine the costs and expenses, see Roucliffe v. Devon and Somerset Ry. Co., 21 W. R. 433.

Secs. 34, 35. the arbitrators shall award the same or a less sum than shall have been offered (1) by the promoters of the undertaking, in which case each party shall bear his own costs (2) incident to the arbitration, and the costs of the arbitrators shall be borne by the parties in equal proportions.

Award to be delivered to the promoters

35. The arbitrators shall deliver their award in writing to the promoters of the

(1) A company made an offer, at the same time giving notice that they had appointed an arbitrator—the claimant had not yet appointed an arbitrator. This offer was held to be good, as being made before the beginning of the arbitration, and was not invalidated by a previous smaller offer, even though made with a view to the settlement of the claim by a jury. The sum awarded being less than the second offer, the claimant was held not entitled to costs: Fitzhardinge (Earl) v. Gloucester and Berkeley Canal Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 776, 41 L. J. Q. B. 316, 27 L. T. N. S. 196, 20 W. R. 800.

Where the claimant had nominated an arbitrator, but had not delivered his appointment to him, an offer then made by the company before appointing their arbitrator is in time: Yates v. Mayor of Blackburn, 6 H. & N. 61, 29 L. J. Ex. 447.

An offer made after the arbitration has begun is too late, and if a less sum than that offered be awarded, the claimant is entitled to costs: Gray v. North Eastern Ry. Co., 1 Q. B. D. 696, 45 L. J. Q. B. 818, 34 L. T. N. S. 757, 21 W. R. 758. An offer made to a tenant for life was refused and the umpire awarded a less sum than that offered, the costs of the tenant for life were ordered to be paid out of the purchase-money: In re Aubrey's Estate, 7 Rail. Cas. 611, 17 Jur. 874, 1 Eq. Rep. 249, 21 L. T. 192; Ex parte Perpetual Curate of Whitworth, 24 L. T. N. S. 126. If an individual claim be wholly disallowed by the arbitrators, the company, though they have made no offer in respect of such claim, are not, of necessity, by this section bound to pay the claimant's costs: R. v. Biram, 17 Q. B. 969, 16 Jur. 640; nor are they, under the like circumstances, to bear the like costs, the consequence of distinct claims similarly disallowed, though such claims were joined with others, which are allowed: Ib.

If no offer be made by the company, in consequence of the claimant not having given notice under section 68 of the amount claimed, the claimant will be entitled to his costs of reference: Martin v. Leicester Waterworks Co., 3 H. & N. 463, 27 L. J. Ex. 432.

As to the case where the umpire merely provides that the costs are to be paid according to the provisions of this Act without finding whether the sum awarded is greater or less than the sum offered, see In re Wilts, Somerset & Weymouth Ry. Co., 3 Exch. 728.

(2) As to the taxation of costs under this section, see section 1 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1869, post, p. 984.

As to the costs of an abortive inquiry, see R. v. North London Ry. Co., 51 L. J. 241, S. C. nom. R. v. Manley Smith, 30 W. R. 272. In this case an inquisition was quashed on ground of misdirection, the claimant was held entitled to the costs of the abortive inquiry as well as of the costs of the inquiry which resulted in a good verdict.

Where an arbitration takes place to determine the compensation for land taken by a local board under the powers of this Act, incorporated by the Public Health Act, 1875, the procedure with regard to such arbitration and the right to costs are wholly governed by the provisions of this Act, and not by those of the Public Health Act: Ex parte Rayner, 3 Q. B. D. 446, 47 L. J. Q. B. 660, 39 L. T. N. S. 232; compare Catling v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 21 L. T. N. S. 769, 18 W. R. 121.

A landowner is not entitled to a lien on the land sold for the costs of an arbitration payable by the company: Earl Ferrers v. Stafford & Uttoxeter Ry. Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 524, 41 L. J. Ch. 362, 26 L. T. N. S. 652, 20 W. R. 478.

Costs awarded to the owner under this section become payable within a reasonable time after the award has been made, and the execution of the conveyance and the investigation of title are not, in the absence of fraud, conditions precedent to his right to recover such costs: Capell v. Great Western Ry. Co., L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 345, 52 L. J. Q. B. 345, 31 W. R. 555. So the right to costs is entirely independent of the taxation of them, and an action can be maintained for the costs, though the amount of such costs has not been previously settled or ascertained by taxation: Metropolitan District Ry. Co. v. Sharpe, 5 App. Cas. 425, 50 L. J. Q. B. 14, 43 L. T. N. S. 130, 28 W. R. 617, 44 J. P. 716.

undertaking, and the said promoters shall retain the same ⁽¹⁾, and shall forthwith, Secs. 35, 36. on demand, at their own expense, furnish a copy thereof to the other party to the arbitration, and shall at all times, on demand, produce the said award, and allow the same to be inspected or examined by such party or any person appointed by him for that purpose.

A special Act, incorporating this Act, directed that arbitrations under it should be conducted by an arbitrator appointed by the Board of Trade, but contained no directions as to the award of costs. An arbitrator under it awarded compensation but said nothing as to costs, the claimant was held entitled to costs, as under this Act: Ib. See also Holdsworth v. Wilson, 4 B. & S. 1, 32 L. J. Q. B. 289, 8 L. T. N. S. 434, 11 W. R. 733; Martin v. Leicester Waterworks Co., and Yates v. Mayor of Blackburn, ante, p. 910. In Ex parte Lister, In re Milford Docks Co., it was held that unpaid vendors of land taken compulsorily by a company are not "creditors" within section 82 of the Companies Act, 1862, in respect of the costs of the arbitration, unless such costs have been taxed.

(1) Where an award has been made, the court will compel the company by mandamus, at the landowner's instance, to take it up: R. v. South Devon Ry. Co., 15 Q. B. 1043, 15 Jur. 464. The promoters must for that purpose pay the fees due on the award, the arbitrators or umpire having a lien for such fees which the promoters are bound to satisfy, except so far as the obligation may be limited by section 34: Ib. As to what is a good return to a mandamus commanding a company to take up an award, see R. v. West Midland Ry. Co., 11 W. R. 857, the company is not bound to take up the award, unless the arbitrator has been properly appointed, and the arbitrator would not be properly appointed if the claimant was not entitled to any compensation: Ib. A return to a mandamus to take up an award that the claimant is not entitled to any compensation under the Act is a good return: R. v. Cambrian Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Q. B. 320, 38 L. J. Q. B. 198, 20 L. T. N. S. 437, 17 W. R. 667.

A person who has obtained an award of compensation in respect of lands injuriously affected under section 68 may, under this section, require the promoters to take up the award: Ex parte Harper, 23 W. R. 67. In an action on an award, where the defendant pleaded that the compensation awarded is in respect of matters not the subject of compensation, it seems that the award is not evidence that the compensation awarded is in respect of matters the subject of compensation: Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, 1 C. P. D. 402, 45 L. J. C. P. 861, 35 L. T. N. S. 46, 24 W. R. 1053.

(2) A reference to arbitration under section 25 is a "submission to arbitration by consent" within the meaning of the 17th section of the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854, and the submission may be made a rule of court: Ex parte Harper, L. R. 18 Eq. 539, 22 W. R. 942; In re Dare Valley Ry. Co., ante, p. 906, overruling In re Newbold and Metropolitan Ry. Co., 14 C. B. N. S. 405; and In re Harper, L. R. 20 Eq. 39, 44 L. J. Ch. 507, 32 L. T. N. S. 214, 23 W. R. 371; and the umpire can make his award in the form of a special case for the opinion of the court: Ib. And the Court of Appeal has jurisdiction to hear an appeal from the High Court upon a special case so stated by an umpire: Bidder v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 4 Q. B. D. 412, 48 L. J. Q. B. 248, 40 L. T. N. S. 801, 27 W. R. 540.

As to what evidence of the appointment of the landowner's arbitrator the Court of Chancery requires before making the submission a rule of court, see In re Hawley and North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 2 De G. & S. 33, 12 Jur. 389. Neither the appointment of the umpire nor the award need be made a rule of court; it is sufficient if the submission be so made: In re Bradshaw's Arbitration, 12 Q. B. 562, 12 Jur. 998, 5 Rail. Cas. 527, 17 L. J. Q. B. 362.

This section authorises the making such submission only a rule of court as is in pursuance of the Act, so that a submission with reference to matters not within the Act cannot be made a rule of court under it: In re Ware and Regent's Canal Co., 9 Exch. 395, 7 Rail. Cas. 780, 23 L. J. Ex. 145.

Section 37. 37. No award made with respect to any question referred to arbitration under the provisions of this or the special Act shall be set aside for irregularity or error in matter of form ⁽¹⁾.
 Award not void through error in form.

It would seem that the proper course to make the submission a rule of court is by motion ex parte: In re Oglesby's Arbitration, W. N. (1879), p. 151.

Where an award has been made a rule of court it comes within section 15 of the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854, and if it be referred back by the court for re-determination, and no award be made for three months, the court has a discretion to enlarge the time: Dare Valley Ry. Co. v. Rhys, 38 L. J. Ch. 417; but if great delay take place the court ought not to exercise this power so as to deprive a landowner of a trial by jury: In re Dare Valley Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 554, 20 L. T. N. S. 717.

An action may be maintained for the sum fixed by the award, but not before execution of a conveyance of the land: East London Union v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Ex. 309, 38 L. J. Ex. 225.

(1) If the submission be made a rule of court, the court can set aside the award of the umpire, though neither the appointment of the umpire nor his award has been made a rule of court: In re Bradshaw's Arbitration, ante, p. 911. It is no objection to an award that the price of the land and the compensation for damage by severance are assessed in a gross sum: Ib. But see Wakefield v. Llanelly Railway and Dock Co., 34 Beav. 245, where it was held that an award fixing one sum to be paid for all the claimant's interest of whatever nature in the premises, was bad. See also In re North Staffordshire Ry. Co. and Wood, 6 Rail. Cas. 25, 2 Exch. 244, 17 L. J. Ex. 354; In re North Staffordshire Ry. Co. and Landor, 6 Rail. Cas. 17, 2 Exch. 235; In re Brogden and Llynvi Valley Ry. Co., 9 C. B. N. S. 229, 30 L. J. C. P. 61, 4 L. T. N. S. 361; Beckett v. Midland Ry. Co., L. R. 1 C. P. 241, 12 Jur. N. S. 231, 35 L. J. C. P. 163, 13 L. T. N. S. 672, 14 W. R. 393. Where the arbitrator was to determine the value of the land, and what "other, if any," sum for severance damage and he awarded one sum for value only, the award was held to be good: In re Duke of Beaufort and Swansea Harbour Trustees, 6 Jur. N. S. 979, 29 L. J. C. P. 241, 8 C. B. N. S. 146.

Ordering a company to pay an amount is an error in form only, and so where an arbitrator ascertains the purchase-money, even though he exceeds his jurisdiction in ordering the money to be paid, the award will be good: Lindsay v. Direct London and Portsmouth Ry. Co., 1 L. M. & P. 529, 15 Jur. 224, 19 L. J. Q. B. 417; In re Harper, L. R. 20 Eq. 39, 44 L. J. Ch. 507, 32 L. T. N. S. 214, 23 W. R. 371.

A recital in the award that the arbitrator had heard the evidence of the claimant and of this company where no evidence was offered for the company, is an irregularity merely and does not invalidate the award: Skerratt v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 5 Rail. Cas. 166.

If the parties consent to enlarge the time for making an award, the court will not set it aside, on the ground that it is made beyond the prescribed time: Palmer v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 31 L. J. Q. B. 259.

The mere fact that the award was signed on a day subsequent to the day on which money was paid into court and a bond given under section 85 does not make the proceedings under that section necessarily invalid: Stamps v. Birmingham, Wolverhampton, and Stour Valley Ry. Co., 7 Hare, 256. So an award is not bad for not expressly awarding compensation in respect of damage done to land before the making of the award by reason of the land having remained untenanted in consequence of the notice: In re Ware and Regent's Canal Co., 9 Exch. 395, 7 Rail. Cas. 780, 23 L. J. Ex. 145.

An award is not bad simply because the arbitrator finds that there was no damage: In re Bradby and Southampton Local Board, 4 E. & B. 1014, 3 C. L. R. 771, 24 L. J. Q. B. 239, 19 Jur. 778, 25 L. T. 82.

As to setting aside an award for an improper appointment of an umpire or arbitrator, see In re Elliott and South Devon Ry. Co., 2 De G. & S. 17. An order nisi to set aside the award may be obtained in the Court of Chancery: Ib. On a motion to set aside an award the evidence of an arbitrator in explanation of his award is admissible, and when it appears from such evidence that there has been a mistake on his part, either as

38. Before the promoters of the undertaking shall issue their warrant for summoning a jury for settling any case of disputed compensation they shall give not less than ten days' notice ⁽¹⁾ to the other party of their intention to cause such jury to be summoned, and in such notice the promoters of the undertaking shall state ⁽²⁾ what sum of money they are willing to give for the interest in such lands sought to be purchased by them from such party, and for the damage to be sustained by him by the execution of the works ⁽³⁾.

Promoters of the undertaking to give notice before summoning a jury.

39 ⁽⁴⁾. In every case in which any such question of disputed compensation shall be required to be determined by the verdict of a jury the promoters of the undertaking shall issue their warrant ⁽⁶⁾ to the sheriff ⁽⁵⁾, requiring him to summon a to the subject-matter referred to him, or in point of legal principle affecting the basis on which the award is made, it will be set aside or referred back to the arbitrator: In re Dare Valley Ry. Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 429, 37 L. J. Ch. 719. So in an action on the award the arbitrator may be called as a witness, and may be asked questions as to what passed before him and as to what matters were presented to him for consideration, but not as to what passed in his own mind when exercising his discretion on the matters submitted to him: Duke of Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 5 H. L. 418, 41 L. J. Ex. 137, 27 L. T. N. S. 1. Where the court refers an award back to the umpire for re-determination, that award is altogether avoided: Dare Valley Ry. Co. v. Rhys, 38 L. J. Ch. 417.

⁽¹⁾ This section applies only to cases where the promoters are about to take or injuriously affect land, and in such cases the ten days' notice of the intention to summon a jury here mentioned is necessary, but the section does not apply to cases coming under section 68 in reference to claims for lands which have already been taken or injuriously affected, and in such cases this notice is not necessary: Railstone v. York, Newcastle and Berwick Ry. Co., 15 Q. B. 404, 19 L. J. Q. B. 464, 14 Jur. 1021; but see Richardson v. South Eastern Ry. Co., 11 C. B. 154, 20 L. J. C. P. 236, 2 L. M. & P. 409, 15 Jur. 660; affirmed in the Ex. Ch. 15 C. B. 810, 21 L. J. C. P. 122; but it has since been held, following the former case, that this section, which provides for giving notice of the summoning of the jury, does not apply to inquiries taken, under section 68, as to lands injuriously affected: Hayward v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 4 B. & S. 787, 33 L. J. Q. B. 73, 9 L. T. N. S. 680, 10 Jur. N. S. 418; Metropolitan Ry. Co. v. Turnham, 14 C. B. N. S. 212, 32 L. J. M. C. 249, 8 L. T. N. S. 280, 11 W. R. 695. See also Pearson v. Great Northern Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 785 n., 18 W. R. 259; R. v. Smith; Re Westfield and Metropolitan District Ry. Cos., 12 Q. B. D. 481, 53 L. J. Q. B. 115, 32 W. R. 275.

⁽⁴⁾ By section 41 of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1868, 31 & 32 Vict. c. 119, any question of compensation, where a public railway is concerned, which, under this Act, is to be settled by a jury, may, by leave of a judge, be tried in one of the superior courts. See New River Co. v. Midland Ry. Co., 36 L. T. N. S. 539.

⁽⁵⁾ By section 3 the word "sheriff" includes under-sheriff or other legal competent deputy.

By section 3 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1869, post, p. 985, if the lands be situate within the city of Westminster, the high bailiff of the city or his deputy shall be substituted for the sheriff throughout this Act, as far as relates to the reference to a jury.

⁽⁶⁾ The land which is described in the warrant as being that of which the jury are to assess the value, must be neither more nor less than that specified in the notice to treat: Stone v. Commercial Ry. Co., 4 My. & Cr. 122, 1 Rail. Cas. 375. But any irregularity in this respect may be waived by the claimant's appearing before the jury, and after the objection had been taken and overruled, proceeding with the inquiry: Ex parte Bailey, 1 B. C. C. 66. See Walker v. London & Blackwall Ry. Co., 3 Q. B. 744. Where pro-

Section 39. jury for that purpose, and such warrant shall be under the common seal of the promoters of the undertaking if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation under the hands and seals of such promoters or any two of them; and if such sheriff be interested in the matter in dispute ⁽¹⁾ such application shall be made to ceedings by arbitration have proved abortive, in consequence of the non-appointment of the umpires within the proper time, the owner is not bound to proceed anew under section 68, but in the event of a refusal by the company, he is entitled to a mandamus to compel them to issue their warrant to summon a jury; Ex parte Senior, 7 D. & L. 36, 14 Jur. 1093, 18 L. J. Q. B. 333, and a neglect to issue the warrant, after a demand made upon the solicitors of the company, is a sufficient refusal to entitle the claimant to the writ, ib.

Where a notice to treat has been served and also a notice by the owner that he requires the compensation to be settled by a jury, and no further steps are taken before the expiration of the compulsory powers of the company, the owner is, nevertheless, entitled to a mandamus to compel the company to issue their warrant for a jury: R. v. Birmingham & Oxford Junction Ry. Co., 15 Q. B. 634, 20 L. J. Q. B. 304. But a mandamus will not be granted where it appears that the works calculated to damnify the claimant are still bonâ fide proceeding, though the applicant also claims for land taken by the company, and considerable delay has taken place: Ex parte Parkes, 9 Dowl. 614, 5 Jur. 435. See also, R. v. North Union Ry. Co., 1 Rail. Cas. 729.

After the necessary steps have been taken, the landowner can also maintain an action for a mandamus under the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854, against the company to compel them to issue their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury: Fotherby v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 2 C. P. 188, 36 L. J. C. P. 88, 12 Jur. N. S. 1005, 15 L. T. N. S. 243; 15 W. R. 112; Morgan v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 97; 37 L. J. C. P. 265, 19 L. T. N. S. 655, 17 W. R. 261, and in such an action the plaintiff may recover more than nominal damages: ib.; and it is a bad plea by the company that the whole of the capital has not been subscribed for the undertaking: Guest v. Poole & Bournemouth Ry. Co., L. R. 5 C. P. 553, 39 L. J. C. P. 329, 22 L. T. N. S. 589, 18 W. R. 836, and to a rule for a mandamus against a company to complete the purchase, it is no answer that the period for the compulsory powers of the company had nearly expired, if there was still time, during which the company might take the necessary initiatory steps: R. v. York, Newcastle & Berrwick Ry. Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 648, 20 L. J. Q. B. 503. On a return to a mandamus to the Commissioners of Woods and Forests to cause a jury to be summoned, it was held that the Commissioners, in giving notice to take land for a public park, were acting under the statute in a public capacity, and that the notice did not constitute a quasi-contract enforceable by mandamus: R. v. Commissioners of Woods and Forests, 15 Q. B. 761, 19 L. J. Q. B. 497, 15 Jur. 35, 15 L. T. 561.

The mandamus must agree with the rule, and so where a rule for a mandamus was drawn up to summon a jury to assess the value of the land only and the mandamus was drawn up including both the value and damage by severance, the mandamus was quashed as varying from the rule: R. v. East Lancashire Ry. Co., 9 Q. B. 980, 16 L. J. Q. B. 127, 11 Jur. 169.

See further as to mandamus under this section, R. v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 13 Jur. 10; R. v. South Wales Ry. Co., 14 Q. B. 902, 6 Rail. Cas. 489, 14 Jur. 828, 19 L. J. Q. B. 272, 14 L. T. 546; R. v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 12 Q. B. 775, 5 Rail. Cas. 669, 12 Jur. 973, 17 L. J. Q. B. 326, 11 L. T. 433; R. v. North Union Ry. Co., 1 Rail. Cas. 729; *R. v. ⁽¹⁾ The direction in respect of the interest of the sheriff in this section is introduced for the protection of the party against whom the interest would operate, and he may therefore waive the protection if he so elects: Ex parte Baddeley, 5 D. & L. 575, 5 Rail.

some coroner ⁽¹⁾ of the county in which the lands in question, or some part thereof, Secs. 39, 40. shall be situate, and if all the coroners of such county be so interested, such application may be made to some person having filled the office of sheriff or coroner in such county, and who shall be then living there, and who shall not be interested in the matter in dispute; and with respect to the persons last mentioned preference shall be given to one who shall have most recently served either of the said offices; and every ex-sheriff, coroner, or ex-coroner shall have power, if he think fit, to appoint a deputy or assessor.

40. Throughout the enactments contained in this Act relating to the reference to a jury, where the term "sheriff" is used, the provisions applicable thereto shall be held to apply to every coroner or other person lawfully acting in his place ⁽²⁾, and in every case in which any such warrant shall have been directed to any other person than the sheriff, such sheriff shall, immediately on receiving notice of the Provisions applicable to sheriff to apply to coroner.

Cas. 542. A railway company, having issued their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury, the under-sheriff before whom the inquisition was to be taken informed the party whose land was to be assessed that he (the under-sheriff) was a shareholder in the company, it was held that, as the party did not object, but proceeded with the inquisition before the under-sheriff, he must be taken to have waived any objection arising from the interest of the under-sheriff under the statute: Ib.; Corrigal v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 2 D. N. S. 851, 3 Rail. Cas. 411, 5 M. & G. 219, 12 L. J. C. P. 209; but such an objection is not waived by the party appearing if he had no knowledge of it at the time: R. v. Sheriff of Warwickshire, 24 L. T. 211.

Under this section the promoters may properly issue their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury, although the under-sheriff be interested as a shareholder in the company. In such a case the sheriff should either take the inquisition himself or appoint some disinterested deputy, and if he does not do so that is not the fault of the promoters: Worsley v. South Devon Ry. Co., 20 L. J. Q. B. 254, 16 Q. B. 539, 15 Jur. 970, 16 L. T. 363. The interpretation clause, section 3, does not in such case incorporate the word "undersheriff" into the word "sheriff," as used in this section: Ib. But if the sheriff is interested, his under-sheriff, though disinterested, cannot act: R. v. Sheriff of Warwickshire, 24 L. T. 211. In such case the warrant should be directed to the coroner: Ib.

The interest which at common law disqualifies an officer from acting in a judicial inquiry must be direct and certain, and not merely remote or contingent, and the same principle must be applied to section 39 of this Act: R. v. Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Ry. Co., L. R. 2 Q. B. 336, 36 L. J. Q. B. 171, 16 L. T. N. S. 173, 15 W. R. 676.

Where, therefore, at the time of the summoning of the jury and the taking of an inquisition before the sheriff as to the compensation, there was an executory agreement, not yet carried out, by which the company would ultimately become amalgamated with another railway company, and the sheriff was a shareholder in the latter company, it was held that the sheriff was "not interested in the matter in dispute" within this section, so as to invalidate the proceedings: Ib.

Where there are two sheriffs and one of them is interested, the warrant ought to go to the other: Letsom v. Bickley, 5 M. & Sel. 144.

It would seem that, when an under-sheriff acts for the sheriff, he ought to certify in the name of the sheriff and not in his own name: Stroud v. Watts, 3 D. & L. 799; R. v. Perkin, 7 Q. B. 165.

⁽¹⁾ The coroner should summon a jury to take an inquisition if the sheriff is interested in the transaction (as being a shareholder in the company requiring the land), and a certiorari will issue to bring up the inquisition, though by section 145 no proceeding shall be quashed for want of form, nor shall the same be removed by certiorari: R. v. London and North Western Ry. Co., 9 L. T. N. S. 423, 12 W. R. 208. See also R. v. Sheriff of Warwickshire, 24 L. T. 211.

⁽²⁾ As to the right of a coroner to appoint a deputy, see section 1 of 6 & 7 Vict. c. 83, and R. v. Perkin, 7 Q. B. 165.

Secs. 40-45. delivery of the warrant, deliver over, on application for that purpose, to the person to whom the same shall have been directed, or to any person appointed by him to receive the same the jurors book and special jurors list belonging to the county where the lands in question shall be situate.

Jury to be summoned.

41. Upon the receipt of such warrant the sheriff shall summon a jury of twenty-four indifferent persons, duly qualified ⁽¹⁾ to act as common jurymen in the superior courts, to meet at a convenient time and place to be appointed by him for that purpose, such time not being less than fourteen nor more than twenty-one days after the receipt of such warrant, and such place not being more than eight miles distant from the lands in question, unless by consent of the parties interested, and he shall forthwith give notice to the promoters of the works of the time and place so appointed by him.

Jury to be impannelled.

42. Out of the jurors appearing upon such summons a jury of twelve persons shall be drawn by the sheriff, in such manner as juries for trials of issues joined in the superior courts are by law required to be drawn, and if a sufficient number of jurymen do not appear in obedience to such summons the sheriff shall return other indifferent men, duly qualified as aforesaid, of the bystanders, or others that can speedily be procured, to make up the jury to the number aforesaid; and all parties concerned may have their lawful challenges against any of the jurymen, but no such party shall challenge the array.

Sheriff to preside, witnesses to be summoned.

43. The sheriff shall preside on the said inquiry, and the party claiming compensation shall be deemed the plaintiff, and shall have all such rights and privileges as the plaintiff is entitled to in the trial of actions at law ⁽²⁾; and if either party so request in writing, the sheriff shall summon before him any person considered necessary to be examined as a witness touching the matters in question, and on the like request the sheriff shall order the jury, or any six or more of them, to view the place or matter in controversy, in like manner as views may be had in the trial of actions in the superior Courts.

Penalty on sheriff and jury for default.

44. If the sheriff make default in any of the matters hereinbefore required to be done by him in relation to any such trial or inquiry, he shall forfeit fifty pounds for every such offence, and such penalty shall be recoverable by the promoters of the undertaking by action in any of the superior Courts; and if any person summoned and returned upon any jury under this or the special Act, whether common or special, do not appear, or if appearing, he refuse to make oath, or in any other manner unlawfully neglect his duty, he shall, unless he show reasonable excuse to the satisfaction of the sheriff, forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds, and every such penalty payable by a sheriff or jurymen shall be applied in satisfaction of the costs of the inquiry, so far as the same will extend; and, in addition to the penalty hereby imposed, every such jurymen shall be subject to the same regulations, pains, and penalties as if such jury had been returned for the trial of an issue joined in any of the superior Courts.

Penalty on witnesses making default.

45. If any person duly summoned to give evidence upon any such inquiry, and to whom a tender of his reasonable expenses shall have been made, fail to appear at the time and place specified in the summons without sufficient cause, or if any person, whether summoned or not, who shall appear as a witness refuse to be

(1) The court will not set aside the verdict, on the ground that some of the jurymen were not qualified to act as jurors, the remedy in such case being by challenge: In re Chelsea Waterworks Co., 10 Exch. 731, 24 L. J. Ex. 79, 1 Jur. N. S. 143.

(2) Where the Act under which proceedings are taken provides for the payment of only certain of the costs of the inquiry, a provision such as this does not extend the claimant's right to costs: R. v. Gardner, 6 A. & E. 112, 6 L. J. Q. B. 130. "These words, 'deemed the plaintiff, and shall have all such rights and privileges as the plaintiff is entitled to in the trial of actions at law,' were clearly intended, not for the purpose which has been attributed to them, but to regulate the general course of proceedings, and to remove doubts concerning the right to begin, and to show in other respects how the inquisition shall be conducted": Per Lord Denman, C.J. (ib.)

examined on oath touching the subject matter in question, every person so offending shall forfeit to the party aggrieved a sum not exceeding ten pounds. Secs. 45-49.

46. Not less than ten days' notice of the time and place of the inquiry shall be given in writing by the promoters of the undertaking to the other party. Notice of inquiry.

47. If the party claiming compensation shall not appear ⁽¹⁾ at the time appointed for the inquiry such inquiry shall not be further proceeded in, but the compensation to be paid shall be such as shall be ascertained by a surveyor appointed by two justices in manner hereinafter provided ⁽²⁾. If the party make default the inquiry not to proceed.

48. Before the jury proceed to inquire of and assess the compensation or damage in respect of which their verdict is to be given, they shall make oath that they will truly and faithfully inquire of and assess such compensation and damage, and the sheriff shall administer such oaths, as well as the oaths of all persons called upon to give evidence. Jury to be sworn.

49. Where such inquiry shall relate to the value of lands to be purchased, and also to compensation claimed for injury done or to be done to the lands held therewith, the jury shall deliver their verdict separately ⁽³⁾ for the sum of money to be paid for the purchase of the lands required for the works, or of any interest therein belonging to the party with whom the question of disputed compensation shall have arisen ⁽⁴⁾, or which, under the provisions herein contained, he is enabled to sell or convey, and for the sum of money to be paid by way of compensation for Sums to be paid for purchase of lands and for damage to be assessed separately.

⁽¹⁾ It would seem that this provision applies to a person who was in a state of mental imbecility, but without having been the subject of a commission of lunacy: Re East Lincolnshire Railway Act, 1 Sim. N. S. 260.

The claimants (trustees) had been served with 378 notices to treat, each referring to a distinct parcel of land or building, in all of which they claimed a reversion. The promoters served an offer of compensation for a nominal sum, and a notice of their intention to summon a jury in each of the 378 cases. The jury was sworn, without objection, to try all the cases, no request being made to swear them separately for each case. The claimants appeared in the first case called on, but being dissatisfied with the result, protested and withdrew from the inquiry, and the inquiry proceeded. The jury gave a finding in each case; it was held that the claimants could not then withdraw, and that an appearance by them in one case was an appearance in all, and that they were bound by the verdict in all the cases: Re Trustees of Estate of Marquis of Donegal, 12 Ir. L. R. 539.

⁽²⁾ See 59th and following sections.

⁽³⁾ This provision as to separate assessment of damages is directory only: Corrigal v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 3 Rail. Cas. 411, 5 M. & G. 219, 6 Scott, N. R. 241, 2 Dowl., N. S. 851, 12 L. J. C. P. 209; where the jury gave a verdict for £250, "for the purchase of the house by the company, and also by way of satisfaction for all damages in respect of the tenant's fixtures in the said dwelling-house, or in any respects whatsoever," this general finding of the jury was held to be good: Ib. See In re North London Ry. Co., ex parte Hayne, 12 L. T. N. S. 200, 13 W. R. 492; In re London and Greenwich Ry. Co., 2 A. & E. 678, 4 N. & M. 458, 1 H. & W. 81. Where a verdict was for "severance and level crossing," without distinguishing how much was for each, it being impossible to reduce the verdict quoad the level crossing, it was overturned in toto, level crossing not being the subject of damages: Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Ogilvy, 2 Mac. H. L. Cas. 229. See also, In re Bradshaw's Arbitration, 5 Rail. Cas. 527, 12 Q. B. 562.

Section 49 the damage, if any ⁽¹⁾, to be sustained by the owner of the lands by reason of the

(1) The jury can find that the claimant has not sustained any damage, and therefore that no damage or sum of money be assessed: R. v. Lancaster and Preston Junction Ry. Co., 6 Q. B. 759, 3 Rail. Cas. 725, 9 Jur. 303, 14 L. J. Q. B. 84.

But where the jury awarded not only the purchase money and compensation for severance, but also an additional sum for the expense to be incurred by the landowner in building a bridge between the several portions, it was held that as to the last item there was an excess of jurisdiction, because it was for the justices, under 8 & 9 Vict. c. 20, ss. 68 and 69, to enforce the making of a bridge between the severed parts, at the expense of the company, and that a certiorari might issue, at the instance of the company, to remove the whole proceedings: R. v. South Wales Ry. Co., 13 Q. B. 988, 6 Rail. Cas. 197, 13 Jur. 1095, 18 L. J. Q. B. 310.

Where a jury awarded, in addition to a sum for the purchase and damage, that the trustees should erect a hedge on the owner's land, at their own expense, this verdict was upheld, as it did not appear that less compensation was awarded on that account: R. v. South Holland Drainage Trustees, 1 P. & D. 79, 8 A. & E. 429. A party who causes any alteration or defect in the procedure, is not competent afterwards to make any objection on that ground (ib.). See also R. v. Swansea Harbour Trustees, 3 Jur. 85, 1 P. & D. 512, 8 A. & E. 439.

The jury can only estimate the value of the property taken, and the estate and interest, if it appeared to be divided among several persons; but they have no power to decide whether the title was in the claimant: In re Chabot, 12 Jur. 1023, 17 L. J. Q. B. 336, S. C. nom.; Chabot v. Morpeth (Lord), 15 Q. B. 446, 19 L. J. Q. B. 377. So the jury cannot inquire into the title of the claimant, but can only decide as to the amount of compensation, and the sheriff ought not to submit to the jury any question of title, as, in this case, the existence of a legal right of way: R. v. London and North-Western Ry. Co., 3 E. & B. 443, 23 L. J. Q. B. 185. See also Brandon v. Brandon, 2 Dr. & S. 305, 11 Jur. N. S. 30, 34 L. J. Ch. 333.

A compensation jury have no jurisdiction to determine whether the lands have been injuriously affected: their jurisdiction is limited to assessing the amount of compensation: Horrocks v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 4 B. & S. 315, S. C. sub. nom.; R. v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 32 L. J. Q. B. 367, 10 Jur. N. S. 204, 8 L. T. N. S. 663, 11 W. R. 910. In this latter case the right of the claimant to the lateral support of the soil was submitted by the assessor to the jury, and determined by them in the negative; it was held that the assessor ought not to have submitted the question of right to the jury (ib.); nor have they jurisdiction to determine whether the promoters are excused from the obligation to pay the claimant by reason of any collateral agreement: In re Byles and The Ipswich Dock Commissioners, 11 Exch. 464, 25 L. J. Ex. 53, 26 L. T. 151.

So also, as regards leasehold interests, the jury can only ascertain the value of the leasehold interest claimed by the owner, and if too large an interest be claimed, the Court itself will, after the compensation money has been paid in by the company, direct a proper apportionment, and order the excess (if any) to be returned to the company: Ex parte Cooper, 2 Dr. & Sm. 312, 11 Jur. N. S. 103, 34 L. J. Ch. 373.

The assessment of damages by a jury under this Act, in respect of lands injuriously affected, is not conclusive that the lands were damaged and injuriously affected; and, therefore, in an action upon such verdict and the judgment thereon to recover the damages awarded and costs, the defendants are not estopped from pleading that the lands and the plaintiff's interest therein were not damaged and injuriously affected: Read v. Victoria Station and Pimlico Ry. Co., 1 H. & C. 826, 32 L. J. Exch. 167, 11 W. R. 1032.

So the verdict of the jury in such cases is conclusive only as to the amount of compensation, and not as to the right of the claimant to compensation, which may be contested elsewhere: Barber v. Nottingham and Grantham Ry. Co., 15 C. B. N. S. 726, 33 L. J. C. P. 193, 9 L. T. N. S. 829, 12 W. R. 376.

"The cases decided with respect to the Lands Clauses Act seem clearly to have settled that, after the jury have fixed the amount, the question may still be raised, whether there severing ⁽¹⁾ of the lands taken from the other lands of such owner, or otherwise injuriously affecting such lands by the exercise of the powers of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith. Secs. 49, 50.

was any right to compensation at all. If there is any such right, then the verdict of the jury is conclusive as to the amount. If the plaintiffs can make out that they are damaged in the way alleged, to the extent of one shilling, they will then be entitled to claim the whole sum. The line of decisions on the Lands Clauses Act seems to be that, if the party injured is entitled to recover anything at all, it must be that sum which the jury have found:” Per Erle, C.J. (ib.). See also, East and West India Docks and Birmingham Junction Ry. Co. v. Gattke, 6 Rail. Cas. 371, 15 Jur. 261, 3 Mac. & G. 155, 20 L. J. Ch. 217, 17 L. T. 85; Chapman v. Monmouthshire Railway and Canal Co., 2 H. & N. 267, 27 L. J. Ex. 97; and Mortimer v. South Wales Ry. Co., 1 E. & E. 375, 28 L. J. Q. B. 129, 7 W. R. 292.

As to what facts stated in the inquisition and warrant are sufficient to show the jurisdiction of the sheriff and jury, see Taylor v. Clemson, 11 C. & F. 610, 8 Jur. 833; Ostler v. Cooke, 18 Q. B. 831, 17 Jur. 370, 22 L. J. Q. B. 71.

Where an inquisition had been duly held before the sheriff, under an Act which provided that the verdict should be final, the Court refused an application for a mandamus to compel the issuing of a new warrant, though made on the ground of misdirection, of the improper rejection of evidence, of the verdict being against evidence, and the damages grossly insufficient: R. v. Eastern Counties Ry. Co., 2 D. N. S. 945, 3 Rail. Cas. 466, 7 Jur. 628, 12 L. J. Q. B. 271.

There may be an injury from severance within the meaning of the Act, though the land taken be not immediately contiguous to that retained. Compensation can be recovered for the whole of a rifle range, though the part taken is separated from the part retained: Holt v. Gaslight and Coke Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 728, 41 L. J. Q. B. 351, 27 L. T. N. S. 442. See also section 63 and note, post, p. 925.

⁽²⁾ If the sheriff refuse to hold the inquiry, he may be compelled by mandamus to do so: Walker v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 3 Rail. Cas. 396, 3 Q. B. 744, 12 L. J. Q. B. 88, 7 Jur. 323, S. C. sub. nom.; R. v. Sheriff of Middlesex, 3 Rail. Cas. 396, 3 G. & D. 549.

In an action brought upon a judgment, to recover the money awarded, the defendants cannot dispute the quantum of damages awarded by the sheriff's jury, it being proved that the lands were injuriously affected to some extent: Mortimer v. South Wales Ry. Co., 1 E. & E. 375, 28 L. J. Q. B. 129, 7 W. R. 292.

⁽⁴⁾ The statute requiring no regular form of inquisition, the enactment that such inquisitions should be kept among the records of sessions, and should be records, did not render it necessary to draw them up with the formality required in setting out the judgment of an inferior court. Per Littledale, J., in R. v. Trustees of Swansea Harbour, 8 A. & E. at p. 448, 3 Jur. 85, 1 P. & D. 512.

Secs. 50, 51. be kept by the clerk of the peace among the records ⁽¹⁾ of the general or quarter sessions of the county in which the lands or any part thereof shall be situate in respect of which such purchase money or compensation shall have been awarded; and such verdicts and judgments shall be deemed records, and the same or true copies thereof shall be good evidence in all Courts and elsewhere, and all persons may inspect the said verdicts and judgments, and may have copies thereof or extracts therefrom, on paying for each inspection thereof one shilling, and for every one hundred words copied or extracted therefrom sixpence, which copies or extracts the clerk of the peace is hereby required to make out, and to sign and certify the same to be true copies.

Costs of the inquiry how to be borne.

51 ⁽²⁾. On every such inquiry before a jury, where the verdict of the jury shall be given for a greater sum than the sum previously offered ⁽³⁾ by the promoters of ⁽¹⁾ Where there is no excess of jurisdiction shown, and the verdict and judgment are binding and conclusive, the recording of them is not a condition precedent to their validity. The sheriff after ordering the payment of the sum assessed, is functus officio: Chabot v. Morpeth (Lord), 15 Q. B. 446, 19 L. J. Q. B. 377, 15 L. T. 364. But see In re Chabot, 17 L. J. Q. B. 336.

Where the verdict of the jury has never been recorded, as provided by this section, parol evidence can be given of their finding, and of the grounds on which it proceeded: Manning v. Eastern Counties Ry. Co., 12 M. & W. 237, 3 Rail. Cas. 637, 13 L. J. Ex. 265.

⁽²⁾ Compare section 34, ante, as to the costs of arbitrations. This section which provides for the costs of inquiries before a jury, applies to inquiries taken under section 68, as to lands injuriously affected: Hayward v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 33 L. J. Q. B. 73, 4 B. & S. 787, 9 L. T. N. S. 680, 10 Jur. N. S. 418; and see next note.

This section is not incorporated with section 94, and, therefore, a landowner is not entitled to his costs of an inquiry under that section, where the company had made no previous offer: Cobb v. Mid Wales Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Q. B. 342, 12 Jur. N. S. 228, 35 L. J. Q. B. 117, 14 W. R. 775.

⁽³⁾ In cases coming under section 68, that is, in claims for lands already taken or injuriously affected, section 38 does not apply, but this section does apply, and in all such cases the words "previously offered" in this section, mean previously to the ten days' notice of the time and place of holding the inquiry, required by section 46, and the offer must be made by the company before (or, possibly, at the time) they give the claimant notice of the time and place of inquiry under section 46: Metropolitan Ry. Co. v. Turnham, 14 C. B. N. S. 212, 32 L. J. M. C. 249, 8 L. T. N. S. 280, 11 W. R. 695. An offer made six days before the inquiry was held too late (ib.): Hayward v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., supra. The promoters may make fresh offers of compensation so long as they make them before giving the requisite notice of the time and place of inquiry. Ib.

But, in all cases coming under section 18, that is, in all claims for lands intended to be taken, or sought to be purchased, section 38, which provides for giving notice of the summoning of the jury, applies, and in such cases, the "sum previously offered" in this section means the sum that is to be offered, under section 38, ten days previously to the summoning of the jury as provided by that section: Pearson v. Great Northern Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 785 n., 18 W. R. 259; and the company, having made no offer before issuing their warrant, the claimant was held entitled to costs (ib.). See also, R. v. Smith, Re Westfield and Metropolitan Ry. Cos., 12 Q. B. D. 481, 53 L. J. Q. B. 115, 32 W. R. 275. Where the company, in their notice, under section 38, of their intention to summon a jury, offered a certain sum, but afterwards offered a larger sum, and where a verdict was given for more than the first offer, but less than the second, they were held bound to pay the costs of the inquiry, as the second offer was too late. Ib.

The offer must be an unconditional offer of compensation for the injury done, and is bad if it be an offer of one sum for compensation and costs: Balls v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 1 Q. B. 337, 35 L. J. Q. B. 101, 7 B. & S. 177, 12 Jur. N. S. 183, 13 L. T. N. S. 702, 14 W. R. 370. An offer of £100 for compensation and costs, where the jury found the amount of the injury to be £75, was held to be bad, and the claimant was entitled to costs. Ib.

the undertaking, all the costs of such inquiry ⁽¹⁾ shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking; but if the verdict of the jury be given for the same ⁽²⁾ or a Section 51.

Where no offer is made, and the company is not liable to any part of the claim, this section does not apply, and the claimant is not entitled to costs: Todd v. Metropolitan District Ry. Co., 24 L. T. N. S. 435, 19 W. R. 720.

⁽¹⁾ The "costs of such inquiry" means the costs of the whole inquiry which has resulted from the issuing of the warrant to the sheriff: R. v. North London Ry. Co., infra.

The costs of the inquiry include the costs of witnesses, attendance by solicitor at the inquest, conferences and briefs, in addition to the expenses of the sheriff and jury, but the expenses of surveyors, who have not been called as witnesses, are not included: R. v. Justices of the City of York, 1 A. & E. 828, 3 N. & M. 685. See also, R. v. Sheriff of Warwickshire, 2 Rail. Cas. 661.

Where the claimant recovers a sum larger than that offered, he can recover, in an action, the costs of the inquiry as well as the compensation, section 51 being, for this purpose incorporated in section 68: South Eastern Ry. Co. v. Richardson, 15 C. B. 810, 21 L. J. C. P. 122, 16 Jur. 151.

It would seem that a mandamus directing the payment of costs, will not be granted, until they are ascertained in the proper manner: R. v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 4 Rail. Cas. 119, 3 D. & L. 399, 15 L. J. Q. B. 42.

As to the costs being provided for by agreement, see Ex parte Great Western Ry. Co. 3 Rail. Cas. 516.

As to costs under a special Act, see R. v. Gardner, 1 N. & P. 308, 6 A. & E. 112, W. W. & D. 7, 1 Jur. 181.

Where a local Act was silent as to the costs of holding the inquisition, the claimant, is not entitled to recover them: Corrigal v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 2 D. N.S. 851, 5 M. & G. 219, 3 Rail. Cas. 411, 6 Scott N. R. 241, 12 L. J. C. P. 209. Nor can the claimant recover against the company, the costs arising from a mistake made by the sheriff, as by dismissing the jury when he ought not to have done so: Walker v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 7 Jur. 1154. See also, where claimant was not entitled to costs: Ex parte Turner, 1 W. W. & H. 305, and In re Laws, 1 Exch. 441, 17 L. J. Ex. 126.

But where, after proceedings had been taken to summon a jury, an agreement was come to, fixing the price, and the company agreed to pay all such costs as they were liable to pay under this Act, or otherwise; the company was held liable to pay the costs of the vendors in the proceedings to summon a jury: Ex parte Morris, L. R. 12 Eq. 418, 40 L. J. Ch. 543, 25 L. T. N. S. 20, 19 W. R. 943. See also, In re Carney's Trusts, 26 L. T. N. S. 308, 20 W. R. 407. So, where an inquisition was removed by certiorari, into the Queen's Bench Division and there quashed, on the ground that the under-sheriff had misdirected the jury: and where a further inquiry was held on the same warrant by the sheriff, and compensation was duly awarded by the jury to the claimants, it was held that the claimants were entitled, as well to the costs of and incidental to the abortive inquiry, as to the costs of the inquisition which resulted in a good verdict: R. v. North London Ry. Co., 51 L. J. Q. B. 241; S. C. sub. nom.; R. v. Manley Smith, 30 W. R. 272.

An express power contained in an Act of Parliament to award certain specified costs, does not exclude the inherent jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery over the costs of proceedings authorised by the Act: In re Spitalfields Schools and Commissioners of Woods and Forests, L. R. 10 Eq. 671, 22 L. T. N. S. 569, 18 W. R. 799.

As to the time when the costs become payable to the claimant by the promoters, compare Capell v. Great Western Ry. Co., and Sharpe v. Metropolitan District Ry. Co., cited in note ⁽²⁾, section 34, ante, p. 910.

⁽²⁾ Where the owner recovers an equal or less sum, the company is entitled only to one-half of the formal costs of the inquiry, and not to one-half of the costs of witnesses, and counsel also: Bray v. South Eastern Ry. Co., 7 D. & L. 307, 19 L. J. Q. B. 11, 14 L. T. 184.

Secs. 51–53. less sum ⁽¹⁾ than the sum previously offered by the promoters of the undertaking, or if the owner of the lands shall have failed to appear at the time and place appointed for the inquiry, having received due notice thereof, one half of the costs of summoning, impannelling, and returning the jury, and of taking the inquiry and recording the verdict and judgment thereon, in case such verdict shall be taken, shall be defrayed by the owner of the lands, and the other half by the promoters of the undertaking, and each party shall bear his own costs, other than as aforesaid, incident to such inquiry.

Particulars of the costs.

52 ⁽²⁾. The costs of any such inquiry ⁽³⁾ shall, in case of difference, be settled by one of the masters ⁽⁴⁾ of the Court of Queen's Bench of England or Ireland, according as the lands are situate, on the application of either party, and such costs shall include all reasonable costs, charges, and expenses incurred in summoning, impannelling, and returning the jury, taking the inquiry, the attendance of witnesses, the employment of counsel and attorneys, recording the verdict and judgment thereon, and otherwise incident to such inquiry.

Payment of costs.

53 ⁽⁵⁾. If any such costs shall be payable by the promoters of the undertaking,

⁽²⁾ The taxation of the cost of arbitrations is now provided for by 32 & 33 Vict. c. 18, s. 1, post, p. 984.

⁽³⁾ The words "such inquiry" in this section refer to the inquiry mentioned in the earlier part of the 51st section, namely, where the landowner recovers more than the sum offered: Bray v. South Eastern Ry. Co., 7 D. & L. 307, 19 L. J. Q. B. 11. See note ⁽⁴⁾ of previous section. It has been held by the Court of Queen's Bench in Ireland that the master has no jurisdiction, under this section, to tax the costs between solicitor and client incident to a railway inquiry: O'Farrell v. Limerick and Waterford Ry. Co., 13 Ir. L. R. 365.

⁽⁴⁾ The power of settling costs, given to the master by this section, invests him with the character of an original arbitrator, and there is no review of his decision: Re Ross and York, Newcastle and Berwick Ry. Co., 5 Rail. Cas. 516, 5 D. & L. 695, 18 L. J. Q. B. 199, 13 Jur. 610, 13 L. T. 102. Though some doubts on this point were expressed in Metropolitan Ry. Co. v. Turnham, 14 C. B. N. S. 212, 32 L. J. M. C. 249, it is now settled that there is no power to review the taxation. See Tennant v. Mayor, &c., of Belfast, 11 Ir. L. R. 290. Nor will the court grant a mandamus to compel the master to review his taxation under this section: Scully v. Great Southern and Western Ry. Co., 11 Ir. L. R. 292. See also In re Sheffield Waterworks Act, 1864, L. R. 1 Ex. 54, 35 L. J. Ex. 60, 4 H. & C. 74, 13 L. T. N. S. 440, 14 W. R. 143; and in Owen v. London and North Western Ry. Co. L. R. 3 Q. B. 54, 37 L. J. Q. B. 35, 17 L. T. N. S. 210, 7 B. & S. 758, 16 W. R. 125, it was held that where the costs of an inquiry before a sheriff are settled under this section, the court has no jurisdiction over the master's taxation on a motion to review.

And so where the costs of an inquiry before arbitrators under this Act are taxed and settled by a taxing master under section 1 of 32 & 33 Vict. c. 18, the court has no jurisdiction over the master's taxation on a motion to review: In re Sandbach Charity Trustees and North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 3 Q. B. D. 1, 47 L. J. Q. B. 10, 37 L. T. N. S. 391, 26 W. R. 229 (following and approving Owen v. London and North Western Ry. Co.).

"There is no ground for an application for a mandamus, for the master has not declined jurisdiction, neither can the court grant a writ of certiorari, because the master has jurisdiction, and has exercised it. The main question is, has the Queen's Bench Division jurisdiction to review the master's taxation? I am quite satisfied with the reasons given in Owen v. London and North Western Ry. Co., that there is no jurisdiction to review the master's taxation." Per Bramwell, L.J. Ib.

⁽⁵⁾ To enforce payment of costs, the landowner ought first to have the amount of his costs ascertained in the manner prescribed by the Act; then to make a demand on the company for the payment of the costs so settled, and, if refused, he ought then to proand if within seven days after demand such costs be not paid to the party entitled to receive the same, they shall be recoverable by distress, and on application ⁽¹⁾ to any justice he shall issue his warrant accordingly; and if any such costs shall be payable by the owner of the lands or of any interest therein, the same may be deducted and retained by the promoters of the undertaking, out of any money awarded by the jury to such owner, or determined by the valuation of a surveyor under the provision hereinafter contained; and the payment or deposit of the remainder, if any, of such money shall be deemed payment and satisfaction of the whole thereof, or if such costs shall exceed the amount of the money so awarded or determined, the excess shall be recoverable by distress, and on application to any justice he shall issue his warrant accordingly.

54. If either party desire any such question of disputed compensation as aforesaid to be tried before a special jury ⁽²⁾, such question shall be so tried, provided that notice ⁽³⁾ of such desire, if coming from the other party, be given to the promoters of the undertaking before they have issued their warrant to the sheriff; and for that purpose the promoters of the undertaking shall by their warrant to the sheriff require him to nominate a special jury for such trial; and thereupon the sheriff shall, as soon as conveniently may be after the receipt by him of such warrant, summon both the parties to appear before him, by themselves or their attorneys, at some convenient time and place appointed by him for the purpose of nominating a special jury (not being less than five nor more than eight days from the service of such summons); and at the place and time so appointed the sheriff shall proceed to nominate and strike a special jury, in the manner in which such juries shall be required by the laws for the time being in force to be nominated or struck by the proper officers of the superior courts, and the sheriff shall appoint a day, not later than the eighth day after striking of such jury, for the parties or their agents to appear before him to reduce the number of such jury, and thereof shall give four days' notice to the parties; and on the day so appointed the sheriff shall proceed to reduce the said special jury to the number of twenty, in the manner used and accustomed by the proper officers of the superior courts.

Special jury to be summoned at the request of either party.

55. The special jury on such inquiry shall consist of twelve of the said twenty, who shall first appear on the names being called over, the parties having their lawful challenges against any of the said jurymen; and if a full jury do not appear, or if after such challenges a full jury do not remain, then, upon the application of either party, the sheriff shall add to the list of such jury the names

Deficiency of special jurymen.

ceeded by distress: R. v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 4 Rail. Cas. 119, 3 D. & L. 399, 15 L. J. Q. B. 42. It is doubtful whether the court will grant a mandamus to compel a company to pay costs, but if so, not before the amount of the costs has been ascertained in the proper manner: Ib. See further, Corrigal v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 3 Rail. Cas. 411, 2 D. N. S. 851, 5 M. & G. 219, 12 L. J. C. P. 209.

(1) The magistrate, upon an application for a distress warrant to levy the costs, is bound to consider the decision of the master as final: Metropolitan Ry. Co. v. Turnham, 14 C. B. N. S. 212, 32 L. J. M. C. 249, 8 L. T. N. S. 280, 11 W. R. 695.

(2) An inquisition before a sheriff for awarding compensation is not rendered void by an omission to strike the special jury in sufficient time to allow three days before the day of taking the inquisition. It is at most an irregularity only, and does not vitiate the proceedings: Ex parte Great Western Ry. Co., 18 L. T. 92.

(3) A landowner gave notice, under section 68, of his desire to have the compensation settled by a jury; but before the expiration of the twenty-one days limited by that section for the company to issue their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury, the owner gave a second notice of his desire to have the question settled by a special jury, under section 54, which fixes no time within which the company are to issue their warrant; it was held that the second notice did not operate as a waiver of the first, but that the company were bound to issue a warrant within twenty-one days after the receipt of the first notice, and in default thereof to pay the compensation claimed: Glyn v. Aberdare Ry. Co., 6 C. B. N. S. 359, 28 L. J. C. P. 271, 33 L. T. 185, 7 W. R. 443.

Secs. 55-60. of any other disinterested persons qualified ⁽¹⁾ to act as special or common jurymen, who shall not have been previously struck off the aforesaid list, and who may then be attending the court, or can speedily be procured, so as to complete such jury, all parties having their lawful challenges against such persons; and the sheriff shall proceed to the trial and adjudication of the matters in question by such jury, and such trial shall be attended in all respects with the like incidents and consequences, and the like penalties shall be applicable ⁽²⁾, as hereinbefore provided in the case of a trial by a common jury.

Other inquiries before same special jury by consent.

Jurymen not to attend more than once a year.

Compensation to absent parties to be determined by a surveyor appointed by two justices.

Two justices to nominate a surveyor.

56. Any other inquiry than that for the trial of which such special jury may have been struck and reduced as aforesaid may be tried by such jury, provided the parties thereto respectively shall give their consent to such trial.

57. No jurymen shall, without his consent, be summoned or required to attend any such proceeding as aforesaid more than once in any year.

58 ⁽³⁾. The purchase-money or compensation to be paid for any lands to be purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking from any party who, by reason of absence from the kingdom, is prevented from treating, or who cannot after diligent inquiry be found, or who shall not appear at the time appointed for the inquiry before the jury as hereinbefore provided for, after due notice thereof, and the compensation to be paid for any permanent injury to such lands, shall be such as shall be determined by the valuation of such able practical surveyor ⁽⁴⁾ as two justices shall nominate for that purpose as hereinafter mentioned.

59. Upon application by the promoters of the undertaking to two justices, and upon such proof as shall be satisfactory to them that any such party is, by reason of absence from the kingdom, prevented from treating, or cannot after diligent inquiry be found, or that any such party failed to appear ⁽⁵⁾ on such inquiry before a jury as aforesaid, after due notice to him for that purpose, such justices shall, by writing under their hands, nominate ⁽⁶⁾ an able practical surveyor for determining such compensation as aforesaid, and such surveyor shall determine the same accordingly, and shall annex to his valuation a declaration in writing subscribed by him of the correctness thereof.

Declaration to be made by the surveyor.

60. Before such surveyor shall enter upon the duty of making such valuation as aforesaid he shall, in the presence of such justices, or one of them, make and subscribe the declaration following at the foot of such nomination; (that is to say,)

"I, A.B., do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I will faithfully, impartially, and honestly, according to the best of my skill and ability, execute the duty of making the valuation hereby referred to me. A.B.

Made and subscribed in the presence of ."

And if any surveyor shall corruptly make such declaration, or having made such declaration shall wilfully act contrary thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

⁽¹⁾ The want of qualification in such supplemental jurors is ground of challenge only, and in default of such challenge the proceedings cannot be questioned, nor the verdict set aside, for want of jurisdiction or irregularity: In re Chelsea Waterworks Co., 24 L. J. Ex. 79, 1 Jur. N. S. 143, 24 L. T. 223, 10 Exch. 731.

⁽²⁾ See sections 44 and 45, ante.

⁽³⁾ Where there is a doubt as to the true ownership of the land, but neither claimant is absent or prevented from treating, this section does not apply: Ex parte London and South Western Ry. Co., 38 L. J. Ch. 527.

⁽⁴⁾ In a deed appointing a surveyor under this section, it is not necessary that a description of the lands to be valued should be inserted. It is sufficient that the surveyor should know what he had to survey: Poynder v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 16 Sim. 3, 5 Rail. Cas. 196, 2 Phil. 330.

⁽⁶⁾ A nomination by the justices of the surveyor employed by the company, who has already, in the course of his employment, valued the land does not necessarily invalidate a bond given under section 85: Langham v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 1 De G. & S. 466, 5 Rail. Cas. 263, 11 Jur. 839, 16 L. J. Ch. 437, 9 L. T. 452.

61. The said nomination and declaration shall be annexed to the valuation to be made by such surveyor, and shall be preserved together therewith by the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall at all times produce the said valuation and other documents, on demand, to the owner of the lands comprised in such valuation, and to all other parties interested therein.

62. All the expenses of and incident to every such valuation shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking.

63⁽¹⁾. In estimating the purchase money or compensation to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking in any of the cases aforesaid, regard shall be had by the justices, arbitrators, or surveyors, as the case may be, not only to the value of the land to be purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking, but also to the damage, if any, to be sustained by the owner of the lands by reason of the severing of the lands taken from the other lands of such owner, or otherwise injuriously affecting such other lands by the exercise of the powers of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith.

64. When the compensation payable in respect of any lands, or any interest therein, shall have been ascertained by the valuation of a surveyor, and deposited in the bank under the provisions herein contained⁽²⁾, by reason that the owner of or party entitled to convey such lands or such interest therein as aforesaid could not be found or was absent from the kingdom, if such owner or party shall be dissatisfied with such valuation it shall be lawful for him, before he shall have applied to the Court of Chancery for payment or investment of the monies so deposited under the provisions herein contained by notice in writing to the promoters of the undertaking, to require the question of such compensation to be submitted to arbitration, and thereupon the same shall be so submitted accordingly, in the same manner as in other cases of disputed compensation hereinbefore authorized⁽³⁾ or required to be submitted to arbitration.

65. The question to be submitted to the arbitrators in the case last aforesaid shall be, whether the said sum so deposited as aforesaid by the promoters of the undertaking was a sufficient sum, or whether any and what further sum ought to be paid or deposited by them.

66⁽⁴⁾. If the arbitrators shall award that a further sum ought to be paid or deposited by the promoters of the undertaking, they shall pay or deposit, as the case may require, such further sum within fourteen days after the making of such award, or in default thereof the same may be enforced by attachment, or recovered with costs by action or suit in any of the superior courts.

67. If the arbitrators shall determine that the sum so deposited was sufficient, the costs of and incident to such arbitration, to be determined by the arbitrators, shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators, but if the arbitrators shall determine that a further sum ought to be paid or deposited by the promoters of the undertaking, all the costs of and incident to the arbitration shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking.

68⁽⁵⁾. If any party shall be entitled⁽⁶⁾ to any compensation in respect of any

Secs. 61-68.

Valuation, &c., to be produced to the owner of the lands on demand.

Expenses to be borne by promoters. Purchase money and compensation, how to be estimated.

Where compensation to absent party has been determined by a surveyor, the party may have the same submitted to arbitration.

Question to be submitted to the arbitrators.

If further sum awarded, promoters to pay or deposit same within 14 days.

Costs of the arbitration.

To be settled by arbitration or jury, at the option of the party claiming compensation.

(5) This section applies only to cases where lands have been actually taken or actually affected by the execution of the works: Burkinshaw v. Birmingham and Oxford Junction Ry. Co., 5 Exch. 475, 20 L. J. Ex. 246, 6 Rail. Cas. 600, and it applies to the case of lands entered upon and used under section 85, and the owner in such case is bound to Section 68. initiate proceedings to settle the compensation : Doe d. Armistead v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 16 Q. B. 526, 15 Jur. 944, 20 L. J. Q. B. 249, 17 L. T. 59 ; Adams v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 271, 2 Mac. & G. 118, 2 Hall & T. 285, 14 Jur. 679, 19 L. J. Ch. 557. And to persons under disability, claiming compensation for permanent injury to land, as well as to owners in fee : Stone v. Mayor of Yeovil, 1 C. P. D. 691, 45 L. J. C. P. 657, 34 L. T. N. S. 874, 24 W. R. 1073 ; affirmed, 2 C. P. D. 99, 46 L. J. C. P. 137, 36 L. T. N. S. 279, 25 W. R. 240. And also to the case of a tenant from year to year, whose property is not wholly or partly required to be given up, but is merely injuriously affected by the execution of the works of a company. Such a case does not fall within the restrictive words of section 121 : R. v. Sheriff of Middlesex, 31 L. J. Q. B. 261, 10 W. R. 717, S. C. sub. nom. 8 Jur. N. S. 617.

Section 38, which provides for giving notice of the summoning of the jury, does not apply to inquiries taken under section 68, as to lands injuriously affected : Hayward v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 4 B. & S. 787, 33 L. J. Q. B. 73, 9 L. T. N. S. 680, 10 Jur. N. S. 418, Railstone v. York, Newcastle and Berwick Ry. Co., 19 L. J. Q. B. 464, 15 Q. B. 404, 14 Jur. 1021. But see Richardson v. South Eastern Ry. Co., 20 L. J. C. P. 236, 11 C. B. 154, 15 Jur. 660, 2 L. M. & P. 409, 17 L. T. 165 ; on appeal, 15 C. B. 810, 21 L. J. C. P. 122, 16 Jur. 151, where it was held that section 38 did apply to cases coming under section 68.

See also Pearson v. Great Northern Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 785 n., 18 W. R. 259, In re Westfield and Metropolitan District Ry. Co., L. R. 12 Q. B. D. 481, 53 L. J. Q. B. 115, 32 W. R. 275. Section 51, which provides for the costs of inquiries before a jury, applies to inquiries under section 68, as to lands injuriously affected : Hayward v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., supra, and Richardson v. South Eastern Ry. Co., supra.

By a special Act, the Lands Clauses Act, 1845, "except so much as related exclusively to the purchase and taking of land by compulsion," was incorporated with it, it was held that section 68 of the Lands Clauses Act was not excepted : Broadbent v. Imperial Gaslight Co., 7 De G. M. & G. 436, 26 L. J. Ch. 276. When the entire Lands Clauses Act is incorporated in a special Act no other enactment is required beyond section 68, to confer the right to compensation for lands injuriously affected by the works under the special Act : R. v. Vestry of St. Luke, Chelsea, L. R. 7 Q. B. 148, 41 L. J. Q. B. 81, 25 L. T. N. S. 914, 20 W. R. 209. Where, by a special Act, arbitrations were to be conducted by an arbitrator appointed by the Board of Trade, there being no specific provision as to costs and the general Act being incorporated with it "except where expressly varied by the special Act." It was held that the claimant was entitled to costs, as the substitution of one form of proceedings in the arbitration different from that in the general statute, varied the provisions of the general statute as to that matter, but did not repeal the provision as to costs in the general statute : Metropolitan District Ry. Co. v. Sharpe, 5 App. Cas. 425, 43 L. T. N. S. 130, 28 W. R. 617.

And when a special Act incorporated this Act, but excluded the operation of those provisions which relate to "the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement," which words are the descriptive heading of sections 16—68 of the Act, it was held (reversing the judgment of the court below, L. R. 4 Ex. 1) that section 68 was not incorporated in the local Act : Ferrar v. Commissioners of Sewers for City of London, L. R. 4 Ex. 227, 38 L. J. Ex. 102, 17 W. R. 709.

"The case of Broadbent v. Imperial Gaslight Co. is plainly distinguishable, for there the local Act incorporated the Lands Clauses Act, 1845, with the exception of so much only as related exclusively to the purchase and taking of land by compulsion. It, therefore, left untouched that which related to responsibility for injuriously affecting lands. The 68th section, therefore, was not excluded, but remained untouched." Per Cockburn, C. J., in delivering the judgment of the court (ib.), L. R. 4 Ex. at p. 231.

So when a special Act provided that the Lands Clauses Act, "so far as the provisions thereof were not expressly varied or excepted," should be incorporated, and also that "so much of the Lands Clauses Act as relates to the purchase of lands otherwise than by agreement" should not be incorporated, it was held that this section was not incorporated : Dungey v. Mayor of London, 38 L. J. C. P. 298, 20 L. T. N. S. 921, 17 W. R.

1106. See also, R. v. Mayor, &c. of London, L. R. 2 Q. B. 292, 16 L. T. N. S. Section 68.

For sections of a special Act avoiding the effect of the rule laid down in Ricket's and McCarthy's cases that no compensation can be given except in respect of actionable damage; and the rule in Brand's case that compensation cannot be given for subsequent use of the works, see Hodges on Railways, 6th ed., pp. 216, 230.

(6) Under this section the arbitrators or a jury have no jurisdiction to inquire into the title of the claimant to the land, for which he claims compensation, but can only decide on the question of the amount of compensation: R. v. London and North Western Ry. Co., 23 L. J. Q. B. 185, 3 E. & B. 443, 22 L. T. 346, 18 Jur. 993. Nor can they determine whether the promoters are excused from the obligation to pay by any collateral matter: In re Byles and the Ipswich Dock Commissioners, 25 L. J. Ex. 53, 11 Exch. 464, 26 L. T. 151.

The verdict of the jury is conclusive only as to the amount and not as to the right of the claimant to compensation, which may be contested elsewhere: Barber v. Nottingham and Grantham Ry. Co., 33 L. J. C. P. 193, 15 C. B. N. S. 726, 9 L. T. N. S. 829, 12 W. R. 376. "In R. v. London and North Western Ry. Co., ante, it was held that the question for arbitrators or a compensation jury under section 68 of the Lands Clauses Act, was the amount of compensation only. In Read v. Victoria Station and Pimlico Ry. Co., supra, the point raised was distinctly whether, after the verdict of the jury giving compensation under that section of the Lands Clauses Act, the question whether or no the lands were injuriously affected could be again raised, and the court held that it could." Per Erle, C. J. (ib.), 33 L. J. Q. B. at p. 196: Chapman v. Monmouthshire Railway and Canal Co., 2 H. & N. 267, 27 L. J. Ex. 97; Read v. Victoria Station and Pimlico Ry. Co., 32 L. J. Ex. 167, 1 H. & C. 826, 9 Jur. N. S. 1061, 11 W. R. 1032.

But if in an action on the verdict it be proved that the lands were injuriously affected to some extent, the defendant cannot dispute the quantum of damages awarded by the sheriff's jury: Mortimer v. South Wales Ry. Co., 28 L. J. Q. B. 129, 1 E. & E. 375, 7 W. R. 292. So also the jury can find that the claimant has received no damage: R. v. Lancaster and Preston Junction Ry. Co., 6 Q. B. 759, 14 L. J. Q. B. 84, 3 Rail. Cas. 725, 9 Jur. 303.

If there be any doubt as to whether the claimants land, for which he claims compensation, is injuriously affected within the meaning of section 68, the Court of Chancery will not, at the instance of the company, grant an injunction to restrain the defendant from taking proceedings to assess the damage: South Staffordshire Ry. Co. v. Hall, 20 L. J. Ch. 397, 15 Jur. 322, 1 Sim. N. S. 373, 6 Rail. Cas. 389, 17 L. T. 2. "If the company dispute both the right of the party to recover any damages and the amount claimed, the only course given them by the statute is to proceed to summon a jury and then, supposing the jury to assess some amount of damage as due, to refuse payment of the sum assessed, leaving the party to recover it by action. In this action the question of right would be determined. If the company do not dispute the amount claimed, but only deny the right to any compensation, they will, of course, refuse to summon a jury and will leave the party to bring his action for the amount claimed, and in such an action the right will at once be tried." Per Lord Cranworth, V.-C. (ib.), 20 L. J. Ch., at p. 399.

See also, East and West India Docks, &c. Ry. Co. v. Gattke, 20 L. J. Ch. 217, 15 Jur. 261, 6 Rail. Cas. 371, 3 Mac. & G. 155, 17 L. T. 85; London and North Western Ry. Co. v. Bradley, 3 Mac. & G. 336, 6 Rail. Cas. 551, 15 Jur. 639, overruling London and North Western Ry. Co. v. Smith, 1 Mac. & G. 216, 19 L. J. Ch. 193. But where there is an original equity affecting the claim, the court will grant an injunction: Duke of Norfolk v. Tennant, 9 Hare, 745, 16 Jur. 393, 19 L. T. 225.

Where separate interests are claimed in the same property every person making a separate claim is entitled to have a separate assessment by a separate jury: Abrahams v. Mayor, &c. of London, L. R. 6 Eq. 625, 37 L. J. Ch. 732, 18 L. T. N. S. 811; but a person having several distinct interests in one property or in several distinct properties, cannot object to having one assessment for all such interests: Starr v. Mayor, &c. of London, L. R. 7 Eq. 236, 20 L. T. N. S. 937.

Section 68. lands, or of any interest therein, which shall have been taken for or injuriously affected (1) by the execution of the works, and for which the promoters of the

(1) Several important principles have been established by the House of Lords with regard to claims for compensation for lands "injuriously affected" within this section.

Thus, compensation can be given under this section only in cases where the company is doing what is authorized by its own private Act, but which nevertheless causes damage to an individual. For anything else the common law remedy is properly applicable: Imperial Gaslight and Coke Co. v. Broadbent, 7 H. L. Cas. 600, 29 L. J. Ch. 377, 5 Jur. N. S. 1319; Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Colt, 3 Mac. H. L. Cas. 833.

So, unless an injury to an individual, caused by the act of a company, would have been the subject of a claim for damages, before the company obtained statutory powers to do that which caused the injuries, it could not (except expressly so provided) be a subject for compensation, when caused by something done in the exercise of those powers: Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 2 H. L. 175, 36 L. J. Q. B. 205, 16 L. T. N. S. 542, 15 W. R. 937. See also, R. v. Vaughan, L. R. 4 Q. B. 190, 38 L. J. M. C. 49, 17 W. R. 115; Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, 1 C. P. D. 402, 45 L. J. C. P. 861, 35 L. T. N. S. 46, 24 W. R. 1053.

"Unless the particular injury would have been actionable before the company had acquired their statutory powers, it is not an injury for which compensation can be claimed." Per Lord Campbell, C.J., in In re Penny and South Eastern Ry. Co., 7 E. & B., at p. 669, 26 L. J. Q. B. 225, 29 L. T. 124, 5 W. R. 612. See also, City of Glasgow Union Ry. Co. v. Hunter, L. R. 2 H. L. (Sc.) 78; Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Ogilvy, 2 Mac. H. L. Cas. 229.

And in a recent case the House of Lords laid down that no compensation ought to be given for damages if the thing done was one for which, if done without any statutory power, no action could have been maintained: Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Walker's Trustees, 7 App. Cas. 259, 46 L. T. N. S. 826; 30 W. R. 569, 46 J. P. 676.

But it does not follow that, in every case where a party would have been entitled to bring an action for an act done before the statute, he can claim compensation for such an act, when done by the company under their statute.

Thus, to found a claim to compensation under the 68th section, for an interest in land "injuriously affected," there must be an injury and damage, not temporary, but permanent, peculiarly affecting the house or land itself, in which the person claiming compensation has an interest. A mere personal inconvenience, obstruction, or damage to a man's trade or the good-will of his business, will not be sufficient, although any of them might, but for the Act of Parliament, which authorizes the doing of the thing causing the injury, have been the subject of an action against the person causing it: Metropolitan Board of Works v. McCarthy, L. R. 7 H. L. 243, 43 L. J. C. P. 385, 31 L. T. N. S. 182, 23 W. R. 115; Beckett v. Midland Ry. Co., L. R. 3 C. P. 82, 37 L. J. C. P. 11, 17 L. T. N. S. 499, 16 W. R. 221.

So in R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 4 Q. B. 358, 38 L. J. Q. B. 201, 17 W. R. 1094, it was held that the principle of the decision of the House of Lords in Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., supra, is that to entitle a claimant to compensation under this section, the injury must be done to land or some interest in land, and a mere personal injury, though connected with the enjoyment of particular land, is not ground for compensation. See also, Glover v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 20 L. J. Q. B. 376, 15 Jur. 673, 16 Q. B. 912, 17 L. T. 73, and Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Walker's Trustees, supra.

So no compensation can be given when the damage arises, not out of the execution, but only out of the subsequent use of the works (ib.). The damage must be done by the construction of the works and not afterwards, when the works have been completed: City of Glasgow Union Ry. Co. v. Hunter, L. R. 2 H. L. (Sc.) 78. See also, Hammersmith &c., Ry. Co. v. Brand L. R. 4 H. L. 171, 38 L. J. Q. B. 265, 21 L. T. N. S. 238, 18 W. R. 12; and Hopkins v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 2 Q. B. D. 224, 46 L. J. Q. B. 263, 36 L. T. N. S. 898.

So a person, no part of whose land has been taken for a railway, cannot, either under this Act or the Railways Clauses Act, recover statutory compensation in respect of damage or annoyance arising from vibrations caused (without negligence) by the passing of trains after the railway is brought into use, even though the value of the property has been actually diminished thereby: Hammersmith and City Ry. Co. v. Brand, ante, p. 928. Section 62.

See East & West India Docks, &c., Ry. Co. v. Gattike, ante, p. 927, and London & North Western Ry. Co. v. Bradley (6 Rail. Cas. 551; 3 Mac. & G. 336; 15 Jur. 639), where the injury complained of was that the beer in the claimant's cellar turned sour on account of the vibration of passing trains, and Lord Truro, L.C., dissolved an injunction to prevent the claimant from proceeding at law to recover compensation for that injury.

But, though compensation cannot be granted to a person annoyed by the smoke and vibration caused by trains passing along the railway where no part of his land has been taken, compensation may be given for deterioration in the value of his property caused in a like manner where a part of his land had been taken: Duke of Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 5 H. L. 418, 41 L. J. Ex. 137, 27 L. T. N. S. 1; In re Stockport, &c., Ry. Co., 33 L. J. Q. B. 251, 10 Jur. N. S. 614, 10 L. T. N. S. 426. See also, City of Glasgow Union Ry. Co. v. Hunter (L. R. 2 H. L. (Sc.) 78), where it was held, reversing the judgment appealed from, that statutory compensation cannot be claimed by reason of the noise or smoke of trains, where, though part of the land was taken, yet the damages complained of did not arise out of anything done on the land taken, nor in respect of any property of the claimant connected with the land so taken, but from the construction of a railway bridge over the land of another person.

"Anticipated damage from the noise and smoke of trains does not appear to be a proper subject of estimate for compensation under the railway statutes:" per Hatherley, L.C., ib.

Where a railway company have express legislative powers to use locomotive engines on their line, constructed close to a public highway, they cannot be indicted for what, but for these express powers, would be a public nuisance, in consequence of their engines frightening the horses of persons using the public highway: R. v. Pease, 4 B. & Ad. 30.

Nor are they liable in an action for damage from fire by sparks emitted from an engine travelling on their line, provided they have taken every precaution to prevent injury from fire: Vaughan v. Taff Vale Ry. Co., 5 H. & N. 679, 6 Jur. N. S. 899, 29 L. J. Ex. 247, 2 L. T. N. S. 394, 8 W. R. 549.

Compensation is not recoverable for the loss of trade, caused by the obstruction of a highway, during the execution of the works of a company, as such loss is not an "injurious affecting" of the tradesman's interest in his premises: Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 2 H. L. 175, 36 L. J. Q. B. 205, 16 L. T. N. S. 542, 15 W. R. 937.

Nor for an injury to the goodwill, nor a loss of profit in the business of a shop, caused by an obstruction, temporary or permanent, of a highway, by the execution of the works, where no part of the land on which the business is carried on is taken, or otherwise injuriously affected: Cameron v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 19 C. B. N. S. 764, 11 Jur. N. S. 252, 12 L. T. N. S. 121, 13 W. R. 390 (reversing the judgment of the Common Pleas, 16 C. B. N. S. 430, 33 L. J. C. P. 313, 10 Jur. N. S. 635, 10 L. T. N. S. 381, 12 W. R. 803, and overruling Senior v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 2 H. & C. 258, 9 Jur. N. S. 802, 32 L. J. Ex. 225, 8 L. T. N. S. 544, 11 W. R. 836).

Nor for loss of trade or custom by reason of a work, not otherwise affecting the house in, or upon, which the trade has been carried on: Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Walker's Trustees, ante, p. 928. Nor for an indirect injury to his trade, resulting from the diminution of traffic, caused by the authorised works, but only for direct structural injury caused by unauthorised works: Bigg v. Corporation of London, L. R. 15 Eq. 376.

As to the case of damage being too remote, and so not recoverable, see In re Clarke and Wandsworth District Board of Works, 17 L. T. N. S. 549.

As to loss of trade where a company pull down houses near the claimant's house, and to loss of trade profits in the case of a publican, see R. v. Vaughan, L. R. 4 Q. B. 190, 9 B. & S. 592, 38 L. J. M. C. 49, 17 W. R. 115. See further, as to compensation for loss of trade and goodwill, Ex parte Farlow, 2 B. & Ad. 341; R. v. Hungerford Market Co., 1 P. & D. 492, 9 A. & E. 463; and R. v. Hungerford Market Co., 4 B. & Ad. 592, 1 N. & M. 404 and 548. Compensation can be recovered under the 6th and 16th sections of the Railway Clauses Act, for damage caused by the works of a company to goods on the premises of the claimant, these sections not being confined to structural damage

Section 68. and depreciation in value of the premises : Knock v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 131, 38 L. J. C. P. 78, 19 L. T. N. S. 239, 17 W. R. 10, and for damage caused by the works to goods on the premises of the claimant not required for the works, and for loss of trade arising from customers being compelled to walk on the other side of the road: East and West India, &c., Dock Ry. Co. v. Gattke, ante, p. 927.

Compensation is recoverable for the erection of gates and the passage of trains on a level crossing over a private road, the only approach to the claimant's house : Glover v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 20 L. J. Q. B. 376, 15 Jur. 673, 16 Q. B. 912, and also for a private and particular injury from the diversion or obstruction of a public road, which, if done without statutory powers, would have given a right of action : Wood v. Stourbridge Ry. Co., 16 C. B. N. S. 222, but not for stoppages and other mere inconveniences incident to the crossing of a public road by a railway company on the level : Caledonian Ry. Co. v. Ogilvy, 2 Macq. H. L. C. 229. Nor for deterioration in the value of property by reason of its being overlooked by persons on the railway and railway platform : In re Penny and South Eastern Ry. Co., 7 E. & B. 660, 3 Jur. N. S. 957, 26 L. J. Q. B. 225. See also Chamberlain v. West End of London and Crystal Palace Ry. Co., 2 B. & S. 605, 8 Jur. N. S. 935, 31 L. J. Q. B. 201, 6 L. T. N. S. 318, 10 W. R. 645; but where a railway company erected an embankment on a part of the highway, opposite the claimant's house, thereby narrowing the road and diminishing the value of the house, compensation is recoverable : Beckett v. Midland Ry. Co., L. R. 3 C. P. 82, 37 L. J. C. P. 11, 17 L. T. N. S. 499, 16 W. R. 221; and also where the plaintiff was lessee of certain houses erected and in course of erection situate on a high road, and a company made an obstruction and deviation in the road near the houses, so that part of the road running past the houses was no longer used as a high road, and the access to the houses was less convenient and their value as shops greatly diminished : Chamberlain v. West End of London and Crystal Palace Ry. Co., supra; and so where a railway company took some land of L. and proposed to make their railway on it so close to a cotton mill belonging to L. that by reason of the danger of fire from trains using the line the building was less suitable for a cotton mill, and would only be insured at an increased premium, and was rendered of less saleable value, L. was held entitled to compensation in respect of the mill : In re Stockport, Timperley, and Altringham Ry. Co., ante, p. 929; and also for lowering a road, whereby the claimant's land was injured, and access to it impeded : R. v. Eastern Counties Ry. Co., 2 Q. B. 347, 2 Rail. Cas. 736, 1 Gale & D. 589, 11 L. J. Q. B. 66, 6 Jur. 557, and for the raising of the level of a street impeding access to a house of which the claimant was lessee : R. v. Vestry of St. Lukes, Chelsea, ante, p. 928. But not for the erection of a hoarding in a street, by a company authorised to maintain the sewers, whereby the access to the plaintiff's premises (no part of which was taken) was made less convenient : Herring v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 19 C. B. N. S. 510, 34 L. J. M. C. 224.

And where a company took some houses, the property of the claimant, and tunnelled under the part of the passage between them, of which he was the owner, he can claim compensation for the subsoil of the passage, as well as for the houses : Souch v. East London Ry. Co., 22 W. R. 566, and in such case it makes no difference whether the passage is a public or private right of way, as the owner has a good title to the subsoil (ib.); but see S. C. L. R. 16 Eq. 108, 42 L. J. Ch. 477, 21 W. R. 540, where Malins, V.C., held that if the passage were a public way, the claimant would not be entitled to compensation in respect of it.

It would seem that an easement is not "land," within the meaning of this Act, per the Lord Chancellor in Pinchin v. London and Blackwall Railway Co., 24 L. J. Ch. 417, 5 De G. M. & G. 851, 1 Jur. N. S. 241. But an easement attaching to land is an interest in land for the invasion of which compensation can be claimed : Eagle v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., L. R. 2 C. P. 638, 36 L. J. C. P. 297, 16 L. T. N. S. 593, 15 W. R. 1016. But a mere right of shooting over land does not entitle the owner to compensation for his right being diminished in value by a railway : Bird v. Great Eastern Ry. Co., 19 C. B. N. S. 268, 34 L. J. C. P. 366, 11 Jur. N. S. 782, 13 L. T. N. S. 365, 13 W. R. 989. Nor the mere chance of the renewal of a lease : R. v. Liverpool and Manchester Ry. Co., 4 A. & E. 650, 6 N. & M. 186, 5 L. J. Q. B. 106. See further as to compensation for an easement over the land of the claimant : Thicknesse v. Lancaster Canal Co., 4 M. & W. 472. In some cases the special Act provides that the word "lands" should include "easements and interests in land": See Macey v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 10 Jur. Section 68. N. S. 333, 33 L. J. Ch. 377, 10 L. T. N. S. 66, 12 W. R. 619; Temple Pier Co. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 34 L. J. Ch. 262, 12 L. T. N. S. 369, 13 W. R. 535.

The diversion of a stream is a "taking and using" it within the meaning of section 85 of this Act; and before such diversion can be made, the value of the stream must be ascertained and secured to the owner of the land through which it passes: Ferrand v. Corporation of Bradford, 21 Beav. 412, 2 Jur. N. S. 175, 27 L. T. 11. So the abstraction by a waterworks company of water from a stream does not entitle a riparian owner below to require the company to purchase his part of the stream under the sixth section of the Waterworks Clauses Act, but only entitles such owner to claim compensation under this section for the stream being injuriously affected: Bush v. Trowbridge Waterworks Co., L. R. 10 Ch. 459, 44 L. J. Ch. 645, 33 L. T. N. S. 137, 23 W. R. 641. So if a company give notice to take the whole of a stream, they are bound to make compensation at once for the whole interest of the owner, and not merely to compensate the owner from time to time: Stone v. Corporation of Yeovil, 2 C. P. D. 99, 46 L. J. C. P. 137, 36 L. T. N. S. 279, 25 W. R. 240.

So a waterworks company is not entitled to compensation for unused water pipes which had been buried beneath an embankment of the railway, as they had no interest in land: New River Co. v. Midland Ry. Co., 36 L. T. N. S. 539.

Compensation is recoverable for the taking of a waterway and substitution of a road for it: Duke of Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 5 H. L. 418, 41 L. J. Ex. 137, 27 L. T. N. S. 1, and for the taking of an easement appurtenant to the lands of the claimant, where the lands themselves are injuriously affected (ib.).

And for an occasional flooding of lands, caused by the proper execution of the statutory powers: Ware v. Regent's Canal Co., 3 De G. & J. 212, 28 L. J. Ch. 153.

And for damage caused to the plaintiff's mines, by the oozing or leaking of the water into the mines from a reservoir of a company authorised to construct a reservoir: Barber v. Nottingham and Grantham Ry. Co., 33 L. J. C. P. 193, 15 C. B. N. S. 726, 12 W. R. 376.

As to compensation for flooding mines, see Bagnall v. London and North Western Ry. Co., 7 H. & N. 423, 31 L. J. Ex. 121, 8 Jur. N. S. 16, 5 L. T. N. S. 621; affirmed in the Exchequer Chamber, 31 L. J. Ex. 480, 10 W. R. 802; and compare Rylands v. Fletcher, L. R. 3 H. L. Cas. 330, 37 L. J. Ex. 161, 19 L. T. N. S. 220; and Fletcher v. Smith, L. R. 2 App. Cas. 781, nom. Musgrave v. Smith, 47 L. J. Q. B. 4, 37 L. T. N. S. 367, 26 W. R. 83.

Compensation is recoverable for the obstruction of ancient lights by schools built by a school board: Clark v. London School Board, L. R. 9 Ch. 120, 43 L. J. Ch. 421, 29 L. T. N. S. 903, 22 W. R. 354; and the plaintiff's remedy, in such a case, is by claiming compensation under this section, and not by bill for an injunction: Duke of Bedford v. Dawson, L. R. 20 Eq. 353, 44 L. J. Ch. 549, 33 L. T. N. S. 156.

But compensation is not recoverable for obstructing ancient lights where the company have power to execute the works without making compensation: Baker v. Vestry of St. Marylebone, 35 L. T. N. S. 129, 24 W. R. 848.

Nor by the owner of a ferry for loss of traffic, caused by the construction of a railway-bridge and foot-bridge, across a river, half a mile above the ferry: Hopkins v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 2 Q. B. D. 224, 46 L. J. Q. B. 265, 36 L. T. N. S. 898 (overruling R. v. Cambrian Ry. Co., L. R. 6 Q. B. 422, 40 L. J. Q. B. 169, 25 L. T. N. S. 84, 19 W. R. 1138).

But a ferry, if attached to the land of the claimant, is a private right, in respect of which compensation might be assessed: In re Cooling and the Great Northern Ry. Co., 19 L. J. Q. B. 25, 6 Rail. Cas. 246, 14 Jur. 128, 13 L. T. 484; S. C., R. v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 14 Q. B. 25.

Where the occupier of premises near the Thames had been used to draw water from the river, and to bring barges to a draw-dock, as public rights, and not as rights attached to the premises, and was obstructed in the enjoyment of these rights by the execution of the works of the embankment, compensation was not recoverable under this section: R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 4 Q. B. 358, 38 L. J. Q. B. 201, 17 W. R. 1094; but otherwise, if, by the destruction of the dock, the claimant's premises be permanently damaged and diminished in value: Metropolitan Board of Works v. M'Carthy, ante, p. 928.

Section 68. undertaking shall not have made satisfaction under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith ⁽¹⁾, and if the compensation claimed Prospective profits may be awarded, as when a company took lands where a cotton mill would probably have been built, and the owner had other lands on which he had made a reservoir, from which water might be supplied to such mill when built, it was held (affirming the decree of the M.R.) that the umpire was right in receiving evidence, and in awarding compensation, in respect of such prospective profits: Ripley v. Great Northern Ry. Co., L. R. 10 Ch. 435, 23 W. R. 685.

So contingent and prospective damages may be awarded: Caledonian Ry. Co., v. Lockhart, 3 Macq. H. L. Cas. 808, 6 Jur. N. S. 1311, 3 L. T. N. S. 65.

Where part of an owner's land was taken and several acres were severed from the rest and all access cut off, and the land at the time the railway was made was agricultural, but had a prospective value for building, it was held that the jury, valuing it as building land, might estimate the damage by severance as if all access were cut off, without regard to the power of justices to order accommodation works under sections 68 and 69 of the Railways Clauses Act: R. v. Brown, L. R. 2 Q. B. 630, 36 L. J. Q. B. 322, 16 L. T. N. S. 827, 15 W. R. 988.

So, a landowner is not precluded from insisting on a further compensation for future unforeseen damages, subsequently sustained, by reason of his having received compensation for land and "in respect of damages which might be sustained by reason of making a railway": Lancashire & Yorkshire Ry. Co. v. Evans, 15 Beav. 322. So, though the company have constructed their line according to the provisions of their Act, they are liable, in an action, for a contingent and unforeseen injury (as causing the plaintiff's land to be flooded by the flood waters not being able to spread as before the works) arising from the mode of construction of the railway: Lawrence v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 656, 16 Q. B. 643, 20 L. J. Q. B. 293, 15 Jur. 652, 17 L. T. 39. If such damage in fact arise afterwards, the remedy of the party is under this section: In re Ware and Regent's Canal Co., 7 Rail. Cas. 780, 9 Exch. 395, 23 L. J. Ex. 145; but, if such damage could have been reasonably foreseen, compensation in respect thereof should have been claimed at the time of the original assessment: R. v. Leeds & Selby Ry. Co., 5 N. & M. 246, 3 A. & E. 683. But see further as to the liability of a company for unforeseen damage: Croft v. London & North Western Ry. Co., 3 B. & S. 436, 9 Jur. N. S. 962, 32 L. J. Q. B. 113, 7 L. T. N. S. 741, 11 W. R. 360. In this case Cockburn, C. J., laid down the principle that in no case was the claimant entitled to a second inquiry, even for unforeseen damage, but that the compensation should be determined at once and finally.

The plaintiffs, who were brewers, were owners in fee of a public house, let for an unexpired term of seven years, and there was in the lease a covenant by the tenant not to sell on the premises any beer other than the plaintiff's beer, the additional value of the premises, by reason of this covenant, may be taken into consideration in ascertaining the compensation: Bourne v. Mayor of Liverpool, 33 L. J. Q. B. 15, 10 Jur. N. S. 125, 8 L. T. N. S. 573.

As to compensation to a lessee, see Johnson v. Edgware, Highgate & London Ry. Co., 14 L. T. N. S. 45; Ex parte Luntley, 13 L. T. N. S. 490.

Where a company take leasehold lands in the occupation of a tenant for life, and it appears that, if not taken, they would now let for an increased rent, the Court will allow a slight increase on the original rent, by way of income, out of the purchase money: In re North's Estate, 19 L. T. N. S. 43. See also, Jeffreys v. Conner, 28 Beav. 328. As to the difference between taking and using lands under section 84, and injuriously affecting them within this section, see Macey v. Metropolitan Board of Works, and Temple Pier Co. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, ante, p. 93.

It seems, then, in assessing compensation to parties, whose premises may be injuriously affected by works done by a company under their statutory powers, the company are not entitled to set off any benefit accruing to such parties, or to the neighbourhood by the construction of the works: Senior v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 32 L. J. Ex. 225, 2 H. & C. 258, 9 Jur. N. S. 802, 8 L. T. N. S. 544, 11 W. R. 836.

in such case shall exceed the sum of fifty pounds, such party may have the same settled either by arbitration or by the verdict of a jury, as he shall think fit; and if such party desire to have the same settled by arbitration, it shall be lawful for him to give notice ⁽¹⁾ in writing to the promoters of the undertaking of such his desire, stating in such notice the nature of interest ⁽¹⁾ in such lands in respect of which he claims compensation, and the amount of the compensation so claimed therein; and unless the promoters of the undertaking be willing to pay the amount of compensation so claimed, and shall enter into a written agreement ⁽²⁾ for that purpose within twenty-one days after the receipt of any such notice from any party so entitled, the same shall be settled by arbitration ⁽³⁾ in the manner herein provided; or if the party so entitled as aforesaid desire to have such question of compensation settled by jury, it shall be lawful for him to give notice in writing of such his desire ⁽⁴⁾ to the promoters of the undertaking, stating such particulars as aforesaid, and unless the promoters of the undertaking be willing to pay the amount of compensation so claimed, and enter into a written agreement for that purpose, they shall, within twenty-one days after the receipt of such notice, issue their warrant to the sheriff to summon a jury for settling the same in the manner herein provided ⁽⁵⁾, and in default thereof they shall be liable to pay to the party so entitled as aforesaid the amount of compensation so claimed ⁽⁶⁾, and the same may be recovered by him, with costs, by action in any of the superior courts.

A claimant must give in his notice for a jury, within this section, such reasonable information as to his interest as will enable the promoters to judge whether they will pay the whole claim, or what amount they ought to offer; and where the claimant is occupier under a lease for years, it is not sufficient to state in the notice that "he holds under a lease": Healey v. Thames Valley Ry. Co., 34 L. J. Q. B. 52, 5 B. & S. 769, 10 Jur. N. S. 1182, 11 L. T. N. S. 268, 13 W. R. 44; but see Cameron v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 33 L. J. C. P. 313, 16 C. B. N. S. 430, 10 L. T. N. S. 381, 12 W. R. 803; on appeal, 11 Jur. N. S. 282, 12 L. T. N. S. 121, 13 W. R. 390. See also, R. v. East London Ry. Co., 17 L. T. N. S. 291.

⁽²⁾ As to the effect of an agreement for compensation for part of the plaintiff's claim, see Duke of Norfolk v. Tennant, 9 Hare, 745.

⁽⁴⁾ Where the owner gave notice of his desire to have the question of compensation settled by a jury, but before the expiration of the twenty-one days limited by this section for the company to issue their warrant, the owner gave a second notice of his desire to have the claim settled by a special jury, under section 54, it was held that the second notice did not operate as a waiver of the first, but that the company were bound to issue their warrant within twenty-one days after the receipt of the first notice, and in default thereof to pay the compensation claimed: Glyn v. Aberdare Ry. Co., 28 L. J. C. P. 271, 6 C. B. N. S. 359, 33 L. T. 185, 7 W. R. 443.

⁽⁵⁾ As to the effect of the words "in manner herein provided," in incorporating previous sections, see Railstone v. York, &c., Ry. Co.; Richardson v. South Eastern Ry. Co.; Hayward v. Metropolitan Ry. Co.; Pearson v. Great Northern Ry. Co., and R. v. Manley Smith, cited in note ⁽¹⁾ to this section.

⁽⁶⁾ If, after service of a notice to treat, the owner replies by a notice of claim, and the company neither refer the matter to arbitration, nor summon a jury, they thereby acquiesce in the offer made, and the owner has a right of action, under this section, for the amount claimed: Eaton v. Midland Great Western Ry. Co., 10 Ir. L. R. 310. Compare Tanner v. Swindon, &c., Ry. Co., 45 L. T. N. S. 209.

Secs. 68, 69.

Purchase money payable to parties under disability amounting to £200 to be deposited in the bank.

And with respect to the purchase money or compensation coming to parties having limited interests, or prevented from treating, or not making title, be it enacted as follows :

69 (1). If the purchase money or compensation which shall be payable in respect of any lands or any interest therein, purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking from any corporation ⁽²⁾, tenant for life or in tail, married woman seised in her own right or entitled to dower, guardian, committee of lunatic ⁽³⁾ or idiot, trustee, executor or administrator, or person having a partial or qualified interest only in such lands, and not entitled to sell or convey the same, except under the provisions of this ⁽⁴⁾ or the special Act, or the compensation to be paid for any permanent damage to any such lands, amount to or exceed the sum of two hundred pounds, the same shall be paid ⁽⁵⁾ into the bank, in the name and with the privity of the Accountant-General ⁽⁶⁾ of the Court of Chancery in England if the same relate to lands in England or Wales, or the Accountant-General of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland if the same relate to lands in Ireland, to be placed to the account there of such Accountant-General, ex parte the promoters of the undertaking (describing them by their proper name), in the

(1) Payment into Court, under this section, of the purchase money of lands belonging to an infant does not make the infant a ward of Court: Ex parte Brewer, 2 Dr. & Sm. 552.

(2) In cases where land belonging to a corporation is taken and the purchase-money paid into the bank, the Court will not allow any steps to be taken with reference to the final application of such money, unless it be satisfied that the freemen are represented: In re Great Northern Ry. Co.'s Act, Ex parte Mayor of Lincoln, 6 Rail. Cas. 738, 16 Jur. 756, 21 L. J. Ch. 621, 18 L. T. 298.

Where a company under pressure paid the purchase-money to the vendors, who were a corporation, instead of paying it into court under this section, on a bill filed by the company, the vendors were, on motion, ordered to pay into court the purchase-money in their hands for the purpose of interim protection: London and North Western Ry. Co. v. Corporation of Lancaster, 15 Beav. 22, 16 Jur. 677, 18 L. T. 132.

(3) Land belonging to a lunatic having been taken by a company, an order was made for the payment of the purchase-money to the credit of the lunacy, and for its investment, to the joint account of the lunatic and the company, without its being first paid into Court under this section: In re Milnes, L. R. 1 Ch. D. 28, 34 L. T. N. S. 46, 24 W. R. 98; the application for such an order must be made in the Chancery Division as well as in the Lunacy, (ib); but in the case of a permanent investment, the name of the company will be omitted from the account: In re Buckingham, 2 Ch. D. 690.

(4) See section 7, ante, by which parties under disability are enabled to sell and convey.

(5) Payment into court under this section may be dispensed with where the money is immediately required to be paid to another account, e.g., to a lunatic's account: In re Milnes, 1 Ch. D. 28, 34 L. T. N. S. 46, 24 W. R. 98.

Where money is paid into the bank, interest ceases to be payable by the company, unless there is a special agreement to do so: Lewis v. South Wales Ry. Co., 10 Hare, 113, 22 L. J. Ch. 209, 16 Jur. 1149, 21 L. T. 3.

But a company may, under certain circumstances, be bound by an implied contract with a tenant for life, to pay interest on the purchase-money, after payment into court and before investment: Ex parte Earl of Hardwicke, 1 De G. M. & G. 297, 18 L. T. 281. See also Blount v. Great Southern and Western Ry. Co., 2 Ir. R. Ch. 40; In re Crystal Palace Ry. Co., 1 Jur. N. S. 995.

(6) By the Court of Chancery Funds Act, 1872 (35 & 36 Vict. c. 44), the office of Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery has been abolished, and the duties thereof transferred to the Paymaster-General. See sections 24, 30, of the Judicature Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 77), and section 2 of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Funds, &c.) Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 29); and see r. 39 of the Supreme Court Funds Rules, 1884. By this rule the nature of the disability to sell and convey, by reason of which the money shall be so paid in, ought to be briefly stated.

matter of the special Act (citing it), pursuant to the method prescribed by any Act for the time being in force for regulating moneys paid into the said courts ⁽¹⁾; and such moneys shall remain so deposited until the same be applied to some one or more of the following purposes; (that is to say,) Section 69.

In the purchase or redemption of the land tax ⁽²⁾, or the discharge of any debt or incumbrance ⁽³⁾ affecting the land in respect of which such money shall have been paid, or affecting other lands settled ⁽⁴⁾ therewith to the same or the like uses, trusts, or purposes; or Application of monies deposited.

In the purchase of other lands ⁽⁵⁾ to be conveyed, limited, and settled upon the

(1) See last note.

(2) A tenant for life, who had redeemed the land tax before the passing of the Act, may reimburse himself out of the purchase-money: Ex parte Northwick, 1 Y. & C. 166; and the company are liable to pay the costs of such redemption: Ex parte Beddoes, 2 Sm. & G. 466; Ex parte Hospital of St. Katharine, 17 Ch. D. 378. So the fund may be applied in the redemption of the land tax on other lands of the persons entitled, and the company are bound to pay the costs of such application under section 80: In re Bethlem Hospital, L. R. 19 Eq. 457, 44 L. J. Ch. 406, 23 W. R. 644; In re London, Brighton & S. C. Ry. Co., 18 Beav. 608. See also Ex parte Trafford, 2 Y. & C. 522; and In re Vicar of Queen Camel, 11 W. R. 503.

(3) This includes the payment of bonds given by a corporation for moneys borrowed for sanitary purposes, the interest on the bonds being paid out of the borough fund, which chiefly consisted of the rents of the real estate of the corporation: In re Derby Municipal Estates, 3 Ch. D. 289; and the payment of an incumbrance affecting other lands belonging to the same corporation: Ex parte Corporation of Cambridge, 5 Rail. Cas. 204, 6 Hare, 30; but the company is not liable to pay the costs of discharging an incumbrance on other lands of the vendor: Ex parte Sheffield Town Trustees, 8 W. R. 602.

A leasehold interest is an "incumbrance" within this section: Ex parte Corporation of Sheffield, 21 Beav. 162, 25 L. J. Ch. 587, 2 Jur. N. S. 31, 26 L. T. 146, 4 W. R. 70; Ex parte Corporation of London, L. R. 5 Eq. 418, 37 L. J. Ch. 375, 17 L. T. N. S. 489, 16 W. R. 355; and the reversioner in fee can purchase leaseholds as a payment off of incumbrances: Ib. So on the petition of the tenant for life the proceeds of settled estates were laid out in buying up leasehold interests in cottages built on other parts of the settled estates: In re Marquess Townshend's Estates, W. N. (1882) 7; see also Ex parte Bishop of London, 2 De G. F. & J. 14, 6 Jur. N. S. 640, 2 L. T. N. S. 365, 8 W. R. 465; but the purchase-money of glebe land cannot be applied in paying off future instalments of a rent-charge created under the General Land Drainage and Improvement Company's Act, 1849, by a former rector in improving the glebe: In re Rector of Kirksmeaton, 20 Ch. D. 203, 51 L. J. Ch. 581, 30 W. R. 539.

(4) The word "settled" here means simply "standing limited," and not in "settlement," in the usual sense of the term: Kelland v. Fulford, 6 Ch. D. 491, 47 L. J. Ch. 94, 25 W. R. 506.

(5) See the Settled Land Act, 1882, 45 & 46 Vict. c. 38, s. 32. The purchase-money may be laid out in land, to be settled to somewhat different uses, though the applicants are absolutely entitled, and the company must pay the costs of such investment: In re Jones's Trust Estate, 39 L. J. Ch. 190, 18 W. R. 312; and it may be reinvested in the purchase of land in the Isle of Man: In re Taylor's Estate, 40 L. J. Ch. 454.

The purchase-money of a freehold chapel was allowed to be invested in a leasehold chapel, where there was a difficulty in finding a suitable freehold: In re Rehoboth Chapel, L. R. 19 Eq. 180, 44 L. J. Ch. 375, 31 L. T. N. S. 571, 23 W. R. 405.

But generally the court will not sanction the proceeds of freehold and copyhold property being reinvested in leaseholds: Ex parte Macaulay, 23 L. J. Ch. 815, 2 W. R. 667; but the proceeds of freehold were reinvested in copyhold property, on the master reporting that the investment was a proper one and beneficial to all concerned: In re Cann's Estate, 19 L. J. Ch. 376.

The proceeds of leaseholds may be invested in freeholds: In re Parker's Estate, L. R.

Section 69. 13 Eq. 495, 41 L. J. Ch. 473, 26 L. T. N. S. 12, 20 W. R. 289; and in copyholds of inheritance: In re Liverpool Dock Acts, 1 Sim. N. S. 202; In re Browne, 6 Rail. Cas. 733; and in the purchase of a reversion in fee of other leaseholds: In re Brusher's Trust, 6 W. R. 406.

The enfranchisement of copyholds is equivalent to a reinvestment in other lands, and the court will sanction such an application of the fund: Dixon v. Jackson, 25 L. J. Ch. 588, 4 W. R. 450; In re Cheshunt College, 3 W. R. 638. And the fund may be invested in ground rents: In re Mason, W. N. (1872) 77; and in the purchase of a leasehold brickfield which was a nuisance to the neighbouring vicarage: Ex parte Master, &c., of Trin. Coll., Cambridge, 18 L. T. N. S. 849; but not in the purchase of an equity of redemption: Ex parte Craven, 17 L. J. Ch. 215; 11 L. T. 1; Ex parte Portadown, &c., Ry. Co., Ir. R. 10 Eq. 368.

So the purchase-money will, in a proper case, be ordered by the court to be employed in erecting new buildings on land already settled to the same uses, but not in repairs or permanent improvements not placing new buildings on the land: Drake v. Trefusis, L. R. 10 Ch. 364, 33 L. T. N. S. 85, 23 W. R. 762.

"We never intended to go further than this, that the expending money in building a house on a vacant piece of ground forming part of the settled property is in substance the same thing as buying a house; and that money to be invested in the purchase of real estate may, therefore, be properly applied in the erection of new buildings. Repairs and permanent improvements do not come within this principle:" per James, L.J., Ib., L. R. 10 Ch. at p. 366; and in erecting new farm buildings where a railway severed the lands from the farm buildings: Ex parte Melward, 27 Beav. 571, 29 L. J. Ch. 245, 6 Jur. N. S. 478; and in building cottages on another part of the estate which was lying waste: Re Dummer's Will, 2 De G. J. & S. 515, 12 L. T. N. S. 626, 13 W. R. 908. In such a case no part of the money will be paid out till the buildings are completed: Ib. See In re Partington's Estate, 1 N. R. 177, 7 L. T. N. S. 522, 11 W. R. 160; Ex parte Shaw, 4 Y. & C. 506; In re Wight's Devised Estates, 6 W. R. 718; and in making lateral additions to a house, part of the settled estate: In re Speer's Trust, 3 Ch. D. 262, 24 W. R. 880; and in altering buildings into a dwelling-house: In re Trustees of Lymington Baptist Chapel, W. N. (1877) 226. See also In re Newman's Settled Estates, L. R. 9 Ch. 681, 43 L. J. Ch. 702, 31 L. T. N. S. 265.

The purchase-money of glebe lands may be applied in building a new vicarage: In re Incumbent of Whitfield, 1 J. & H. 610, 9 W. R. 764; Ex parte Rector of Bradfield St. Claire, 32 L. T. N. S. 248 (in this case the consent of the bishop was required); Ex parte Rector of Hartington, 23 W. R. 484; and in making necessary improvements and additions to the rectory house, the money to be paid to the bishop's secretary: Ex parte Rector of Claypole, L. R. 16 Eq. 574, 42 L. J. Ch. 776, 29 L. T. N. S. 51; and for the repairs of the rectory buildings: Ex parte Rector of Grimoldby, 2 Ch. D. 225, 24 W. R. 723; see also In re Nether Stowey Vicarage, L. R. 17 Eq. 156, 29 L. T. N. S. 604, 22 W. R. 180; and for expenses incurred by the rector under an inclosure Act: Ex parte Lockwood, 14 Beav. 158; and for drainage of glebe lands: In re Vicar of Queen Camel, 11 W. R. 503; and for the erection of farm buildings on the remainder of the glebe: Ex parte Rector of Skipton, 19 W. R. 549; and for repaying to the rector past outlay in building a farm-house on the glebe: Ex parte Rector of Gamston, 1 Ch. D. 477, 33 L. T. N. S. 803, 24 W. R. 359; Ex parte Rector of Holypwell, 27 W. R. 707; but in such cases the buildings must form a permanent and valuable improvement: Ib. But the court will not sanction the purchase-money of glebe land being applied in restoring the chancel of the church, nor in paying off a loan from the governors of Queen Anne's bounty: Ex parte Rector of Grimoldby, supra; nor in repaying advances made by the rector, before the money was paid into court, for the rebuilding of the rectory house: Williams v. Aylesbury and Buckingham Ry. Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 684, 43 L. J. Ch. 825, 31 L. T. N. S. 521; secus, if the money has not been already expended by the rector: Ex parte Rector of Hartington, supra; and see Ex parte Rector of Gamston, supra.

Nor will a fund, the proceeds of land belonging to a corporation, be expended on the petition of the corporation in erecting new municipal buildings: Ex parte Corporation of Liverpool, L. R. 1 Ch. 596, 12 Jur. N. S. 720, 35 L. J. Ch. 655, 14 L. T. N. S. 785, 14 W. R. 906. An order for the application to building purposes of the purchase-money like uses, trusts, and purposes, and in the same manner, as the lands in respect of which such money shall have been paid stood settled ⁽¹⁾; or

If such money shall be paid in respect of any buildings taken under the authority of this or the special Act, or injured by the proximity of the works, in removing or replacing such buildings or substituting others in their stead ⁽²⁾, in such manner as the Court of Chancery shall direct; or of land will not be made except under special circumstances showing such application to be beneficial to all interested: Ib. But if there be such special circumstances showing that the proposed application of the fund to buildings is for the benefit of all interested it will be allowed: In re Johnson's Settlements, L. R. 8 Eq. 348; In re Leadbitter, 30 W. R. 378.

Nor will the fund be applied in making roads on the property for the purpose of improving it and increasing the value of the inheritance: In re Belfast Water Commissioners, Ir. R. 5 Eq. 63. Nor in recouping the tenant for life what he has already expended, unless the expenditure was properly a charge on the estate. But the court can order the fund to be applied in building or rebuilding houses on the estate, but will only do so when the remaindermen do not object: In re Leigh's Estate, L. R. 6 Ch. 887, 40 L. J. Ch. 687, 25 L. T. N. S. 644, 19 W. R. 1105. For such an application of the fund the remaindermen ought to be served with the petition: Ib. But if the expenditure of the tenant for life be such as to constitute a charge on the estate, he ought to be reconped out of the fund: Ex parte Davis, 3 De G. & J. 144, 4 Jur. N. S. 1029, 6 W. R. 844. See also Williams v. Aylesbury and Buckingham Ry. Co., ante, p. 936; and Ex parte Rector of Gamston, ante, p. 936. Nor can a tenant for life recoup himself for an expenditure (such as erecting new malt houses for a brewery) which he had incurred without any expectation of having it repaid, even though such expenditure be for the permanent benefit of the estate: In re Stock's Devised Estates, 42 L. T. N. S. 46. See also In re Wight's Devised Estates, 6 W. R. 718.

Where the proceeds of leaseholds, part of a settled estate, were paid into court, the trustee of the estate entered into a contract for effecting permanent repairs on a copyhold house, which formed the remainder of the estate, on a petition being presented by him and the tenant for life, the court ordered the price of the repairs to be paid to him, and did not require service of the petition on the remaindermen: In re Aldred's Estate, 21 Ch. D. 228, 51 L. J. Ch. 942, 46 L. T. N. S. 379, 30 W. R. 777.

⁽²⁾ The procuring and fitting up of houses for the temporary accommodation of the patients of an hospital, whose original buildings have been taken by a railway company under this Act, is a proper reinvestment within sections 69 and 80, and the company is bound to pay the costs: In re St. Thomas's Hospital, 11 W. R. 1018.

An application of a fund, the proceeds of houses taken by a railway company in pulling down dilapidated houses and building on the sites large artizans' dwellings, was sanctioned as beneficial to the estate and as a proper investment of the money: Matthews v. Wilson, W. N. (1883) p. 111.

⁽³⁾ Trustees of a settlement or will, with a power of sale, are persons "becoming absolutely entitled" under this section, and the fund may be paid out to them, to be held on the trusts of the settlement: In re Hobson's Trusts, 7 Ch. D. 708, 47 L. J. Ch. 310, 38 L. T. N. S. 365, 26 W. R. 470. See also In re Gooch's Estate, 3 Ch. D. 742; In re East, 2 W. R. 111; In re Thomas's Settlement, 45 L. T. N. S. 746, 30 W. R. 244. In such a case service of the petition on any of the cestui que trusts is not required (ib.); and it makes no difference whether the time for exercising the power of sale has arrived or not: In re Evans' Settlement, 14 Ch. D. 511, 43 L. T. N. S. 172; In re Vestry of St. Luke's, Middlesex, W. N. (1880), 58. Compare In re Morgan's Estates, L. R. 9 Eq. 587.

But it would seem that trustees for sale, whose cestui que trusts are under disability as infancy, are not "absolutely entitled:" In re Reaston's Estate, L. R. 13 Eq. 564, 26 L. T. N. S. 148, 20 W. R. 355.

So in In re Horwood's Estate, 3 Giff. 218, the Court declined to order the fund to be paid to the trustees. See also In re Sourry, L. R. 8 Ch. 736, 21 W. R. 717. But where the Section 69. trustees had power to give receipts for the fund, the fund was directed to be paid out to them: In re Illman's Will, 22 L. T. N. S. 836, 18 W. R. 962.

So, where trustees had a power of advancement, a part of the fund was ordered to be paid out to them for the advancement of an infant child, one of the cestui que trusts, and the company was ordered to pay the costs under section 80: In re Curwen's Settlement, W. N. (1880), p. 83.

Where the fund is the price of charity land it may be paid to the trustees of the charity, as persons absolutely entitled: In re Spurstowe's Charity, L. R. 18 Eq. 279, 43 L. J. Ch. 512, 30 L. T. N. S. 355, 22 W. R. 566; Ex parte The Trustees of Tid St Giles' Charity, 17 W. R. 758. But see In re Faversham Charities, 5 L. T. N. S. 787, 10 W. R. 291. And on the petition of the trustees of charity lands taken, an order may be made for the payment of the interest to the secretary, and to his successors, the secretaries for the time being, of the trustee of the charity, of which there was no treasurer: In re Codrington's Charity, L. R. 18 Eq. 658; and in Ex parte The Governors of the Charity for Relief of Widows and Children of Norfolk Clergy, W. N. (1882), p. 53, Fry, J., declining to follow In re Spurstowe's Charity (supra), ordered the funds to be invested in consols and the dividends to be paid to the treasurer for the time being. On a petition presented by trustees of a charity for the re-investment in land of a fund in Court, the proceeds of land belonging to the charity, the consent of the Charity Commissioners is not required: In re William of Kyngeston's Charity, 30 W. R. 78; In re Lister's Hospital, 6 De G. M. & G. 184. But see In re Faversham Charities, supra.

The proceeds of the sale of a settled estate will not be paid out to the tenant in tail under the settlement, unless he has executed a disentailing deed: In re Butler's Will, L. R. 16 Eq. 479; In re Broadwood's Settled Estates, 1 Ch. D. 438, 45 L. J. Ch. 168, 24 W. R. 108; In re Reynolds, 3 Ch. D. 61, 35 L. T. N. S. 293, 24 W. R. 991, C. A.

Where the fund belongs to a married woman, the Court will pay it out to her, without deed acknowledged, but simply upon her examination: In re Hayes, 9 W. R. 769; In re Clarke's Estate, 13 W. R. 401, 11 Jur. N. S. 7. See also Standerling v. Hall, 11 Ch. D. 652, 48 L. J. Ch. 382, 27 W. R. 749. As to the case of a woman married since the commencement of the Married Women's Property Act, 1882, see Riddell v. Errington, L. R. 26 Ch. D. 220, 50 L. T. N. S. 584, 32 W. R. 680, where in a petition under the Settled Estates Act, 1877, it was held that an examination is not now necessary.

A dowress has been held entitled to have the value of her right of dower paid to her out of the fund in Court: In re Hall's Estate, L. R. 9 Eq. 179, 39 L. J. Ch. 392.

So mortgagees in possession have been held entitled not only to the fund representing the value of the mortgaged premises, but also to the fund representing the loss of profits of the business: Ex parte Lambton, 3 Ch. D. 36, 45 L. J. Ch. 841, 35 L. T. N. S. 18, 24 W. R. 1003.

So a person having a right of purchase at a fixed price under a will, is entitled to the fund in Court on paying that price: In re Cant's Estate, 4 De G. & J. 503.

And a person who had been in adverse possession of land for nineteen and a half years, was held to be absolutely entitled to the purchase-money thereof, though when the land was taken he had not got a complete title by reason of twenty years' adverse possession: Ex parte Winder, 6 Ch. D. 693, 46 L. J. Ch. 572, 25 W. R. 768. See also Ex parte Chamberlain, 14 Ch. D. 323, 49 L. J. Ch. 354, 42 L. T. N. S. 358, 28 W. R. 565.

The purchase-money paid into Court under this section for land of which an infant is absolutely seised in fee, remains impressed with the character of real estate, and on the death of the infant descends to his heir-at-law: Kelland v. Fulford, 6 Ch. D. 491, 47 L. J. Ch. 94, 25 W. R. 506.

"Till the person becomes entitled to the money to his or her own use there is a constructive reconversion, which he or she on becoming so entitled can always stop, but until that event happens the money is to be laid out in lands or buildings, to stand limited to the same uses as the lands sold stood limited, and, therefore, must be considered as land." Per Jessel, M. R. (ib.), 6 Ch. D. 495. See also, In re Barker, L. R. 17 Ch. D. 241, 50 L. J. Ch. 334, 44 L. T. N. S. 33, 29 W. R. 873; In re Tugwell, L. R. 27 Ch. D. 309, 53 L. J. Ch. 1006, 51 L. T. N. S. 83, 33 W. R. 132, where it was held (dissenting from Ex parte Flamank, 1 Sim. N. S. 260) that there was no conversion of the land into personality.

70. Such money may be so applied as aforesaid ⁽¹⁾ upon an order of the Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, made on the petition ⁽²⁾ of the party who would have been entitled to the rents and profits of

Section 70.

Order for application and investment meanwhile.

By Order LV. rule 2, sub-section 2, applications for payment or transfer to any person of any cash or securities standing to the credit of any cause or matter, where the cash does not exceed £1000, are to be made in Chambers. And in accordance with this, it has been decided that an application for payment out of a sum not exceeding £1000, deposited under section 85 of this Act, should be made by summons in Chambers, and not by petition: Ex parte Bala and Festiniog Ry. Co., 25 Ch. D. 168, 53 L. J. Ch. 127, 49 L. T. N. S. 777, 32 W. R. 181.

The summons by the company should be sealed with the company's seal, as on petition (ib); and an application for payment out of a sum not exceeding £1000 to a person absolutely entitled should be by summons: In re Calton's Will, 53 L. J. Ch. 329, 25 Ch. D. 240, 49 L. T. N. S. 566, 32 W. R. 167; In re Brandram, 25 Ch. D. 366, 53 L. J. Ch. 331, 49 L. T. N. S. 558, 32 W. R. 180; In re Madgwick, 25 Ch. D. 371, 53 L. J. Ch. 333, 49 L. T. N. S. 560.

(1) Money paid into Court under this Act, or any Act incorporating this Act, and liable to be laid out in the purchase of land to be made subject to a settlement, may be invested as capital money arising under the Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38, s. 32). See also In re Byron's Charity, L. R. 23 Ch. D. 171, 53 L. J. Ch. 152, 48 L. T. N. S. 515, 31 W. R. 517, where it was held that the purchase money of land belonging absolutely to a charity could be dealt with under section 32 of the Settled Land Act, 1882.

Money paid into Court under this Act, and under the Settled Estates Act, is "cash under the control of the Court," within the meaning of section 10 of the Law of Property Act, 1860 (23 & 24 Vict. c. 38), and the General Order of 1st February, 1861, and may be invested accordingly: Ex parte St. John's College, Oxford, 22 Ch. D. 93, 52 L. J. Ch. 268, 48 L. T. N. S. 331, 31 W. R. 55 (overruling In re Boyd's Settled Estates, 42 L. J. Ch. 506, 28 L. T. N. S. 799, 21 W. R. 667; Ex parte The Rector of Kirsmeaton, 20 Ch. D. 203, 51 L. J. Ch. 581, 30 W. R. 539; and Ex parte Vicar of St. Mary Wigton, L. R. 18 Ch. D. 646, 45 L. T. N. S. 134, 29 W. R. 883).

The words "cash under the control of the Court" mean cash standing in the name of the Accountant-General in any cause or matter (ib). Cash under the control of the Court may be invested in East India $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Stock, created since the General Order (ib), and in East India 4 per cent. Stock: In re Fryer's Settlement, L. R. 20 Eq. 468, 45 L. J. Ch. 96; In re Foy's Trusts, 33 L. T. N. S. 161, 23 W. R. 744; In re Southwold Railway Company's Bill, 1 Ch. D. 697 (not following Ex parte Great Northern Ry. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 274). See also In re Taddy's Settled Estates, L. R. 16 Eq. 532; and in guaranteed 5 per cent. Stock of the Great Indian Peninsular Ry. Co.: In re Buckingham, 2 Ch. D. 690; and in Debenture Stock of the London and North Western Ry. Co.: In re Byron's Charity, L. R. 23 Ch. D. 171, 53 L. J. Ch. 152; but not in Indian Railway Stock: In re Dowling's Trusts, 45 L. J. Ch. 568, 24 W. R. 729.

(2) The tenant for life is the proper person to present the petition and a remainderman, even though the plaintiff in an administration suit cannot petition alone under this section: Nash v. Nash, 37 L. J. Ch. 927, 16 W. R. 1105.

On a petition by a tenant for life for interim investment, it is not necessary to serve persons having charges on the inheritance prior to the life estate; and the costs of such parties, if served, will not be allowed as against the company: In re Morris' Settled Estates, L. R. 20 Eq. 470, 23 W. R. 851. Nor remaindermen: In re Dowling's Trusts, 45 L. J. Ch. 568, 24 W. R. 729; Ex parte Staples, In re Browne, 1 De G. M. & G. 294, 6 Rail. Cas. 733; but if the property has been let on lease, it is proper to serve the remainderman and make him a respondent to the petition: In re Crane's Estate, L. R. 7 Eq. 322; In re Mette's Estate, L. R. 7 Eq. 72; and if the petition is for the reinvestment of the fund in any other kind of investment than lands (such as permanent improvements), the remaindermen ought to be served: In re Leigh's Estate, ante, p. 937. But see In re Aldred's Estate, ante, p. 937. Where the tenant for life is in possession, mortgagees need not be served: In re Hungerford's Trust, 3 K. & J. 455.

Secs. 70, 71. the lands ⁽¹⁾ in respect of which such money shall have been deposited; and until the money can be so applied it may, upon the like order, be invested by the said Accountant-General in the purchase of three per centum consolidated or three per centum reduced bank annuities, or in government ⁽²⁾ or real ⁽³⁾ securities, and the interest, dividends, and annual proceeds thereof paid to the party who would for the time being have been entitled to the rents and profits of the lands ⁽¹⁾.

Sums from £20 to £200 to be deposited or paid to trustees.

71. If such purchase-money or compensation shall not amount to the sum of two hundred pounds, and shall exceed the sum of twenty pounds, the same shall either be paid into the bank, and applied in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to sums amounting to or exceeding two hundred pounds, or the same may lawfully be paid to two trustees, to be nominated by the parties entitled to

Where there are two funds, the proceeds of the same settled estate, taken by different companies, and when the funds have been dealt with by different branches of the Court, if it is desired to invest both funds together, one petition only should be presented: In re Gore Langton's Estates, L. R. 10 Ch. 328, 44 L. J. Ch. 405, 32 L. T. N. S. 785, 23 W. R. 842; and in such case leave will be given to present one petition in both matters, without transferring either: In re Lord Arden's Estates, L. R. 10 Ch. 445, 24 W. R. 190.

The affidavit of no title in any other person required by the Consolidated Orders XXXIV. r. 3, in support of petitions for interim investment, was, in the case of a petition by a large public corporation, under section 70 of this Act, dispensed with, Jessel, M. R., observing that the rule was not intended to apply to large public bodies, such as the present petitioners: In re The President, &c., of Magdalen College, Oxford, 42 L. T. N. S. 822.

By Order LV. r. 2, sub-s. 7, R. S. C. (1883), applications for interim and permanent investment, and for payment of dividends of a fund in Court under this Act, are now to be made in Chambers. Although the Lands Clauses Act provides that such applications are to be made by petition, yet this rule is not ultra vires, and such application must, as provided by the Order, be now made by summons and not by petition: Ex parte Mayor of London, 25 Ch. D. 384, 53 L. J. Ch. 6, 49 L. T. N. S. 437, 32 W. R. 87. If made by petition, the costs of a summons only will be allowed (ib.).

⁽¹⁾ When the company are in possession of the land, the dividends of the fund will be paid to the tenant for life before conveyance: In re Hungerford's Trusts, 1 K. & J. 413; Ex parte Cofield, 11 Jur. 1071. A rector having the freehold of a churchyard and the right to burial fees, is the person entitled, under this section, to the receipt of the rents and profits and the dividends of the fund, the proceeds of the sale of a closed churchyard will be paid to the rector for the time being: Ex parte Rector of Liverpool, L. R. 11 Eq. 15, 40 L. J. Ch. 65, 23 L. T. N. S. 354, 19 W. R. 47; Ex parte Rector of St. Martin's, Birmingham, L. R. 11 Eq. 23, 19 W. R. 95, 40 L. J. Ch. 69, 23 L. T. N. S. 575. See also Ex parte Churchwardens and Overseers of Bicester, 5 Rail. Cas. 702; In re Brent's Trusts, 8 W. R. 270; In re How's Trust, 15 Jur. 266.

The Court will not examine into the title of the person claiming as tenant in possession, but will order payment of the income to the person so claiming: In re Perry's Estate, 1 Jur. N. S. 917. See also In re Pedley's Estate, 1 Jur. N. S. 654. And the dividends may be paid to one of several trustees: In re Coulson's Settlement, 17 L. T. N. S. 27.

⁽³⁾ The Court will sanction an interim investment in a mortgage of a freehold estate if on inquiry the security is sufficient: In re Smith's Estate, L. R. 9 Eq. 178, 18 W. R. 369; but not if the Master has reported against it: Ex parte Franklyn, 1 De G. & S. 528; Reading v. Hamilton, 5 L. T. N. S. 628; and such investment will not be treated as a permanent investment for the purpose of costs under section 80: In re Blyth's Trusts, L. R. 16 Eq. 468, 28 L. T. N. S. 890, 21 W. R. 819; In re Sewart's Estate, L. R. 18 Eq. 278, 30 L. T. N. S. 355 (not following Re Lomax, 34 Beav. 294; In re Flemon's Trusts, 1 L. R. 10 Eq. 612; Re Wilkinson's Estate, 37 L. J. Ch. 384, 18 L. T. N. S. 17, 16 W. R. 537).

the rents or profits of the lands in respect whereof the same shall be payable, such nomination to be signified by writing under the hands of the party so entitled; and in case of the coverture, infancy, lunacy, or other incapacity of the parties entitled to such moneys, such nomination may lawfully be made by their respective husbands, guardians, committees, or trustees; but such last-mentioned application of the moneys shall not be made unless the promoters of the undertaking approve thereof and of the trustees named for the purpose; and the money so paid to such trustees, and the produce arising therefrom, shall be by such trustees applied in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to money paid into the bank, but it shall not be necessary to obtain any order of the court for that purpose ⁽¹⁾.

Secs. 71-73.

72. If such money shall not exceed the sum of twenty pounds ⁽²⁾, the same shall be paid to the parties entitled to the rents and profits of the lands in respect whereof the same shall be payable, for their own use and benefit, or in case of the coverture, infancy, idiocy, lunacy, or other incapacity of any such parties, then such money shall be paid for their use, to the respective husbands, guardians, committees, or trustees of such persons.

Sums not exceeding £20 to be paid to parties.

73. All sums of money exceeding twenty pounds, which may be payable by the promoters of the undertaking in respect of the taking, using, or interfering with any lands under a contract or agreement ⁽³⁾ with any person who shall not be entitled to dispose of such lands, or of the interest therein contracted to be sold by him absolutely for his own benefit, shall be paid into the bank or to trustees in manner aforesaid; and it shall not be lawful for any contracting party ⁽⁴⁾ not entitled as aforesaid to retain to his own use any portion of the sums so agreed or contracted to be paid for or in respect of the taking, using, or interfering with any such lands, or in lieu of bridges, tunnels, or other accommodation works, or for assenting to or not opposing ⁽⁵⁾ the passing of the Bill authorising the taking of

All sums payable under contract with persons not absolutely entitled, to be paid into bank.

(1) On a petition for the investment of £50 in land adjoining the settled estate, the court refused to dispense with the usual order of reference as to title: In re Blomfield, 25 W. R. 37.

(2) Where it was probable that after payment of a sum out of court the balance would be less than £20, the court ordered the balance if less than £20, to be paid to the tenant for life: Re Lord Egremont, 12 Jur. 618. So a balance, after investment, of £30 was paid to the tenant for life, he undertaking to spend it in permanent improvements: Ex parte Barrett, 15 Jur. 3; but the sum of £52 was not allowed to be paid to tenant for life, though he undertook to lay it out in lasting improvements: In re Bateman's Estate, 21 L. J. Ch. 691. Nor the sum of £20 10s. to a rector for extra costs: Ex parte Rector of Bredicot, 17 L. J. Ch. 414, 5 Rail Cas. 209.

(3) An agreement to arise and take effect on the passing of a bill then pending in Parliament, is to be regarded as if it had been de facto made after the passing of the bill: Taylor v. Directors, &c., of the Chichester and Midhurst Ry. Co., L. R. 4 H. L. 628, 39 L. J. Ex. 217, 23 L. T. N. S. 657.

An agreement by which promoters bind themselves, in the event of the bill passing, to take land for their works, and to pay for it within three months after the passing of the bill, is valid, and may be enforced after the passing of the bill: ib; Eastern Counties Ry. Co. v. Hawkes, 5 H. L. Cas. 331, 24 L. J. Ch. 601.

(4) The term "contracting party" includes a tenant for life of lands through which a railway is intended to pass, who has entered into any contract with the company; if he enters into a contract not to oppose this bill, he is a "contracting party" within this section: Pole v. Pole, 2 Dr. & Sm. 420, 11 Jur. N. S. 477.

(5) A tenant for life received a sum of money in consideration of his not opposing a bill for a railway through his property; the bill having passed and the money paid to the tenant for life, he was declared a trustee of the same for himself and the remaindermen, and ordered to pay it accordingly: Pole v. Pole, 2 Dr. & Sm. 420, 11 Jur. N. S. 477.

A tenant for life opposed the passing of a canal bill, but only obtained the insertion of some clauses for the protection of the estate, the Act having passed and lands of the Secs. 73, 74. such lands; but all such monies shall be deemed to have been contracted to be paid for and on account of the several parties interested in such lands, as well in possession as in remainder, reversion, or expectancy ⁽¹⁾. Provided always, that it shall be in the discretion of the Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, or the said trustees, as the case may be, to allot to any tenant for life, or for any other partial or qualified estate, for his own use, a portion of the sum so paid into the bank, or to such trustees as aforesaid, as compensation for any injury, inconvenience, or annoyance which he may be considered to sustain, independently of the actual value of the lands to be taken and of the damage occasioned to the lands held therewith, by reason of the taking of such lands and the making of the works ⁽²⁾.

Court of Chancery may direct application of money in respect of leases or reversions as they may think just.

74. Where any purchase money or compensation paid into the bank under the provisions of this or the special Act shall have been paid in respect of any lease ⁽³⁾ for a life or lives or years ⁽⁴⁾, or for a life or lives and years, or any estate in lands less than the whole fee simple thereof, or of any reversion dependent on any such lease or estate, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, on the petition of any party interested ⁽⁵⁾ in such money, to order that the same shall be laid out, invested, accumulated, and paid in such manner as the said court may consider will give to the parties interested ⁽⁶⁾ in such money the same benefit therefrom as they might lawfully have had from the lease, estate, or reversion in respect of which such money shall have been paid, or as near thereto as may be ⁽⁶⁾.

tenant for life having been taken under it, it was held that the tenant for life was entitled to costs incurred by him in relation to the purchase since the passing of the Act, but not to any costs of opposing the bill in Parliament: In re Earl of Berkeley's Will, L. R. 10 Ch. 56, 44 L. J. Ch. 3, 23 W. R. 195, 31 L. T. N. S. 531.

See also, Eastern Counties Ry. Co. v. Hawkes, 5 H. L. C. 331, 24 L. J. Ch. 601; Taylor v. Directors, &c., of the Chichester and Midhurst Ry. Co., ante, p. 941, and the cases therein referred to.

⁽¹⁾ The tenant for life is perfectly competent to contract with a company under this section. The section applies as between him and the reversioner or remainderman. The money when paid to him becomes affected by a trust, he being the trustee and the other persons being his cestuis que trust: Taylor v. Directors, &c., of the Chichester and Midhurst Ry. Co., ante, p. 941.

⁽³⁾ By section 3, the word "lease" includes an "agreement for a lease."

⁽⁴⁾ A tenancy to continue so long as the tenant wished and so long as he paid the rent, when due, but so as not to be longer than the landlord's term, was held to be a leasehold interest within this section: In re King's Leasehold Estates, L. R. 16 Eq. 521, 29 L. T. N. S. 288, 21 W. R. 881.

⁽⁵⁾ A remainderman is a "party interested" within this section: In re Crane's Estate, L. R. 7 Eq. 322.

The interest to be determined is the interest which, at the moment the premises were taken, the claimant would have had if they had not been taken: Penny v. Penny, L. R. 5 Eq. 227, 37 L. J. Ch. 340, 18 L. T. N. S. 13, 16 W. R. 671. An interest in property created after service of a notice to treat is not a subject of compensation: Ex parte Edwards, L. R. 12 Eq. 389, 40 L. J. Ch. 697, 25 L. T. N. S. 149, 19 W. R. 1047. A yearly tenant, holding over after notice to quit, is not "interested" in the property and can claim no compensation: Ex parte Nadin, 17 L. J. Ch. 421; and quarterly tenants, after notice to quit from the company, have no interest: Syers v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 36 L. T. N. S. 277.

⁽⁶⁾ Lessors and lessees should deal separately with the company, as the court will not apportion the money between them: Ex parte Ward, 2 De G. & S. 4. In this case, by

75. Upon deposit in the bank in manner hereinbefore provided of the purchase money or compensation agreed or awarded to be paid in respect of any lands purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking, under the provisions of this or the special Act or any Act incorporated therewith, the owner of such lands, including in such term all parties by this Act enabled to sell or convey lands, shall, when required so to do by the promoters of the undertaking, duly convey such lands to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct; and in default thereof, or if he fail to adduce a good title ⁽¹⁾ to such lands to their satisfaction, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute

Section 75.

Upon deposit being made, the owners of the lands to convey, or in default the lands to vest in the promoters of the undertaking upon a deed poll being executed.

consent, the entire dividends were paid to the lessee till the expiration of the term, he paying the amount of reserved rent to the lessor.

Leaseholds subject to an annuity being taken, and the fund being insufficient to keep down the annuity, part of the corpus of the fund was ordered to be sold from time to time to satisfy the growing payments: Jeffreys v. Conner, 28 Beav. 328; Ex parte Wilkinson, 3 De G. & S. 633; In re Long's Estate, 1 W. R. 226. See also, In re Pfleger, L. R. 6 Eq. 426; In re Phillips' Trusts, L. R. 6 Eq. 250, where a reference was directed to an actuary to ascertain how much of the capital ought to be paid in each year to the tenant for life. Where the value of the leasehold taken was £21 a year, the court ordered the payment of £18 a year to the tenant for life, the fund not being sufficient to pay the whole: In re Birch, 10 Jur. N. S. 673.

Where the dividends of the fund have exceeded the rent reserved during the lease, the tenant for life is only entitled to the amount of the rent for the remainder of the term, the surplus income during that time to be accumulated: In re Mett's Estate, L. R. 7 Eq. 72, 38 L. J. Ch. 445; In re Wootton's Estate, L. R. 1 Eq. 589, 35 L. J. Ch. 305, 14 L. T. N. S. 125, 14 W. R. 469. See also, Ex parte Dean of Christchurch, 23 L. J. Ch. 149; Ex parte Dean of Gloucester, 19 L. J. Ch. 400, 15 Jur. 239, 15 L. T. 520; Ex parte Archbishop of Canterbury, 2 De G. & S. 365, 23 L. T. 219; In re Wilkes' Estate, 16 Ch. D. 597, 50 L. J. Ch. 199.

A tenant for life was possessed of leaseholds which had eight years to run; these were taken by a company and the fund paid into court and invested; the purchase money was sufficient to provide an annuity for eight years of much larger amount than the net annual proceeds of the leaseholds, it was held by the Court of Appeal that the tenant for life was entitled to receive an annuity of such an amount that the payment of it would exhaust the fund in eight years; Askew v. Woodhead, 14 Ch. D. 27, 49 L. J. Ch. 320, 42 L. T. N. S. 567, 28 W. R. 874, 44 J. P. 570. See also, Re Treacher's Settlement, 18 L. T. N. S. 810; Littlewood v. Pattison, 10 Jur. N. S. 875.

Where the property consists of renewable leaseholds, and the proceeds when invested give a diminished income, the tenant for life is not generally entitled to be recouped the deficiency of income out of the corpus of the fund: In re Wood's Estate, L. R. 10 Eq. 572, 40 L. J. Ch. 59, 23 L. T. N. S. 430, 19 W. R. 59; and in Maddy v. Hale, L. R. 3 Ch. D. 327, 45 L. J. Ch. 791, 35 L. T. N. S. 134, it was held in a somewhat similar case that the leasehold interest ought to be sold and the proceeds invested, and only the income of this fund and of the renewal fund applied as income.

Secs. 75, 76. a deed poll under their common seal if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation under the hands and seals of the promoters, or any two of them, containing a description of the lands in respect of which such default shall be made, and reciting the purchase or taking thereof by the promoters of the undertaking, and the names of the parties from whom the same were purchased or taken, and the deposit made in respect thereof, and declaring the fact of such default having been made, and such deed poll shall be stamped with the stamp duty ⁽¹⁾ which would have been payable upon a conveyance to the promoters of the undertaking of the lands described therein; and thereupon all the estate and interest in such lands of or capable of being sold and conveyed by the party between whom and the promoters of the undertaking such agreement shall have been come to, or as between whom and the promoters of the undertaking such purchase money or compensation shall have been determined by a jury, or by arbitrators, or by a surveyor appointed by two justices as herein provided, and shall have been deposited as aforesaid, shall vest absolutely in the promoters of the undertaking, and as against such parties, and all parties on behalf of whom they are hereinbefore enabled to sell and convey, the promoters of the undertaking shall be entitled to immediate possession of such lands.

Where parties refuse to convey, or do not show title, or cannot be found, the purchase money to be deposited.

76. If the owner ⁽²⁾ of any lands purchased or taken by the promoters of the undertaking, or of any interest therein, on tender of the purchase money or compensation either agreed or awarded to be paid in respect thereof, refuse to accept the same, or neglect or fail ⁽³⁾ to make out a title to such lands, or to the interest therein claimed by him, to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, or if he refuse to convey or release such lands as directed by the promoters of the undertaking, or if any such owner be absent from the Kingdom, or cannot after diligent inquiry be found, or fail to appear on the inquiry before a jury, as herein provided for, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to deposit the purchase money or compensation payable in respect of such lands, or any interest

⁽²⁾ The plaintiffs contracted to sell land to the defendants, but failed to make any title to a small portion thereof. Thereupon the defendants paid the purchase money of the whole land into court under this section, and executed a deed poll under section 77, purporting to vest the whole of the land in themselves, it was held that the plaintiffs were not "owners" of the strip of land within the meaning of sections 76 and 77, and that under the circumstances the defendants could not acquire the land under those sections: Wells v. Chelmsford Local Board of Health, 15 Ch. D. 108, 49 L. J. Ch. 827, 43 L. T. N. S. 378, 45 J. P. 6.

"Owner" here means a person having some title; a surviving partner, selling partnership lands, in discharge of his duty as survivor, to wind up the partnership, is an "owner" within this section: Douglass v. London & North Western Ry. Co., 3 Jur. N. S. 181, 3 K. & J. 173. A person in possession, but showing a bad title, is not the "owner," and where lands are in such possession, and the true owner cannot be found, the promoters must have recourse to the jury clauses of the Act: ib. See Ex parte Winder, 6 Ch. D. 696, 46 L. J. Ch. 572, 25 W. R. 768. ⁽³⁾ Where the owner fails to deliver a statement of title within the time prescribed by the statutory notices published, he must bear his own costs of drawing the money out of court: Ex parte Dowling, 7 L. 77. Upon any such deposit of money as last aforesaid being made the cashier of the bank shall give to the promoters of the undertaking, or to the party paying in such money by their direction, a receipt for such money, specifying therein for what and for whose use (described as aforesaid) the same shall have been received, and in respect of what purchase the same shall have been paid in ; and it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll under their common seal if they be a corporation, or if they be not a corporation under the hands and seals of the said promoters, or any two of them, containing a description of the lands in respect whereof such deposit shall have been made, and declaring the circumstances under which and the names of the parties to whose credit such deposit shall have been made, and such deed poll shall be stamped with the stamp duty which would have been payable upon a conveyance to the promoters of the undertaking of the lands described therein ; and thereupon all the estate and interest in such lands of the parties for whose use and in respect whereof such purchase money or compensation shall have been deposited shall vest absolutely in the promoters of the undertaking, and as against such parties they shall be entitled to immediate possession of such lands.

78. Upon the application by petition ⁽³⁾ of any party making claim ⁽⁴⁾ to the money so deposited as last aforesaid, or any part thereof, or to the lands in respect whereof the same shall have been so deposited, or any part of such lands, or any interest in the same, the said Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, may, in a summary way, as to such court shall Upon deposit being made a receipt to be given, and the lands to vest upon a deed poll being executed.

Application of monies so deposited.

⁽¹⁾ As to where payment into the bank does not justify a company in taking possession of the land, see Newton v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 5 L. T. N. S. 542, 8 Jur. N. S. 738. A company had paid into court the sum assessed by a jury and executed a deed-poll under section 77, held that the court had no jurisdiction to order payment of interest on the purchase money : In re Crystal Palace Ry. Co., 1 Jur. N. S. 995.

⁽²⁾ Now Paymaster-General. See note ⁽⁶⁾ to section 69, ante, p. 934.

⁽³⁾ See end of note ⁽²⁾ to section 69, ante, p. 939, and note ⁽²⁾ to section 70, ante, p. 939.

⁽⁴⁾ Where after a decree for specific performance against a company, ordering payment of the sum awarded, the company paid the money into court, alleging that the plaintiff had not made out a good title to the lands, on a petition under this section the money was ordered to be paid out to him : Galliers v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 11 Eq. 410, 40 L. J. Ch. 544, 19 W. R. 795. A mortgagee, or the transferee of a mortgage, can, under this section, obtain payment of money in court : Re Marriage, 9 W. R. 843 ; but a mortgagee can recover under this section only six years arrears of interest : In re Stead's Mortgaged Estates, 2 Ch. D. 713, 45 L. J. Ch. 634, 35 L. T. N. S. 465, 24 W. R. 698. So a dowress is entitled to payment out of court of her share of the fund : In re Hall's Estate, L. R. 9 Eq. 179, 39 L. J. Ch. 392.

Where money has been paid into court under section 76, the court is bound to decide the question of right ; and if it turns out that the claimant has not the interest he claimed, but some different interest, the court will apply its own machinery to ascertain the value of his actual interest, and after paying the amount of such interest to the claimant, will return the surplus to the company : Brandon v. Brandon, 2 Dr. & S. 305, 11 Jur. N. S. 30, 34 L. J. Ch. 333, 13 W. R. 251, 11 L. T. N. S. 658. In such a case the court has no jurisdiction to order the whole of the money to be returned to the company, leaving them to proceed afresh to determine the actual interest : In re North London Ry. Co., 2 Dr. & S. 312, 11 Jur. N. S. 103, 34 L. J. Ch. 373, 13 W. R. 364, 11 L. T. N. S. 661. See also, Ex parte Issauchaud, 3 Y. & C. 721 ; and Ex parte Grainge, 3 Y. & C. 62.

Party in possession to be deemed the owner.

79 ⁽²⁾. If any question arise respecting the title to the lands in respect whereof such moneys shall have been so paid or deposited as aforesaid, the parties respectively in possession ⁽³⁾ of such lands, as being the owners thereof ⁽³⁾, or in receipt of the rents ⁽⁴⁾ of such lands, as being entitled thereto at the time of such lands being purchased or taken, shall be deemed to have been lawfully entitled to such lands, until the contrary be shown to the satisfaction of the court; and unless the contrary be shown as aforesaid, the parties so in possession, and all parties claiming under them, or consistently with their possession, shall be deemed entitled to the money so deposited, and to the dividends or interest of the annuities or securities purchased therewith, and the same shall be paid and applied accordingly.

Costs in cases of money deposited.

80 ⁽⁵⁾. In all cases of moneys deposited in the bank under the provisions of this or the special Act, or an Act incorporated therewith, except where such moneys shall have been so deposited by reason of the wilful refusal ⁽⁶⁾ of any

⁽²⁾ This section applies only to the jurisdiction of equity in ordering money to be paid out, and not to that of a court of law in determining the rights of the parties in an issue: Ex parte The Freeman, &c., of Sunderland, 1 Drew. 184.

⁽³⁾ A person showing title by adverse possession for twenty-six years after the expiration of a lease, will, in the absence of any claim by, or evidence of the existence of, the reversioner, be deemed to be the "owner" of the land and entitled to the purchase money: Ex parte Chamberlain, 14 Ch. D. 323, 49 L. J. Ch. 354, 42 L. T. N. S. 358, 28 W. R. 565. So a possessory title of nineteen and a half years was held sufficient: Ex parte Winder, 6 Ch. D. 696, 46 L. J. Ch. 572, 25 W. R. 768. But in Ex parte Hollinsworth, 19 W. R. 580, 24 L. T. N. S. 347, the same possessory title was held insufficient. See also, Re Evans, 42 L. J. Ch. 357; Ex parte Webster, W. N. (1866) p. 246. On a petition of the person claiming as tenant in possession, it is not the duty of the court to examine into his title: In re Perry's Estate, 1 Jur. N. S. 917; S. C. nom. Re Sterry's Estate, 3 W. R. 561; but the company ought to state to the court the difficulties which come to its knowledge (ib.).

⁽⁴⁾ Trustees, who had received the fees for burials in a closed churchyard, were held entitled to the rents of the burial grounds within this section: In re St. Pancras Burial Ground, L. R. 3 Eq. 173, 36 L. J. Ch. 52.

⁽⁵⁾ This section applies whenever moneys are deposited in court under the Act, whether under the earlier or later sections: Ex parte Flower, L. R. 1 Ch. 599, 12 Jur. N. S. 872, 15 L. T. N. S. 258; 14 W. R. 1016, but it only authorises the court to make an order on the company to pay costs, and not an order to pay them out of any particular fund. Per Mellish, L.J., In re Neath and Brecon Ry. Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 263, 43 L. J. Ch. 277, 30 L. T. N. S. 3, 22 W. R. 242.

In dealing with the question of costs under this Act where lands have been compulsorily taken, the sympathies of the court will be in favour of those persons whose lands are taken: Re Long's Trust, 10 Jur. N. S. 417, 10 L. T. N. S. 21, 12 W. R. 460; and if there be any doubt, the purchaser, in case of a re-investment in land, ought to have the benefit of it: In re Jones's Settled Estates, 4 Jur. N. S. 581, 6 W. R. 614, on appeal, ib., 887.

⁽⁶⁾ A wilful refusal by the owner to receive the purchase money unless his costs are paid before giving up possession, disentitles the owner to costs of a petition for payment out of Court: Re Turner's Estate, 5 L. T. N. S. 524, 10 W. R. 128; In re Windsor, &c., party entitled thereto to receive the same, or to convey ⁽¹⁾ or release the lands in respect whereof the same shall be payable, or by reason of the wilful neglect of any party to make out a good title to the land required ⁽²⁾, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland to order the costs of the following matters, including therein all reasonable charges and expenses incident thereto, to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking; (that is to say,) the costs of the purchase or taking of the lands, or which shall have been incurred in consequence thereof, other than such costs as are herein otherwise provided for, and the costs of the investment of such moneys in Government or real securities, and of the reinvestment thereof in the purchase of other lands, and also the costs of obtaining the proper orders for any of the purposes aforesaid, and of the orders for the payment of the dividends and interest of the securities upon which such monies shall be invested, and for the payment out of court of the principal of such moneys, or of the securities whereon the same shall be invested, and of all proceedings relating thereto, except such as are occasioned by litigation between adverse claimants: Provided always, that the costs of one application only for re-investment in land shall be allowed, unless it shall appear to the Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland that it is for the benefit of the parties interested in the said moneys that the same should be invested in the purchase of lands, in different sums and at different times, in which case it shall be lawful for the court, if it think fit, to order the costs of any such investments to be paid by the promoters of the undertaking ⁽³⁾.

And with respect to the conveyances of lands, be it enacted as follows:

81. Conveyances of lands to be purchased under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, may be according to the forms in the schedules (A.) and (B.) respectively to this Act annexed, or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit, or by deed in any other form which the promoters of the undertaking may think fit; and all conveyances made according to the forms in the said schedules or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit shall be effectual to vest the lands thereby conveyed in the promoters of the undertaking, and shall operate to merge all terms ⁽⁴⁾ of years attendant by express declaration, or by construction of law, on the estate or interest so thereby conveyed, and to bar and to destroy all such estates tail, and all other estates, rights, titles, remainders, reversions, limitations, trusts, and interests whatsoever, of and in the lands comprised in such conveyances which shall have

There is not a wilful refusal when the owner refuses to receive the amount found due on an award, which the petitioner stated by affidavit he conscientiously believed to be invalid: Ex parte Bradshaw, 5 Rail. Costs of conveyances. 82. The costs of all such conveyances ⁽¹⁾ shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking, and such costs shall include all charges and expenses incurred, on the part as well of the seller as of the purchaser, of all conveyances and assurances of any such lands, and of any outstanding terms or interests therein, and of deducing, evidencing, and verifying the title to such lands, terms, or interests, and of making out and furnishing such abstracts and attested copies as the promoters of the undertaking may require, and all other reasonable expenses incident to the investigation, deduction, and verification of such title ⁽²⁾.

Taxation of costs of conveyances. 83. If the promoters of the undertaking and the party entitled to any such costs shall not agree ⁽³⁾ as to the amount thereof, such costs shall be taxed ⁽⁴⁾ by one of the taxing masters of the Court of Chancery or by a master in chancery in Ireland, upon an order of the same court, to be obtained upon petition in a summary way by either of the parties; and the promoters of the undertaking shall pay what the said master shall certify to be due in respect of such costs to the party entitled thereto, or in default thereof the same may be recovered in the same way as any other costs payable under an order of the said court, or the same may be recovered by distress in the manner hereinbefore provided in other cases of costs; and the expense of taxing such costs shall be borne by the promoters of the undertaking, unless upon such taxation one-sixth part of the amount of such costs shall be disallowed, in which case the costs of such taxation shall be borne by the party whose costs shall be so taxed, and the amount thereof shall be ascertained by the said master, and deducted by him accordingly in his certificate of such taxation.

⁽⁵⁾ This section does not apply to the case of damages consequential upon the exercise of the powers of the company upon their own land or upon the land of other persons not complaining; and so where a company in the lawful execution of its powers com-owners ⁽¹⁾ and occupiers, enter ⁽²⁾ upon any lands which shall be required to be purchased or permanently used for the purposes and under the powers of this or the special Act, until they shall either have paid to every party having any interest in such lands, or deposited in the bank, in the manner herein mentioned, the purchase-money or compensation agreed or awarded to be paid to such parties respectively for their respective interests therein ⁽³⁾: Provided always, that for the menced the construction of works by which the enjoyment of an easement by a neighbouring occupier of land might be interrupted and damage sustained, a bill by such occupier to restrain by injunction the further progress of the works till the damage was ascertained and paid for was dismissed with costs: Hutton v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 18 L. J. Ch. 345, 7 Hare, 259; see Lister v. Lobley, 7 A. & E. 124, 6 L. J. Q. B. 200.

(1) As to where tenants will be considered as owners within this section, see Rogers v. Kingston-upon-Hull Dock Co., 34 L. J. Ch. 165, 11 L. T. N. S. 463, 13 W. R. 217, 10 Jur. N. S. 1245, 5 N. R. 26.

A company, under a misapprehension that a tenant for life was owner in fee of certain lands, entered into an agreement with his supposed agent, under this section, and took possession of the lands, on which they constructed their railway. On a bill by the remaindermen and mortgagees, the court granted an injunction to restrain the company from retaining possession of the land: Perks v. Wycombe Ry. Co., 3 Giff. 662, 8 Jur. N. S. 1051, 7 L. T. N. S. 150, 10 W. R. 788.

(2) Where a company, acting bonâ fide, has made a mistake as to the lands they have valued and taken possession of, and the question between the landowner and the company is merely one of value, an injunction will not be granted to stay the works on the property taken: Wood v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 33 Beav. 290; Tomlinson v. Manchester, &c., Ry. Co., 2 Rail. Cas. 104; but where the company unlawfully take possession before paying the compensation money, an action of trespass or ejectment may be maintained against them: Ramsden v. Manchester, &c., Ry. Co., 1 Exch. 723, 5 Rail. Cas. 552, 12 Jur. 293; Stretton v. Great Western and Brentford Ry. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 751, 40 L. J. Ch. 50, 23 L. T. N. S. 379, 18 W. R. 1078; Doe d. Hutchinson v. Manchester, &c., Ry. Co., 14 M. & W. 687, 3 Rail. Cas. 748, 15 L. J. Ex. 208; and a court of equity will grant an injunction against them: Armstrong v. Waterford, &c., Ry. Co., 10 Ir. Eq. R. 60; but if the landowner consent to the entry by the company, he cannot afterwards treat them as trespassers: Doe d. Hudson v. Leeds, &c., Ry. Co., 16 Q. B. 796, 20 L. J. Q. B. 486.

(3) An owner of land, of which a company has taken possession, has a lien on the land for the purchase-money and also for compensation for damage to his adjoining land, and he is not deprived of such lien by a deposit and bond under section 85: Walker v. Ware, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 195, 35 L. J. Ch. 94, 13 L. T. N. S. 517, 12 Jur. N. S. 18; and a court of equity will enforce the lien by sale, though the railway has been made over the land and opened for public use: ib.; Sedgwick v. Watford and Rickmansworth Ry. Co., 36 L. J. Ch. 379; Wing v. Tottenham and Hampstead Junction Ry. Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 740, 37 L. J. Ch. 654, 16 W. R. 1098.

So an injunction has been granted restraining the company from using the land, although the railway was made, the injunction to take effect on a certain day if the money were not paid: Cosens v. Bognor Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 594, 36 L. J. Ch. 104; Winchester (Bishop of) v. Mid-Hants, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 17, 37 L. J. Ch. 64, 17 L. T. N. S. 161; Raper v. Crystal Palace Ry. Co., 18 L. T. N. S. 8; Williams v. Great Eastern Ry. Co., 18 L. T. N. S. 458; Griffiths v. Crystal Palace, &c., Ry. Co., 12 Jur. N. S. 560, 14 L. T. N. S. 753; Sutton v. Hoylake Ry. Co., 20 L. T. N. S. 214; Pell v. Northampton and Banbury Ry. Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 100. In some cases an injunction has been refused: Munns v. Isle of Wight Ry. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 414; Latimer v. Aylesbury, &c., Ry. Co., 9 Ch. D. 385; Lycett v. Stafford, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 261.

But where by agreement the company were to pay an annual rent-charge, there is no lien for unpaid arrears of this rent-charge: Earl of Jersey v. Briton Ferry Floating Dock Co., L. R. 7 Eq. 409 see also Att.-Gen. v. Sittingbourne and Sheerness Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 636.

Secs. 84, 85. purpose merely of surveying and taking levels of such lands, and of probing or boring to ascertain the nature of the soil and of setting out the line of the works⁽¹⁾, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, after giving not less than three nor more than fourteen days' notice to the owners or occupiers thereof, to enter upon such lands without previous consent, making compensation for any damage thereby occasioned to the owners or occupiers thereof.

Promoters to be allowed 85 ⁽²⁾. Provided also, that if the promoters of the undertaking shall be desirous

⁽²⁾ The proceedings under this section are not necessarily invalid, because the award was signed on a day subsequent to the day on which the money was paid into court and the bond given: Stamps v. Birmingham, &c., Ry. Co., 7 Hare, 256, 6 Rail. Cas. 123, 2 Phill. 673.

Where a railway company enter upon lands under this section within the time limited by their special Act, continuance in possession after that time is not unlawful, even though compensation has not been made within the time: Worsley v. South Devon Ry. Co., 20 L. J. Q. B. 254, 16 Q. B. 539; see Doe d. Armistead v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 16 Q. B. 526, 20 L. J. Q. B. 249; see also Loosemore v. Tiverton and North Devon Ry. Co., infra.

The summary powers given by this section are not confined to cases of pressure, and are not affected by the fact that the company might have ascertained the price by verdict or award: Willey v. South Eastern Ry. Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 100, 1 Mac. & G. 59; but see Field v. Carnarvon and Llanberis Ry. Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 190, where it was held that this section only applies where the necessity for the immediate entry is so urgent as to preclude the company from following the slower modes of procedure provided by the Act.

This section does not apply to the case of an interference with an easement: Clark v. London School Board, L. R. 9 Ch. 120, 43 L. J. Ch. 421, 29 L. T. N. S. 903, 22 W. R. 354.

But where a railway company is entitled by a special Act to acquire an easement of tunneling under land, they can enter on the land, under this section, to make the tunnel on depositing the value of the easement without depositing the value of the whole land: Hill v. Midland Ry. Co., 21 Ch. D. 143, 51 L. J. Ch. 774, 47 L. T. N. S. 225, 30 W. R. 774.

Where a railway company entered on land under this section only thirteen days before the expiration of the time limited for the completion of the works, the House of Lords held that the entry was lawful, and that the company could not be restrained by injunction, but were entitled to remain and complete the railway after the expiration of the time limited: Tiverton and North Devon Ry. Co. v. Loosemore, 9 App. Cas. 480, 53 L. J. Ch. 812, 50 L. T. N. S. 637, 32 W. R. 929.

An entry begun wrongfully does not preclude a company continuing in possession when they have done all that was originally required to render their entry rightful: Willey v. South Eastern Ry. Co., supra.

It is generally incumbent on a company seeking to avail themselves of the provisions of this section to show satisfactorily and clearly that they have performed all its conditions, and if there be any doubt, the landowner should have the benefit of it: Barker v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 2 De G. & S. 55, 5 Rail. Cas. 401; but it is not inequitable for a company to enter under this section, although they have given notice to the owner of their intention to summon a jury: Langham v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 1 De G. & S. 486, 5 Rail. Cas. 263, 16 L. J. Ch. 437.

Nor is it unlawful for a company to execute works which occasion damage to a party whose lands are not entered upon, but only injuriously affected, before the compensation for the same is ascertained, paid, or deposited: Hutton v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 7 Hare, 259, 18 L. J. Ch. 345; see Lister v. Lobley, 7 A. & E. 124, 6 L. J. Q. B. 200.

of entering upon ⁽¹⁾ and using ⁽²⁾ any such lands ⁽³⁾ before an agreement shall have been come to or an award made, or verdict given for the purchase-money or compensation to be paid by them in respect of such lands, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to deposit ⁽⁴⁾ in the bank by way of security, as hereinafter mentioned, either the amount of purchase-money or compensation claimed by any party interested in or entitled to sell and convey such lands, and who shall not consent to such entry, or such a sum as shall, by a surveyor appointed by two justices in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽⁵⁾ in the case of parties who cannot be found, be determined to be the value ⁽⁶⁾ of such lands, or of the interest therein which such party is entitled to or enabled to sell and convey, and also to give to such party a bond ⁽⁷⁾, under the common seal of the

(1) The interference with ancient lights is not a thing which is capable of being "entered upon." The word "entering" is inapplicable to it, and therefore this section is inapplicable to such a case: Per Lord Selborne, L. C., in Clark v. London School Board, supra.

(2) A vendor of land taken and used under this section is in the same position as an ordinary vendor, and has the same lien on the land for unpaid purchase-money and the same remedies for enforcing it: Wing v. Tottenham and Hampstead Junction Ry. Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 740, 37 L. J. Ch. 654, 16 W. R. 1098.

But equitable mortgagees have no lien on the sum deposited in court: Martin v. London, Chatham, and Dover Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 501, 35 L. J. Ch. 795, 12 Jur. N. S. 775.

(3) "Such lands" refer to lands mentioned in the next preceding section, namely, any lands required to be purchased or permanently used for the purposes and under the powers of this or the special Act: Gibson v. Hammersmith and City Ry. Co., 9 Jur. N. S. at p. 222, 2 Dr. & S. 603.

(4) This deposit must include not only the value of the land, but also compensation for severance, &c.: Field v. Carnarvon and Llanberis Ry. Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 190, 37 L. J. Ch. 176, 17 L. T. N. S. 534.

(5) See section 59, ante, p. 924. Now by section 36 of the Railways Companies Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 127), where railway companies exercise the powers contained in this section, the surveyor is to be appointed by the Board of Trade instead of by two justices, and the company is to give not less than seven days' notice of their intention to apply to the Board of Trade for the appointment of a surveyor.

(6) A valuation where the surveyor did not enter the house valued is not a proper valuation within this section: Cotter v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 10 L. T. N. S. 777, 4 N. R. 454, 10 Jur. N. S. 1014, 12 W. R. 1021.

(7) If the bond be not executed in conformity with the requirements of the Act, an injunction will be granted till a proper bond be executed: Poynder v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 16 Sim. 3, 2 Phill. 330, 5 Rail. Cas. 196. A condition in a bond "on demand to pay to the owner, or on demand to deposit in the bank, the purchase-money when determined," is bad, as giving the party claiming to be owner the option of compelling payment either to himself or into the bank, whatever the title might turn out: Ib.; see Langham v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 1 De G. & S. 486, 5 Rail. Cas. 263, 16 L. J. Ch. 437; and so is a bond conditioned for payment "at any time hereafter:" Cotter v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., supra; and so is a bond conditioned to pay the landowner, his heirs, &c., or to deposit in the bank, or otherwise. These words, "or otherwise," not being authorised by the Act, render the bond invalid: Hosking v. Phillips, 5 Rail. Cas. 560, 12 Jur. 1030, 3 Exch. 168, 18 L. J. Ex. 1; and a bond to pay to "the four plaintiffs (owners of the land), or some or one of their heirs, &c.," is bad; Daubney v. Manchester, &c., Ry. Co., 10 L. T. 283; and so is a bond to pay "on demand" jointly to two tenants in common: Langham v. Great Northern Ry. Co., supra; and a payment into the joint account of the two tenants in common is irregular: Ib.

Compensation for minerals under sections 78 and 81 of the Railway Clauses Act, 1845, is not within the condition of the bond to be given under this section: Ex parte Neath and Brecon Ry. Co., 2 Ch. D. 201, 45 L. J. Ch. 196, 24 W. R. 357.

The bond should include all the land contained in the notice: Barker v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 5 Rail. Cas. 401, 2 De G. & S. 55. So if a company give notice to take a part of land, and they are required under section 92 to take the whole, the deposit and bond should include the whole: Dodson v. East Kent Ry. Co., 7 Jur. N. S. 941; Giles v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., 30 L. J. Ch. 603, 1 Dr. & S. 406.

(1) Two sureties are required as well when the bond is given by a corporation as by an individual: Barker v. North Staffordshire Ry. Co., 2 De G. & S. 55, 5 Rail. Cas. 401.

(2) By section 36 of the 30 & 31 Vict. c. 127, the sureties to be given by a railway company are to be approved of by the Board of Trade instead of two justices. The approval of the sureties may be given on an ex parte application by the company: Langham v. Great Northern Ry. Co., ante, p. 951.

(3) Where the sum deposited is less than the sum afterwards assessed as the value, the company must pay the difference: Ashford v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., 14 L. T. N. S. 787.

(4) As to the conditions required in the bond, see note (7), supra.

(5) Interest at 4 per cent. is payable by the company upon the purchase or compensation money from the time of their taking possession of the land under their statutory powers, and not merely from the subsequent period of ascertaining the price by the verdict of a jury: Rhys v. Dure Valley Ry. Co., L. R. 19 Eq. 93, 23 W. R. 23. Interest at 5 per cent. was allowed from the time of entering under this section till the amount due was settled: In re Wolff's Settlement, W. N. (1868), p. 66. See also Regent's Canal Co. v. Ware, 23 Beav. 575. The company are bound to pay interest at 4 per cent., not from the date of the award, but from the time they might prudently have taken possession, that is, when a good title was shown: *In re Pigott and the Great Western Ry. ⁽¹⁾ Now, by Order LV., r. 2, sub-sec. 7, applications for interim and permanent investment and for payment of dividends of a fund in Court under this Act, are to be made by summons in chambers and not by petition: Ex parte Mayor of London, 25 Ch. D. 384, 53 L. J. Ch. 6, 49 L. T. N. S. 437, 32 W. R. 87; and application for payment out of a sum not exceeding £1000 must now, by Order LV. r. 2, sub-sec. 2, be made by summons in chambers and not by petition: Ex parte Bala and Festiniog Ry. Co.; In re Madgwick; In re Brandram; In re Calton's Will, ante, p. 939.

⁽²⁾ A petition by the promoters, under this section, for investment, need not be served on the landowner: Ex parte Carmarthen and Cardigan Ry. Co., 2 N. R. 515.

⁽³⁾ When the company have fulfilled the conditions of the bond, it is entitled to have the money repaid, and the court cannot, under section 80, order payment for costs out of it: *In re Neath and Brecon Ry. "Money deposited under this section (section 85) is deposited for a particular purpose, and when that purpose has been answered, the Legislature says in so many words that it is to be paid out to the company." *Per James, L. Nor has the landowner a lien on the deposit for his costs: Ex parte Stevens, 5 Rail. Cas. 437, 2 Ph. 772; In re London and Southampton Railway Extension Act, 16 Sim. 165; and see In re Fooks, 2 Mac. & G. 357; Ex parte Great Northern Ry. Co., 16 Sim. 169, 5 Rail. Nor is an owner appearing to consent to a petition by a company for payment out, entitled to the costs of such appearance, though served with the petition: In re Holman's Settlement, W. N. (1877), p. 272; but in Ex parte Stevens, (supra), such costs were allowed. See also In re Dyson, 46 L. T. N. S. 730, and Ex parte Eastern Counties Ry. Co., 5 Rail. Cas. 210, where service of the petition on the owner was dispensed with; but in Ex parte South Wales Ry. Co., 14 Beav. 418, 15 Jur. 1145, the court refused to order payment to the company unless the vendor joined in the petition or was served with a copy of it.

Nor is a landowner entitled, out of the deposit in court, to compensation for minerals under sections 78 and 81 of the Railways Clauses Act, 1845: Ex parte Neath and Brecon Ry. Co., 2 Ch. D. 201, 45 L. J. Ch. 196, 24 W. R. 357.

⁽⁵⁾ If the condition of the bond be not performed, the court can order payment out of the deposit to the owner on a petition presented by him for that purpose, adversely to the company: In re Mutton's Estate, 10 Ch. D. 131, 48 L. J. Ch. 198, 27 W. R. 245. See Martin v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., cited in note ⁽²⁾ to p. 951; and Re Birmingham, &c., Ry. Co., 3 N. R. 290.

The production of the bond by the company is sufficient evidence that the condition thereof has been duly performed: In re London and North Western Ry. Co., 26 L. T. N. S. 687.

Secs. 88–90. Exchequer in Ireland, to obtain his authority in respect of the payment of any sum of money so authorised to be deposited in the bank by way of security as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the company to pay into the bank, to the credit of such party or matter as the case may require (subject nevertheless to being dealt with as hereinafter provided, and not otherwise) such sum of money as the promoters of the undertaking shall, by some writing signed by their secretary or solicitors for the time being, addressed to the governor and company of the bank in that behalf, request, and upon any such payment being made the cashier of the bank shall give a certificate thereof; and in every such case, within ten days after the reopening of the said Accountant General's office, the solicitor for the promoters of the undertaking shall there bespeak the direction for the payment of such sum into the name of the Accountant General, and upon production of such direction at the Bank of England the money so previously paid in shall be placed to the credit of the said Accountant General accordingly, and the receipt for the said payment be given to the party making the same in the usual way for the purpose of being filed at the report office.

If the promoters of the undertaking or any of their contractors shall, except as aforesaid, wilfully ⁽¹⁾ enter upon and take possession of any lands which shall be required to be purchased or permanently used ⁽²⁾ for the purposes of the special Act, without such consent ⁽³⁾ as aforesaid, or without having made such payment for the benefit of the parties interested in the lands, or such deposit by way of security as aforesaid, the promoters of the undertaking shall forfeit to the party in possession of such lands the sum of ten pounds, over and above the amount of any damage done to such lands by reason of such entry and taking possession as aforesaid, such penalty and damage respectively to be recovered before two justices; and if the promoters of the undertaking or their contractors shall, after conviction in such penalty as aforesaid, continue in unlawful possession of any such lands ⁽⁴⁾, the promoters of the undertaking shall be liable to forfeit the sum of twenty-five pounds for every day they or their contractors shall so remain in possession as aforesaid, such penalty to be recoverable by the party in possession of such lands, with costs, by action in any of the superior courts: Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall be held to subject the promoters of the undertaking to the payment of any such penalties as aforesaid, if they shall bonâ fide and without collusion have paid the compensation agreed or awarded to be paid in respect of the said lands to any person whom the promoters of the undertaking may have reasonably believed to be entitled thereto, or shall have deposited the same in the bank for the benefit of the parties interested in the lands, or made such deposit by way of security in respect thereof as hereinbefore mentioned, although such person may not have been legally entitled thereto.

⁽¹⁾ As to the meaning of the word "wilfully," see Hutchinson v. Manchester, Bury and Rosendale Ry. Co., 15 M. & W. 314, 3 Rail. Cas. 748. The word "wilfully" does not override the whole section, and does not apply to that part which imposes a penalty for continuing in unlawful possession after notice (ib.)

⁽³⁾ Where the company has entered after a qualified verbal consent by the owner, it seems that the Court will not interfere to stop the works, if perfect justice can be done by compelling the company to pay for the land: Langford v. Brighton, Lewes and Hastings Ry. Co., 4 Rail. Cas. 69; see also, as to entering without consent: Fooks v. Wills, &c., Ry. Co., 5 Hare, 199, 4 Rail. Cas. 210; *Tower v. Eastern Counties Ry. sive as to the right of entry on any such land by the promoters of the undertaking. Secs. 90-92.

91. If in any case in which according to the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, the promoters of the undertaking are authorised to enter upon and take possession of any lands required for the purposes of the undertaking, the owner or occupier of any such lands or any other person refuse ⁽¹⁾ to give up the possession thereof, or hinder ⁽¹⁾ the promoters of the undertaking from entering upon or taking possession of the same, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to issue their warrant to the sheriff to deliver possession of the same to the person appointed in such warrant to receive the same, and upon the receipt of such warrant the sheriff shall deliver possession of any such lands accordingly, and the costs accruing by reason of the issuing and execution of such warrant, to be settled by the sheriff, shall be paid by the person refusing to give possession, and the amount of such costs shall be deducted and retained by the promoters of the undertaking from the compensation, if any, then payable by them to such party, or if no such compensation be payable to such party, or if the same be less than the amount of such costs, then such costs, or the excess thereof beyond such compensation, if not paid on demand, shall be levied by distress, and upon application to any justice for that purpose he shall issue his warrant accordingly.

⁽²⁾ This section applies, although the landowner has only a leasehold interest in the premises: Pulling v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., 33 L. J. Ch. 505, 10 Jur. N. S. 665, 10 L. T. N. S. 393, 740, 12 W. R. 770, 969. So it applies where a railway bridge is thrown over the yard of a manufactory, although no part of the soil itself is taken: Pinchin v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 1 K. & J. 34, 2 Eq. R. 1172, 1 Jur. N. S. 241; and on appeal, 1 Jur. N. S. 241, 24 L. J. Ch. 417, 5 De G. M. & G. 851, 3 Eq. Rep. 433, 24 L. J. Ch. 417, 24 L. T. 196; and also, it would seem, to the case of a tunnel under buildings without taking or touching any part of the surface: Sparrow v. Oxford, &c., Ry. Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 94, 7 Rail. Cas. 106, 16 Jur. 703, 21 L. J. Ch. 731, 19 L. T. 131.

A company, having given notice to take a part of a property, and being required to take the whole, under this section, may abandon their notice and refuse to take any part: King v. Wycombe Ry. Co., 28 Beav. 104, 29 L. J. Ch. 462, 6 Jur. N. S. 239; Grierson v. Cheshire Lines' Committee, L. R. 19 Eq. 83, 31 L. T. N. S. 428; R. v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 5 Rail. Cas., 669, 12 Q. B. 775, 17 L. J. Q. B. 326, 23 W. R. 68; and specific performance against the company to take the whole will be refused, (ib.); but the company is not entitled to recede from their notice to take part of the property and give another notice to tunnel under the property: Sparrow v. Oxford, &c., Ry. Co., supra; and if, after a counter-notice to take the whole, the company go into possession of the part, they are bound to purchase the whole, and the owner can obtain an order to compel them to ascertain the value of the whole: Marson v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Eq. 546, 38 L. J. Ch. 371, 20 L. T. N. S. 773; before going into possession of the part, they must pay into court the ascertained value of the whole: Giles v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., 30 L. J. Ch. 603, 1 Dr. & Sm. 406; Governors of St. Thomas's Hospital v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 30 L. J. Ch. 395; and in such a case, the amount to be secured by deposit and bond, under section 85, is the value of the whole: Underwood v. Bedford and Cambridge Ry. Co., 7 Jur. N. S. 941.

After a notice to take part and a counter-notice under this section to take the whole, it is not necessary that there should be a second formal notice by the company, under section 18, before summoning a jury under section 23 to assess compensation: Schwinge v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 3 Sm. & Giff. 30; and in such a case, where a manda-mus was obtained against a company, commanding them to summon a jury to assess compensation for the whole, it was held that, although this section protects the owners from being obliged to sell a part, it does not compel a company, wanting a part only, to take the whole, and that the mandamus having claimed the whole, could not go for a part only: R. v. London and South Western Ry. Co., ante, p. 955.

A landlord is not compelled to sell part of his property, if, before the company have begun to put their compulsory powers in motion, he gives them notice to take the whole: Gardner v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 2 Johns. & H. 248, 8 Jur. N. S. 151, 31 L. J. Ch. 181, 5 L. T. N. S. 418, 10 W. R. 120; where the landowner replies to the notice by claiming a given sum for the part, he is not thereby precluded, if that sum is refused, from requiring the company to take the whole: (ib.) The words "house or other building or manufactory" refer to three distinct things; and it is sufficient that the owner of premises specify in his counter-notice the premises which he requires the company to take, without stating whether he claims for a house, a building, or a manufactory: Richards v. Swansea Improvement and Tramways Co., infra.

(1) The word "house" in this section includes everything which would pass by that word in a conveyance; King v. Wycombe Ry. Co., cited in note (2), supra; Grosvenor v. Hampstead Junction Ry. Co., 1 De G. & J. 446, 26 L. J. Ch. 731; Fergusson v. London, Brighton and South Coast Ry. Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 653, 33 Beav. 103, 33 L. J. Ch. 29, 9 L. T. N. S. 134, 11 W. R. 1088, 2 N. R. 566; Hewson v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 8 W. R. 467; and it includes all that would pass by a devise of the house, but not land which is not necessary for the convenient use and occupation of the house, but only for the personal use and convenience of the owner and occupier: Steele v. Midland Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 275, 12 Jur. N. S. 218, 14 L. T. N. S. 3, 14 W. R. 367; and see the cases therein referred to; and it includes all that would pass by the grant of a messuage, which includes not only the curtilage but also the garden, and all that is necessary to the enjoyment of the house, if within one ambit, whether attached to the main building or not, and though purchased subsequently to the erection of the main building: Governors of St. Thomas's Hospital v. Charing Cross Ry. Co., 30 L. J. Ch. 395, 1 J. & H. 400.

Where a property consisted of a house, stables, &c., with a garden, pleasure grounds and orchard, standing on $1\frac{1}{4}$ acres of ground, a company proposing to take part of the orchard and a corner of the garden were held bound to take the whole: King v. Wycombe Ry. Co., ante, p. 955.

And so is a company proposing to take a part of the garden attached to a dwelling-house, thereby cutting off the end of the garden and the summer-house: Cole v. West London and Crystal Palace Ry. Co., 27 Beav. 242, 5 Jur. N. S. 1114, 28 L. J. Ch. 767.

A vacant piece of ground in front of a public-house, and belonging to the owner thereof, not fenced off from the street, and used by customers of the public-house, being the only means of approach for vehicles to the front door of the house, was held to be part of the house, as coming within the definition of a curtilage: Marson v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 101, 37 L. J. Ch. 483, 18 L. T. N. S. 317.

So where a house and garden were held under two demises, the house and part of the garden being comprised in one, the remainder of the garden in the other, a company taking a part must take the whole: Macgregor v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., 14 L. T. N. S. 354.

Where the owner of a dwelling-house standing in a piece of ground $2\frac{1}{2}$ acres in extent and surrounded by brick walls, used a part of the land for trade purposes, a company proposing, without taking the house to take the greenhouses, and a part ornamentally planted, was held bound to take the whole: Salter v. Metropolitan District Ry. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 432, 39 L. J. Ch. 567. See also, Hewson v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 8 W. R. 467; Walker v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., 3 Rail. building ⁽¹⁾ or manufactory ⁽²⁾ if such party be willing and able to sell and convey the whole thereof. Secs. 92, 93.

And with respect to small portions of intersected land, be it enacted as follows :

93. If any lands not being situate in a town ⁽³⁾ or built upon shall be so cut through and divided by the works as to leave, either on both sides or on one side Owners of intersected lands may insist on sale.

whole of the property, though the houses had never been completed and had become dilapidated : Alexander v. Crystal Palace Ry. Co., 30 Beav. 556, 8 Jur. N. S. 833, 31 L. J. Ch. 500.

Meadow land, not being appurtenant to the house at the time of a notice, is not a part of the house and garden : Chambers v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., 8 L. T. N. S. 235, 11 W. R. 479, 1 N. R. 517. Nor meadow land separated from the house by a road : Fergusson v. London, Brighton and South Coast Ry. Co., supra; Pulling v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., supra; Steele v. Midland Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 275, 12 Jur. N. S. 218, 14 L. T. N. S. 3, 14 W. R. 367.

Two semi-detached villas, under one continuous roof, held by the same owner and having separate gardens, are not one house within this section, and the company can take one without the other : Harvie v. South Devon Ry. Co., 32 L. T. N. S. 1, 23 W. R. 202.

Two adjoining houses with internal communication, used as an undivided whole, and necessary for the purposes of the same business, though held under separate leases of even date from the same lessor, form one entire house : Siegenberg v. Metropolitan District Ry. Co., 32 W. R. 333, 49 L. T. N. S. 554.

⁽²⁾ Where land is employed for the purpose of a business, not involving manufacture, but parts of it are used for auxiliary manufacturing processes, the whole is not a manufactory within this Act : Reddin v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 31 L. J. Ch. 660, 4 De G. F. & J. 532.

Throwing a railway bridge across a yard belonging to a manufactory is taking a part of it : Pinchin v. London and Blackwall Ry. Co., ante, p. 955; and cottages, separated only by a road from a manufactory, and used as warehouses for it, are a part of the manufactory, and a company wishing to take the cottages must take the whole manufactory : Spackman v. Great Western Ry. Co., 1 Jur. N. S. 790; and so is land, included in the same wall with tin-plate works, and used for the deposit of ashes from the works, though the two parts were separated by a road : Sparrow v. Oxford Ry. Co., ante, p. 955.

The trade fixtures in a manufactory form part of it, and a company taking the manufactory must take the fixtures also : Gibson v. Hammersmith and City Ry. Co., 9 Jur. N. S. 221, 32 L. J. Ch. 337, 8 L. T. N. S. 43, 11 W. R. 299, 1 N. R. 305.

As to when a whole block of houses form one manufactory or one house within this section, see Richards v. Swansea Improvement and Tramways Co., 9 Ch. D. 420, 38 L. T. 833, 26 W. R. 764.

Lands "situate within a town" within section 128, mean lands surrounded by the buildings which constitute the town : Carington v. Wycombe Ry. Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 825, 15 L. T. N. S. 49, 14 W. R. 1018; affirmed on appeal, L. R. 3 Ch. 377, 37 L. J. Ch. 213, 18 L. T. N. S. 96, 16 W. R. 494.

Secs. 93-95. thereof, a less quantity of land than half a statute acre, and if the owner of such ⁽¹⁾ small parcel of land require the promoters of the undertaking to purchase the same along with the other land required for the purposes of the special Act ⁽²⁾, the promoters of the undertaking shall purchase the same accordingly, unless the owner thereof have other land adjoining ⁽³⁾ to that so left into which the same can be thrown, so as to be conveniently occupied therewith; and if such owner have any other land so adjoining, the promoters of the undertaking shall, if so required by the owner, at their own expense, throw the piece of land so left into such adjoining land, by removing the fences and levelling the sites thereof, and by soiling the same in a sufficient and workmanlike manner.

Promoters of the undertaking may insist on purchase where expense of bridges, &c., exceeds the value.

94. If any such ⁽⁴⁾ land shall be so cut through and divided as to leave on either side of the works a piece of land of less extent than half a statute acre, or of less value than the expense of making a bridge, culvert, or such other communication between the land so divided as the promoters of the undertaking are, under the provisions of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, compellable to make, and if the owner of such ⁽⁴⁾ lands have not other lands adjoining such piece of land, and require the promoters of the undertaking to make such communication, then the promoters of the undertaking may require such owner to sell to them such piece of land, and any dispute ⁽⁵⁾ as to the value of such piece of land, or as to what would be the expense of making such communication, shall be ascertained as herein provided for cases of disputed compensation; and on the occasion of ascertaining the value of the land required to be taken for the purposes of the works, the jury or the arbitrators, as the case may be, shall, if required by either party, ascertain by their verdict or award the value of any such severed piece of land, and also what would be the expense of making such communication ⁽⁵⁾.

Conveyance of copyhold lands to be enrolled.

And with respect to copyhold lands, be it enacted as follows:

95 ⁽⁶⁾. Every conveyance to the promoters of the undertaking of any lands which shall be of copyhold or customary tenure, or of the nature thereof, shall be entered on the rolls of the manor of which the same shall be held or parcel; and on payment to the steward of such manor of such fees as would be due to him on the surrender ⁽⁷⁾ of the same lands to the use of a purchaser thereof he shall make

⁽⁴⁾ The words "such land" here do not refer to land in a town, or land built upon, in section 93, but to the separated portions: Falls v. Belfast, &c., Ry. Co., 11 Ir. L. R. 184, 12 Ir. L. R. 233; but the House of Lords have held that the expression "such land" in this section is not restricted to intersected lands situate in a town, but applies to all intersected lands, whether so situate or not: Eastern Counties, &c., Ry. Co. v. Marriage, 31 L. J. Ex. 73, 7 Jur. N. S. 53, 8 W. R. 748, reversing the decision of the Ex. Ch., 27 L. J. 185.

⁽⁵⁾ Where, in an inquiry that took place pursuant to this action, the jury found the land of less value than the cost of the communication, and the company had made no offer for the land previous to the inquiry, it was held that the landowner was not entitled under section 51 to his costs of the inquiry, as section 57 was not incorporated with section 94: Cobb v. Mid Wales Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Q. B. 342, 12 Jur. N. S. 228, 35 L. J. Q. B. 117, 14 W. R. 775.

⁽⁶⁾ As to the general effect of sections 95 and 96, see Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England v. London and South Western Ry. Co., 14 C. B. 743, 23 L. J. C. P. 177, 2 W. R. 560, 18 Jur. 911.

⁽⁷⁾ A steward of a manor, who by custom was entitled to one fee upon the surrender and another on the admittance to copyhold lands, was held entitled under this section to one fee only on a surrender: Cooper v. Norfolk Ry. Co., 6 Rail. Cas. 94, 3 Exch. 546, 18 L. J. Ex. 176, 13 Jur. 195.

such enrolment; and every such conveyance, when so enrolled, shall have the like effect ⁽¹⁾ in respect of such copyhold or customary lands as if the same had been of freehold tenure, nevertheless, until such lands shall have been enfranchised by virtue of the powers hereinafter contained, they shall continue subject to the same fines, rents, heriots, and services as were theretofore payable and of right accustomed.

96. ⁽²⁾ Within three months after the enrolment of the conveyance of any such copyhold or customary lands, or within one month after the promoters of the undertaking shall enter upon and make use of the same for the purposes of the works, whichever shall first happen, or if more than one parcel of such lands holden of the same manor shall have been taken by them, then within one month after the last of such parcels shall have been so taken or entered on by them, the promoters of the undertaking shall procure the whole of the lands holden of such manor so taken by them to be enfranchised ⁽³⁾, and for that purpose shall apply to the lord of the manor whereof such lands are holden to enfranchise the same, and shall pay to him such compensation ⁽⁴⁾ in respect thereof as shall be agreed upon between them and him, and if the parties fail to agree respecting the amount of the compensation to be paid for such enfranchisement the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation; and in estimating such compensation the loss in respect of the fines, heriots, and other services payable on death, descent, or alienation, or any other matters which would be lost ⁽⁵⁾ by the vesting of such copyhold or customary lands in the promoters of the undertaking, or by the enfranchisement of the same, shall be allowed for.

Copyhold lands to be enfranchised.

97. Upon payment or tender of the compensation so agreed upon or determined, or on deposit thereof in the bank in any of the cases hereinbefore in that behalf provided, the lord of the manor whereof such copyhold or customary lands shall be holden shall enfranchise such lands, and the lands so enfranchised shall for ever thereafter be held in free and common socage; and in default of such enfranchisement by the lord of the manor, or if he fail to adduce a good title thereto to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for them, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽⁶⁾ in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the lands in respect of the enfranchisement whereof such compensation shall have been deposited as aforesaid shall be deemed to be enfranchised, and shall be for ever thereafter held in free and common socage.

Lords of the manor to enfranchise on payment of compensation.

98. If any such copyhold or customary lands be subject to any customary or other rent, and part only of the land subject to any such rent be required to be taken for the purposes of the special Act, the apportionment of such rent may be settled by agreement between the owner of the lands and the lord of the manor on Apportionment of copyhold rents.

⁽¹⁾ As to the effect of a conveyance by a copyholder in fee, where the lord of the manor was no party to it, see Dimes v. Grand Junction Canal Co., 5 Rail. Cas. 34, 9 Q. B. 469.

The lord of a manor, entitled by custom to fines on surrender and admittance to copyholds, is not entitled to the payment of any fines upon the execution of a conveyance by a copyholder to a railway company, under this section, or upon the enrolment of such conveyance, nor to any compensation (under section 96) for the loss thereof: Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England v. London and South Western Ry. Co., supra.

⁽²⁾ See, as to the effect of this section, Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England v. London and South Western Ry. Co., supra.

⁽³⁾ Where copyholds are taken under this Act, the lord is not entitled to the preliminary fine to which he would be entitled on an enfranchisement under the Copyhold Acts: In re Wilson, 9 Jur. N. S. 1043, 32 L. J. Ch. 191, 2 J. & H. 619.

⁽⁴⁾ Where, besides the sum paid for the inheritance, a further sum is awarded as compensation, the tenant for life will not be entitled to that further sum, but only to the interest on it: In re Wilson, supra.

the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if such apportionment be not so settled by agreement, then the same shall be settled by two justices ⁽¹⁾; and the enfranchisement of any copyhold or customary lands taken by virtue of this or the special Act, or the apportionment of such rents, shall not affect in other respects any custom by or under which any such copyhold or customary lands not taken for such purposes shall be held; and if any of the lands so required be released from any portion of the rents to which they were subject jointly with any other lands, such last-mentioned lands shall be charged with the remainder only of such rents; and with reference to any such apportioned rents, the lord of the manor shall have all the same rights and remedies over the lands to which such apportioned rent shall have been assigned or attributed as he had previously over the whole of the lands subject to such rents for the whole of such rents.

And with respect to any such lands, being common ⁽²⁾ or waste lands, be it enacted as follows:

Compensation for common lands, where held of a manor, &c., how to be paid.

99. The compensation in respect of the right in the soil of any lands subject to any rights of common, shall be paid to the lord of the manor, in case he shall be entitled to the same, or to such party, other than the commoners, as shall be entitled to such right in the soil; and the compensation in respect of all other commonable and other rights in or over such lands, including therein any commonable or other rights to which the lord of the manor may be entitled, other than his right in the soil of such lands, shall be determined and paid and applied in manner hereinafter provided with respect to common lands the right in the soil of which shall belong to the commoners; and upon payment or deposit in the bank of the compensation so determined all such commonable and other rights shall cease and be extinguished.

Lord of the manor, &c., to convey to the promoters of the undertaking on receiving compensation for his interest.

100. Upon payment or tender to the lord of the manor, or such other party as aforesaid, of the compensation which shall have been agreed upon or determined in respect of the right in the soil of any such lands, or on deposit thereof in the bank in any of the cases hereinbefore in that behalf provided, such lord of the manor, or such other party as aforesaid, shall convey such lands to the promoters of the undertaking, and such conveyance shall have the effect of vesting such lands in the promoters of the undertaking in like manner as if such lord of the manor, or such other party as aforesaid, had been seised in fee simple of such lands at the time of executing such conveyance; and in default of such conveyance it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the lands in respect whereof such last-mentioned compensation shall have been deposited as aforesaid shall vest absolutely in the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof, subject nevertheless to the commonable and other rights theretofore affecting the same, until such rights shall have been extinguished by payment or deposit of the compensation for the same in manner hereinafter provided.

Compensation for common lands where not held of a manor, how to be ascertained.

101. The compensation to be paid with respect to any such lands, being common lands, or in the nature thereof, the right to the soil of which shall belong to the commoners as well as the compensation to be paid for the commonable and other rights in or over common lands the right in the soil whereof shall not belong to the commoners, other than the compensation to the lord of the manor, or other party entitled to the soil thereof, in respect of his right in the soil thereof, shall be determined by agreement between the promoters of the undertaking and a committee of the parties entitled to commonable or other rights in such lands, to be appointed as next hereinafter mentioned. Secs. 101—106.

⁽²⁾ Under sections 99—107 of this Act, if a railway company take possession, by virtue of their Act, of land over which there are rights of common, after payment to the lord of the manor of compensation in respect of his ownership in the soil and a conveyance by him to the company, and they construct their railway on the land without having first paid compensation to the commoners in respect of their rights of common, a commoner may maintain an action against the company for the disturbance of his rights of common, and he is not confined to proceedings for compensation under these sections: Stoneham v. London, Brighton and South Coast Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 1, 41 L. J. Q. B. 1, 25 L. T. N. S. 788, 20 W. R. 77.

102. It shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to convene a meeting of the parties entitled to commonable or other rights over or in such lands to be held at some convenient place in the neighbourhood of the lands, for the purpose of their appointing a committee ⁽¹⁾ to treat with the promoters of the undertaking for the compensation to be paid for the extinction of such commonable or other rights; and every such meeting shall be called by public advertisement, to be inserted once at least in two consecutive weeks in some newspaper circulating in the county, or in the respective counties, and in the neighbourhood in which such lands shall be situate, the last of such insertions being not more than fourteen, nor less than seven days, prior to any such meeting; and notice of such meeting shall also, not less than seven days previous to the holding thereof, be affixed upon the door of the parish church where such meeting is intended to be held, or if there be no such church some other place in the neighbourhood to which notices are usually affixed; and if such lands be parcel or holden of a manor, a like notice shall be given to the lord of such manor. A meeting of the parties interested to be convened.

103. It shall be lawful for the meeting so called to appoint a committee ⁽¹⁾, not exceeding five in number, of the parties entitled to any such rights; and at such meeting the decision of the majority of the persons entitled to commonable rights present shall bind the minority and all absent parties. Meeting to appoint a committee.

104. It shall be lawful for the committee so chosen to enter into an agreement with the promoters of the undertaking for the compensation to be paid for the extinction of such commonable and other rights, and all matters relating thereto, for and on behalf of themselves and all other parties interested therein; and all such parties shall be bound by such agreement; and it shall be lawful for such committee to receive the compensation so agreed to be paid, and the receipt of such committee, or of any three of them, for such compensation, shall be an effectual discharge for the same; and such compensation, when received, shall be apportioned ⁽²⁾ by the committee among the several persons interested therein, according to their respective interests ⁽³⁾, but the promoters of the undertaking shall not be bound to see to the apportionment or to the application of such compensation, nor shall they be liable for the misapplication or nonapplication thereof. Committee to agree with the promoters of the undertaking.

105. If upon such committee being appointed they shall fail to agree with the promoters of the undertaking as to the amount of the compensation to be paid as aforesaid, the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation. Disputes to be settled as in other cases.

106 ⁽⁴⁾. If, upon being duly convened by the promoters of the undertaking, no effectual meeting of the parties entitled to such commonable or other rights shall be appointed, If no committee be appointed,

⁽¹⁾ By sections 15—17 of the Inclosure Act, 1854 (17 & 18 Vict. c. 97), if the majority of the committee, referred to in these sections, are of opinion that the provisions of this Act for the apportionment of the compensation paid for common rights under the Act cannot be satisfactorily carried into effect, such majority may apply to the Inclosure Commissioners to have the apportionment carried out under the Inclosure Act, 1845.

⁽²⁾ See preceding note.

⁽³⁾ In Nash v. Combs, L. R. 6 Eq. 51, 37 L. J. Ch. 600, 16 W. R. 663, it was held that resident freemen, entitled to commonable rights, were not entitled to have the corpus of the money divided amongst themselves, but that the proper course would be to invest the money in land to be held in trust for the freemen from time to time resident within the borough.

As to division of the compensation among copyhold tenants of a manor and freeholders within the manor, see Fox v. Amhurst, L. R. 20 Eq. 403, 44 L. J. Ch. 666.

⁽⁴⁾ Sections 101—106, with reference to the ascertainment of compensation for common lands, are not imperative, so as to preclude the enforcement of specific performance of an agreement entered into otherwise than as mentioned in these sections: Bee v. Stafford and Uttoxeter Ry. Co., 23 W. R. 868.

Secs. 106— take place, or if, taking place, such meeting fail to appoint such committee, the the amount to be determined by a surveyor.

Upon payment of compensation payable to commoners the lands to vest.

107. Upon payment or tender to such committee, or any three of them, or if there shall be no such committee then upon deposit in the bank in the manner provided ⁽¹⁾ in the like case of the compensation which shall have been agreed upon or determined in respect of such commonable or other rights, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the lands in respect of which such compensation shall have been so paid or deposited shall vest in the promoters of the undertaking, freed and discharged from such commonable or other rights, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof; and it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery in England or the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, by an order to be made upon petition, to order payment of the money so deposited to a committee to be appointed as aforesaid, or to make such other order in respect thereto for the benefit of the parties interested as it shall think fit.

And with respect to lands subject to mortgage, be it enacted as follows:

Power to redeem mortgages.

108 ⁽²⁾. It shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to purchase or redeem the interest of the mortgagee of any such lands which may be required for the purposes of the special Act, and that whether they shall have previously purchased the equity of redemption of such lands or not, and whether the mortgagee thereof be entitled thereto in his own right or in trust for any other party, and whether he be in possession of such lands by virtue of such mortgage or not, and whether such mortgage affect such lands solely, or jointly with any other lands not required for the purposes of the special Act, and in order thereto the promoters of the undertaking may pay or tender to such mortgagee the principal and interest due on such mortgage, together with his costs and charges, if any, and also six months' additional interest, and thereupon such mortgagee shall immediately convey his interest in the lands comprised in such mortgage to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct, or the promoters of the undertaking may give notice in writing to such mortgagee that they will pay off the principal and interest due on such mortgage at the end of six months, computed from the day of giving such notice; and if they shall have given any such notice, or if the party entitled to the equity of redemption of any such lands shall have given six months' notice of his intention to redeem the same, then at the expiration of either of such notices, or at any intermediate period, upon payment or tender by the promoters of the undertaking to the mortgagee of the principal money due on such mortgage, and the interest which would become due at the end of six months from the time of giving either of such notices, together with his costs and expenses, if any, such mortgagee shall convey or release his interest in the lands comprised in such mortgage to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct.

Deposit of mortgage money on refusal to accept.

109. If, in either of the cases aforesaid upon such payment or tender, any mortgagee shall fail to convey or release his interest in such mortgage as directed by the promoters of the undertaking, or if he fail to adduce a good title thereto to their satisfaction, then it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to deposit in the bank, in the manner provided ⁽³⁾ by this Act in like cases, the principal and interest, together with the costs, if any, due on such mortgage, and also, if such payment be made before the expiration of six months' notice as

⁽²⁾ If an inquiry as to the amount of the compensation to be paid take place without notice to an equitable mortgagee, his interest is not bound by the inquiry, nor is he entitled to have his mortgage discharged out of the money paid into the bank under section 85, but the lands taken will still remain subject to the charge, and in default of payment he will be entitled to an assignment of the land comprised in his security: Martin v. London, Chatham and Dover Ry. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 501, 35 L. J. Ch. 795, 14 L. T. N. S. 814, 14 W. R. 880, 12 Jur. N. S. 775.

aforesaid, such further interest as would at that time become due; and it shall be lawful for them, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽¹⁾ in the case of the purchase of lands by them; and thereupon, as well as upon such conveyance by the mortgagee, if any such be made, all the estate and interest of such mortgagee, and of all persons in trust for him, or for whom he may be a trustee, in such lands, shall vest in the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof in case such mortgagee were himself entitled to such possession.

112.

110. If any such mortgaged lands shall be of less value than the principal, interest, and costs secured thereon, the value of such lands, or the compensation to be made by the promoters of the undertaking in respect thereof, shall be settled by agreement between the mortgagee of such land and the party entitled to the equity of redemption thereof on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if the parties aforesaid fail to agree respecting the amount of such value or compensation, the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation; and the amount of such value or compensation, being so agreed upon or determined, shall be paid by the promoters of the undertaking to the mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage debt so far as the same will extend, and upon payment or tender thereof the mortgagee shall convey or release all his interest in such mortgaged lands to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct.

Sum to be paid when mortgage exceeds the value of the lands.

111. If upon such payment or tender as aforesaid being made, any such mortgagee fail so to convey his interest in such mortgage, or to adduce a good title thereto to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for them to deposit the amount of such value or compensation in the bank, in the manner provided ⁽¹⁾ by this Act in like cases, and every such payment or deposit shall be accepted by the mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend, and shall be a full discharge of such mortgaged lands from all money due thereon; and it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽¹⁾ in the case of the purchase of lands by them; and thereupon such lands, as to all such estate and interest as were then vested in the mortgagee, or any person in trust for him, shall become absolutely vested in the promoters of the undertaking, and they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof in case such mortgagee were himself entitled to such possession; nevertheless all rights and remedies possessed by the mortgagee against the mortgagor, by virtue of any bond or covenant or other obligation, other than the right to such lands, shall remain in force in respect of so much of the mortgage debt as shall not have been satisfied by such payment or deposit.

Deposit of money when refused on tender.

112. If a part only of any such mortgaged lands be required for the purposes of the special Act, and if the part so required be of less value than the principal money, interest, and costs secured on such lands, and the mortgagee shall not consider the remaining part of such lands a sufficient security for the money charged thereon, or be not willing to release the part so required, then the value of such part, and also the compensation (if any) to be paid in respect of the severance thereof or otherwise, shall be settled by agreement between the mortgagee and the party entitled to the equity of redemption of such land on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other, and if the parties aforesaid fail to agree respecting the amount of such value or compensation the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation; and the amount of such value or compensation, being so agreed upon or determined, shall be paid by the promoters of the undertaking to such mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend; and thereupon such mortgagee shall convey or release to them, or as they shall direct, all his interest in such mortgaged lands, the value whereof shall have been so paid; and a memorandum of what shall have been so paid shall be endorsed on the deed creating such mortgage, and shall be signed by the mortgagee; and a copy of such memorandum shall at the same time (if required) be furnished by the promoters of the under-

113. If, upon payment or tender to any such mortgagee of the amount of the value or compensation so agreed upon or determined, such mortgagee shall fail to convey or release to the promoters of the undertaking, or as they shall direct, his interest in the lands in respect of which such compensation shall so have been paid or tendered, or if he shall fail to adduce a good title thereto to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking to pay the amount of such value or compensation into the bank, in the manner provided ⁽¹⁾ by this Act in the case of moneys required to be deposited in such bank, and such payment or deposit shall be accepted by such mortgagee in satisfaction of his mortgage debt, so far as the same will extend, and shall be a full discharge of the portion of the mortgaged lands so required from all money due thereon; and it shall be lawful for the promoters of the undertaking, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽¹⁾ in the case of the purchase of lands by them; and thereupon such lands shall become absolutely vested in the promoters of the undertaking, as to all such estate and interest as were then vested in the mortgagee, or any person in trust for him, and in case such mortgagee were himself entitled to such possession they shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof; nevertheless, every such mortgagee shall have the same powers and remedies for recovering ⁽²⁾ or compelling payment of the mortgage money, or the residue thereof (as the case may be), and the interest thereof respectively, upon and out of the residue of such mortgaged lands, or the portion thereof not required for the purposes of the special Act, as he would otherwise have had or been entitled to for recovering or compelling payment thereof upon or out of the whole of the lands originally comprised in such mortgage.

Compensation to be made in certain cases if mortgage paid off before the stipulated time.

114 ⁽³⁾. Provided always, that in any of the cases hereinbefore provided with respect to lands subject to mortgage, if in the mortgage deed a time shall have been limited for payment of the principal money thereby secured, and under the provisions hereinbefore contained the mortgagee shall have been required to accept payment of his mortgage money, or of part thereof, at a time earlier than the time so limited, the promoters of the undertaking shall pay to such mortgagee, in addition to the sum which shall have been so paid off, all such costs and expenses as shall be incurred by such mortgagee in respect of or which shall be incidental to the reinvestment of the sum so paid off, such costs in case of difference to be taxed and payment thereof enforced in the manner herein provided ⁽⁴⁾ with respect to the costs of conveyances; and if the rate of interest secured by such mortgage be higher than at the time of the same being so paid off can reasonably be expected to be obtained on reinvesting the same, regard being had to the then current rate of interest, such mortgagee shall be entitled to receive from the promoters of the undertaking, in addition to the principal and interest herein-

⁽²⁾ Where the mortgagor is a person of unsound mind, a guardian ad litem may be appointed without a new suit being instituted, and without a commission being issued, to appear on a petition by mortgagees to have compensation money paid to them in satisfaction of their mortgage: Greaves v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 2 Eq. Rep. 516, 23 L. T. 53.

⁽³⁾ Property was mortgaged to the plaintiffs, who were not bound to receive their money until a future day. A railway company, with knowledge, treated with the mortgagor alone, and paid the compensation money into court to the credit of the mortgagor, but made no provision for compensation to the mortgagees under this section. The company then took possession, and began pulling down the building. The court restrained the company from proceeding until the value of the mortgages' interests had been ascertained and paid or secured: *Ranken v. East and West India Docks and Birmingham Ry. before provided for, compensation in respect of the loss to be sustained by him by reason of his mortgage money being so prematurely paid off, the amount of such compensation to be ascertained, in case of difference, as in other cases of disputed compensation; and until payment or tender of such compensation as aforesaid the promoters of the undertaking shall not be entitled, as against such mortgagee, to possession of the mortgaged lands under the provision hereinbefore contained.

118.

And with respect to lands charged with any rent service, rent-charge, or chief or other rent, or other payment or incumbrance not hereinbefore provided for, be it enacted as follows:

115. If any difference shall arise between the promoters of the undertaking and the party entitled to any such charge upon any lands required to be taken for the purposes of the special Act, respecting the consideration to be paid for the release of such lands therefrom, or from the portion thereof affecting the lands required for the purposes of the special Act, the same shall be determined as in other cases of disputed compensation ⁽¹⁾.

Release of lands from rent-charges.

116. If part only of the lands charged with any such rent service, rent-charge, chief or other rent, payment, or incumbrance, be required to be taken for the purposes of the special Act, the apportionment of any such charge may be settled by agreement between the party entitled to such charge and the owner of the lands on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if such apportionment be not so settled by agreement the same shall be settled by two justices; but if the remaining part of the lands so jointly subject be a sufficient security for such charge, then, with consent of the owner of the lands so jointly subject, it shall be lawful for the party entitled to such charge to release therefrom the lands required, on condition or in consideration of such other lands remaining exclusively subject to the whole thereof.

Release of part of lands from charge.

117. Upon payment or tender of the compensation so agreed upon or determined to the party entitled to any such charge as aforesaid, such party shall execute to the promoters of the undertaking a release of such charge; and if he fail so to do, or if he fail to adduce good title to such charge to the satisfaction of the promoters of the undertaking, it shall be lawful for them to deposit the amount of such compensation in the bank in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽²⁾ in like cases, and also, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll, duly stamped, in the manner hereinbefore provided ⁽²⁾ in the case of the purchase of lands by them, and thereupon the rent service, rent-charge, chief or other rent, payment, or incumbrance, or the portion thereof in respect whereof such compensation shall so have been paid, shall cease and be extinguished.

Deposit in case of refusal to release.

118. If any such lands be so released from any such charge or incumbrance, or portion thereof, to which they were subject jointly with other lands, such last-mentioned lands shall alone be charged with the whole of such charge, or with the remainder thereof, as the case may be, and the party entitled to the charge shall have all the same rights and remedies over such last-mentioned lands, for the whole or for the remainder of the charge, as the case may be, as he had previously over the whole of the lands subject to such charge; and if upon any such charge or portion of charge being so released the deed or instrument creating or transferring such charge be tendered to the promoters of the undertaking for the purpose, they or two of them shall subscribe, or if they be a corporation shall affix their common seal to a memorandum of such release endorsed on such deed or

And with respect to lands subject to leases, be it enacted as follows :

Where part only of lands under lease taken, the rent to be apportioned.

119. If any lands shall be comprised in a lease, for a term of years unexpired, part only of which lands shall be required for the purposes of the special Act, the rent payable in respect of the lands comprised in such lease shall be apportioned between the lands so required and the residue of such lands; and such apportionment may be settled by agreement between the lessor and the lessee of such lands on the one part, and the promoters of the undertaking on the other part, and if such apportionment be not so settled by agreement between the parties, such apportionment shall be settled by two justices ⁽¹⁾; and after such apportionment the lessee of such lands shall, as to all future accruing rent, be liable only to so much of the rent as shall be so apportioned in respect of the lands not required for the purposes of the special Act ⁽²⁾; and as to the lands not so required, and as against the lessee, the lessor shall have all the same rights and remedies for the recovery of such portion of rent as previously to such apportionment he had for the recovery of the whole rent reserved by such lease; and all the covenants ⁽³⁾, conditions, and agreements of such lease, except as to the amount of rent to be paid, shall remain in force with regard to that part of the land which shall not be required for the purposes of the special Act in the same manner as they would have done in case such part only of the land had been included in the lease.

Tenants to be compensated.

120. Every such lessee as last aforesaid shall be entitled to receive from the promoters of the undertaking compensation for the damage done to him in his tenancy by reason of the severance of the lands required from those not required, or otherwise by reason of the execution of the works ⁽⁴⁾.

Where one entire rent extends over the land taken, an arbitrator has no power to apportion the rent, the apportionment must be done by the justices under this section: In re Ware and Regent's Canal Co., 7 Rail. Cas. 780, 9 Exch. 395, 23 L. J. Ex. 145.

⁽²⁾ Where a railway company serves a notice on a lessee to take land held under a lease containing a proviso against assignment without the licence of the lessor, the necessity for such licence is taken away by the operation of the Act: Slipper v. Tottenham, &c., Ry. Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 112, 36 L. J. Ch. 841, 16 L. T. N. S. 446, 15 W. R. 861; and where a part of the land comprised in the lease is taken, the lessee is not bound, under this section, to procure the lessor's consent to the agreement with the company for the apportionment of the rent (ib.). See, also, Baily v. De Crespigny, L. R. 4 Q. B. 180, 38 L. J. Q. B. 98, 19 L. T. N. S. 681, 17 W. R. 494, 10 B. & S. 1; and so where the company has, with the consent of the lessee, been admitted into possession, they can be compelled at the suit of the lessee, to accept an assignment containing the usual covenants: Harding v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L. R. 7 Ch. 154, 41 L. J. Ch. 371, 26 L. T. N. S. 109, 20 W. R. 321.
